The illustration shows a half length sack wrap of mastic cloth. The top is a short, closed bolero, ornamented with stitched bands of cloth and fastening with two buttons. The lower part is mounted on this bolero in stitched plaits which are left free toward the base. Below the waist the fronts are slightly scalloped, and the edges are finished with a stitched band. The sleeves have two stitched bands near the top and a border of mink at the flaring wrists. The stitched valois collar is lined with mink, and the body of the sack is lined with wadded silk. The draped hat is of turquoise panne, with a cluster of fancy plumes at the side.

Details of This Season's Attractive House Gowns.

The watteau plait at the back of princess house gowns and wrappers is being gradually dispensed with, as it tends to give the figure a thick appearance. A plain back is now usually preferred. A pretty way of making an empire gown is to mount it on a yoke which forms a little bolero or short bodice in front, while at the back it is cut upward in a sort of peak in the middle. The skirt, plaited or gathered to this yoke, follows the line of the point and has a watteau effect.

Large, open oriental sleeves are much used on house gowns. They are plain, plaited or have a long end like what used to be called angel sleeves.

The cut illustrates a costume of black satin having a skirt laid in stitched plaits.

SATIN GOWN.

The bodice is plaited at the top and covered with a sort of cuirass of heavy ecru lace, forming a point in front and a short bolero at the back. The plaited sleeves of elbow length terminate in a double puff headed by a plaited drapery and near the top is an encircling band of ecru lace. The hat of gray felt is of original form, having a double brim edged with black velvet. The trimming consists of black velvet, black plumes and a jeweled ornament.

"SMOKED OUT."

SUN on the turn of the afternoon—
Reaper a-hum on a high-keyed tune;
Sob of a wood-dove, far and clear
Bob White's piccolo, shrill and clear;
Song of the boy who "watches the gap,"
Woodpecker's telegraph—"tap, tap, tap!"
Shout of a teamster, o'er and o'er;
Song of a girl by the springhouse door;
On the porch where the vines are summer ripe
The Old Man smoking his corncob pipe.

TWILIGHT deep with the day's work done,
Fields all empty of men and sun;
Shadows gray on the vale and hill,
Sigh of the evening soft and still;
Laugh of a child by the vine-hid cot,
Bleat of a lamb in the meadow lot;
Up from the pasture a distant low
Answers the milkmaid's "Co, boss—co!"
The day is dying, and here by the door
The Old Man sits with his pipe once more.

A GREAT bright star on the darkened hill
Tremulous plaint of the whip-po-will
Hoot of an owl in the wood-lot's gloom;
A dog barks down in the orchard bloom;
From meadow and forest the crickets shrill—
All silent sounds, for the night is still.
In the porch's shadow a faint light glows—
Fades and then brightens—shadow and rose—
Till the Old Man, dreaming in reverie deep,
Knocks out the ashes and wakes to sleep.

BOB BURDETTE Takes a Trip Abroad

He Visits Milan and Tells of Government-Made Cigars and Other Things

[Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.]

ON THE way to Milan the train was crowded, and a gentleman who must have been the original diplomat who remarked that "language was given us to conceal thoughts"—for he spoke that kind of a language—came into our compartment, and, producing what we thought was a dispatch box, but which turned out to be merely a cigar case—the dispatch box, we afterward learned, is much smaller—said something in an unknown tongue that sounded like a question, while he lifted his hat with a courteous glance toward madame. We unanimously supposed that he was asking if smoking would be disagreeable to us, whereupon we shouted in vociferous chorus: "We-we, moshoo! Yaw, mein herr! See-see, signory! Yes, indeedy!" Alas, it appeared that he had politely asked permission to smoke. So when the echoes of our reply had died away he said "Merci," and, producing from the leather gripsack which he had extracted from his pocket, a long object, which looked like a section of a rawhide lariat, cut off one end, placed it in his mouth, and, creating an incendiary conflagration at the other end of the twist, began, with evident pleasure, to fumigate the land through which the train was passing. In a few stifling moments it dawned upon us that the man was smoking. This was clearly, or rather cloudily apparent. What was amazing was that he referred to the article which he was slowly sucking into combustion as a "cigar." As is usually the case with slow combustion, the process was attended with the development and throwing off of numerous gases, the least malignant of which was harmful to vegetation.

"I LIKE TO SIT NEAR A MAN WHO IS SMOKING A GOOD CIGAR."

I enjoy my smoke second-hand. I like to sit near a man who is smoking a good cigar. I enjoy a good mixture of a pipe not over 25 years of age. In the open air, fairly to the windward and not too close, twisted plug, not overly green, giving itself forth from a black clay in the smacking lips of a laborer digging in an old gas ditch, isn't entirely disagreeable. In fact, a pipe has to have a record for "rankness" before it can make me move out of a comfortable seat.

"And Smelt So—Pah!"

But the Euorpean cigar outranks the offense of Hamlet's uncle. It may smell to heaven, but it smells like the other place. They have cigars of different brands on the continent, same as we have at home. They are graded, not like our own, from the "twofer" up to the dollar, but from the worst down to the bottom of the list, which has, I think, never been reached.

The most popular brand is the brand of Cain, so called because it kills every other smell, good, indifferent and vile, within its zone. This is the kind the gentleman was smoking in our compartment. It is made of cowhide, I think, wrapped with the hair inside. The process of consumption is peculiar. The fire burrows into the center of the cigar for about an inch. Then it burns through on one side and glows hopefully, being revived by the fresh air, for a few minutes, while it eats a crooked little furrow along the outside of the —er—"cigar," they call it. It then dives into the interior once more, burrows through to the other side, and reappears in a new and entirely unexpected place. A favorite method of gambling among European smokers is to bet where the fire will break out next. It beats American elections for general uncertainty.

There is another brand, much milder, for beginners. This, as analyzed by the nose, is made of woolen waste fitted with carpet rag wrappers, and is smoked with an india rubber mouthpiece. If you have a friend who is a slave to his cigar and is trying to break himself of the habit of smoking, persuade him to come to Europe for three months and not bring any cigars with him. He'll quit. Or if he doesn't he's incurable, that's all.

A suggestive thought in this connection is brought out by the fact that in the countries where these fearful and foul-smelling cigars are made the government has a monopoly of the manufacture of tobaccos in all forms. There is no competition. A loving, wise and paternal government manufactures these Foetidistas, Stinkadoras and Effluviatas in its own laboratories and sells them to its unhappy subjects to smoke. If the man who wants the government to own everything and make everything will come over here and blight himself with a government cigar, even if he does not experience a complete change of mind, he will bethink him of certain healthful restrictions to be laid down upon municipal control in some matters. Down with the trusts by all means. But down them by competition, not by monopoly. It seems to me that the legitimate and exclusive business of a government should be to govern, not to whittle shoe pegs or crochet lamp mats. And certainly not to manufacture cigars. However, we got to Milan alive, and that was a mercy for which to be grateful. And the man who was smoking got there alive, too, which was a miracle for our everlasting wonder. Thus Providence supplies the children of His care with daily mercies and wonders for their unceasing delight.

Up Among the Stars.

Milan is the best place in the world in which to learn to fly. We went to the cathedral, hired a good guide, paid his fee in advance, then told him we'd kill him if he came within 100 feet of us while we stayed in Milan, and so were happily and cheaply rid of him. I don't object to guides; I like to see a man trying to earn an honest living, and I always like to help him. But to have one barking at your heels and dancing around you when you want to be quiet, getting incessantly in your way when you want to see, telling you, in such composite polyglot as no human being on the earth, in the heavens above or the waters under the earth ever used save only a guide, all manner of misstatements about things you already know perfectly well yourself, and lapsing into the profoundest depths of an utterly incomprehensible language when you ask him about something which you do not know, is an infliction which could only be endured by the martyrs whose pictures and statues populate this land of Italy, and they are dead.

And if one may judge from the pictured faces of the saints in all the churches, the greater number of them died without hope in this world or the next. But that is probably a mistake of the painter. When we climbed to the top of the lofty tower which surmounts the cathedral we were not so dizzily high, as towers and buildings go in these heaven-aspiring days. Not so high as though we had gone up the tower of the Philadelphia city hall in an elevator, for we had toiled and panted up nearly 500 stone steps to get 360 feet above the pavement. But it seems a thousand. It impresses you as being farther off the earth than the summit of the Eiffel Tower, which is 500 feet higher. For the air about you seems to be peopled with creatures not of the earth. A hundred turrets spring from the marble roof. Two thousand statues poised on the slenderest pinnacles bear you company in your airy habitation. They do not belong to the pinnacles which they grace; they have but alighted there, as you have lighted on the scanty platform of the tower, and when they circle upward for the flight again you may go with them if you will. It is not difficult as to looks, this flying. The clouds above your head are really stationary—it is yourself and this cloud of marble witnesses that drift under the dome of blue sky and fleecy cloud. You could not fall if you tried.

Nevertheless, as you move about the platform in the clumsy walking way you used to do on the earth, if you strike your foot against a stone baluster, you start and nervously clutch a railing that you couldn't climb over, lest you should fall over it. You see you are not used to flying yet, that is all. And it "jars" you—so the boys tell us, if you suddenly look down from the drifting statues and the white clouds and see below the firm earth in her place, the churches, towers, and all the city fixed and still, and you find yourself motionless and a firm part of it all. This irritates you a little, too. For it is so easy up here to lose all connection with the earth and its interests.

Plenty of higher places I have climbed unto, for, as you see, this isn't such an exceeding high place. But here, unlike the faraway main-truck of the Eiffel or the peaceful "fighting top" of the Philadelphia city building the air is inhabitant. It is the marble populace that gives one the sense of existing in another sphere. Some of these people wear familiar countenances. They are heroes of mythology whose pictures we have often seen in paint and marble, but whom we never expected to meet in this airy mansion in the skies. Some of them are saints whom we had always hoped to meet in this land higher than the steeple, and among them, in classic robes, is our old friend, that demi-god Napoleon, whom we are a little surprised—I don't know just why—to meet among the saints. The pinnacle on which he stands is not nearly so high as the one he poised himself upon before he put on his marble immortality. And it isn't quite so wide as that "St. Helena, a little rocky islet," of which he wrote in his schoolboy copy book, when, for a summer morning task he listed the "islands belonging to England." The emperor—how little a place was the big world for all his greatness; small wonder that all the eagles on his hundred standards drooped and died when he pined to death in his cage in the midst of the great lonely sea. And now he stands here pinnacled on a block of marble scarce larger than the foot that touches it, with the infinite sweep and stretch of air and sky around, above him, and all the world so far beneath him. This is well. It would be better still if he stood alone. The other heroes and the demi-gods and saints crowd him too much. The emperor—they canonized him here in marble because he is a part of all this glorious sanctuary—Milan cathedral. It was consecrated in 1577 by St. Charles Borromeo and completed by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1805. So Saul also was among the prophets and Napoleon stands among the saints.

The Glory of Yesterday.

Every restless globe trotter whose god is St. Baedeker goes, as soon as he gets to Milan, to the cavalry barracks of Santa Maria Della Gratzie. It used to be a monastery, full of monks, who toiled not, neither spun, but sat around and "contemplated," produced nothing, and bearing naught of the burdens of life, but rather adding to them, because some hard working men had to labor to feed and clothe these holy cumberers of the earth. But when Italy took her place among the nations this monastery was suppressed and turned into cavalry barracks. So that it is still full of men, who toil not, neither spin, and labor not to lighten the burdens of the world, but the rather add to them, for the overburdened peasant, having one fat monk lifted off his wearied shoulders, bowed with much hard labor, now bends under the weight of two soldiers, who climb thereon in place of the deposed monk, so the last state of that laborer is worse than the first. The church should be a savior to men, and the army should be a protector. Woe to the land when they are both burdens grievous to be borne. But the worshipers of St. Baedeker do not go to the barracks to see the soldiers, but to visit the old refectory of the monastery and see painted on the wall "The Last Supper," by Leonardo da Vinci. And they gaze upon the shadow of that picture. It has stood there 500 years. The plastering is broken, the painting scratched and marred by careless touch and profane usage. The countenances are faded, washed out, expressionless. The picture means to you whatever you think it does. Your mood may be reverent, flippant, skeptical, devout, sneering or prayerful. You may take the easiest and the more usual way of looking at the picture, which is to permit your guide book to color and phrase your emotion for you. In any event, whether your sentiment be your own by right of original emotion, or by the perfectly legal right of purchase—it's your own guide book, bought and paid for—all the beauty, the tenderness, the sweetness you may see in this "Last Supper" you will carry to the picture with you. It will do you good, mind and soul; it will feed you with manna from heaven to sit before it in silence and reverence. It will paint into your own musing such a picture as no painter can ever place on canvas. This marvelous power of creating dreams of tender beauty it has. And if it pleases you it will do no harm to come away thinking that was the picture you were looking at on the battered, century-faded wall of the old refectory. But it wasn't.

Beauty of the Past.

I once stood by the chair of a helpless old woman, saying good-by to her, for she was an old friend, my journey was a long one, and we never looked to see each other again. She was bent and withered with age and sickness; some touch of paralysis had drawn one side of her face out of the sweetness of proportion and line that even age might not have destroyed. Her hands were shriveled. Her skin was parchment-like in its faded color and many wrinkles. Her granddaughter stood beside her, in all the loveliness and comeliness of youth and health—a face "to launch a thousand ships." "You are beautiful," I thought, as I looked at her—and she was—"but you will never be as beautiful as your grandmother was." And she never would be. No artist may ever paint such a picture as Da Vinci's "Last Supper;" I don't know; I never saw it when it was perfect. But it isn't beautiful now.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

Something to Play With.

A bachelor uncle asked a girl he knew what he should send his brother's baby for a birthday present. "I've never seen the chap," said the uncle, "because they live out west, but he's three years old. Not a rattle or a silver bowl, I suppose?"

"Oh, my, no," said the girl. "He's much too old for such things. Buy him something to play with." And being in a hurry, she dismissed the bewildered uncle and continued on her way. A few days later she met him. His distracted, wearied look was gone. He beamed with the beaming air of a man who feels that he has done his duty well.

"I bought it," he announced. The girl looked puzzled, and then she remembered.

"What did you buy?"

"I paid four dollars for it, and it's a beauty. All leather and celluloid and fits in a box—"

"Soldiers?"

"No."

"Animals?"

"No."

"Blocks?"

"No, indeed. A checkerboard!" and the bachelor uncle drew himself up proudly.

Being a really nice girl, she smiled—but did not laugh.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Practical Joke.

The practical joke is a remnant of barbarism. Hunted back to its origin it is a survival of the methods of torture in vogue with savages the world over. The idea behind every practical joke is the infliction of pain, shame, fear or ridicule upon the victim. It is not often that tragic effects follow a joke, repeating the news chronicles of the daily press, but when one reflects that the real object of every alleged "joke" of the practical kind is simply to inflict physical or mental pain upon some one, it seems as if it must be time, by the clock of the ages, for the practice to end—at least among civilized and half-civilized people.—Ada C. Sweet, in Woman's Home Companion.

Wives Must Have Good Teeth.

Good teeth are one of the prime requisites of an Eskimo wife. She must be able to do the cooking, and to sew, and to chew hides. Furs are the only possible dress. Once dry, they are as stiff as boards, and before they can be made into garments the fibers must be broken. Accordingly, the women bend the hide double, making a crease through its length. Beginning then at one end they chew steadily to the other. Then, creasing the hide a little farther on, they chew again and repeat the simple process until every inch of the surface has been chewed, and, with the fiber broken, the skin is flexible.—N. Y. Herald.

Chinese High Graves.

Chinamen, with all their faults, revere the graves of their ancestors, and there is no greater crime than desecrating a graveyard. Chinamen visit the graves of their ancestors as often as possible. At one time all the resting places of the dead in China were flat. Confucius, the wise man of the empire, going on a journey once, and desiring to know his mother's grave when re returned, moved it into a mound. Some believe that this act of the most revered man in China was the origin of high graves. Because graves are everywhere in the empire, the first railroad built there has to follow a very circuitous route in order to avoid them.—N. Y. Times.

NOTICE TO PARTIES IN INTEREST TO REDEEM UNDER MARTIN ACT.

The Possibilities of Football on the PACIFIC COAST

"IT is like going into another world," said the well-known football official, Ralph Hoagland (Princeton), when he returned from one of the most memorable trips ever taken by a gridiron umpire. "The middle west does not seem to be fully aware of the possibilities the other side of the Rocky mountains in the way of football. Next season it may be within the bounds of possibility that an all-western gridiron championship may be decided between the most representative college team of the Mississippi valley and the Pacific slope champions."

Mr. Hoagland officiated as umpire Thanksgiving day at San Francisco in the Leland Stanford-California football contest. While he was trudging about on the snow and ice-covered gridiron at Randall field, Madison, Wis., watching the progress of the ball as referee in the Wisconsin-Illinois game, he was asked to go to California to officiate. The transition from snow and ice to a balmy climate where the gridiron warriors perspired in a temperature of 62 degrees Fahrenheit was a remarkable one, but no more wonderful than the novelty of two university coaches over 2,800 miles away agreeing to "import" a college man and pay all expenses for the longest trip on record of a football official. Stanford won the game by a place kick, the score being 5 to 0, and the Pacific slope was treated to an exhibition of football umpiring that gathered the highest praise from victors and vanquished. Mr. Hoagland is the disciple of the football game as it is played "across the divide." College men throughout the east and middle west will have learned a great deal about gridiron sport in the "other land" by the time the enthusiastic Princeton man gets through singing the praises of players, coaches and students at the Pacific coast universities. Football might be played all winter out there. But it will never be on the programme that long for the simple reason that the climatic conditions are against keeping athletes in condition for so long a period.

Nowhere, except in the east when the "Big Four" played their climax games, are such crowds attracted by football contests as are seen at San Francisco. The novelty of seeing women in white duck costumes and fluffy silks, without wraps, and men wearing spring suits at a 'Frisco game of football is rather more than an eastern 'varsity football man expects. He is so accustomed to the furs and overcoats in the throngs around the gridirons that the Californian idea seems odd. The east and middle west have no monopoly on organized cheering and rooting. California and Stanford have developed some of the greatest rootrs ever seen outside of the big eastern fields. The songs of the multitudes are a feature that provoke merriment even among the men who are accustomed to Old Nassau, Fair Harvard or "Here's to Good Old Yale." Californian cheering is devoid of harsh criticism of opponents. It is meant, as it should be, entirely to encourage the members of the teams of the respective sides to greater efforts. After a hard game it is the custom of the vanquished to exhaust their vocabularies of praise words for the sportsmanship of the victors.

"Athletic conditions out on the coast," said Mr. Hoagland, "are none too well known to the average follower of sports in the eastern and middle western colleges. It is significant that although California and Stanford are keen rivals from an athletic standpoint, still it would be hard for either one to conduct successful athletics without this healthy rivalry. Each is absolutely dependent on the other. The great slope has but two 'varsities of front rank, and all that football is there or will be for some time to come is what the cardinal and the blue and old gold make it or will make it.

"I have been asked many times since my return whether or not the men who play football at these 'varsities are sufficiently advanced in the game to make elevens in the eastern 'varsities," continued the well-known official. "I should answer in the affirmative and would name as examples of far western brawn and intelligence Traeger and Seeley, linemen of Stanford, and Riatt, the quarterback of the same team; Pringle (captain), Smith and Gammons, of the California eleven. These players would have little difficulty in making the varsity elevens that I have seen play in 1900. In Smith California has as good a ground-gaining back as there is wearing the moleskin to-day. Then there is Frank Slaker, whose work on the University of Chicago championship eleven of 1889 is still the talk of the football world. He is playing his old position of fullback for Stanford and continually gives the college men exhibitions of great line bucking."

Pacific slope teams have had the advantages of coaching by the very best football strategists and generals in the land. Since 1892, when Walter Camp, "the father of football," went out to coach Stanford and McClung, the former great half-back of Yale, accepted the position as coach of California and the two great generals prepared their charges for the first big game, December 17, only to have their elevens struggle fruitlessly, the score being a tie, none but the most successful experts have been engaged out there. In the roster of other eastern gridiron warriors of fame that coached on the slope are: Heffelfinger, "Pop" Bliss, Butterworth, Cross, Gill and Chamberlain, of

WALTER CAMP.

Yale; George Brooke, Pennsy's great full-back; Nott, of Brown; Cochrane, of Princeton; "King" Kelly, also of Princeton, and last, but not least, Yost, the star of the La Fayette eleven of a few years ago. Stanford has clung closely to the Yale system since 1892, yielding only in the cases of Brookes and Yost, while California, starting with the Yale tactics, has in the past three years changed to the followers of the tactics pursued at Princeton. "King" Kelly may not be seen out there as California's coach next season, as business will keep him in the east. Yost, who has been signally fortunate in coaching championship teams for three seasons—Nebraska, Kansas and Stanford—will forsake the gridiron to look after his coal business in the mountains of West Virginia.

Although these 'varsities entered into an agreement to abandon the system of "importing" coaches and to adopt graduate coaching, pure and simple, this is being held in abeyance for the reason that the authorities do not think the time ripe for the change. No exacting critic seeking violations of college ethics bothers the cardinal or the blue and old gold. Ethical conditions in the slope athletics are above reproach. No man is induced to play on the teams, and the scholarship standard set for those who participate in the gridiron contests is five per cent. higher than that of those who are not selected as members of the squads. Men from other 'varsities going to the Pacific slope schools are permitted to make the team the first year. But no special student is given that honor until he has had one year's residence at the 'varsity. This is the only deviation from the western intercollegiate rules that Mr. Hoagland noticed while out there.

No gridiron has a turf covering out on the slope and the rolled sand footing gets soft as the game progresses. This is very hard on the athletes and retards fast plays. Cities who saw the games that the Carlisle Indians played under cover once on a tan bark field in Chicago had an excellent opportunity to see the effect of this sort of footing on men who were in the best of training. Time and again enthusiasts have tried to get the football authorities on the coast to consent to play post-season games. But the trainers have maintained that it would be a physical impossibility to keep men in condition there any more than they could be kept "on edge" at Yale or Wisconsin. Iowa's eleven the other day resumed training out at Iowa City on the report that the Hawkeyes were to go to San Francisco and Los Angeles to play post-season games, but while the men were frisking about in the chilly air the students out on the slope were basking in the sunshine and studying.

"No university could better repay its men for the arduous work of the gridiron season in the middle west," continued Mr. Hoagland, "than to permit them to take the trip to the Pacific ocean during the holidays. The era of good fellowship and thorough sportsmanship that has spread over the slope would be appreciated by the boys and the minds of the students would be broadened by what they saw. It is too bad from a sportsman's point of view that an eleven made up of as good fellows as those who wore the cardinal of Wisconsin and the old gold of Iowa could not have been sent west this winter."

FORTUNE OF MANY MILLIONS

SAID TO BE AWAITING HEIRS IN BANK OF ENGLAND.

Many Plainfielders Are Interested in the Alleged Fortune Left By One Joseph Moore.

Many heirs to the estate of Joseph Moore, who died in England many years ago, leaving a large estate, are being importuned to subscribe towards a fund to pay the expenses of a New York attorney to Europe to investigate the matter.

There is said to be fully five hundred heirs living in this country. The money, if any, has accumulated to a vast amount, variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $500,000,000. If all reports are to be believed, the estate was long since converted into cash and is on deposit and awaiting the rightful heirs in the Bank of England.

The story is in effect that years ago three brothers named Moore went to England. Two of the brothers died. Joseph Moore remained in there and by industry accumulated a vast fortune. Something less than a quarter of a century ago he died without issue. It is this money which Joseph Moore left and which has grown like a snow ball that is now claiming the attention of the numerous heirs, many of whom live in this vicinity.

It is understood that some of the heirs to this vast fortune are sanguine that all information they have been able to glean regarding the matter is authentic. The parties who have been for several years gathering information regarding the heirs, are firm in the belief that the money is in the Bank of England and all that is necessary is for them to establish their claims.

Among those in this city who are direct descendants of the Joseph Moore who died in England many years ago are the Popes, the Runyons, Charles H. Hand; Mrs. Martha Giddis, of Harris Lane, living near Bound Brook; Jonathan Fitz Randolph Clawson and his children of Dunellen. Then there are many others.

BASKET BALL.

The game of basket ball at the Y.M.C.A. last evening between the W.W.W. and Wasserpacher teams proved very interesting and was witnessed by a large number of enthusiasts. It was a clean and even game throughout. The majority of the goals were made from the field. The Wasserpachers were defeated by a score of 14 to 12. The teams:

KLONDYKERS WON.

Defeated Bowlers of Pond Tool Works in Two Games on Conover's Alleys Last Night.

Two successive bowling games were played on Conover's alleys last evening between the "Klondyke" and Pond teams, both of which ended in defeat for the latter. Neither side showed any exceptional good form and the individual scores were lower than the average. The games were exciting, however, as the scores were somewhat close, the Pond men making every effort to win.

A large number of rooters witnessed the matches and the series is attracting a great deal of attention. Another and perhaps two games will be played next Friday night.

Following are the bowlers and the scores:

Death of Miss Maguire.

The death of Miss Ellen T. Maguire, aged 27 years, occurred this morning at her home, 325 Central avenue, after an illness lasting about one year. She was the daughter of Phillip Maguire, of South Plainfield, and had many friends in this city. The funeral services will be held from the late residence Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock.

Rain Kept Many Away.

The Week of Prayer meeting at Grace M. E. church last evening, under the auspices of the local M. E. churches, was not as largely attended as expected owing to the disagreeable weather. The meeting was led by Henry A. Gee. It was a Sunday-school rally.

Installed Elizabeth Officers.

District Deputy J. W. A. Bauersachs, Henry Nitschwitz, Edward Mosher, and O. R. Pierson, Jr., of the A. O. U. W., visited Elizabeth Lodge, No. 29, A. O. U. W., last evening and installed the officers. They also assisted in the initiation of seven candidates.

McCARTER DEAD.

Thos. N. McCarter, Sr., Passed Quickly Away at His Home at Newark Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, January 12.—Thomas N. McCarter, a prominent lawyer of New Jersey, died in this city last night. He was born in Morristown on January 31, 1824, and was a son of Judge Thomas N. McCarter, of the Court of Common Pleas in Sussex county. He practised law in Newton until 1865 and then moved to Newark where he devoted his attention to commercial law.

He was at one time or another counsel for or a member of the directory of all of the original railroad and canal companies of New Jersey and fought many winning battles in the courts. He was also identified with many insurance companies. He was for many years chief advocate for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. He was graduated from Princeton in 1842, and all of his sons were graduated from the same college.

He leaves three sons, all prominent in financial and political circles, and three daughters. His youngest son, Thomas N. McCarter, Jr., is State Senator from Essex county, having served from 1900.

A Former Plainfielder.

Among those who took part in the Forester's entertainment in Washington Hall, last evening, was Chris. Sorensen, Jr., formerly of this city, who is now a professional trombonist for the C.G. Conn Company at New York. Mr. Sorensen has been residing in New York for the past year and has made rapid strides in the musical profession. His playing last evening was greatly enjoyed.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Pile cure. 25c a box at L. W. Randolph's.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY.

T. H. VAN INWAGEN STRICKEN WHILE WINDING A CLOCK.

Sank Into a Chair and Passed Away Within an Hour—Was Fifty Years Old.

While apparently enjoying the best of health, Theron H. Van Inwagen, of Franklin and Brook avenues, was stricken with a spasm as he was winding a clock at his home last evening, preparatory to retiring. He sank into a nearby chair and made an effort to speak to his wife but in vain. The latter summoned Dr. Jenkins, but ten minutes after his arrival and in less than an hour from the time he was stricken, Mr. Van Inwagen was dead.

The real cause of death was heart trouble. The case is a remarkable one as Mr. Van Inwagen was an exceptionally healthy man, his only illness for a long time being an attack of the grip Christmas week. About 9 o'clock last evening he played for some time with his little child and did not mind the exertion in the least.

The deceased was fifty years old and came to this city a year ago from Ithaca, N. Y. He purchased the business of the Plainfield Art Company in the Y. M. C. A. building and had built up an excellent trade. He was greatly pleased with his Christmas patronage and had several plans under consideration for his future business career in Plainfield which was ended by his untimely death.

Outside of a few business friends and his fellow members in the order of Odd Fellows he was but little known locally. During his residence here Mr. VanInwagen and his family, which consists of a wife and one son, were regular attendants at Trinity Reformed church. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

RAISED UP CHIEFS.

District Deputy Holstein and Staff Present at Miantonomo's Meeting.

District Deputy Sachem Charles Holstein and staff were present at the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men last evening and raised up the chiefs recently elected.

Those raised were as follows: Prophet, Foster Johnson; sachem, Frank VanPelt; senior sagamore, Charles McKinley; junior sagamore, Frederick Bowe; chief of records, Charles Holstein; keeper of wampum, Andrew Stiglitz; collector of wampum, Norman Mague; guard of wigwam, Frank Burke; guard of forest, Patrick Fay.

After the raising up was completed the members listened to addresses made by Messrs. Holstein, Humphrey, Huff, Blatz and Johnson. A collation and smoker brought the evening's exercises to a close. Next Tuesday night District Deputy Holstein and staff will go to South Plainfield and raise up the recently elected chiefs of Manawah Tribe, of that place.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Rev. F. E. Taylor, of Brooklyn, will address the meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. The subject of the address will be "The Touch of Christ." Singing by male quartette.

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Rough on Bunions.

New and successful treatment, only complete cure. Gives ease and comfort at once. Subdues inflammation. Allays fever, pain, soreness, tenderness. Reduces swelling and enlargement of joints; cures both hard and soft corns, and to tired, sore or fevered feet it gives relief and comfort at once. 35c. at druggists or sent promptly by mail. E. S. Wells, Chemist, Jersey City, N. J.

Gray Hair.

JUST ESCAPED DEATH AT DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Serious Blaze Early Sunday Morning in Building Occupied by Gulick & Co.

FIRST FLOOR WAS GUTTED.

OCCUPANTS OF THE BUILDING DRIVEN INTO THE STREET

Mrs. P. A. Bird Discovered the Fire Just in Time to Save the Lives of Other Occupants—Damage Largely Covered by Insurance.

The large grocery store of C. E Gulick & Co., at Duer street and Lincoln place, was gutted by fire early yesterday morning, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars. Several persons who lived in the building, had narrow escapes from being suffocated to death.

It was about 4:30 o'clock when Mrs. Sarah Bird, wife of P. A. Bird, whose family occupied apartments on the first floor of the building, was awakened by smelling smoke. Mrs. Bird is a light sleeper and this fact is no doubt responsible for her being alive today to relate her thrilling experience. So certain was Mrs. Bird that the house was on fire that she leaped from her bed to make an investigation.

Mrs. Bird awakened her husband. She was nearly blinded with smoke that appeared to come from the cellar beneath the store. The smoke was so dense that it fairly choked her. With rare presence of mind the heroic woman rushed into the hall and bounding up the stairs aroused her son, Harry, who was sleeping on the third floor. When Mrs. Bird ran back down stairs she could distinctly hear the flames cracking in the cellar, while the smoke had filled the bed room. The hall floor was so hot that it fairly scorched her bare feet.

When Harry Bird had secured sufficient clothing to make himself presentable he awakened the other inmates. Peter Voorhees, a brother-in-law of Mr. Gulick, slept in a middle room in apartments occupied by the family of Mr. Gulick. He hastily grasped a few garments and, making his way to the street, was compelled to complete his toilet in the cold on the sidewalk.

After satisfying himself that all inmates of the building had been aroused, Harry Bird ran to the door and shouted fire several times. Fortunately Marshal Winn was near at hand and sent in an alarm from box 142 at Manning avenue and Somerset street. The members of Warren Engine Company were prompt to respond, but it was some moments before a stream was thrown upon the fire, which was raging like a furnace in the cellar at the Duer street side of the building. Clouds of dense, black smoke rolled from the building and the firemen were almost stifled by it.

The delay, caused by a failure to properly understand the workings of the hydrant at Duer street and Lincoln place, nearly cost the owners the building. The members of the West End Hose Company put in an appearance and made connections with the hydrant in front of the store Previous to the arrival of the West End Company the Warren Engine Company had laid a second line of hose from a hydrant further up Lincoln place.

The real battle against the flames that had licked up everything in the cellar and were bursting through the store floor was begun in earnest by the fire laddies under the direction of Fire Chief Debele and his able assistants. It was the most difficult fire the boys had encountered in some months. Although gallons of water were thrown into the cellar the streams did not appear to reach the flames.

It took nearly an hour's hard work before the fire was gotten under control and the hosemen were able to ascertain the reason that the streams of water which had been steadily poured into the building had not taken effect sooner. When the firemen were able to enter the building the mystery was explained. The cellar proper was almost surrounded by an inside wall, with here and there an opening, and the streams of water had been misdirected owing to the difficulty of seeing the fire because of the dense smoke. By 7 o'clock the fire was entirely extinguished, having been confined to the first floor.

The building is a three story structure. It was formerly owned by the widow of R. W. Rice, of this city. Sev-

VISITED SEWER BEDS.

City Councilmen Listened to Explanation of Engineer Osgood's Recommended Changes.

In accordance with a resolution made at the conclusion of last Monday evening's meeting, the members of the Common Council, with the exception of Messrs. Dumont, Mellick, van Herwerden and Lee, visited the sewage disposal beds Saturday to see the location of the new works as designed by Engineer Osgood, who was also present.

The day was extremely blustery but the Councilmen bravely held on their hats while Mr. Osgood described the position and operation of the new system. Copies of the specifications were given to all present and the members expressed themselves as gaining a much better knowledge of the plant. On their return the Councilmen stopped at the Industrial Home and those who had not previously done so, made a thorough inspection of the building.

TO UNITE WITH ELIZABETH.

PARK CLUB WILL NOT HAVE TEAM OF ITS OWN IN LEAGUE.

Rules Require Eight Men on Team and Park Club Has Not Sufficient Material at Hand.

The Park Club has decided not to enter a team in the tournament to be played by the New Jersey Whist League. The rules call for a team of eight men, and the Parks cannot secure that number of men to form a team. The Passaic Whist Club has also withdrawn for the same reason.

It has been arranged by the Park "four" consisting of Fred H. Freeman, Arthur A. Freeman, Albert O Woltmann and Ralph L. Willis to join the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club "four" consisting of Messrs. Harbleicher, Foster, Fred Edson and Henry Newman, to enter the tournament under the name of the Elizabeth Club and as this is a strong team first honors are likely to come to the members of it.

The games scheduled for Monday evening, Jan. 7, were not played, owing to the fact that the schedules were not issued early enough. These games will be played at the end of the season. The teams in the league now are the New Jersey Whist, Orange, Forest Hill, Jersey City, Elizabeth and Westfield. Several games are scheduled for this evening, but the Elizabeth team will not play their game with Jersey City until Tuesday, that privilege being given a team to play on the first Tuesday or Wednesday following the schedule date.

The club winning the greatest number of games during the season shall be entitled to a trophy of its own choosing, to be purchased with the funds collected. The tournament committee comprises W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., H. A. Baxter and A. A Freeman.

Temporary Abiding Place.

The family of P. A. Bird, who narrowly escaped suffocation at their home in the Gulick building on Lincoln place early yesterday morning, will today take up their residence temporarily with the family of Augustus H. Martin, of 23 Jackson avenue. Mrs. Martin is a sister of Mrs. Bird. The latter family removed to North Plainfield from the west about a year ago. Harry Bird is foreman in the office of the North Plainfield Review.

To Attend Memorial Service.

Rev. William Trebert, pastor of the St. Peter's German Lutheran church, left last night for Philadelphia where this evening he will attend the memorial services of the late Rev. F. W. Weiskatten, for twenty years pastor of St. James Lutheran church of that city, who died at sea and was buried in the Mediterrean Sea on Dec. 15.

Rochester University Banquet.

The annual reunion and dinner of the New York Alumni Association of Rochester University, will take place at the Hotel Savoy, New York, this evening. Dr. Rush Rhees, president of the university, will be one of the speakers. Plainfield is proud to claim him as one of her boys.

Recovery Assured.

John Tschutter, of Race street, is improving from an operation for appendicitis which was performed at the hospital several days ago. His recovery is now assured.

Has Nearly Recovered.

Mrs. W. W. Rowley, of the borough, will probably be discharged from the hospital within a few days. She went there for an operation for appendicitis.

To Join the Church.

Two members of the Sunday-school at the East Third Street chapel will join the First Baptist church during the coming month.

LOCAL PASTORS PLAN FOR GOSPEL CAMPAIGN

Meeting Held Saturday Night to Prepare For Series of Evangelistic Meetings Here.

TO BE HELD IN MARCH.

WM. PHILLIPS HALL, EVANGELIST, WILL CONDUCT THEM.

Plainfield Executive Committee of the National Gospel Campaign Organized With Rev. Dr. Richards as Chairman.

An unusual amount of interest is being evinced in the proposed union evangelistic meetings that are to be held in this city early in March. The Plainfield Ministers' Association has taken hold of the matter with a zest that is commendable and truly complimentary to their efforts to promote the cause of Christianity.

Saturday evening the Association held a meeting in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of discussing the proposed religious revival and also to formulate plans to successfully carry on these meetings in which all the Protestant churches in Plainfield are interested. There was present at this meeting Rev. Theodore S. Henderson, of Brooklyn, together with Rev. Dr. W. O. Snodgrass, of the First M. E church; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church; Rev. A. E. Main, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; Rev Dr. W. R. Richards, of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church; Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., of Trinity Reformed church; Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church; Rev. G K. Newell, of Hope chapel; Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church; and laymen Alex. Millar, Stephen Cahoone, George M. Rittenhouse, A. L. Force, Seely Edsall and Donald McInness.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, president of the Ministers' Association. After some discussion of the matter in hand it was decided to organize the "Plainfield Executive Committee of the National Gospel Campaign." Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards was chosen chairman and Rev. G. K Newell, secretary. An executive committee was chosen consisting of three pastors and two laymen. This committee is to meet on Wednesday evening and decide upon a date for holding the meetings.

The Gospel campaign is to be conducted by William Phillips Hall, a noted evangelist of New York, who has had a wide experience in evangelistic work and possesses a marvelous magnetism that has been commented upon in church circles wherever he has conducted meetings. It is expected that Rev. Dr. Henderson will also be present and assist Mr. Hall.

These evangelistic meetings will probably cover a period of a week or ten days. They are expected to awaken an enthusiasm in religious circles that will result in benefit, spiritually as well as temporally. It has not been decided where they will be held, but possibly alternately at the various churches throughout the city.

W. Phillips Hall will probably begin his labors Wednesday evening, March 6, and continue until and including Sunday evening, March 17. Rev. T. S. Henderson, of Brooklyn, will have charge of two union preparatory meetings preceding Mr. Hall's coming, viz.: Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 4 and 5.

Mr. Jacobs, a sweet singer and competent instructor, will accompany Mr. Hall and have charge of the large chorus choir.

Sentence Suspended.

Mrs. John Schunck, who is familiarly known as Minnie Barry, was arrested Saturday night by Roundsman Flynn, who found her in the company of a colored man. Both, it is alleged, were drunk. The negro made his escape and she was locked up. Mrs. Schunck is the mother of a four month's old infant. As the child needed its mother's attention, the latter was released until this morning. City Judge Runyon, in consideration of the infant, suspended sentence.

District Deputy to be Here.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., to be held this evening, the recently elected officers will be installed by the district deputy and staff from Whitehouse.

Dr. Griggs' First Lecture.

The first lecture on "Dante" by Dr. Griggs will be given in Vincent chapel probably Wednesday, Jan. 23 Further notice will be given concerning the lectures arranged.

TO MARK THROUGH ROUTE.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB WILL PUT UP IRON SIGN POSTS.

New York-Philadelphia Route Will Not Go Through Westfield and Plainfield Any More.

The influence of the automobile is already being felt in the efforts that are to be made this winter in the legislatures of this and various eastern states with reference to the passage of bills for the improvement of the highways. It is possible that the question of good roads may be taken into Congress. The wheelmen have already done much towards the improvement of the public highways. The motor vehicle organizations are now seeking to further push the matter of good roads

At a recent meeting of automobile clubs held in New York it was decided to erect guide posts of a substantial character along the principal thoroughfares of the Eastern states. These guides or sign posts will be similar to those in use in France. They will indicate plainly the best roads and distances to principal points along main routes.

It is proposed to construct the posts of iron and make the signs practicably indestructible. The first post will be erected along the route from New York to Boston by way of Bridgeport and New Haven, Conn., and Springfield and Worcester, Mass.

Another line will be from Boston to Providence and Newport. From Providence an extension will be made to New Haven.

Later signs will be erected from New York to Philadelphia, via Princeton and Trenton, from New York to Albany and so on through to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Also to all points on Long Island.

With reference to the signs to be erected from New York to Trenton, the route to be followed will probably be from New York to Elizabeth, but instead of passing over the old county road to Westfield and Plainfield and on to Metuchen, the signs will probably be put up directing wheelmen and automobiles toward Rahway and to Metuchen, passing through New Brunswick and so on to Trenton. This route will take the county road, constructed between Elizabeth and Rahway about five years ago, and the new county road between Rahway and Metuchen, built about two years ago.

If this route is taken it will leave Plainfield and Westfield out in the cold. The road via Rahway is believed to be considerably shorter than the old road via Plainfield to Metuchen, the route being more direct.

It is but a question of time before the good roads movement will have spread broadcast throughout the country. While those who ride bicycles and use automobiles are the ones most directly affected, the citizens generally derive infinitely as much pleasure from them.

As to the question of sign boards, that is a matter that will be appreciated by all classes who have occasion to use the highways.

FUNERAL OF MR. VANINWAGEN.

Delegations Present From Both Lodges of Odd Fellows.

The funeral services of the late Theron VanInwagen was held yesterday afternoon from the home on Franklin avenue, and was attended by friends, including a delegation from Queen City Lodge, No. 226, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I O O. F., as the deceased was an Odd Fellow and a member of a lodge at Ithaca, N. Y.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, conducted the service. He referred to the upright life and character of the departed and of his many estimable qualities.

This morning the remains were sent to Ithaca by the train leaving South Plainfield at 9:12 o'clock on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. They were accompanied by Mrs. VanInwagen. The interment will take place tomorrow at that place.

New Has a Church Calendar.

Yesterday morning Trinity Reformed church departed from the former manner of having the notices for the week read to the congregation by the clerk of the consistory, and instead they were printed on a four page leaflet, containing also the names of the officers of the church, hours of services, pastor's name and address, etc., and placed in the pews. A committee of young men from the Endeavor Society have agreed to donate them to the church every Sunday.

Give Additional Room.

Crosby & Hill are planning to have the partitions removed in their store and iron posts erected in their place. This will give much more needed room.

TRIED TO END LIFE WITH CARVING KNIFE.

Wife of Station Agent at Fanwood Grew Despondent Over Illness and Cut Her Throat.

INJURY WAS NOT FATAL.

MRS. HUNT AND HER CHILD WERE BOTH ILL WITH THE GRIP.

Supposed to Have Become Temporarily Demented—Husband Heard Her Moans—Dr. Westcott Believes She Will Recover.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, Jan. 14.—The epidemic of the grip which has been so prevalent through this section for several weeks came near claiming a victim by self destruction here early Sunday morning. For nearly a week Mrs Hunt, wife of James Hunt, the agent at the station at Fanwood, has been suffering from a very severe attack of the disease. At the same time their little daughter has been ill with the malady. The care and worry over the little one, together with her own illness, had worn Mrs. Hunt out and she has been brooding over their troubles, until early Sunday morning, when in a moment, of temporary insanity, she attempted to end her troubles by suicide.

Dr. F. W. Westcott had been attending both daughter and mother during their illness and both were improving as well as could be expected. No thought was given by the husband that Mrs. Hunt contemplated ending her life, so no watch was kept of her movements about the house. Early in the morning she went into the kitchen and procuring a carving knife cut her throat.

Her husband, hearing her groans, ran to the kitchen and found her bleeding from a bad wound in her throat. He immediately summoned assistance and sent for Dr. Westcott, who came and dressed the injury.

The wound, although a bad one, is not considered dangerous, unless her weakened condition from the grip and the loss of blood, she should be unable to rally from the effect.

Mr. Hunt and family have only been residents of the borough since last spring when Mr. Hunt was appointed agent at the station to take the place of R. S. Fisher, who was transferred to Dunellen. During that time they have made many friends. Mrs. Hunt was resting easily last night and unless a relapse is suffered she will recover.

HANSEN'S SUCCESSOR.

Several Candidates for the Place of Overseer of the Poor—Mr. Struthers Mentioned.

In connection with the appointment of an Overseer of the poor to take the place of the late Mr. Hansen, it is reported that S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, is a possibility for the position. Of course I. D. TenEyck, who is now in charge at the Industrial Home, is an aspirant for the place, but it is said that many influential women who have more or less to do with the poor of the city, favor Mr. Struthers. If they succeed in finding favor in the eyes of Mayor Jenkins, Mr. Struthers may get the place. Of course the Council has something to say about the man who holds the position, and it is a question whether the Council would give their support to the appointment of Mr. Struthers.

Seen Three Centuries.

Alexander Gordon is proud to think that he is still living and has seen part of three centuries. He is the father of Alexander Gordon, of West Front street and Grant avenue. Mr. Gordon was born in Germany June 14, prior to the Eighteenth century, and if he lives till June, 1901, will be one hundred and one years old. He will no doubt live that length of time, as he is in the best of health and is in possession of all his faculties. He says he never felt better in all his life than at present.

To Attend Mother's Burial.

Ralph O Runyon and Oupy Runyon, of La Grande avenue, who have gone to the burial of their mother, who died at their home last Thursday, will not return to Plainfield until the last of this week. The interment will be at Millerstown, Pa., Tuesday.

Free Lecture in French.

Prof. Bachimont, Ph. D, of the University of France, will give a free lecture in French at the Y. M. C. A. building next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He claims to teach a practical knowledge of French in twenty-five lessons.

RULE RESCINDED.

School Tickets Will Be Sold to Teachers and Pupils on the Old Terms.

In answer to a letter written to the secretary of the company, Secretary Lounsbury, of the Board of Education, has been notified that the old rule governing the sale of school tickets for the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Railway, would be restored at once. The tickets have been refused to teachers and to pupils over sixteen years of age but for one week, and the restoration of the old rule is welcomed gladly, as to most of them it means a saving of forty cents a week.

This was the second time the railway officials issued orders contrary to their franchise and both times they were retracted on being notified by the secretary of the Board of Education. The secretary of the company claims the issuing of the order was a mistake.

COLUMBIAN KNIGHTS MET.

OFFICERS OF THE LOCAL COUNCIL ELECTED AND INSTALLED.

Recently Organized Catholic Fraternity Held Important Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

The first meeting of Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, which was instituted last week, was held yesterday afternoon in its rooms, Odd Fellows Hall, Babcock building. The full membership was present and a very interesting and enthusiastic meeting was held.

The following officers were chosen for the coming year: Chaplain, Rev. Father P. E. Smyth; physician, Dr. W. C. Boone; grand knight, J. A. O'Keefe; deputy grand knight, Andrew E. Kenney; chancellor, Matthew J. Cashin; warden, Edward A. Flynn; financial secretary, A. E. LaPorte; recording secretary, Daniel J. Shea; treasurer, J. A. McNally; lecturer, Arthur A. Cannon; inside guard, John J. Hines; outside guard, Thomas Carty; trustees, Patrick S. Kiely, John J. Kenney, J. W. Graham, J. C Traynor, G. P. Kiely.

The officers were installed after the election by State Deputy J. A. Burns, of East Orange, assisted by District Deputy Matlack, of Elizabeth, and Warden T. J. McLoughlin, of Newark. There was a delegation of members present from Newark and another one from Elizabeth. The organization, which is both social and beneficial, is one of the best in the State. The local council will meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays in each month in each month in their rooms in the Babcock building. A large number of applications have already been received for membership.

TO PLAY CHAMPIONS.

Another Association Football Game Arranged for Next Saturday Afternoon.

After considerable effort on the part of the management, the Plainfield Association Football Club has arranged a game with the Arlingtons, of Newark, to take place on the Clinton avenue grounds next Saturday. The Arlingtons, who are the State champions, have defeated the local team twice and the latter are anxious to retrive themselves. With this object in view the Plainfield men are practicing daily and the team is being strengthened in every possible way. The Arlingtons are just as anxious to hold the championship and a good game will no doubt be the result.

Thank the Firemen.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—We, whose names are here annexed, living in close proximity to the Gulick store, in which occurred the fire Sunday morning, do most generously thank the North Plainfield firemen for their courage and persistent efforts in extinguishing that stubborn blaze: Thomas Doud, Rev. W. E. Honeyman, L E. Barkalew, A. J. Leader, Andrew Love, Captain Edwards, Thomas H. Armstrong, John Dunn and many others.

Cake Sale.

The Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters of Trinity Reformed church will hold a cake sale next Saturday afternoon, January 19, at the home of Mrs. J. Fred MacDonald, 190 East Front street.

Interred in Hillside Cemetery.

The remains of Henry Clay Rogers, of Brooklyn, were brought to this city yesterday and interred in Hillside Cemetery. The deceased was a cousin of D. W. Rogers, of West Second street.

To Install Officers.

John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, will meet tomorrow evening, at which time the officers will be installed for the coming year. The affair will not be public.

MAYOR MACK FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

Sudden Demise of the Chief Executive of the City of Elizabeth.

WAS SERVING SECOND TERM.

WAS A PRACTICING PHYSICIAN AND HAD EXTENSIVE PRACTICE.

Dr. Mack Was Very Popular Man—Has Long Been Ill With Nervous Trouble—His Son Found Him—Was a Strong Republican.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, January 14—William A. M. Mack, M. D., Mayor of Elizabeth, was found dead in bed between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning, at his home, 36 Third street, in this city.

Mayor Mack's death was discovered by his son, Elwin LeRoy, who found his father dead in his room. The Mayor's death was not as much a surprise to members of his family as it was to the community. For a long time the Mayor had been a physical wreck, having been a great sufferer from nervous prostration. His family and his intimate friends realized his precarious condition, and his death was therefore not a surprise to them.

Mayor Mack was one of the most popular men in Elizabeth. His friends were legion and he enjoyed an extensive practice. He was born in Hunterdon county, this State, in 1857, but came to Elizabeth in 1874. He attended the academy at Glen Gardner, where he laid the foundation for an education that abundantly fitted him for a successful life. Soon after coming to Elizabeth Mr. Mack took a course in the training school of Bellevue Hospital, New York, from which institution he was graduated with honor and then began in 1880 the practice of medicine in Elizabeth. His skill as a physician and surgeon soon made itself manifest. His services were in constant demand and he enjoyed an extensive practice.

In politics Mr. Mack was a Republican. He was twice elected to the Common Council, where he served with honor and distinction. His popularity was so strong that he was selected to represent his party as mayor of the city and at the time of his death was serving his second term, having been re-elected last spring. It is safe to say that Mayor Mack was the most popular chief executive Elizabeth has had in some years.

Much of Mayor Mack's popularity was due to his unfailing generosity and acts of philanthropy. His death is deeply deplored by citizens of all classes. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

DEATH FOLLOWED GRIP.

Heart Failure Was Cause of Death of Mrs. Henry Weyer.

Heart failure following an attack of grip, caused the death of Mrs. Henry Weyer, of Columbia avenue, a life long resident of this city.

The deceased was in her eighty-first year and was well known and respected by a large circle of acquaintance gained by her lovable disposition and many admirable traits. She was of a beautiful Christian character and for a long time was a regular attendent of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

A husband and three children, Henry Weyer, of Trenton, and the Misses Ida and Louise Weyer, of this city, are left to mourn her loss. The funeral services will be held from her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards will be the officiating clergyman.

Funeral of Mrs. Maguire.

The funeral services of the late Miss Ellen Maguire were held from St. Mary's church this morning. They were largely attended by relatives and friends from this city, Elizabeth, South Plainfield and Metuchen. Rev. Father J. A. McGeary officiated. Numerous floral tributes were in evidence from the deceased's many friends. Those who acted as pall bearers were M. J. Higgins, J. S. Saverd and P. E. Mack, of Metuchen; E. J. McGurke and R. E. Quirke, of New York; and P. P. Cantwell, of Elizabethport. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Ten Joined the Church.

The following persons has been received into membership at the Crescent Avenue church: Margaret Helen Carman, Mrs. Hattie Eliza Chase, George C. Hall, Mrs. Anna E. Hall, John D. Hall, Adeleine Hall, Noble C. King, Mrs. Isabella M King, Antionette Paine Moody and Lucia Pelham Towne.

—Such little pills as DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very easily taken, and they are wonderfully effective in cleansing the liver and bowels. L. W. Randolph.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Goodman, of Plainfield avenue, will take possession of their newly-purchased home on Manning avenue April 1.

—When threatened by pneumonia or any other lung trouble, prompt relief is necessary, as it is dangerous to delay. We would suggest that One Minute Cough Cure be taken as soon as indications of having taken cold are noticed. It cures quickly and its early use prevents consumption. L. W. Randolph.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold the regular monthly consecration service next Friday evening.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

Fred Dixon, of West Front street, visited his home at South Amboy yesterday.

Frank McIntyre, of North avenue, has returned to his studies at Seton Hall College.

The condition of J. R. Phillips, of West Front street, who is very ill, remains unchanged.

Thousands Sent Into Exile.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. Don't be an exile when Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption will cure you at home. It's the most infallible medicine for Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung diseases on earth. The first dose brings relief. Astounding cures result from persistent use. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

—William Bradley, the operator at the Postal office, will join Wetumpka Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M., Wednesday evening.

—Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief for it digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

LITERARY.

The January "American Boy" (Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.,) starts the new century with a bright, interesting number, including an address to fifteen million American boys on "The New Century." The stories and leading articles are: "The Great Pine Hill Snowball," by Chelsea Curtis Fraser; "The Launching of a 'Bull Teaser'" (a six-foot box-kite), by Vincent VanMarter Beede; "The Problem of a Philatelist," by Carroll Watson Rankin; "Choosing an Occupation," being the third article of a series entitled, "Turning Points in a Boy's Life"; The eleventh and part of the twelfth chapter of "The Cruise of the Yacht Gazelle"; "A Miniature Navy and How to Build It"; "January in American History"; "Short Talks to Boys"; "The Boy Photographer" occupies a page, and "Boys in Games and Sport" tells of chair and broomstick tricks, and describes five good out-of-door games. Two pages are given to the exploiting of a national non-secret society for American boys under the title, "The Order of the American Boy." There are over fifty illustrations in this number. $1 a year. The Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.

—Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will meet in regular session this evening.

—Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, will install their new officers on Wednesday evening. Many visitors will be present from nearby places.

—The most soothing, healing and antiseptic application ever devised is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It relieves at once and cures piles, sores, eczema and skin diseases. Beware of imitations. L. W. Randolph.

Edgar F. Sheppard, of West Fourth street, has been ill at his home for a few days with an attack of the grip.

Superintendent C. E. Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company, will leave the city tomorrow to visit several places about New Jersey in the interest of the company.

Elmer E. Winckler, of Westervelt avenue, who has been detained at home since he first of the year by illness, has about recovered and hopes to return to his position soon.

Simple Price Reasoning.

A dentist's office expenses are the same whether he serves few or many patients. If he serves few he wastes time and must charge higher prices to make good the waste. If he serves many he can divide a fair profit above expenses into much lower prices for all That's what my practice enables me to do, and that's why my prices are so little for work that's best—GUARANTEED BEST.

WICKED ST. LOUIS.

Grand Jury Reports a Sad Condition In Municipal Affairs.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—The final report of the grand jury, composed of prominent business men who have been investigating municipal matters, has been returned. Twenty-four indictments, only four of which for minor crimes are made public, were handed down. The rest, which are against persons not yet in custody, are withheld. Among the 20 indictments is one against an official of the house of delegates, who is charged with attempting to bribe a state witness against men accused of highway robbery. He will be served with a bench warrant today.

The Post-Dispatch says of the report:

"Accompanying the indictments was the report of the grand jury touching their investigations of police bribery and election fraud charges, together with the result of their investigation of public criticisms on the conduct of the police department.

"Lack of co-operation between the board of police commissioners and the chief of police calls forth censure. Corrupt use of the police in politics, drawn from instances during the past election as investigated by the jurymen, is condemned, and in this connection a meeting at the Planters' hotel preceding the last election, where it is charged that the police heads and Democratic state officials discussed the instructions to be given to the police in their conduct toward deputy sheriffs under a Republican administration, is stigmatized as reprehensible.

"The jurymen throw up their hands when they come to that portion of their report treating of the many charges, specific and general, of wholesale election frauds. They dismiss the charges as simply appalling by reason of their multitude and varied character. So vast was the evidence of this sort of corruption that the jury expresses itself as utterly inadequate to cope with the situation because of the limited time at their disposal.

"The condition of the city eleemosynary institutions is classed as wretched. What the jurymen saw during personal visits to these places is painted in the most deprecatory manner, and the kind of administration of public affairs making possible such conditions is referred to in an ironical strain.

"The report says that enforced economies and overcrowding are carried to such an extreme that so far as they relate to methods they have made it necessary to employ there is an uncomfortably close relation between the lack of funds and crime."

NEWS FROM TUTUILA.

Business Affairs Are Booming Under American Rule.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Latest advices from Tutuila, Samoa, state that the money, amounting to over $41,000, which the government of Great Britain, Germany and the United States promised to pay the Samoans for the surrender of their arms after the last war is now being distributed. There is yet a large number of guns held by the Samoans of German Samoa, and General Solf has issued orders requesting the delivery of all guns held by natives to the government before the end of the month.

In Tutuila under United States rule business affairs are booming. The traders are doing more than double their previous business, and the natives are contented and happy. They are the envy of their cousins in the neighboring islands.

The natives of Fagatogatown, adjoining the government property, have agreed to give up the whole of the beach front and stretching several chains inland to the government for government buildings and a reservation. With the money they hope to get from the government from the concession they are going to build a handsome church inland. They will also ship their houses to the ground.

The proposed road around Pago Pago harbor has been commenced, but the treasury will not permit of full completion at the present time. The new light at Breaker point has been fixed.

Commodore Henderson Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Commodore Alexander Henderson, chief engineer, U. S. N., retired, is dead at his home in Yonkers. Commodore Henderson was born in Washington on July 12, 1832. He was the son of Colonel Thomas Henderson, U. S. A., and the grandson of Commodore Thomas Truxton, U. S. N. He entered the navy as a third assistant engineer in February, 1851. He was in Commodore Perry's fleet which visited the orient in 1852-5 and opened up Japan to intercourse with western civilization. He served in the Mediterranean in 1856-7 and took part in the famous Paraguay expedition in 1858. He again served in the Mediterranean in 1859 and 1860, and in 1861, though a Virginian of one of the oldest southern families, with many of his relatives in the Confederate service, he returned to the United States and served in the northern fleet throughout the civil war.

Ocean Telephony Now.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The American Telephone and Telegraph company has just purchased the patents of Dr. M. L. Pupin of Columbia college, which cover the art of ocean telephony and which enable telephone messages to be sent over any length of land or marine lines. It further states that the sum of $200,000 has been paid to Dr. Pupin for this invention, with an annual salary to him during the life of the patents of $7,500.

Suicides at Sea.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A double suicide occurred on the North German Lloyd steamship Koln while that vessel was on her way from Bremen to this port, which she reached on Saturday. The suicides, saloon passengers, were Edward Hermann and Freuda Hermann, his wife. They jumped overboard on the evening of Jan. 3.

Reward For Supposed Kidnapers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 14.—Captain N. H. Frazer of Union Springs has offered through Chief of Police Albion Hixon of that city $500 reward for the return of his son, Bass Frazer, who is supposed to have been kidnaped from school in Atlanta.

The President Out Again.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President McKinley is so much improved in health that he is able to go outdoors in a carriage for a short time. It is expected that a few more days will see him again able to attend to business as usual.

Six Children Killed.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Six children were trampled down and killed and 40 others were injured during a panic at the Twelfth Street Turner hall. The panic was precipitated by false cries of fire.

A DEADLY BLIZZARD

Snow Bound Passengers Perish In Russia.

A TERRIBLE TALE OF SUFFERING.

Storm Raged One Hundred Hours. No Mails Reach Odessa For Six Days—Heroic Efforts to Relieve Stalled Trains.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Odessa correspondent of The Daily Mail sends a heartrending story of the sufferings of railway passengers snow bound while on the way to Odessa. The blizzard, he says, raged continuously for more than 100 hours over the whole of southern Russia. He describes the gradual arrival of trains at Razdyenaia with hundreds of passengers from the north who had entrained six days before.

"They had been snowed in for five days," he continues, "and fighting among themselves for the scanty food supplies provided at the railway buffets. Women and children were weeping with hunger, while gangs of men battled with snowdrifts which were 35 feet deep in some places, and that, too, without snowplows, although these would have been useless even if they could have been found.

"Finally some 5,000 passengers had assembled at Razdyelnaia. A regiment was sent from Kiev southward, and 3,000 troops went northward from Odessa with shovels. On the third day the relieving parties succeeded in cutting a passage for a couple of trains, which started with 2,000 persons after a mad rush, the weakest going to the wall.

"The trains proceeded for 18 hours and were then stuck again in the snow, unable to go forward or backward. The blizzard continued. Demoniacal fury and pandemonium prevailed, the passengers cursing the railway management, fainting and weeping. The trains were buried, and all passed a horrible night. When morning came, a peasant volunteered to walk six miles to the nearest station with telegrams beseeching assistance, supplies, firewood and water having been exhausted.

"Finally, driven to desperation, 60 passengers, with Count Kapnist, determined to walk to Odessa. Count Kapnist, with 40, reached a point where he was able to secure sledges, and all arrived at Odessa, though uncertain as to the fate of those they had left behind.

"Meanwhile Governor Schuvaloff had organized train sledges, with supplies, which after herculean efforts relieved the two trains. It was found that many of the passengers had their arms or legs frozen.

"Eighteen thousand troops are now engaged in the work of clearing the line. The storm has abated, and it is announced that the besieged train will get through to Odessa this evening. No mails have been received here for six days. Corpses have been kept unburied for eight days, as it has been impossible to inter them. The conduct of the railway authorities is loudly condemned."

The Odessa correspondent of The Daily News wires that 120 people were frozen to death in the blizzard.

The Bucharest correspondent of The Daily Express says that five Roumanian soldiers while going home were attacked and eaten by wolves after a desperate struggle.

A Battle With Burglars.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 14.—Officer Charles W. Goss of the city police force surprised a gang of men attempting to rob the German Savings bank at an early hour in the morning. He engaged in a single handed battle with three of the men who were already in the bank and one acting as sentinel on the corner. Goss is sure he hit two as they came out of the bank door, one in the back and one in the arm. He emptied his revolver from a vantage point behind the shadow of a telegraph pole, and all five men shot in his direction a number of times. Five bullet marks were left on the pole. The gang ran down Baltimore street and made their escape out the West Virginia Central railroad track, terrorizing the few persons they met on the way by indiscriminate firing. They probably numbered six persons, armed with Winchester shotguns and large revolvers. They shot at the operator of the West Virginia railroad as he raised the window at the station, a bullet crashing through the glass. They also shot at another policeman. Nothing was stolen at the bank. Afterward the gang committed two small robberies in South Cumberland. They are still at large.

Frye Home and Silent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The United States transport McPherson has arrived from Matanzas and Havana with 14 cabin passengers and 13 civilian employees of the government. Among the former were Lieutenant Ralph Harrison, U. S. A.; Alexis E. Frye, former superintendent of schools of Cuba; two sons and Captain Slocum of the Seventh United States cavalry and one son of Captain Lewis of the Second United States cavalry. Mr. Frye when seen at quarantine said: "It is true that I have resigned my position as superintendent of schools of Cuba. Any person familiar with Cuban affairs must have foreseen this. However, I must decline to make any statement at present or go into the reasons which brought about the resignation. I promised Governor Wood that I would say nothing concerning the matter at present."

Quay Fight In Doubt.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—The result of the struggle for United States senator is still in doubt, with both sides professing to be confident of victory. Colonel Quay, the choice of the Republican caucus, is here directing his canvass, and he says there is no doubt of his election.

Searching For Crowe.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 14.—The police of Nanticoke are busy looking for Pat Crowe, the alleged abductor of the Cudahy boy at Omaha. The Chicago police say Crowe is somewhere in the anthracite regions disguised as a Polander. He can talk Polish.

Four Hundred Fishermen Missing.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 14.—It is officially reported that 400 fishermen are missing and that they are supposed to have perished in a storm Jan. 10 off the west coast.

Modern Shylock Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Samuel Lewis, the notorious money lender and usurer, who has been called the "greatest and meanest of modern Shylocks," is dead.

BOERS ON OFFENSIVE

The British Garrisons Repulse Fierce Attacks.

PEACE AGENTS FLOGGED AND SHOT.

This Action by General De Wet Excites Deepest Indignation and Is Styled "Murder" by English Press.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Jan. 13:

"About 1,400 Boers crossed the line, attacking both Zuurfontein and Kaalfontein stations, but were driven off. They are being pursued by a cavalry brigade."

Lord Kitchener reports also several skirmishes at different points, with trifling British losses, and adds:

"Three agents of the peace committee were taken as prisoners to De Wet's laager near Lindley Jan. 10. One, who was a British subject, was flogged and then shot. The other two, burghers, were flogged by De Wet's orders."

The brief report of the fate of the three members of the peace committee who were sent to see General De Wet excites the deepest indignation on all sides. One or two papers express a hope that Lord Kitchener has been misled by false Kaffir reports, but it is generally felt that he would not have reported the matter to the war office without undoubted evidence.

The Daily Mail heads the report with the word "Murder!" and declaims against any further attempt to coax the enemy into submission. "De Wet placed himself outside the pale of humanity," says The Daily Mail, "and not proclamations, but larger re-enforcements, must be our watchword."

The Morning Post says:

"This marks the point where the guerrilla phase ends and the bandit phase begins."

All the papers appeal strongly to the government to hurry forward re-enforcements, since it is evident that the Boer leaders have now become desperate and conciliation is quite useless.

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail announces the return to Pretoria of Mr. Pretorius, a former president of the late South African Republic, from a futile endeavor to persuade the Boer leaders to surrender.

Details of the attacks upon Kaalfontein and Zuurfontein stations show that there were only small garrisons of about 120 men at each station. The British had excellent trenches, which enabled them to withstand the attacks until the Boers, having ascertained that re-enforcements were coming to the garrison, retired. At Zuurfontein a party of Boers in khaki succeeded in capturing a British patrol of eight men, whom they subsequently liberated. The railway and telegraph lines will be speedily restored.

No further news has been received regarding the invasion of Cape Colony.

Sir Alfred Milner writes to a correspondent in England, saying:

"It would be useless for me to notice the wholesale lies that are spread about concerning me. If I attempted to do so, I would have no time for anything else."

Canadians Unfairly Treated.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14.—A large contingent of Canadian mounted rifles has returned from South Africa under command of Major Williams. The officer commanding says a great injustice has been done the Canadians by the imperial government in the matter of pay. While the Cape Colony volunteers and Australians received $1.25 a day, the Canadians were paid only the regular "Tommy" rate of 85 cents a day by the English government. Major Williams intends to bring the matter to the notice of the authorities. He also thinks that Lord Roberts made a big mistake in the way of accepting the surrender of old arms from the Boers, who buried their Mausers and were given free pass out again. As soon as the British army had passed on the Boers dug up their rifles and joined other commandos like De Wet's. He expects Lord Kitchener will have another year's hard work before the Boers are settled.

Boer Attack Repulsed.

PRETORIA, Jan. 13.—The Boers have cut the wire between Irene and Olifantsfontein stations. Early Saturday morning 800 Boers under Commandant Beyer invested Kaalfontein station. A hot rifle fire and shell fire with two fieldpieces and a Maxim was maintained for six hours. An armored train and re-enforcements were sent from Pretoria, but before they had arrived upon the scene the garrison had driven off the Boers, who retired unmolested with a transport train half a mile long. The Boers blew up the line beyond Kaalfontein, compelling the mail train to return here. It is supposed their object was to obtain supplies, a great quantity of which is stored at Kaalfontein. The British had no casualties.

Reign of Terror at Panama.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 14.—The British steamer Texan, Captain Lund, which arrived here yesterday from Colon, Colombia, reports that when she left Colon terror reigned among the inhabitants around Panama in consequence of another rebel descent upon the city. Heavy fighting began outside Panama Jan. 10 and continued fiercely throughout Jan. 11, when the rebels were making a desperate attempt to get within the city. The government troops were strongly contesting the advance of the insurgents when the Texan left. Captain Lund says the losses on both sides had been considerable, though without advantage either way. The rebels had been largely re-enforced and were well stocked with supplies. Two British warships had arrived at Panama, and an American cruiser was momentarily expected.

A Brutal Crime.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—Thomas Clifford Moshier, aged 25, of Gorham was clubbed to death and his mother brutally assaulted by two men, one of whom was a negro, who broke into their house Saturday night. The negro who is believed to have been concerned in the affair has been arrested, but the other man escaped.

Chief Clerk Paige Dead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Joseph Yates Paige, for the past six years chief clerk of the comptroller of the currency, is dead of pneumonia. He was well known to the banking interests of the country. Mr. Paige was born in Albany in 1850 of a family distinguished in the state's history.

NEW YORK PRISONS.

A New Parole Desired—Over 10,000 Inmates Reported.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—The legislature is urged by the state prison commission in its annual report to enact a new parole law which will be mandatory upon the courts and applicable to state prisons as well as reformatories. The present parole law, so far as it applies to state prisons, is declared by the commission to be practically inoperative. Concerning the benefits to be derived from the proposed legislation the board says:

"Prisoners committed to indeterminate sentences would more strenuously strive by industry and good behavior to earn a parole while yet in prison. The greater benefit, however, would be after their release. The fact that they were on parole would operate as a restraint, keeping them from returning to evil associations and habits. A prisoner kept in prison until the day of his final discharge and then released without employment or restraint naturally and almost inevitably drifts back into his former life. The present system of keeping convicts until the end of their terms and then discharging them without any further care over them or giving them assistance in finding employment is in effect simply turning them loose to prey upon the public."

The total prison population of the state is 10,761. The state prisons contain 3,380 and the penitentiaries 2,187 convicts. The remainder of the population is in the reformatories, jails and workhouses. The report states that if the population of the prisons had kept pace with the increased population of the state during this time there would have been now approximately 15,000 inmates in our prisons instead of the 10,761. The cost of arresting, convicting and maintaining these additional 4,000 prisoners would be approximately $800,000 annually.

The report shows that during the year there were 32,859 commitments to the penitentiaries, jails and workhouses of the state for intoxication.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Between 4,800 and 5,000 deer were killed in New York during the last season.

St. Louis announced the completion of the $5,000,000 fund for the world's fair in that city.

Bishop Henry C. Potter favors the selection of an army officer as chief of the New York police department.

An oil gusher was struck in northeastern Texas 18 miles from Sabine pass. The yield was reputed at over 15,000 barrels a day.

The Grip Everywhere.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Special reports show that more than 500,000 persons in the grip belt, which extends across the United States from New York to the Rocky mountains, are suffering with the disease. The epidemic is greatest in the east, with a wide extension in Pennsylvania. Illinois is also extensively afflicted. In proportion to their size, Pittsburg, Reading and Allegheny City, in Pennsylvania, are the most seriously visited. The reports show that in the big cities of New York and Chicago the grip has spread at an alarming rate, and, although few cases are reported as fatal, the number is enormous.

Southern Railway Sold.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 14.—Upon the highest authority it can be stated that the Cincinnati, Portsmouh and Virginia railroad has been sold to the Norfolk and Western Railway company. Though there has been much in public print concerning the sale of the Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Virginia road, nothing of a really definite nature in that connection took place until Saturday, when papers passed in New York between those in control of each property binding a sale and purchase. Final transfer of the Cincinnati road to the Norfolk and Western will occur on Monday.

Final Vote For President.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—The Republican electors of New York state met in this city today and voted for president and vice president of the United States. They met in the senate chamber and were called to order by Secretary of State J. T McDonough. They cast their ballots for the presidential candidates and appointed a committee to take a certificate setting forth the result of the proceedings to Washington for delivery to the president of the United States senate.

Heavy Explosion of Dynamite.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Jan. 14.—Fourteen hundred and fifty pounds of dynamite exploded at Colchester Point, along the line of the Rutland Canadian railroad, about eight miles from this city, in a storehouse where it was being heated by steam. No one was near the building, which was completely demolished and an immense hole blown in the ground. The workmen were all at dinner. The shock was terrific, shattering windows a mile or more away.

To Stop Bullfights.

BARCELONA, Jan. 14.—A mass meeting was held here, presided over by Senor Erobert, a former mayor, for the purpose of formulating a demand upon the Spanish government for the suppression of bullfights. Numerous speeches were made, and several of the speakers expressed the hope that this national spectacle would soon disappear from the country.

Miss Smith's Diary of Peking Siege.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Miss Mary Condit Smith, a heroine of the siege of Peking, who is to be married on Feb. 12 to Lieutenant Richard Hooker of the marine corps, has sold the diary she kept during the Peking siege to a firm of New York publishers for $10,000. It will be published in book form.

Mosquito Fleet Sails.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 14.—The United States war vessels Annapolis, Frolic, Wompatuck and Piscataqua, constituting the mosquito fleet, which arrived here Jan. 2, sailed at half past 9 yesterday morning. The officers have expressed themselves as charmed with their visit and with the climate.

Grip In Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 14.—A canvass of the physicians of Syracuse shows 2,500 cases of grip under treatment. Hundreds of cases have not been reported to the doctors. The coeds at the university are suffering from the epidemic, but the male students have for the most part escaped.

GRANT REPORTS PROGRESS.

Says His District Is Now Nearly Pacified.

MANILA, Jan. 14.—General Grant, who is endeavoring to finish the latest insurrection in his district and who is personally commanding his scouts at the southern end, reports that he has encountered a number of bands south of the Buloc mountain, all of which retired up the hills. He says that 100 of the enemy who were well intrenched made considerable resistance, but were ultimately driven from their position. Four bodies of insurgents were found. The American casualties were a sergeant and one private of Troop A, Philippine cavalry, wounded.

In the opinion of General Grant his district is now fairly pacified with the exception of the locality south of Buloc mountain, and the province of Pampanga is ready for civil government.

It is expected that Pampanga will be the first province to which provincial government will be applied.

Lieutenant Colonel Frank D. Baldwin of the Fourth United States infantry Saturday destroyed an insurgent arsenal in the Patungan district, seizing a quantity of arms and ammunition, together with a printing press and other material.

Filipino Criminals.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Copies of general orders from the Philippines received here show that a large number of native Filipinos have been convicted of murder and other crimes and sentenced to be hanged or to long terms of imprisonment. In one case the accused belonged to an organized band which under the name of Guardia de Honor had for its declared object the murder of peaceful and unoffending victims if found necessary to gratify either a desire for revenge or a feeling of envy against the rich. "These inhuman methods," says General MacArthur, "remove all the participants, whether chief or willing follower of the bands, from the pale of the law and place them among that class of cowardly and secret assassins which all civilized men the world over hold to be enemies of mankind."

FROM DEATH TO LIFE.

Wonderful Effects of Salt Upon the Heart's Action.

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 14.—The efficacy of sodium chloride (common salt) in stimulating heart action was demonstrated in a remarkable manner by Dr. W. Z. Kumler in this city. Dr. Kumler was called to attend Marcus Sauer, 62 years old, who has been long a sufferer from dropsy. He found the patient apparently dead. All the symptoms immediately following dissolution, including cold extremities, absence of respiration, heart action and pulse, were manifest.

Dr. Kumler resolved to try the salt solution as a final resort. At 1:37 p. m. he injected a quantity of warm water containing 25 per cent solution of salt in the left arm. In 20 seconds there were signs of a pulse, and it was plain that circulation was being revived. In 25 minutes a second injection was administered, this time in a branch of the brachial artery in the upper left arm. In 20 minutes from the second injection respiration was full and rhythmical, color returned to the patient's face, he recovered consciousness and asked for food. Nourishment in the form of broth was administered, and soon after Mr. Sauer took a drink of water, one of the best symptoms of returned functional activity. Mr. Sauer is improving.

Roosevelt Shot a Lion.

Meeker, Colo., Jan. 14.—Colonel Roosevelt's first day in the Rockies netted him a handsome lion, together with an exciting adventure. Leaving Meeker at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the party struck a fresh lion trail four miles out. The dogs were released, and the pursuit started. For five miles the wily animal led its pursuers, but was finally treed. With the dogs baying around the tree, Dr. Webb and Mr. Stewart pressed Colonel Roosevelt to shoot, but the New Yorker insisted on drawing straws. Fortune favored him, and he drew the long one, but this matter was settled none too soon, as the angry beast sprang from the tree at the little party. Quick as a flash, the colonel's gun was at his shoulder, and the ball struck true while the animal was in midair.

Praise For Our Bluejackets.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Long has received a letter written by a number of missionaries to Commander Winslow of the hospital ship Solace expressing not only their thanks for the courtesies of the voyage from San Francisco to Yokohama, but adding a tribute to the splendid management of the ship and the admirable qualities displayed by the American bluejackets. Mr. Long highly appreciates the sentiments of the letter and says that if more of the people would go aboard our naval vessels there would be many testimonials of the same sort for our sailors and our ships.

Huggers Terrorize a Town.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 14.—Residents of this place are terrorized over the hugging of women by masked men on the street at night. One arrest has been made. Within the last ten days five women have been thus embraced. The victims, young and old, have been held up by masked men in dark places and hugged hard. None has been asked for money and valuables. When the women screamed, the huggers ran off.

Governor Odell's Team Ran Away.

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—Governor Odell's team of bay horses ran away from the State street entrance side of the capitol, and the result was that the governor's fine new sleigh was wrecked. The horses, however, were not hurt. They wound up their wild gallop by running under the sheds of a hotel about six miles west of the tollgate.

Large Shipments of Coal.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 14.—Fully 6,000,000 bushels of coal are on the way south, and before the present rise in the Ohio is checked 2,000,000 more will probably be shipped. The fleet now on the way is made up of 197 boats and 84 barges.

JOINT NOTE SIGNED.

Prince Ching and Earl Li Affix the Signatures.

LATTER'S ILLNESS CAUSED DELAY.

Envoys Generally Agree That Negotiations Must Be Continued In Peking—British Attitude Criticised.

PEKING, Jan. 14.—The joint note of the powers has finally been signed by the Chinese peace commissioners. Prince Ching signed Saturday, and Li Hung Chang, who is better, signed it yesterday.

It is understood that the malady from which Li Hung Chang is suffering is Bright's disease. He was feeling worse Saturday and therefore postponed the affixing of his signature.

Prince Ching has protested to the court against the appointment, said to be contemplated, of Viceroy Chang Chih Tung as a plenipotentiary in the place of Li Hung Chang. He thinks the latter's advice absolutely essential, although he believes it might be advisable to appoint a third plenipotentiary for China and reiterates his desire for the appointment of Sheng, who would be acceptable to the foreigners.

So far as Chang Chih Tung is concerned, the foreign envoys who know him personally say that, while he is strongly antiforeign and has never made any secret of his likes and dislikes, they believe he would be a satisfactory representative of the Chinese, and there would not be any objections to him on the score of his recent utterances. Indeed, some of the ministers think it would be wise for China to make Chang Chih Tung a plenipotentiary.

Most of the envoys have received word from their governments that the negotiations must be conducted in Peking on the ground that for various reasons other places suggested would be objectionable.

The Russians say they will formally turn over the railroad to the Germans immediately.

M. de Giers, the Russian minister, objects to the British attitude in refusing to permit the Russians to distribute rice and wheat to destitute Chinese in the British section.

Prince Chun, brother of the emperor, paid a visit to the German legation yesterday, where he had a satisfactory interview with the German minister, Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein. His appointment as Chinese envoy to Germany to make apologies for the murder of Baron von Ketteler has been approved. It is probable that Prince Su will accompany him.

Russia's War Expenses.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 14.—The Russian minister of finance, M. de Witte, has submitted his budget statement for 1901. This shows a surplus in the ordinary estimates of 73,445,450 rubles. He explains that events in the far east have necessitated a heavy expenditure, amounting for 1900 to 61,900,000 rubles. This, he goes on to say, did not constitute the total sacrifice imposed upon the country by "these regrettable events." "It is still too early to submit a statement of our entire material losses," continues M. de Witte, "a considerable portion of the credits being included in the normal budget and charged to other ministries and local finances. The losses and delays on the construction of railways in the far east have entailed advances of nearly 82,000,000 rubles to the railway companies."

Italians Out For Target Practice.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—The Italian consul at Shanghai, in explaining the presence of Italian warships at San-mun bay, says they went there for target practice. It is again reported here that the allies are preparing to enter the province of Shansi. A French force is reported to have defeated a body of Boxers west of Pao-ting-fu, killing 1,000.

Chinese Ordered to Sign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Secretary Hay has received a cablegram from Minister Conger at Peking announcing that the Chinese plenipotentiaries have been directed to sign the joint note of the powers.

What Congress Is Doing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The army reorganization bill will continue to engage the attention of the senate at least during the first days of the present week. The opinion is quite generally expressed among senators that the bill will be acted upon by the middle of the week, and even the critics of the measure join in this prediction. Many phases of the question involved in the army bill remain to be considered, and the general understanding is that there will be no little discussion before the bill can be disposed of. A programme of miscellaneous matters will occupy the attention of the house during the coming week. The river and harbor bill, which was debated for three days last week, was taken up again today. Although the bill was criticised very severely during the debate last week, it is in no danger of failure. Most of the attacks came from members who were disappointed in what the bill grants to their localities, and the actual opponents of the measure will be overwhelmed when the final vote is reached.

Icefloes Drifting South.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 14.—Northern icefloes, drifting along the Atlantic coast, now threaten to blockade St. John's. They are already within sight of the port. The coastal steamer Virginia, bound north with provisions for coast settlements, was compelled to abandon the voyage owing to her inability to penetrate the ice barrier. Incoming vessels report that the floes are sweeping outward toward the track of the transatlantic steamers and are likely to reach the latitude of Cape Race next week.

Fatal Buffalo Fire.

BUFFALO, Jan. 14.—Mary Spitzman and Clara Meyers, servants, were burned to death in a fire that gutted the fifth floor of the Buckingham apartment house, corner of Allen and Mariner streets. The fire started in the kitchen of the fifth floor, directly below the servants' room. The property loss is estimated at $85,000.

Hebrews For Chicago.

HALIFAX, Jan. 14.—The steamers Lake Superior and Tunisian arrived from Liverpool with 600 and 400 passengers, chiefly immigrants, respectively. On the Lake Superior were 500 Hebrews bound to Chicago. They were transferred from the Lake Megantic, which was forced by heavy weather to return to Queenstown.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., JAN. 14, 1901

COMING EVENTS

January 14—Volunteer League and Missionary Bible study class at Y. M. C. A. 9 p. m.

January 17—Annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. for the election of six directors for three years.

Plainfield's Schools.

Copies of the annual report of the Plainfield Board of Education for the year ending August 31, 1900, have just been sent to all the citizens of the city. There is an introductory signed by the secretary, Fred C. Lounsbury, in which he calls attention to the accompanying financial statement and the report of Superintendent H. M. Maxson.

He further says:

The constant increase in membership has resulted in the filling of all our class rooms (excepting in the new Lincoln School) including eight in the old church building, and brings us to the point where additional facilities in the immediate future will be an absolute necessity.

The contemplated High School building can be finished none too soon to provide the necessary accommodations, not only for the High School itself, but also by transfers, for the other grades, which are now beginning to be crowded for room.

When the new building shall be an accomplished fact, Plainfield will occupy an enviable position in educational facilities among the cities of our State.

Superintendent Maxson's report is an interesting document. There is also a list of the teachers, the enrollment in the schools, the graduates of the High and Grammar schools last June and a programme of the commencement exercises and list of the prize winners.

Particularly appropriate at the beginning of the new century, the first report of the Plainfield public schools, which was made in the year 1848, is printed. The wonderful growth of the local school system can be shown by no better comparison than by reading that facts contained therein and comparing them with the reports of the present condition of the schools in the previous pages. This report of 1848 shows an enrollment of 167 in the first quarter and 160 in the second, and a total expenditure of $629 25 for the support of the schools. The enrollment last year was 2,556, while the total disbursements were $79,712 08.

Nearly every day there are callers at the Daily Press office who desire to secure one of the handsome Daily Press calendars for 1901. While we would be delighted to accommodate everyone, it is now impossible as the supply was exhausted long ago. Every year the demand for Press calendars is great but the calendar this year proved so universally popular that it only required a few days to empty the shelves of them.

It is always advisable to become a regular subscriber to The Daily Press rather than purchase it daily. Particularly is this so in the suburban towns. The Daily Press has exceptionally good facilities for serving all its suburban subscribers, and attention is called to the list of authorized agents which is now printed at the head of the Suburban Department from whom The Daily Press may be secured regularly.

Prosperity seems to have visited the establishment of the New Jersey Advocate, of Rahway. An improved new press has been installed and the last issue of that newspaper appears as a six colum quarto instead of the old fashioned seven column blanket sheet which has proved so large and unwieldy.

---

Editors all over the State are trying to guess what the Jersey Legislature is going to do this term, but it is a hard job.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

If, as has been broadly intimated, the bitter fight over the chairmanship of the Union County Republican Committee was the first overt act in the development of a plan to make Representative Fowler the successor of United States Senator Kean, the result does not promise well for the attainment of Mr. Fowler's alleged ambition. Senator Kean's victory was decisive and complete. His brother is now chairman of the County Committee and the Kean influence in that body is heavily predominant.

Future developments must be awaited to disclose whether or not Mr. Fowler has fully determined to make an agressive and forceful fight for Senator Kean's seat. If such is his purpose he does not need to be discouraged over last night's defeat. Mr. Kean's term will not expire until March 4, 1905, so that Mr. Fowler has almost four years in which to perfect his plans and recruit his forces.

In the meantime it may not be amiss to remind both Messrs. Kean and Fowler that there are a number of Democrats sanguine enough to believe that neither of the men named will be the next United States Senator.—Newark News.

* * * * *

The new chairman of the Union county Republican committee, Hamilton F. Kean, is highly spoken of by those Republicans of that county who wish the party well. This is true of the friends of ex-Assemblyman Chas. N. Codding, as well as those who opposed his re-election to the chairmanship. It is due Mr. Codding to say—and all candid Republicans will admit it—that during his control of the Union county Republican committee, he proved to be one of the most efficient organizers and workers that the county has ever had, as the repeated Republican victories there have shown. That he has left his successor no easy task to keep the party organization up to the high standard which it has reached is an asseveration that needs no discussion to substantiate it. But that this standard can be maintained admits of no doubt if the sincere, working, intelligent Republicans of Union county will give—as they should give—to Mr. Kean the same earnest and loyal support that they gave to Mr. Codding. It is earnestly to be hoped that those Republicans who were disappointed by the defeat of their candidate for the chairmanship of the committee will keep as firmly in line as they did before Mr. Kean was chosen.—New York Tribune.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Years ago there lived over the mountains back of Plainfield an old woman who was very fond of what she termed "a good cup of tea." At that that time, the quality she liked cost $1 per pound. Her family considered her taste rather extravagant, and one day, when she had commissioned her sons to purchase tea for her at that price, they talked the matter over and concluded that their mother would never know the difference if they purchased tea at 50 cents per pound and did not tell her. This was accordingly done, and the sons awaited the result with some curiosity. That night the old woman brewed her tea as usual and after drinking a cup said quietly, but sagely, "Boys, this may $1 tea, but it certainly has a 50 cent taste."

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Opening Spring Wash Goods.

Dainty, Cool, Stylish, The Latest, Bewitching.

Fast Colors, Durable, Reliable, Exclusive, Immense Variety

SATURDAY, JANUARY 12th, 8 A. M.

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness, far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27 in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27 in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier. 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty.

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn, satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked suisses, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits. Cambric, nainsook and suisse edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point-de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

IN THE CARPET STORE.

The chief problem of a carpet business is to dispose of the short lengths. We solve the problem by selling them at greatly reduced prices. Lengths suitable for small bed rooms, halls, etc, as follows: 75c and 85c Tapestry Brussels at 45c and 50c. 1 00 and 1 10 Velvets at 75c. 1 00 and 1 10 Axminsters at 75c. 65c Best all-wool Ingrains at 49c. Rug Lengths of above at 35c and 50c and 75c each. Old carpets made over and relaid by skilled workmen.

THE JANUARY FURNITURE -:- SELLING -:-

has been beyond our highest expectations. We have been making new friends and customers every day, and it's not to be wondered at when you consider the extremely low prices prevailing at this sale. It's not a question of money making, simply that of keeping busy during a usually dull month in the furniture line. Many are buying now for their future needs. Goods will be stored till wanted.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan 14—A special meeting of the Borough Council will be held this evening in order to take action in regard to the notice served upon the members by Henry Garretson. Through his counsel, H. C. Suydam, of Plainfield, Mr. Garretson has announced his intention of bringing suit against the borough unless his bill for work on Madison avenue is paid within fifteen days. Those versed in road work declare the street to be in excellent condition, and it is thought the Council will act favorably toward the contractor. At any rate a settlement of some sort at once is to be desired rather than an expensive lawsuit later.

The last of the union services was held in the Methodist church last evening and was very well attended. The sermon was delivered by Rev. N. J. Sproull and was an excellent discourse. At all the meetings held during the week, large attendances were the rule, and the leaders are greatly pleased at the interest manifested.

Miss Mary Hunt returned home Saturday after a week's visit with Newark relatives. Miss Lizzie Hunt will remain until Wednesday.

The Mandolin Banjo and Guitar Club will hold its weekly practice meeting this evening at the residence of Charles Corlell, Jr.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Kinsey returned to their home in Tottenville, S. I., today after spending a week with borough friends.

At a meeting of the Building Trades Council held at Plainfield last week, J. Newton Apgar was elected a trustee for one year.

William Gulick is still suffering severely from rheumatism and is unable to be about the house.

Adam Dealaman has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Alfred Cottrelly.

Miss Annie Sirisky, of Raritan, has returned home after a visit with borough relatives.

Engineer Frank Wynkoop is again suffering from an attack of the grip.

NEW MARKET.

Scotch Plains, January 14—Owing to the illness of Rev. G M. Schott the services in the Baptist church Sunday morning were very brief. Mr. Shott occupied his pulpit during the short service in the morning, but was unable to preach in the evening, so no service wrs held but the Young People's meeting, the members uniting with the Methodist congregation for worship.

A young daughter arrived to brighten the lives of Prof. and Mrs. John R. Morey early Sunday morning. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs James H. Parks, of Home Dawn, have been entertaining Mrs. Park's brother, Dr. J. A. Powelson, of New York for a pleasant visit.

Miss Ada Hunt led an interesting meeting of the B. Y. P. U. in the parlors of the Baptist church last evening. Subject, "Youthful Consecration."

Miss Hattie Wilcox, of Brooklyn spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Nancy Wilcox, who is quite ill at her home on East Front street.

The annual election of officers of Excelsior H. and L. Company will be held at the Company's monthly meeting Jan. 21.

South Plainfield, January 14—The funeral services of Miss Ellen T. Maguire were held at St. Mary's church, Plainfield, this morning. Phillip Maguire, of this place, is the father of the deceased.

The old school house was sold Saturday afternoon for $125. William Hamilton is the owner. He did his bidding through the agency of John Geary.

The Lehigh section men are relaying the tracks from New Market to South Plainfield. Heavier rails are being used.

Miss Bertha Gunther returned to her home this morning after a two days' visit with Miss Nellie Manning

Miss N. Manning's home was the scene of another evening's party Saturday night.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

One of the most interesting events of the theatrical season is announced for tomorrow night at Music Hall in Callahan's big production, "Fogg's Ferry," with the same scenery and effects used during its triumphant season at the Park theatre, New York. All of the scenery and effects are carried, and besides a strong company, the organization includes the Carolina serenaders, a troupe of colored singers and dancers, boys and girls absolutely unequalled. Unique electric and calcium displays are also features, but the play depends rather on vigorous plot and well-portrayed characters true to nature than its scenic features. It has been a great success in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans and all the leading cities east and west. The play is in its seventeenth season of success and the dramatic company, which embraces most of the original New York cast, is everywhere commended, especially the work of Miss Betty Woodward, who will be seen to advantage as Chip, the ferry waif.

You have seen the Hoyt attraction in past years, but there is only one Mackie who has gained the reputation of Hoyt's most famous comedian. He will appear at Music Hall on Thursday night in his own farce of "Grimes' Cellar Door" with the best company it has ever had, containing all the latest songs, pretty girls and clever comedians. Clever Louise Sanford, one of the most talented actresses now before the public, plays the leading female role and heads a new introduced specialty—"The Gieshe of Tokio" assisted by eight young women dressed in unique oriental costumes.

On Saturday Iola Pomery, a very pretty and clever actress, will be seen at Music Hall in a merry musical comedy entitled "Little Sunshine."

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Lafayette Rosenstiehl, of Summit avenue, is ill with the grip.

Marion S. Ackerman, of Crescent avenue, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Col. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street, is one of the latest victims of the grip.

Rev. Daniel Rapalje and Mrs. Rapalje, of Watchung avenue, are victims of the grip.

Mrs. VanDuyne, of East Millstone, has been spending a few days with friends in Plainfield Lindsley Woolley, of West Front street, has returned from a business trip through Connecticut.

Frank Linbarger and wife, of Red Bank, have returned home after a visit with Plainfield relatives.

The Misses Emma Wikoff and Eva Lance, of Woodhull & Martin's store, are confined to their home with the grip.

Charles Greer, of Woodhull & Martin's store, is in Madison today visiting his uncle, who recently arrived there from Utah.

eral months ago it was thoroughly remodeled the lower west side being fitted for a store, and rented by Gulick & Co., who established business there something over a year ago.

The firm of Gulick & Co. is composed of C. E. Gulick, William W. Dunn and Peter Voorhees, the latter being a silent partner. Mr. Gulick lived on the second floor over the store, Mr. Dunn resides on West Fifth street in this city and Mr. Voorhees lives in Jersey City. The building has been recently purchased by Mr. Gulick.

The first floor of the building and a portion of the east wing was occupied by the family of P. A. Bird, the second floor by Mr. Gulick's family and the third floor by Howard Horner, a butcher employed by Fred Eadress, the West Front street merchant.

The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective chimney, which has an opening into the cellar similar to an old-fashioned fire-place. It is the belief of Chief Debele, of the borough fire department, that sparks fell from the smoke pipe of the furnace upon some shelving that had been built in the chimney fireplace and had then set fire to some butter kegs and other combustible material lying about. Mr. Gulick told a reporter for The Daily Press that there had been a piece of tin fastened underneath the opening. It is supposed to have dropped away from its fastening, allowing sparks to start a blaze.

The loss to Mr. Gulick on the building is estimated at from $500 to $1,000, which is covered by insurance. Gulick & Co's loss on stock is variously estimated at from $1,200 to $1,800. This is also covered by insurance, the risks being held by companies represented by Liefke & Laing, of this city.

The losses sustained by the other occupants of the building will not exceed $100. Neither Mr. Bird nor Mr. Horner carried any insurance. The only damage claimed by these families is that done by smoke and from the removal of some of Mr. Bird's furniture. The floors occupied by the families of Mr. Gulick and Mr. Horner were damaged considerably by smoke.

Neither Mr. Gulick nor Mr. Dunn knew anything about the fire until yesterday morning. Mr. Gulick and his wife were visiting at Somerville, where Mrs. Gulick has a relative ill. Mr. Gulick went to Somerville after the close of business Saturday night. He was apprised of his misfortune by telephone yesterday morning. During his absence Mr. Voorhees had remained over night for the purpose of looking after the horses and to open the store Monday morning. Mr. Dunn was first told of the destruction of his store by John Dickson, of 45 Lincoln place, who kindly consented to do so at the suggestion of Fire Chief Debele.

Messrs. Gulick & Co. carried an insurance of $2 700 on stock. The building, which is owned by C. E. Gulick, was insured for $6,000. It is not believed that the loss on stock will exceed $800 and the damage to the building can be replaced inside of $1,200.

C. E. Gulick & Company wish to inform their patrons that while the fire loss is being adjusted, the same excellent delivery service will be maintained, the wagons continuing to call for and deliver orders.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ethel Lorton, of 201 Watchung avenue, is ill with the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. David Greer, of Grove street, are visiting out-of town friends.

George Wyckoff, wife and two children, of Bound Brook, spent Sunday with his father, I. N. Wyckoff, of 441 West Front street.

Edward Holder, of Westervelt avenue, is home again greatly benefited after being in the Flower Hospital, in New York, for four weeks.

Rev. Dr. Dudley Ferguson, chaplain of the Soldiers' Home at Kearney, is confined to his home on Kensington avenue with a severe attack of the grip.

A letter received yesterday from Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, who is at Battle Creek, Mich., with Mrs. Lewis, who is very ill, states that during the past three or four days she has been resting comfortably.

Miss Gertrude Andrews, of Central avenue, who has typhoid fever, is doing very well, although her temperature reaches a point of 104 and most of the time she is delerious. There are, however, no complications at present to occasion any alarm.

THE CROSBY & HILL UNITED STORES.
Plainfield, N. J.
Wilmington, Del.
Morristown, N. J.
Perth Amboy, N. J.
The Eight-Day Sale
which we inaugurated Saturday morning, to continue all this week up to closing time Saturday night, brought a crowd of customers to our store the first day that evidenced the fact that people appreciate the inducements we offer. Of course, it is impossible to detail all the attractions of a general clearing-up sale in one advertisement. We simply couldn't do it, and so today we present another installment of the trade inducing prices that will prevail only during the remainder of the GREAT EIGHT-DAY SALE.
BLANKETS.
Of all the lines that it pays to clean up before springtime there is one that commands forceful attention from us—blankets, bed blankets and horse blankets, both. The way to enjoin your attention upon this subject is to quote such convincingly low prices that if you have the slightest need for these articles you will visit our store at once and make your selection—paying a price that is made solely in the view of forcing a sale irrespective of profit. We sold lots of blankets this season, but we have got a good assortment left. It will be just as easy to satisfy your taste now as it would have been three months ago. We've got 'em at all prices and in styles to suit everyone. Here are the details:
BED BLANKETS---in pairs.
A seventy-five per cent wool blanket, sold formerly for $4.50. For this sale $3.50
A large assortment of blankets, formerly sold for $1.89. For this sale $1.39
A large assortment of blankets formerly sold for $1.98, and costing us within a few cents of that figure, are still on sale at that ridiculously low price, $1.98
A fair-sized lot of California wool blankets that were sold early in the season for $6 a pair, but which we cut to $5 a few weeks ago—the best blanket for the money ever offered in Plainfield—we still hold at that price, $5.00
A few pair of California wool blankets that formerly sold for $7.50. For this sale $5.75
Another California wool blanket, always selling for $10. For this sale $8.00
A small lot of regular $5 blankets cut for this sale to $3.98
Horse Blankets.
For both stable and street use—all qualities and styles. We are bound to make a way-down cut in prices of these goods to wipe out the lot. We know that we will accomplish this point in the statement that this morning every horse blanket we have in stock was ordered to be sold at a DISCOUNT OF 25 PER CENT for the remainder of eight-day sale Our prices for these articlet have always been low and to cut them 25 per cent lower means a mark-down that cannot be equaled.
The following is a list of the prices at which we have sold horse blankets all winter, and now for the next five days we want only three-quarters of these prices:
STABLE BLANKETS—$1.39, $2 98, $3 98, $3 75, $1 39, $1.79, $1.39 $1 69. Remember a quarter off on all these prices for the rest of the week.
STREET BLANKETS—$2 98, $5.00, $3 98, $9 00, $6 50, $1 79, $5.98, $2 98, $2 00, $1 89, $2 50, $2 75 $3 98. Remember a quarter off on all these prices for the rest of the week.
LAP ROBES—A few of good values in lap robes also left to be cleaned up with the rest of the blankets. A 25 per cent cut prevails here, too, on the following old prices: $1 39, $3 50 and $4.50.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Die Erziehungsanstalt Flehingen, die bisher unter der Centralleitung des Landesverbandes für Jugendschutz und Gefangenenfürsorge stand, wurde neulich in die staatliche Verwaltung übernommen. Es ward damit ein wiederholt ausgesprochener Wunsch der Landstände erfüllt.—Nach dem Tode des Verwalters der evangelisch-protestantischen Stiftungen, Stadtraths Adolf Ludin, hat sich herausgestellt, daß er sich Unterschlagungen in Höhe von fast 200,000 Mark zu Schulden kommen ließ.

Bruchsal. Letzthin wurde der Einspänner des Hauptmanns Lechner, der mit seinem Knecht nach dem benachbarten Ubstadt fuhr, an einem Bahnübergang, an dem sich keine Barriere befand, von einem Zuge erfaßt. Beide Männer und das Pferd wurden getödtet und der Wagen zertrümmert.

Freiburg. An der hiesigen Universität sind im laufenden Wintersemester zehn Damen immatrikulirt und zwar neun bei der medizinischen und eine bei der philosophischen Fakultät. Von den Damen sind zwei Badenerinnen, eine ist aus Hamburg, und sieben sind preußische Staatsangehörige.

Mannheim. Der Stadtrath beschloß, diejenigen Arbeitslosen, welche seit zwei Jahren in Mannheim ihren Wohnsitz haben, gegen einen Tagelohn von 2.70 Mark bei Straßen- und Erdarbeiten zu beschäftigen.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Der Staatsrath von Elsaß-Lothringen sprach sich dafür aus, daß die für die Restaurirung der Hohkönigsburg geforderte erste Rate in Höhe von 150,000 Mark bewilligt werde.

Diedenhofen. Eine Dame Namens Lerond in der Nähe von Diedenhofen lebte mit ihren Verwandten in Unfrieden und machte deshalb ein Testament, in dem sie ihr gesammtes, 250,000 Mark betragendes Vermögen dem Bezirk Lothringen zur Errichtung eines Versorgungshauses überwies. In dem Testament ließ die Dame den Ortsnamen weg. Nach ihrem Tode wurde das Testament von den gesetzlichen Erben angefochten; das Landgericht erklärte das Testament wegen wesentlichen Formfehlers für ungiltig und sprach den Erben die Viertelmillion zu.

Metz. Jüngsthin fand dahier der erste Verbandstag der Raiffeisen-Vereine Elsaß-Lothringens statt. Aus dem Berichte des Verbandsdirektors, Dr. Strauven-Straßburg, ergab sich, daß der Verband am 1. Mai 1895 in Elsaß-Lothringen 67 Vereine zählte. Heute ist die Zahl dieser Vereine auf 414 angewachsen. Der Geldumschlag stieg von 2,959,500 Mark des Jahres 1895 auf 9,381,000 Mark im letzten Fiskaljahre.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Der neue Rektor der Wiener Universität, Schrutka, hob das Verbot des Farbentragens in den Räumen der Universität sowie des Sonnabendbummels auf.—Die städtischen Volksbäder wurden im November 1900 von 72,675 Personen, und zwar 60,544 männlichen und 12,131 weiblichen besucht.—Neulich beging die derzeit älteste Frau von Wien, die Domänen-Verwalterswittwe Frau Maria Theresia Kulla, ihren 101. Geburtstag in vollkommener geistiger Frische.

Bozen. In einer Sitzung des Gemeinderaths wurden Dr. Julius Perathoner einstimmig zum Bürgermeister und Dr. Karl v. Hepperger einstimmig zum Vize-Bürgermeister der Stadt Bozen gewählt.

Budapest. Der Richter beim Obersten Verwaltungsgerichtshof, Bertalan v. Bornemisza, hat sich durch einen Revolverschuß entleibt. Das Motiv des Selbstmordes war Krankheit.

Graz. Vor Kurzem wurde hier das 40jährige Jubiläum des steiermärkischen Gabelsberger-Stenographenvereins in Anwesenheit von Vertretern der Universität und der Technik festlich begangen.

Großwardein. Der städtische Wasserleitungsunternehmer Bela Kiel ist, mit Hinterlassung bedeutender Schulden und nachdem er bei der Stadtgemeinde Vorschüsse in der Höhe von 6000 Kronen aufgenommen hatte, nach Amerika entflohen.

Hermannstadt. In der hiesigen Gegend, besonders in den Gemeinden Reinscheuern, Michelsberg und Städterdorf hat ein Sturm große Verheerungen angerichtet. Es wurden Bäume entwurzelt, Dächer abgerissen und Kirchthürme zerstört. Neun Personen fanden ihren Tod unter den Trümmern eingestürzter Häuser.

Horn. Der Grundbesitzer Schungel aus Dreieichen warf sich vor der Eisenbahn-Haltestelle Breiteneich plötzlich vor einen daherrollenden Lastzug und wurde, ehe der Maschinenführer halten konnte, überfahren. Dem Selbstmörder wurde der Kopf vom Rumpfe getrennt und weit weggeschleudert. Schungel hatte wegen Niedergang seines Gutes den Tod gesucht.

Klagenfurt. Die 33jährige Katharina Skant wurde vom Gerichtshof zum Tode verurtheilt. Sie hatte ihr elf Monate altes Kind in die Drau geworfen.

I am 28 years old and have been employed in the actuary department of a life insurance company for years. A little more than a year ago I began to have very severe headaches, from which I was not free night or day. My doctor told me that it was from my stomach and the want of exercise; so, besides taking his medicine, I purchased a bicycle to ride for exercise. I never knew then what it was to be in any other way than constipated, my bowels not moving sometimes in three days. My weight was reduced to 137 pounds, for I was slowly starving myself rather than eat a good meal, knowing what the after-effect would be. About five or six weeks ago two friends and myself were eating dinner when my troubles came up as a subject of conversation. One of my friends took a small packet out of his pocket and handed me two Tabules, saying: "Take one after you finish eating and one before you go to bed. Then buy a box to-morrow and you'll be surprised at the results." He was right: I was surprised at the results. I purchased a package of Ripans Tabules the next day. The first package seemed to relieve me so much that I purchased the second, and have been taking them ever since. They have surely made a man of me again, and I only wish that I had a "before and after taking" picture, for it does not seem possible that such a change could have taken place in such a short time. I never tire recommending them to my friends.

ABOUT GLOVES.

Styles Now Worn For Service and Full Dress.

For the street the newest idea in gloves is heavy glace kid in black or white, with heavy stitching on the back, fastened at the wrist with two large pearl buttons. For dinners, suede with plain stitching and four buttons is the prevailing style. For evening the latest gloves are of thin glace kid, plainly stitched, of a champagne tint.

White gloves, which were for a little while abandoned, have reappeared and accompany calling costumes.

Yellow Danish gloves are much used for morning wear, as are also deerskin gloves. The latter also serve for driving, being strong and serviceable.

The illustration shows a costume of pearl gray bengaline and mandarin velvet. The front of the skirt is of bengaline and is embroidered all around the edge with a design in darker gray. The back of the skirt is of velvet and forms a short train. The bodice is fitted at the back, while in front it is slightly full. It is embroidered at the top and has a yoke of guipure over mandarin silk. The upper half of the sleeves is of bengaline, and at the elbow is a large puff of mandarin velvet, below which is a deep, tight cuff of guipure over mandarin silk. The belt and collar are of mandarin velvet. The hat of black velvet is trimmed with a jeweled buckle on mandarin velvet and two large black ostrich plumes.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE SHOES.

Revival of Quaint Styles—Shoes For House and Street.

Red heels are again appearing on black house shoes. This is a return of a quaint old fashion associated in one's mind with fairy godmothers and witches. While high heels are not unreasonable when shoes are not meant for walking or for long standing, for the street they are not only in bad taste, but are highly injurious to the health.

Suede shoes in tan or gray shades are worn in the house. Satin shoes are worn only with evening dress, with the exception of shoes of black satin.

Square toed shoes are again attempting to gain a foothold, but hitherto in vain. They appear clumsy after the pointed toe, and few women will adopt them. As a matter of fact, square toed shoes are not much nearer the actual shape of the foot than are pointed ones, for, if the natural toes do not taper to a fine point, neither are they all of the same length and terminating in a straight line across the ends.

The picture illustrates a party dress for a young girl. The skirt is of plain white silk or cloth. The bodice is of embroidered white silk and has across the front a sort of insertion of plaited pink mousseline de soie, bordered with embroidery. There are open pagoda sleeves of embroidered silk, below which are puffs of plaited pink mousseline de soie, with plaited cuffs and a curved ruffle of embroidered silk. The wide belt is of white silk, and the collar is of white silk, with a bow at the back.

Sarah Davidson Discusses Fashion's Fancies As She Sees Them in the New York Shops

CORRECT trimmings for the new tailor-mades

VELVET and velveteen are the correct trimming for the newest of the tailor gowns. In this trimming the latest colors are brown, which heads the list for popularity even in the demure brown which is greatly favored, and the faintly fawn shade, known as dove's wing, and a darker brown tone of mushroom, also a soft shade of bulrush and golden brown. Besides the browns there are the nasturtium tints, and the gorgeous glow of tangerine, with any number of flame colors.

One of the tailor-mades on the military order is made of a dark gray broadcloth with the skirt trimmed from waist line to just below the knees of dove's wing velvet in narrow strips, gradually growing shorter towards the back. A blouse bodice, with round yoke trimmed with the velvet. The sleeves have deep cuffs of cloth above a cuff of velvet.

Another of the tailor-mades is in cheviot in the beautiful shades of blue and gray. Of this the skirt has strapped pieces on each gore with narrow pipings of green velvet. Strapped pieces on the bolero and sleeves, with wide turnover collar of the velvet.

A more striking creation is of parma mauve zibeline. The skirt fits closely over the hips, though at a level with the knees it flares out into graceful fullness below many rows of stitching in a design of entwined vandykes. The coat is double-breasted, and fastens at the left side with three flowerlike rosettes of velvet, their petal shaped points outspreading from the center of a gold button. A deep collar of tea rose yellow velvet divided by a line of dark mink tail fur. The fashionable undersleeves are of the tea rose velvet, with a border of dark fur on the upper sleeve.

SOME of the many varieties in sleeves

NOTHING so much as the sleeve makes or mars a gown. Put a pretty sleeve on an otherwise homely gown and it relieves it wonderfully, while to put a homely sleeve on an otherwise charming gown and the whole thing is ruined. One style of coiffure would by no means answer for all women, neither will one style of sleeve answer for all gowns, and the styles of the present season gives us a choice selection, as I have written before.

So great is the variety in sleeves that even though I have mentioned them before I certainly did not cover the entire subject, and a recurrence to it will not be out of place. The predominating style in sleeves is the one that is tight at the top and big and puffy around the wrist. It is the puff of former days brought from the shoulder to the wrist and arranged in a different form. But of this predominating style there are so many varieties that they almost bewilder one.

Then, too, there are the Louis sleeves, so-called, which are slashed between the elbow and the shoulder, and are unmistakably becoming on many gowns. Through the slashings thin goods are pulled out and picked to form tiny puffings, three or four rows of which extend around the arm.

For evening wear the balloon sleeve is a popular form. There are many other forms of sleeve intended to be worn on the decollette gown, but in none of them is there the charm to be found in the long, graceful sleeve.

With the decollete there is little chance for grace, everything depending upon natural beauty, but it is in the long sleeve that nature and art have a chance to combine; and right prettily are they working together.

A tendency toward simplicity in dress

RETURNING simplicity in dress. That is what the tendency of the hour in the world of the mode seems to point to. It is just what follows every passionate outburst of elaboration and extravagance. The latter we have been having for some time, and, in fact, will continue to have to a certain extent, for it has not been tabooed.

But at the same time fashion is tending, must we say backwards, to the styles that better please the women who desire to dress richly, but without that display of gaudy extravagance for which the past season or two have been so noted. The first sign of this tendency is a marked approval of some of the more somber cloths, and the plainer, though richer, methods of trimming. Less vivid contrasts are being seen everywhere. One or two lighter or darker shades of the color in the gown blended tastefully in the trimming, with a very refined touch of gold, silver or steel, supply the latest and most stylish elements of decoration.

Velvet which matches the material, whether it is cloth or silk, is also a desirable trimming, and if the quality is fine the edges are not turned under. It is used in bands with the edges left raw just as they are cut and stitched on with the machine. This treatment insures the perfectly flat edge effect, which is so much liked; but the cheaper grades of velvet cannot be used in this way. Bands of cloth cut with a knife are stitched on in various forms in the same manner, the first row of stitching a sixteenth of an inch from the edge.

It is the medium colors, especially the shades of fawn and gray, which head the list, with brown and black in the lead for street wear.

SARAH DAVIDSON.

The report of the Hocking Valley road for the past year shows that the average train load of that railroad was 646 tons, a figure which exceeds that of any other railroad so far as we are advised.

PEOPLE OF THE HOUR AT HOME AND ABROAD

Famed as a Lion Hunter.

Three hundred lions killed within a year and a half by one man. What a record that is. It is big enough to gratify the thirst for adventure of a dozen hunters of big game for a lifetime, and yet that is but an incident President Kruger's countrymen in one man's life. delight to tell of this side of the old gentleman's life even more than of his victories in war and diplomacy, and many are the stirring adventures that are said to have befallen the man who has left, probably for all time, the home that he builded for himself, and the country that he builded for his people in the South African wilderness.

President Kruger.

A part of the history of the "great trek" from Cape Colony to the Transvaal records the killing of more than 6,000 lions during the trip. Of these Kruger is credited with slaying more than 300. It is said by his countrymen that he has killed more of the king of beasts than any other one man in the world.

As a hunter of the big game in which Africa abounds he has had hany stirring adventures. When he was but 15 years of age he attacked an African panther with nothing in the way of weapons but a hunting knife. There was with him at the time a younger sister, and her life probably depended upon the successful outcome of that fight, and he killed the panther.

The thumb of his right hand is gone, and he accounts for its loss by saying that while hunting for rhinoceros a gun exploded in his hands, cutting his thumb quite badly. As it was hardly possible to save the injured member, he borrowed a dull knife and cut it off, as it prevented his holding a gun properly.

Hundreds of such incidents might be related of Oom Paul Kruger, but he will know no more of them. He is already well past the allotted three score and ten years of men's lives, having passed his seventy-fifth birthday on October 10 in Portuguese territory while waiting for a ship to carry him from the scenes that has made his life a memorable one.

Quite by Accident.

It would be quite a task to attempt to recount all the attempts that have been made to corner the Chicago markets. Men have devoted years of their lives in planning systems that would accomplish this result, and the majority of them have failed at the end. True, some of them have been partially successful and have reaped a golden reward for their efforts, while others have failed and reaped only misfortune.

Sir Thomas Lipton.

Among the former class may be mentioned P. B. Hutchinson, who manipulated the wheat market so successfully for a time that he drove many men to bankruptcy and despair, and who, at the end, died poorer than the smallest trader on the board. P. D. Armour and others have made partial successes at different times, while, on the other hand, the most notable failure of recent years was that of young Joe Leiter.

Now comes a man, an Englishman at that, who accomplishes by accident what other men have studied years to do. Sir Thomas Lipton came as near cornering "pork" as it has ever been possible to come, and he says he did not mean to, that he only bought what pork was needed to fill his orders, and that he had no desire to "squeeze" anyone.

Probably he did not. At any rate, no one was squeezed hard enough to cause a squeal. But Sir Thomas made a few thousands out of his accidental corner just the same, and should this royal English sportsman succeed as well in his efforts to capture the America's cup next summer, Chicago produce traders will consider that they just about paid the expense of building the successful boat.

A Real Farmer Candidate.

Jonah F. R. Leonard, of Iowa, was a candidate for president of the United States during the recent campaign. Like both President McKinley and Mr. Bryan, he owns a farm, but what is more, he lives on his farm, tills his acres, and the products from them give support to himself and family. Mr. Leonard is a devout Christian and was a candidate of the United Christian party for the presidency. His candidacy was hardly noticed; he will receive no vote in the electoral college, and yet it is a greater distinction than comes to the majority of men to be selected as a candidate for so high an honor.

Jonah F. R. Leonard.

I knew Jonah F. R. Leonard when I was but a boy, 20 years ago. Though now loath to tell it, truth compels me to confess that I have stolen pumpkins and watermelons and apples from his farm, and what is more, I and my youthful associates have been caught at it. But we were never turned over to the officers of the law for punishment.

I remember one autumn night, the night before Hallowe'en, when we made a raid on the Leonard farm for pumpkins with which to manufacture jack-o'-lanterns. It was but a little after seven in the evening, and as each boy climbed over the fence we literally fell into the arms of the kindly farmer.

"Howdy, boys, and what have you got there?" he asked in his easy way.

Explanations were unnecessary, and none were offered. We were caught and expected to suffer as we knew we deserved for our sins, but the good man seemingly had no thought of chiding us harshly. Instead he sat down on a stump beside the road and told us of the wickedness of theft, and when he was through every rascally boy promised never to do it again, and I believe the majority kept their word.

But not only did he not chide us for our transgressions, but he invited us to call at his home when we wished such trifles, as he called them, and assured us that we would always be welcome, "for," he said, "all boys can't be farmer's boys."

Portugal's Brave Queen.

Portugal's queen, Marie Amelie, daughter of the late Come De Paris, has a record as a life-saver. For several years she has worn a medal as a life-saver, having rescued a sailor from a tragic death by her quick action and heroic rescue. But a few days ago she added a second to her list of rescued by saving the life of her boatman whose frail craft capsized while he was attempting to make a landing on the beach in front of the royal palace near Lisbon. The boatman's arm was broken by the accident, and he sank beneath the waves, where he would have found a speedy death had not his queen plunged boldly into the water and swam to his assistance.

Queen of Portugal.

On numerous occasions has the queen of Portugal exposed herself to danger in behalf of her subjects. Every poor peasant in the little kingdom relates with a touch of pride how his queen nursed the sick and dying during the terrible days of the Asiatic plague at Lisbon and Oporto. She is a physician by profession, having, after a five-year course, received the first diploma ever granted a woman in Portugal, and during the plague she made good use of her knowledge.

At that time Dr. Pestana was the leading physician in Portugal, and the queen became his obedient assistant. She went among the poor and administered to their wants in every possible way, and when Dr. Pestana was himself taken ill with the dread disease she became at once his physician, and nursed him with her own hands to the hour of his death. With his last words the great physician thanked her for the efforts she had made to save his life.

"Old Procrastination."

"Old Procrastination" is the new name of Earl Li Hung Chang; a name he has earned for himself by his ability to defeat the efforts of the foreign ministers at Peking in their attempt to get down to business in settling the vexed questions before them.

Earl Li Hung Chang.

But this is not the first time that the name might have been applicable to the crafty Chinese statesman. All his life he has played a waiting game, on every occasion in which he has represented his government in the settlement of problems brought about by Chinese trickery, with but possibly the one exception of the arrangement of terms of peace with Japan, and then it was not so much his inclination to settle speedily as it was the energy shown by his American adviser, Mr. Foster.

France had an experience of this kind when, in 1882, she annexed Tongkin in Cochin China. The action brought about a war between France and China and Earl Li urged a peace policy so strongly that he was empowered to draft a treaty. He delayed a settlement as long as it was possible, and, when further delay was out of the question, he finally signed a treaty of peace that was undated and useless. There was no time specified as to when it should go into effect and when the French troops attempted to take possession of the ceded territory they met Chinese resistance. Of course all this brought about more war, and added humiliation and loss to China, but it saved Earl Li's reputation as a procrastinator, a reputation that does not seem to have suffered down to the present time.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

ARTIFICIAL SCENTS.

Dainty Floral Perfumes Are Made Nowadays Without the Use of Buds or Flowers.

The so-called chemical senses—taste and smell—differ from the other senses in that a stronger stimulus does not produce a stronger impression, but rather one different in kind. This is well illustrated by the properties of ionon, the artificial perfume of violets.

A few grains of this substance—the equivalent of hundreds of pounds of violets—may be heated in an open vessel, and even completely vaporized without producing the slightest trace of the odor of violets, except at the beginning of the operation.

As this perfume, disseminated through the air, becomes stronger, the peculiar violet odor becomes weaker and is replaced by the odor of raspberries. But if a bottle of pure ionon is held to the nose the odor perceived is neither that of violets nor that of raspberries, but that of cedar wood.

As a matter of fact, many samples of artificial extract of violets have the odor of raspberries because the manufacturers are too liberal and cannot persuade themselves to give their customers little enough for their money. Now it is very singular that neither the odorous principle of raspberries, which has also been isolated, nor the oil of cedar smells in the least like violets, no matter how much it may be attenuated, so that the rule does not work both ways. Many intolerable stenches may be transformed into agreeable perfumes by sufficient dilution.

A striking illustration is afforded by certain odorous nocturnal parasites which shall be nameless. When these ill-omened beasts of prey are rubbed up with sugar, which is then dissolved in a large quantity of water, the result is a delicate hyacinth perfume.

The fragrance of the jasmine is exhaled, as chemical investigation has shown, by a mixture of several substances. One of these, indol, is a well-known product of decomposition. Many perfumes when strongly concentrated are nearly or quite odorless.

This is the case with artificial musk; vanillin, the odorous principle of the vanilla bean; piperonal, that of the heliotrope; cumarin, that of the parasitic plant known in Germany as "Waldmeister," and used for flavoring the national spring beverage, "Maiwein," or "May wine;" and also with the odor of new mown hay.—N. Y. Journal.

SANITARY DRINKING CUP.

The Constant Flow of Water Prevents Contamination of Any Kind Whatever.

Members of both the board of education and the board of health are discussing a new drinking cup for use in the Atlanta public schools. It is represented as being the most sanitary drinking utensil that has yet been invented

The cup is stationary and rests over a basin which catches the overflow. The water comes direct from the pipes to the cup and is allowed to run as long as desired. The flow is controlled by a faucet just above the basin.

HOW THE CUP OPERATES.

It is proposed to allow the water to run into this cup during school hours, says the Constitution. There is a constant flow over the sides of the cup, preventing contamination of any kind. Sticks, weeds or anything else not too heavy are thrown from the cup by the force of the water. The edges can never be contaminated by diseased mouths because of the constant flow. In drinking, the mouth is placed to the cup, without moving the contrivance.

In addition to its other advantages, the cup is believed to be especially adopted to southern schools, because ice cannot be placed in the water which the children drink. The water is cooled by means of a coil of pipe, around which ice is packed, the action being much like that of a condensing worm in a still.

Chesapeake Oyster Beds.

The United States fish commission reckons that the available oyster-growing area in the Chesapeake is about 1,000 square miles, and that with proper cultivation this area would be worth $100 an acre yearly. Already these wonderful oyster beds begin to show the results of reckless overfishing and are approaching exhaustion.

Many to the Pound.

It takes 5,000 bees to weigh a pound, but when the insects come in fresh from the fields and flowers they weigh nearly thrice as much.

SETTLEMENT WORK.

An Interesting Feature of Social Life in a Great City.

Its Main Object Is to Make Good Citizens and to Spread Faith in the Practice of Moral and Civic Virtues.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

NONE of the various social settlements of Chicago present features of greater interest to the humanitarian or student of sociology than Chicago Commons. Its aggressive mentality supplies an individualism found in no other movement of the kind. It was founded by Rev. H. F. Hegner, now pastor of Bethany church at Chicago. The growth of the settlement has been chiefly directed by Prof. Graham Taylor, of the Chicago Theological seminary, and its pleasant personality, if one may be permitted thus to characterize it, largely the outcome of his long-cherished plans. He is head resident and his services are rendered gratuitously, as are those of his family. There are about 30 residents, nearly all of whom pay their board, who give all their spare time to the work. Many of these are teachers. A few of the residents, being obliged to devote their entire time to the Commons, have their expenses paid by outside contributions. The present home is at 140 North Union street, near its junction with Milwaukee avenue, in one of the most congested portions of the closely packed Seventeenth ward. In its early days the house was a goodly mansion, with a fair outlook toward the river, but after the fire all this was changed. It was purchased by the Northwestern Railway company, a large rear wing, with stable beneath, was added and the whole used for railroad purposes. Later the front was turned into a sailors' boarding house and the rear became a crowded Italian tenement. When Prof. Taylor first attempted to rent the main house objections were raised on the score that it was feared that it might be turned into a dance hall or some haunt of vice, and when the agents were finally convinced that a refined family desired to secure it for a home they were fairly nonplussed. Until the community was able to hire the whole building the Italians in the rear would frequently be seen peering through the separating glass doors with much evident curiosity, but soon the entire house was in the hands of the "Commons," which is an incorporated body.

NEW BUILDING OF THE CHICAGO COMMONS.

There are a parlor, library, dining-hall, clubrooms and various other apartments, yet the building has been found to be much too small and a larger is being erected at North Morgan street and Grand avenue. Only the front wing is now completed and in use. It is expected that here the sphere of usefulness of the Commons will be greatly enlarged. In this ward are 163 saloons. These and theaters of the lowest class have until five years ago been the only places of public resort in the neighborhood. At the present time the weekly attendance at the Commons clubs, classes and social functions is over 3,700.

PROF. GRAHAM TAYLOR.
(Founder and Resident Warden of the Chicago Commons.)

Besides manual training for boys and girls, the study clubs, etc., there are evenings of an entirely social nature. A chess club has been found very useful in engaging the attention of young men during one evening of each week. The Woman's club, formed from neighborhood people, meeting Tuesday afternoons, belongs to the federation, and its members discuss all the topics interesting to women of the present day. The Mothers' club is well attended. The members gather in the kindergarten room, usually in two sections, the English and the German-speaking mothers.

A great need is felt for a resident educated in the Italian language. Practical talks are here given on child care and management. They have kindergarten games, songs and simple calisthenics that mothers can use in their homes. Many of these women spent a playless childhood and enter into the games with the keenest personal enjoyment. They frequently have tea together at the close of their meetings.

An illustration of how cooperative work is appreciated occurred at one of the anniversaries of the opening of the house. The Girls' Progressive club and Woman's club presented a gift of lemonade bowl and cups. The president of the latter concluded her address by saying: "We hope you will not consider us selfish by choosing the gift we have. It is true, we hope to partake many times of its contents, but always with you and with many others yet to join us."

The street car conductors in that section have a good word and a smile for any asking the way to Chicago Commons. The saloon has heretofore furnished the only free debating ground where one and all may express their views without let or hindrance. For this reason the large room under the rear wing has been thrown open to the men of the community, who characterize it as the "freest floor in Chicago." This is the least understood of the settlement's work and has even been mentioned as a "nest of anarchists."

It is the settlement's desire that all classes of men shall here come face to face and "have it out." Men who sit in corners, nursing grievances and brooding social distrust and disorder, are here invited to bring their discontent and theory of social salvation to light of day for full examination and free discussion. Free speech and frank opinion are encouraged, and it is safe to say that before the meetings are over the poison has been drawn from many destructive propositions. One of the men of the settlement acts as chairman, but there is no special organization. These orderly, intensely interesting weekly meetings continue from October until June. Business men, anarchists, ministers, agnostics, socialists and single taxers all have equal rights on the floor, free speech, no favor and a reasonable time limit. Without the exciting influence of liquor, and modified by the opinions of educated men, with large outlook, the meetings are much less formidable than those held in saloons, and the settlement now has the full confidence of the members of the ward. Their branch of the Civic Federation has done much toward clearing the district from bad influences.

Some of the subjects discussed at the meetings are the situation in the Philippines, the problem of the unemployed, the department store, woman's suffrage, anarchism, child labor, Walt Whitman, Robert Burns, Tolstoi and social purity.

But while great benefits have been derived by adults from the establishment of the Neighborhood house, the chief aim is to improve the condition of the future citizens, the youth and children of the community. One of the girls' clubs hired a cottage near Michigan City last summer and a large number of its members were able to spend their vacations there. The country work at Good-Will camp and other places is well known. The small yard at the back of the Commons is equipped for a playground as well as the funds will allow, but a gymnasium outfit is much desired. Donations for different purposes have been received from nearly all over the country. It has been costing about $6,000 per year to carry on the work and new needs are coming to the surface on every hand.

Perhaps the kindergarten work is of as great interest as any accomplished. Miss Bertha Hofer went out one day a few years ago and never had to go again for the same purpose. At 6:30 the next morning youngsters of every nationality howled and clamored on the doorsteps for admission to the kindergarten. The daily attendance is now something over 100. Teaching is done on lines somewhat different from those usually employed in schools of this kind. The children are directly taught what will be of use in their homes. They wash their dolls' clothes with soap and water and iron them with a "really" hot iron. They bake tiny pans of bread. They even go upstairs and prepare vegetables for the dinners of the residents; they make their truly beds and scour pans and rub silver. They learn to sew. One mother said: "Johnnie helps me so much now. He dries the dishes nicely and tells me that is the way they taught him to do it at the settlement." Cooking and dressmaking schools are conducted for mothers and girls down to the age of nine years. They are taught how to purchase the most nutritious foods for the least money. The "Pleasant Sunday Afternoons" are to be a very entertaining feature of the work this winter. Lectures and concerts are to be given at the new neighborhood house every Sunday at 3:30. One must visit one of these settlements to appreciate how far-reaching it must be in its results to the world at large.

OLD CITIZEN GONE.

James Reville Passed Away This Morning After an Illness of Only a Week.

James Reville, an old and respected Plainfield citizen, died at his home on West Third street, this morning, after a short illness of but one week. Up to a few days ago he was able to be around and in spite of his advanced age, being nearly eighty, it was thought he would recover.

Mr. Reville has lived in this city for many years, residing most of the time in the West End, where he was very well known in addition to his numerous acquaintances in other parts of the city. The deceased is survived by a wife and six children, all of whom reside in Plainfield. The latter are Mrs. Frank Cullen, Mrs. Thomas McCauley, Mrs. William Smith, Patrick Reville and the Misses Margaret and Bridget Reville.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a requiem mass will be said for the repose of his soul. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

SUIT AGAINST MAYOR.

Damage Suit Brought Against N. B. Smalley by W. J. Pride Was Adjourned For a Week.

The damage suit of William J Pride, a former barber of this city, against Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, was called for today at Newark. The case is one where Pride has brought suit for damages on an alleged charge of being ejected from the Mayor's premises on Somerset street where the plaintiff conducted a barber shop. The defendant is represented by Reed & Coddington. Among the witnesses for the defendant are Marshal William Campbell and Augustus Mobus, of the borough.

Out of respect to the memory of Judge McCarter, of Newark, court was closed today and the case was adjourned for one week.

YOUNG ENGINEER WEDDED.

MARRIAGE OF MISS EVA JENKINS AND EPHRAIM M. VAIL.

Took Place Saturday Afternoon at the Bride's Home—Was a Quiet Affair.

A quiet home wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs Mary Jenkins, of 503 East Sixth street, when her daughter, Miss Eva Jenkins, was married to Ephraim Martin Vail, son of Mr. and Mrs Charles E. Vail, of Orchard place. The groom is a well-known civil engineer of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, and Miss Etta Raybert, of this city, played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The parlors were profusely decorated in green and white, which harmonized prettily with the color scheme of pink and white, with decorations of Southern smilax and carnations, in the dining room.

The bride was attired in white, wore orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Both she and the groom were unattended. An informal reception followed the ceremony when supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Vail experienced some difficulty in eluding their friends when they departed on their wedding trip. They went to Netherwood and took the train for Philadelphia. When the train reached this city a party of friends were at the North Avenue Station and they entered the car where they fairly deluged the bride and groom with rice. The friends followed the couple as far as Bound Brook. From Philadelphia the couple will visit the south, and upon their return they will take up their residence at 8 Craig place, North Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Vail received numerous and beautiful presents from their many relatives and friends.

PERSONAL.

Miss Edith Moulton, of West Fourth street, is recovering slowly from a tedious illness.

Miss Annie Steinberg, of South Second street, is confined to her home suffering with grip.

F. R. Allen, of Clinton avenue, who has been confined to his home by grip, is recovering slowly.

Mrs. J. A. Fesmier, of Clinton avenue, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Titsworth, of West Seventh street, are stopping at Atlantic City for a time.

Mrs. C. H. Dunavan, of Rochester, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. A. B. Dunavan, of East Second street.

Fred Maguire and Leo Doherty, of Brooklyn, have returned home after a few days visit with friends in town.

Mrs. F. R. Hockridge, who has been visiting the family of W. G. Hockridge, East Fifth street, for the past six weeks, has returned to her home in Brooklyn. She was accompanied by Miss Jessie Hockridge.

KEPT THEIR FAITH.

Two Brave Men Who Perished Doing Their Duty — Unknown Heroes.

The Montana Herald tells the story of a poor sheep-herder who, during the blizzard last winter, had charge of a large flock of sheep belonging to an eastern syndicate.

During the whole night he faced the fury of the storm, striving vainly to bring the sheep into the fold. Toward morning he came back to his tent and wrote a note to his employers, stating that he was almost exhausted, but would make one more effort to save the flock, as it was his duty to do.

The next day he was found half-buried in the snow, dead. One of his dogs lay beside him, guarding the body; the other had perished with the sheep.

A cattle-raiser on the Gulf of Mexico tells a similar story of an Acadian herder whom he employed.

"Jos" was on guard one night when the herd, consisting of several thousand of cattle, took fright at some unusual sound, and stampeded toward a bayou opening into the gulf. It was low tide and the bayou was narrow, but Joe knew that if the herd once entered it they would trample each other to death. He was a large, powerfully built man. Running before them, he flung himself into the ditch and faced them, discharging his pistol in their faces.

The water reached his knees; the terrified beasts, urged by the furious herd behind, pressed on him. Again and again he fell, and struggled up to renew the desperate fight. At any moment he might have reached the shore and saved himself. After two hours help came. The herd was driven back, but Joe was carried home to die.

Scarcely a week passes which does not offer its record of some faithful servant—an engineer, a ship's captain or even a common sailor—who gives his life to fulfill the duty which he has been paid to perform; to keep his word in the face of death.

In our applause for the soldier who dies for his country or his home, let us not overlook these other heroes who are as faithful and brave as he.

How Chinese Coolies Get Free Burial.

You see, no Chinaman would set foot on a vessel unless he had every assurance that in case he died he would be put away in a first-class coffin and brought into port. If we didn't all contract to do that none of us would carry a coolie, not if we offered them free passage, so we promise to supply a "chop dollar" coffin in case of death and to carry the coolie back to the port from which he sailed, and that costs money. This business hadn't gone on a month before the coolie saw his chance to beat the company and began to do it. You see a coolie who is about to die, or wants to pass in his checks, and they can do it just whenever and wherever they want to, steps on a steamer, say for Hong-Kong, and he only pays about two dollars for a deck passage. Then when he gets good and ready he just stops breathing, and the company has to provide a coffin, and pay the freight back home.—Scribner's.

The Extreme Limit.

"I think there should be a law against publishing lies," said the innocent-faced man, as he laid down his paper and heaved a sigh.

"Have you discovered a lie?" was asked by a fellow passenger.

"I'm sure of it. A man who was on a steamer when she was wrecked claims to have swam a distance of 40 miles to land. We know that is a physical impossibility. I myself was once on a steamer losf on the coast, and at that time I was called a champion swimmer. I swam and swam, but I didn't swim no 40 miles. I could not have done it."

"How far did you swim?"

"Thirty-nine miles to a foot, sir, and any man in this world who says he has swum 40 is a liar, sir, and the truth isn't in him, sir."—Washington Post.

Skim Milk Used in Paper Making.

One of the most profitable side industries growing out of the manufacture of paper came from the discovery of the fact that casein was vastly better than the glue formerly in use for putting the heavy coating on the finer grades of paper. The discovery was not only a bonanza for those who made it and for those who backed him, but also for the dairyman. The skim milk which is left after the cream has been taken off for butter and other purposes, and was in the nature of mere refuse for the big dairies, is now turned into a source of profit almost as great as that from butter itself, from its use in the manufacture of casein for paper coating and sizing. —N. Y. Sun.

Tobacco Growing in Ireland.

An experiment in tobacco-growing has been successfully tried in Ireland this year. Indeed, the success has been enough to encourage the belief that tobacco culture can be made of the greatest value to the Irish people. Ireland's agricultural interests have declined tremendously in the last score of years, and the prosperity of the country has declined in like measure. Successive crop failures have caused more harm than political troubles, and if a new crop can be found that will yield good returns the regeneration of the "ould sod" will be less difficult of accomplishment. Perhaps tobacco will fill the bill.—Troy Times.

BEFORE COUNTY COURT CHARGED WITH MURDER

Thos. Doyle's Trial in Union County Court at Elizabeth Began Yesterday.

KILLED FARMER BALDWIN.

WILL TRY TO PROVE SHOOTING WAS DONE IN SELF DEFENCE.

No Trouble in Getting Jury—Plainfielder is Foreman—Story of the Crime—Began Yesterday and Continued Today.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, January 15—The most important case on the calendar for the present term of court, the trial of Thomas Doyle on the charge of murdering Horace E. Baldwin, of Union, was begun before Judge Van Sickel yesterday morning and continued today. The counsel for the prisoner, John F. Brown, of Elizabeth, will attempt to clear his client by trying to prove that the shooting was done in self defence.

Little trouble was experienced in selecting the jury. In thirty-five minutes the following jury had been chosen and sworn: Forman, Henry B. Paul, of Plainfield; Elmer B. Woodruff and Frederick C. Decker, of Westfield; James H. Elms, George N. Potter, Colonel Chauncey A. Harris, Samuel W. Ellis, James Fine, William Thompson, Philo L. Kendell, William Styler, John J. Vandeventer, of Elizabeth.

Prosecutor English briefly outlined the crime as it was published in the newspapers at the time. Doyle had been engaged by Baldwin some months before, in response to an advertisement calling for a farm hand. He had not occupied his new position very long before he proceeded to make himself very agreeable to Miss Grace, who is about 18 years old, and rather pretty. They became engaged.

When the father heard of it he became very much enraged. He discharged Doyle from his employ and forbade his daughter having any futher communication with the man. After his discharge Doyle left Springfield and remained away until September 18.

At about 9 o'clock the next night Miss Baldwin heard Doyle at the outer door. He said he had heard that her father had procured a warrant for his arrest; that he (Doyle) had something for her father and must see him at once. She ran upstairs and told her father, who hurriedly dressed, took a double-barreled shotgun and went down. Doyle was trying to force the door. Baldwin heard threats, and, raising his gun, fired both barrels through the glass door, after which he opened it. Doyle was terribly wounded in the abdomen, but was standing up and, as he saw Baldwin, fired three shots from a revolver at him, and the old man fell. Stepping over Baldwin's body, Doyle entered the dining-room in pursuit of Miss Baldwin. The young woman escaped out of a parlor window, and informed neighbors.

Doyle escaped as far as Newark, where he was taken in custody, and conveyed to the City Hospital.

Doyle, who is apparently about thirty-five years of age, as he was led into the court room limped painfully, showing that he had not as yet fully recovered from the terrible gunshot wound that he received at the hands of the farmer whom he stands charged with having killed.

The accused was neatly attired in a suit of light gray. In passing to his seat beside his counsel, he gave a glance at the widow and daughter of Baldwin, who, attired in deep mourning, sat within the railing, facing the court. Both women, after giving a searching glance at the accused, turned their heads away until he had taken his chair.

The first witness called was William F. Marsh, a photographer, who took pictures of the Baldwin house. His testimony was objected to and the objection sustained. Dr. James S. Green, who performed the autopsy on the body of Baldwin, was quite sure that Baldwin met death by blood-poisoning caused by the gunshot wounds. He also believed that Baldwin had received proper treatment.

Dr. David E. English, of Millburn, who attended Baldwin, testified as to the man's condition and that he had given proper treatment. He had called in Dr. Johnson, who also testified to practically the same facts.

During the afternoon Miss Grace A.

NO POLICE PROTECTION NOW.

SO THE LAWLESS ELEMENT HAS THINGS ITS OWN WAY.

Two Exciting Happenings Which Occurred in Fanwood Saturday Night—Constable Allen, of Plains, Called.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, January 15—The borough of Fanwood certainly was in great need of its police department Saturday night. The residents have now lived for a little over a week without the protection of a marshal. Whether it was on this account or only because the moon had changed, at any rate the lawless element which the residents endured before the appointing of the borough marshal was out in full force again.

Early in the evening George Shay arrived at the station, it is said, under the influence of Jersey's famous elixir of life. He had only been here a short time when he started in to run the place. Mr. Peters, who has charge of the station at night, objected, but his objections were overruled by Shay, and but for the interferance of a friend would have no doubt ended seriously for the night agent.

Shay was finally prevailed upon to leave the place and Peter Ritter contracted to take Shay to Scotch Plains. When near that village Ritter and his fare got into an argument and came to blows. No arrest were made.

A little later in the night one of the patrons at "Ye Terrill Inn," formerly George Thatcher's place, became a little too boisterous and after being ejected from the bar room proceeded to knock in one of the windows. Constable Allen, of Scotch Plains was telephoned for and went over to quell the disturbance but when he arrived at the Inn the man had gone and all was quiet once more. No arrests were made in this case.

TWENTY-ONE CREDITORS.

Only About $200 of Estate of Late Paul Roehricht Remains to Pay Them All.

Twenty-one creditors of the late Paul Roehricht, formerly owner of Somerset Park, have received a legal notice from the Surrogate of New York, instructing them to appear before the Surrogate in his office in New York on February 15 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to attend a judicial settlement of the account of the proceedings of Louisa Roehricht, as administratrix of the goods, chattels and credits of said deceased. Among those cited to appear is Anna H. P. Roehricht, the former wife of deceased, who lives in Berlin, Germany. It is understood that there is about $200 to be divided among the creditors. The Plainfield creditors include F. A. Dunham, A. L. Force and the editor of the News.

Looking For Missing Editor.

Circulars have been received by Captain Kiely from Fuller's detective agency in New York, giving a full description of Thomas H. Todd, editor of the Long Island Star, who disappeared from that city Wednesday, Jan. 2. The missing man is described as being 65 years of age, height five feet ten and a half inches, weight 190 pounds; white hair, with long iron grey beard. A reward of $100 is offered for information of his whereabouts. Mr. Todd is a man of imposing figure. His photograph resembles not a little Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city.

Ill With Pneumonia.

Miss Emma V. Shattuck, principal of the Bryant public school, returned from Washington last week, where she has been very ill with pneumonia. She accompanied an excursion party on one of the many trips to the Capitol City, and while there contracted her illness. She is greatly improved, but it will be some time before she will be able to return to her duties at school.

Returned to Church Choir.

George Taylor, basso, at the First Baptist church, returned to his position last Sunday after an absence of a few weeks. George W. Smith, tenor, is still unable to sing on account of throat trouble.

Remnant Sale.

The remnant sale in Woodhull & Martin's carpet store is attracting considerable attention. They are closing out the short lengths of all carpets, oilcloth, mattings, etc., at prices way below real value to clean the stock before before the new spring goods arrive. Careful buyers should take advantage of this sale at once.

Agents On Sick List.

A number of the agents of the Prudential Insurance Company have been obliged to lay off on account of the grip, and the work of collecting, etc., has been somewhat handicapped. The sick men, however, are now about well, and will soon be able to return to work.

WILL FACTIONAL FIGHT HURT BIRD'S CHANCES?

Rumors That Troubles Among Republican Leaders May Be Felt By Local Postmaster.

APPOINTMENT COMES SOON.

HIS CHIEF SUPPORTERS ARE FRIENDS OF CONGRESSMAN FOWLER.

Local Politician Declares That Kean's Opposition to Fowler-Voorhees Faction Will Not Affect Reappointment—Others Say Differently.

Now that the Kean faction of the Republican party in Union county has been victorious over the wing of the party commonly termed the Fowler-Voorhees-Rankin combination, the local politicians are wondering very much how it will affect the appointment of a postmaster for this city to succeed Elias H. Bird, the present incumbent. Under ordinary circumstances Mr. Bird would undoubtedly succeed himself, but the fact that his appointment was largely due to the friends of Congressman Fowler in this city, is thought by some to put a different phase on the situation.

It will be remembered that Mr. Bird was appointed to the office after a lively contest which resulted subsequently in a serious split among the Republicans of the First ward. City Clerk J. T. MacMurray was one of his strongest backers and Mr. MacMurrary is well-known through the county as a strong friend of the Congressman. Then there were others who urged Mr. Bird's appointment who were likewise prominent in the faction which met defeat at the recent meeting of the Republican county committee.

Will these facts have anything to do with the appointment of Plainfield's next postmaster? That is the question which has frequently been asked since the two factions met at the meeting of the county committee. It is generally recognized that Mr. Bird has made an exceptionally efficient postmaster and that his every effort has been devoted toward giving Plainfield and North Plainfield the best possible postal service. Under his direction a number of improvements have been made and the service considerably bettered. With peace and harmony reigning among the Republican leaders of the county, there would be little doubt, indeed, but that the success of Mr. Bird's administration would land him the appointment again without much trouble.

A rumor gained credence Saturday that the faction headed by U. S. Senator Kean would attempt to secure the appointment of some other Plainfield Republican for the office as another blow to the Fowler-Voorhees faction. The truth of this report was denied by several prominent Republicans of this city.

One local politician, who is well versed in the details of the present troubles at county headquarters, expressed himself as believing that the factional differences would have no influence on the appointment of a postmaster.

"Mr. Bird," he said, "will surely be reappointed. While his appointment four years ago moy have been largely due to Congressman Fowler and his friends, Mr. Bird is generally popular through the county and there will be no movement to defeat him. He undoubtedly have the strong support of most of the Plainfield Republicans who are well pleased with his excellent administration during the last four years and see no reason why a satisfactory man should be deposed simply because bitterness exists among some of the party leaders."

There has, up to this time, been no agitation in favor of the appointment of anyone else to the office and while there are undoubtedly many Republicans in the city who would be glad to accept the office if Mr. Bird were not available, no one has as yet started a campaign with the object of landing the coveted plum. It may be, however, that there will be several candidates who will turn up before the time comes for the appointment of Plainfield's postmaster.

Bridge Repairs.

Borough Freeholder Andrew Lutkins has charge of the repair work on the Washington avenue bridge. The work will be commenced within a short time.

Permanent Manager.

Wm. E. Brown, of Elizabeth, has been made permanent manager of the Plainfield office of the Water Supply Company.

NEW BIDS FOR MAIL ROUTE.

OLD ONES WERE NOT SATISFACTORY TO POSTAL AUTHORITIES.

Postmaster Bird Notified That Other Bids For Carrying Mail to Warrenville Will be Received.

The bids received by the postal authorities for the carrying and delivering of mail from this city to Watchung, Gallia, Mt. Bethel, and nearby places which includes a rural free delivery route in that section, were not satisfactory and Postmaster Bird received a letter from Washington yesterday notifying him of the fact. Other bids will now be received, according to the provisions of the rules and regulations set forth in the printed pamphlet issued by the postal authorities, one of which can be seen at The Daily Press office. Information can also be obtained from the postmaster by any one who desires to make a bid for delivering and carrying this mail.

It is compulsory that the bidder shall live near or on a contiguous line to be traversed in the performance of duty. The letter received by Postmaster Bird does not state in what respects the former bids were faulty, and there is nothing left for one except to comply with the provisions of the law in making bids.

WANT TO BE POLICEMEN.

NINE APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS ON CITY POLICE FORCE.

Were Presented at Police Board Meeting and Applicants Will Be Examined Shortly as to Fitness.

The regular monthly meeting of the Police Board was held last evening in the Common Council chambers. With the exception of the Mayor and John B. Dumont, President of the Common Council, all members were present. The only business transacted was receiving the applications of a number of men who wish to become patrolmen.

Those who petitioned the board for positions were: Daniel Hibbitts, Henry Homan, Thomas O'Gorman, Robert J. Wood, H. L. Overbaugh, Charles A. Flynn, Charles P. Gamo, Joseph Cooney and Harry Fraleigh.

The applicants will be turned over to the examining board, consisting of George J. Coe, Dr. John H. Carman and Charles E. A. Heywood. Mr. Coe is a well-known teacher living on Third place, Mr. Heywood is the physical director of the Y. M. C. A. and Dr. Carman is the city physician. Mr. Coe will examine the applicants with regard to their education, Dr. Carman will look into their condition as regards health while Mr. Heywood will put them through a severe test as to their physical requirements.

The applicants will be required to come up to an average of 70 per cent. in order to be eligible for a position on the police force. No appointments will be made until after this examination. It is not known how many men will be appointed, probably not more than two at present, although Captain Kiely says he can use at least three or four more men. The appointments will be made at the February meeting of the Council.

SEATS GOING FAST.

Sale of Seats for "Private Secretary" Began This Morning at Armstrong's Pharmacy.

The sale of seats commenced this morning for the performance of "The Private Secretary." The sale started at 8 o'clock at Armstrong's pharmacy, corner of North and Park avenues, and before the appointed hour many people assembled to get the first selections. Those in charge of the affair are very much pleased with the way that the people are buying the tickets. No favoritism is shown, first come first served, and thus everyone has an equal chance.

A great many seats were sold during the morning, and there is no doubt as to the ultimate success of the performance. Much interest is being manifested in the production to be given and this is encouraging to the ones in charge and those who will appear in the play. Judging by the success of the rehearsals the play will be an unqualified success, and Mr. Young, the coach, is more than pleased with the prospects.

Infant Daughter Dead.

LEUPTON FOUND GUILTY OF ATROCIOUS ASSAULT

Trial in Somerset County Court Concluded Last Evening When Verdict Was Given.

KNIFED PAINEL IN ASSAULT.

ROBERT BURNET ON TRIAL FOR SHOOTING YOUNG JEROLAMAN.

Alleged That Burnet Waylaid the Other Near Liberty Corner and Fired Shot Gun at Him—Leupton's Fight Took Place in Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 15.—The case of the State against Wm. Leupton was resumed yesterday morning, with a large audience present. The defendant was cross examined by the Prosecutor. Leupton exhibited two shirts and coat which he wore on the night of the scrap, and which had several cuts in them. The Prosecutor asked Leupton if he had not made those cuts himself, and he said "No," that Painel made them on the night of October 8. Leupton said that Painel cut him in the neck, over the eye, and on the side. He showed his scars, and the Prosecutor asked him to show the cut on his side, but the defendant objected to taking off his shirt in the presence of the audience, and so the jury did not see the wound in his side. Leupton admitted that he stabbed Painel, but said that he did it in self defense with Painel's own knife, which he took from Painel.

The defence then rested and the State in rebuttal called eight witnesses, who testified that Leupton's character was bad. These witnesses were Justice R. T. Brampton, Morgan Miner, William Seaman, Edward Link, Frank Wheeland, Oscar Sanderson and Robert Naylor.

Several of these witnesses testified that Leupton had a scar on his neck before the scrap in October, and that he was quarrelsome. Justice Brampton said that he had been before him several times for scrapping. Constable Wheeland said that Leupton's wife had asked him twice to arrest Leupton for cutting her, and he had heard of his having several scraps.

Leupton's scar was on the right side, while a boarder at Leupton's said Leupton was cut on the left side of the neck.

The case was then closed and counsel summed up. Judge Schenck charged the jury and sent them out at 3:20. They returned early in the evening with a verdict of guilty of atrocious assault.

The case of the State against Robert Burnet, indicted for atrocious assault, was then taken up. Prosecutor Griggs represented the State and John A. Frech defended Burnet.

The State alleged that on November 16 James W. Jerolaman was driving along the highway, near Liberty Corner, when Robert Burnet, who was behind a cedar tree, pointed a gun at him and fired, filling his face and cap with shot.

James W. Jerolaman was the only witness examined when court adjourned.

This morning the trial was resumed and the remainder of the witnesses for the prosecution were examined.

WILL CLOSE OUT BUSINESS.

John S. Johnston in Charge of Affairs of Late Theron VanInwagen.

Theron VanInwagen, who died a few days ago on Franklin avenue, left a will in which everything was left to his wife. At the request of Mrs. VanInwagen, John S. Johnston, of Norwood avenue, has consented to take charge of affairs and will settle all things pertaining to the estate of the deceased, as provided in his will. Unless the business can be sold entire to someone who wishes to continue the same, the goods will be disposed of to the best advantage and the business closed out.

Manning's Horse Found Dead.

W. D. Manning, of Netherwood, whose barn was burned recently, suffered another loss Saturday night, one of his horses being found dead Sunday morning. Mr. Manning valued the animal at $150.

DAMAGES FOR HER HOUSE.

VERDICT GIVEN IN FAVOR OF MRS. SALOME SCHIEDECKER, OWNER.

Case Was Tried Before Justice Mosher and Jury of Twelve Men—Verdict for $25.

The action of Mrs. Salome Schiedecker, of New street, against Theodore Glazer, Jr., to recover $55 for damages claimed to have been done by the defendant to a house rented of the plaintiff, was tried yesterday afternoon before Justice Mosher and a jury of twelve men.

A year ago last spring, the defendant leased a house of the plaintiff which is located on West Fourth street, near Rock avenue, just across the city line. After living in the house several months, Glazer bought a farm at Dog Corners and prepared to move. He had previously agreed to rent the house for a year, payable in advance. Before he was ready to move landlady and tenant had trouble and dispossession papers were served upon him through the advice of William K. McClure, who was acting as agent for Mrs. Schiedecker.

When Glaser vacated the house, it is alleged that it was left in a damaged condition. At the trial the testimony of witnesses for the defendant as well as the plaintiff showed that more or less damage had been done. The damage consisted of two doors being broken down, windows smashed and a doorway cut through into one of the rooms. Two of the witnesses testified that Glaser had been heard to say that before he left the house he would "blacken it."

The case occupied the attention of the court for about three hours when it was given to the jury, who after being out about an hour brought in a verdict of $25 for the plaintiff.

Law Student William Sweeney represented the plaintiff on behalf of William K. McClure and Robert M. Clark the defendant.

ODD FELLOWS INSTALL.

District Deputy and Staff Attended Meeting of Queen City Lodge of This City Last Night.

District Deputy Laire and staff, of Whitehouse, visited Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., last evening for the purpose of installing the recently-elected officers. Those installed were as follows: Noble grand, A. L. Case; vice-grand, H. DeMott; recording secretary, R. J. Neal; financial secretary, J. D. Brown; treasurer, J. P. Allis; right supporter to noble grand, Guillermo Thorn; left supporter to noble grand, Alex. Muir; right supporter to vice-grand, J. B. Higgins; left supporter to vice-grand, William Heinman; scene supporter, G. E. Firstbrook; inside guardian, Philip VanFleet; outside guardian, Frank Walsh; chaplain, Henry Hoffman; past grand, John Cose.

At the conclusion of the installation the members and their visitors adjourned to Central Cafe where a collation had been prepared, during the disposal of which an informal programme of songs and speeches was given.

New Jersey Commandery Organized.

A New Jersey Commandery of the Charter Companions of the Military Order of Foreign Wars was organized at Newark last week. Major General James S. Negley, U. S. V., of this city, was among those present, and he was elected Vice-Commander General to the National Commandery. There were present a great many prominent military men from this State. It is proposed to incorporate the organization and hold meetings on the last Wednesday of every month, except during July, August and September.

Big Dinner for Insurance Men.

Superintendent Charles E. Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company, accompanied by Agent Haley, of Somerville, will attend the annual banquet of the officers and superintendents to be held this evening at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, in New York. Mr. Haley received an invitation owing to the fact that he is one of the leading men among the agents, having brought in a large amount of business. It is considered a great honor for an agent to receive such an invitation.

Slipped on the Ice.

A horse attached to the baker wagon of Herman Deike, of Grove street, fell this morning in front of the store of George F. Brown, on Somerset street, and one of the shafts to the wagon was broken.

An Official Visit.

Grand Foreman Tussey, of Camden, will pay an official visit to Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., on Thursday evening. The members of Central Lodge, No. 48, will attend the meeting.

HOSTS OF NEW BILLS BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

Governor Voorhees Sent in Long List of Appointments for Confirmation by Senate.

CHANCELLOR REAPPOINTED.

S. ST. JOHN M'CUTCHEN REAPPOINTED MEMBER OF STATE SCHOOL BOARD.

Roger W. Erickson Named as Clerk of Committee on Revision of Laws—Assemblyman Meeker Introduced Several Important Bills.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 15—A host of bills and a long list of appointments from Governor Voorhees were presented for the consideration of the members of the Jersey Legislature when it convened again last evening. Except for the confirmation of several of the appointments by the Senate, no other business was done.

Of the appointments, the one of chief interest to Plainfield, was the reappointment of Samuel St. John McCutchen as the member of the State Board of Education from the Third district. The only other Plainfielder appointed was Roger W. Erickson, whom Assemblyman Foote announced had been selected as clerk of the committee on revision of laws.

Chief among the appointments was that of William J. Magie, of Elizabeth, who was named for a full term as Chancellor. He was appointed to fill the term of the late Chancellor McGill. Chief Justice David A. Dupue, of Newark, was also reappointed. No successor to Associate Justice Ludlow was named.

The following appointments were also made by the Governor subject to confirmation by the Senate:

Judge of Passaic District Court, William W. Watson; Judge of Elizabeth District Court, Edward W. Atwater; Judge of Paterson District Court, William I. Lewis; Law Judge of Essex county for unexpired term to April, and for full term of five years therefrom, Alfred L. Skinner; Law Judge of Salem county, Clement H. Sinnickson; Law Judge of Sussex county, Henry Huston. Prosecutor of the Pleas: Passaic county, Eugene Emley; Gloucester county, Lewis Starr. Factory Inspector, ex Senator John C. Ward, of Salem county, confirmed. Manager of Home for Disabled Soldiers, Marines and Their Wives, at Vineland, ex-Senator J. Howard Willets, of Cumberland county, confirmed. Manager of the State Hospital at Morris Plains, Richard A. McCurdy. Members of the State Board of Education: James L. Hayes, Sixth District; Otto Krouse, Seventh District; Samuel St. John McCutchen, Third District; Francis Scott, Fifth District.

As a result of the recent reports relative to the illegal detention of patients in the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains, Mr Marks, the Democratic leader, introduced a bill in the House last night providing for an investigation of the conduct of the affairs of the institution.

Mr. Meeker introduced a preliminary bill looking to the formation of a State Assurance Home and Savings Fund.

These bills were also introduced in the House: By Mr. Meeker, providing for a Lieutenant-Governor to preside over the Senate and prescribing other duties; by Mr. Marks, providing that kidnapping shall be punishable by life imprisonment; by Mr. Williams, establishing a State Normal School at East Orange, to cost not more than $250,000; by Mr. Tennant, abolishing capital punishment.

Among the Senate bills introduced were the following:

By Mr. Reed (for the President), enabling colleges and universities to increase the number of their trustees; the bill was introduced in the interest of Princeton, which has made provision for alumni representation on the Board of Trustees; by Mr. Stokes, providing for a reappointment of the Assembly representation, giving an additional number to Hudson and Passaic counties and reducing the representation of Hunterdon and Warren.

Leaves Soon for California.

Harry Mitchell, of West Third street, who has been in the employ of the street railway company for several years, will leave in a short time for California. He expects to locate there permanently, partly on account of his health.

Sailor's Sign of Bad Weather.

A sun dog was distinctly noticeable in the southern part of the sky last evening.

LITERARY.

The January Forum contains twelve articles of unusual interest and merit. "The Liberal Party in England," by one of the most distinguished of English Liberals, who, for very sufficient reasons, prefers to remain anonymous, is a worthy defence of the party from a partisan's viewpoint. Arthur P. Davis, the distinguished Hydrographer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, contributes an article under the title, "Panama and Nicaragua Canals Compared," which, at this time, when the question is foremost in the American mind, must prove absorbingly interesting to all who note the progress of Greater America. "The District of Columbia in its Centennial Year," an article following so closely the recent "Centennial Celebration at the National Capital," is contributed by Henry B. F. Macfarland, President of the Board of Commissioners for the District of Columbia. "The Fall of Pekin," by Rev. Gilbert Reid, is a brief summary of the causes leading up to the occupation of the Chinese Imperial city by the Allied forces. Oscar Lovell Triggs, Professor of Literature in the University of Chicago, contributes a masterly article entitled "A Century of American Poetry," that will be universally appreciated by all who are interested in the development of this branch of American literature. The January number fully maintains the high reputation The Forum has achieved amongst high-class periodicals.

Miss Bowlby, of Morristown, has been visiting friends in this city for a time.

Paul Symons, of East Third street, who has been kept at home for several days by illness, is able to be out again.

Miss Ernestine Smith, of Madison avenue, who has been a sufferer from the grip, was able to resume her duties yesterday at the Sabbath Recorder office.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—A cottage prayer-meeting will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Weiss, on Grandview avenue.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Careful to Witness.

A pastoral, natural drama, flavored with the breezy local color of southern life, and permeated with the soft southern atmosphere of its valleys, describes "Fogg's Ferry," which has been one of the substantial triumphs of the last sixteen seasons. This success is in part due to the magnificent scenic effects, But the play meets favor with thoughtful people on worthier grounds. It is splendidly constructed, the characters are flesh and blood beings, the plot is very dramatic and interesting, and the humor genuinely funny without being farcical. A number of extrinsic features lend interest to the production. The electrical effects, showing a night in a southern country place, are novel and pretty. A troupe of darkey male and female plantation dancers, and an excellent vocal quartette, adds volume to the entertainment. "Fogg's Ferry" will be seen at Music Hall tonight with Miss Betty Woodward as "Chips, the Ferry Waif."

Hoyt's famous comedian, Jas. B. Mackie, better known all over the United States as "Grimesey Me Boy," will come to Music Hall, Thursday night. Mackie will be well remembered for his exceeding clever work as Grimes the bell boy in Hoyt's first success, "A Bunch of Keys," playing with that company for years and creating the part and the original bell boy of Hoyt's in the zenith of that wonderful success. Today after fifteen years, both plays are on the road and making money. Mackie has been very fortunate in keeping the "Cellar Door" up-to-date. There will be a host of pretty girls so essential to farce comedies, headed by that very clever comedienne, Miss Louise Sanford, who played Terry, the leading character in Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys," making two Hoyt's stars in "Grimes' Cellar Door."

. . . . . .

Miss Iola Pomeroy, who is to appear with her company at Music Hall, Saturday, is said to show rare ability in her play, "Little Hurricane," which much resembles Lotta's play of "Musette." She excels in singing and dancing. She has a voice of great power, which combined with a natural jauntiness and earnestness, will for her great applause.

Mrs. Joseph A. Blatz, of Somerset street, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of grip. Mr. Blatz is also much better from a similar attack.

Simple Price Reasoning.

A dentist's office expenses are the same whether he serves few or many patients. If he serves few he wastes time and must charge higher prices to make good the waste. If he serves many he can divide a fair profit above expenses into much lower prices for all That's what my practice enables me to do, and that's why my prices are so little for work that's best—GUARANTEED BEST.

VANDERBILT—FRENCH.

Fashionable Wedding at Newport. New York Society Attends.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 15.—Mr. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, second son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, by whose will the young man was made head of his family and heir to a fortune of $44,000,000, and Miss Ellen French, youngest daughter of the late Francis O. French, who was a millionaire banker of New York, were married at noon yesterday at Zabriskie Memorial church of St. John the Evangelist. As the family of the groom is still in mourning for the death of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt the wedding ceremony was made simple to a degree, while the reception and breakfast which followed were almost as quietly conducted as some of the larger luncheons and dinners at Newport in midsummer. But despite an air of simple elegance apparent in every detail, which, by the way, was as much in accordance with the taste of Miss French as it was desirable to the Vanderbilts, the particularly interested families are so prominent in the social and business worlds and the two young people who were united are so well known and so popular that the event attracted wide attention and really proved to be one of the most notable of Newport society weddings.

The guests from New York came on by special train placed at their disposal by Mr. Vanderbilt on Saturday and Sunday. Those from Boston, including relatives of Miss French, arrived at 11 o'clock in the morning and were driven directly to the church, where they were entertained till the hour of the ceremony by an organ recital by Mr. William R. Boone, organist of the church.

It was a pink and white wedding, this attractive combination of colors having been chosen by the bride to characterize the floral decorations both at the church and at Harborview.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt shortly after the wedding breakfast had been served left on their honeymoon trip. Their plan for this is a secret to all save themselves. It is known, however, that they will not go abroad and that their tour will be brief, as Mr. Vanderbilt wishes to get back to his business in connection with the Vanderbilt railroads, in which he has become deeply interested.

Mrs. Vanderbilt received many wedding gifts, including much linen and lace, several complete outfits of silver and a wealth of diamonds and other precious stones.

SIGNED SUNDAY.

Joint Note Now Awaits the Imperial Seal.

PEKING, Jan. 15.—Prince Ching has notified Senor de Cologan, the Spanish minister, who is the doyen of the diplomatic corps, that the agreement was signed Sunday morning, but that he did not expect to be able to present it to the foreign envoys before Wednesday owing to the difficulty of obtaining the imperial seal, which, he asserted, is in the Forbidden City and in the private apartments of the emperor, guarded by the emperor's most trusted servants. He said also that a personal order from the emperor would be required before those who have the seal in charge would deliver it even to Prince Ching.

Russia has begun turning over the railway to Germany. The latter intends to place the management of the line with former employees of the company under military supervision. Germany has requested the station masters, engine drivers and mechanics who were formerly employed to report at the German headquarters, when they will be given their old positions.

Oil Craze In Texas.

DALLAS, Jan. 15.—The oil excitement caused by the recent wonderful strike at Beaumont is spreading over Texas. Dallas capitalists are nearly as much exercised over the discovery as the Beaumont people are. Private telegrams received here are to the effect that the flow of the Lucas gusher has not diminished. Machinery is nearly completed to control the flow and save the oil. Approximately 100,000 barrels of oil have been lost. Many strangers reached Beaumont yesterday, coming mostly from the north and northwest, to inspect the new district for prospective investors. Fully 200 new borings have been started.

Railroad Building Delayed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 15.—News has been received here of serious fighting Dec. 24 and Dec. 29 between parties of American foremen and Jamaican laborers working on the railway construction in Ecuador at Bocay Junction. The fighting there developed Dec. 24 into a riot, revolvers being freely used on both sides and many persons being wounded. The Ecuadoran troops had to be called to restore order. Hundreds of the laborers decamped, and the work is now progressing slowly.

Miss Jeschke Gets the Cup.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—The individual championship in the women's bowling tournament went to Miss Elizabeth Jeschke, who last Saturday rolled 701 points for the five games. In addition to winning the honor of being the best woman bowler of the United States, Miss Jeschke received a silver cup valued at $100. Mrs. E. N. Wright secured second place with a score of 688. Mrs. Wachsmuth and Mrs. Garrett tied for third prize, each having scored 685 points.

Clark Will Be Elected.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 15.—At 9:45 o'clock last night W. A. Clark was nominated in the Democratic caucus for United States senator to succeed the Hon. Thomas H. Carter. There were 37 members present. It will require 48 votes to elect today, but Clark professes to believe that he will receive at least 53 votes on the first ballot.

Wolves Devour Travelers.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 15.—Advices from many points tell of packs of wolves killing and devouring travelers. Two wedding couples who were sleighing in the Marmaros district were attacked, and all four persons were killed. The driver of the sledge escaped up a tree, but was nearly frozen to death.

Governor Thomas Withdraws.

DENVER, Jan. 15.—Governor Thomas last evening announced his withdrawal from the race for the United States senatorship. This leaves T. M. Patterson master of the situation.

Murderer Granted a Reprieve.

TRENTON, Jan. 15.—Governor Voorhees has granted a reprieve until Feb. 6 in the case of Murderer Hill, under sentence to be executed today in Camden county.

A SIXTY MINUTE JURY

Rapid Work at the Bosschieter Trial.

MOTION TO QUASH IS DENIED.

Three of the Men Accused of Killing Mill Girl In Paterson, N. J., Placed on Trial—Examination of Witnesses Begun.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 15.—The trial of Walter L. McAlister, Andrew Campbell and William A. Death, three of the four men accused of the murder of Jennie Bosschieter, a mill girl of this city, under circumstances revolting in their utter lack of humane considerations, commenced yesterday before Judge Dixon in the Passaic county court of oyer and terminer. George J. Kerr, the fourth man under indictment, was not in court, as he has been granted a separate trial on the ground that he was not present when the fatal dose was administered to the girl.

Before the trial was begun it was expected that at least two days would be necessary to complete the jury, but Judge Dixon carried the proceedings on with such vigor that within one hour after the court was called to order he had empaneled his 12 jurors and heard the opening lines of the address of the prosecuting attorney. The remainder of the day saw four of the principal witnesses in the case on the stand. Mrs. Nina Bosschieter, the mother of the unfortunate girl, was one, her daughter Susie another, Christopher Saal, the proprietor of the saloon where it is alleged the girl was administered the drug, was the third, and Gus Scoulthorpe, the hack driver of the horrible midnight ride, was the last. Mother and daughter told of Jennie's life at home and at the mill, telling fully of the incidents just previous to the girl's disappearance.

Of the four witnesses the testimony of Scoulthorpe was the most important as well as the most startling. In his crude, unvarnished way he told to the minutest detail the story of the crime. He graphically described the taking of the almost unconscious girl from the saloon to the Victoria and of the ride out of the city and the unspeakable crimes committed on the dead or almost dead girl.

Apparently little beside the murder case was on the minds of the Paterson people yesterday, and an hour before the time set for the beginning of the trial the little courthouse was surrounded by a great crowd of peering, gossiping men and girls. It was a ragged and idle throng for the most part that watched every door and window of the low building.

It was but a few minutes after 10 o'clock when Judge Dixon ascended the bench. The three accused men then entered the courtroom. First came Death, then Campbell and McAlister, preceded by the sheriff and escorted by constables. The prisoners had to walk the entire length of the courtroom, and their attitudes were characteristically different. Death seemed the most oppressed, and his jaw was set firmly, and he stepped quickly, as though he were anxious to reach his seat instantly. Campbell smiled and carried himself buoyantly. McAlister, who looked his nickname in the term of "Sport," went up the aisle with a swagger.

As soon as the preliminaries had been disposed of the counsel for the defense made a formal motion to withdraw the pleas and quash the indictment on the ground that they were defective. The motion was denied, and immediately the court began to examine the talesmen.

British Losses In Africa.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The official list of the British casualties in the recent fighting at Belfast shows 29 killed, 53 wounded and 72 missing. This does not account for the British losses at other points of simultaneous attacks by the Boers—namely, Wonderfonstein, Nooitgedache and Wildfontein—and shows that affairs in that quarter were more serious than Lord Kitchener reported them to be. "Owing to the drain for South Africa," says the Calcutta correspondent of The Times, "the India army is now 9,000 below its normal strength and contains 15,000 men who ought to have been relieved and sent home. There are also 5,000 others who will soon be in the same position." The Times, referring to the dispatch editorially, suggests that if recruits could be obtained to fill their places an offer might be made to these 15,000 whose time has expired to serve in South Africa.

Exports and Imports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A statement of the imports and exports of the United States issued by the bureau of statistics shows that during December, 1900, the imports of merchandise amounted to $68,599,609 as against $70,733,843 for the corresponding month in 1899. The imports of gold during December amounted to $3,375,552 and the exports $410,533. The silver imports amounted to $3,014,558 and the exports $7,358,339. During the 12 months of the last fiscal year the imports of dutiable merchandise exceeded that of the previous year by $38,687,299. The exports of domestic merchandise during the year are shown to have been $200,180,766 in excess of those for the year 1899.

Cuban Town Destroyed.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Jan. 15.—Banes, a small town on the railroad between Gibara and Holguin, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Some 50 houses and warehouses were burned down. The Banes Fruit company, an American concern, had been employing almost the entire population of the town, and a large quantity of fruit and tobacco was in the warehouses. There was no insurance on the property.

To Look For King Solomon's Mines.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 15.—John R. Farrell, a mining expert of this city, will start for Africa in a few days on a mission highly tinged with romance. Farrell goes in quest of "King Solomon's mines," made famous by Rider Haggard's well known story. Farrell says he expects to make a big showing. He goes to Africa as an expert for a large London syndicate.

Half a Million to Harvard.

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—The total value of gifts to Harvard university during the past year is announced to have been $531,519. The individual donations have been announced from time to time.

Berlin Artists Drowned.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—Two talented Berlin artists, Herr Guido Frohberg and Herr von der Wonde, were drowned while skating on Lake Schwielow.

RESISTANCE WANING

Numerous Surrenders and Captures of Filipinos.

CHIEF DELGADO OF ILOILO YIELDS.

Opposition to American Rule Is Now Chiefly in Southern Luzon, Cebu, Northern Mindanao and Bohol.

MANILA, Jan. 15.—Optimism is taking the place of conservatism among the military men here, the cause being the numerous surrenders, captures and destruction of insurgents' camps, coupled with the increasing understanding of the Americans' intentions among the natives, the propagation of the principles of the Federal party and the knowledge that they are approved by the United States Philippine commission and the military authorities and that the carrying out of the terms of General MacArthur's proclamation, classing all who do things inimical to the interests of the army as rebels and traitors, are having pointed effect, with the offering of local autonomy and protection and showing the certainty of the punishment of those who remain rebellious.

The cutting of communications and supplies has destroyed the remnants of the insurgents' organization. The inhabitants of the towns are disinclined to any longer contribute secretly to a hopeless cause, and it is generally believed that the pacification of a sufficient number of provinces to inaugurate a general scheme of provincial government will be accomplished before many more weeks have elapsed. The most pronounced resistance at present is in remote southern Luzon, northern Mindanao, Cebu and Bohol.

The first batch of 30 leading insurrectionists who have been ordered to be deported to the island of Guam sailed on the transport Rosecrans today.

General Wheaton reports that 53 armed bolomen have surrendered at Benguet.

Sixteen of Geronimo's band were captured Sunday night and brought to Montalban.

Philippine Cables Laid.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—General Greely, chief signal officer, U. S. A., has received a dispatch from Lieutenant Colonel James Allen, in the Philippines, announcing that the signal corps has laid cables from Oslob, island of Cebu, to Dumaguete, island of Negros, and thence to Misamis and Lintogo, island of Mindanao. This extension of the military telegraph system connects for the first time the large and important island of Mindanao with Manila and the rest of the world. Heretofore in some instances three weeks' time would elapse before the army officials at Manila would hear of an engagement that had taken place in Mindanao, but the newly laid cable will put Manila in direct and quick communication with this lower island. It is hoped that the extension of the cables from Tucuran to the Jolo group by way of Zamboanga will be completed within the next month.

Iloilo Chief Surrenders.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—General MacArthur reports the surrender of Delgado, commander in chief of Iloilo province, Panay. He also reports that other important surrenders are expected during the next few days. General MacArthur's cablegram to the war department is as follows: "Delgado, commander in chief Iloilo province, Panay, surrendered Jan. 11 to Robert P. Hughes, brigadier general volunteers, with 4 officers, 21 men, 14 rifles. His command much scattered. Other surrenders expected during the next few days important; signified end organized armed resistance Iloilo province, Panay."

A Romantic Wedding.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A special to The Record from Paris, Tex., says: "The most romantic wedding that ever occurred in Texas took place last night at Clarksville, 30 miles east of Paris. Miss Mamie Smith, worth $1,000,000, from Honolulu, aged 19, was married to Emmet Burke, aged 20, son of a Texas and Pacific section foreman between Paris and Clarksville. She was born at Rosalie, Red River county, near Clarksville, and reached here a month ago to visit her birthplace. She was engaged to marry a prominent San Francisco lawyer who had the management of her estate. She met young Burke, a penniless boy, three weeks ago. A romantic attachment sprung up, culminating in the marriage."

Russians Journey South.

DANIELSON, Conn., Jan. 15.—The tribe of Magaars who landed in Boston some weeks ago en route from Russia to the southern states have reached this town and encamped in the fields, sleeping on the snow covered ground. They are in the utmost destitution and have caused considerable consternation among the householders in the vicinity of their encampment by their persistent and sometimes threatening begging. A child was born to one of the women, and mother and infant spent the night in the fields with no other roof than the winter sky. The local authorities have ordered the Magaars to leave at once.

Tried to Rob Express Train.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Jan. 15.—An attempt was made to wreck the New York limited on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad just over the Genesee county line in Livingston county. The train was rounding a curve when the engineer saw a pile of ties on the track, and an instant later the engine struck them and scattered them in every direction, breaking the engine's pilot. Footprints, evidently of several men, were found in the snow on either side of the track. Railroad detectives are working on the case.

Snow Bound Trains Released.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Odessa correspondent of The Daily Mail, giving later details of the experiences of the railway passengers who were snow bound while on the way to Odessa, says: "All the trains have now arrived here. The drifts have hardened to the consistency of ice, and in one case a tunnel had to be cut through a drift 400 yards long and 38 feet deep. Many passengers who had attempted to walk here were found by sleighing parties frozen to death."

Automobiles For Postal Service.

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—Postmaster Hibbard has received authority from Washington to carry into effect his plans for using automobiles in the postal service. Three of such vehicles of design suitable for the work are to be built.

JEFFRIES-RUHLIN FIGHT.

Promoters In Cincinnati Going Ahead—Other States Refuse.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 15.—The promoters of the Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here Feb. 15 had their inning yesterday. Ruhlin appeared at a matinee and again last night and was not molested. The Evangelical alliance did not hold their meeting of rejoicing, and the opposition to the fight for the first time in more than a week was not heard from. Meantime the Saengerfest Athletic association proceeded with its work at the hall and let some more contracts.

The most important development in favor of the association was the signing of a petition by more than 100 members of the Chamber of Commerce during the noon session in favor of having the fight here as scheduled. Business men are nearly all with the Saengerfest club for the fight. Unless the political leaders now give an ultimatum against the athletic club the fight will be held here.

No Prizefight In Kansas.

TOPEKA, Jan. 15.—Fifteen minutes after Governor Stanley was sworn into office for his second term yesterday a telegraph messenger placed in his hand the following telegram from a Cincinnati newspaper: "Please wire us whether you would allow Jeffries and Ruhlin to fight a limited number of rounds in your state in case the fight is prevented here." To this the governor wrote the following reply: "There will be no prizefight in Kansas while I am governor."

Prizefights Barred In Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 15.—Governor Vansant received a telegram from a Cincinnati paper asking if the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight could be held in Minnesota if it should be stopped in Ohio. He replied as follows: "Jeffries and Ruhlin will not be allowed to fight in Minnesota. No prizefight in state while I am governor."

Will Not Be Allowed In Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 15.—Governor Sanford wired Cincinnati in response to a query that he will not allow the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight to take place in Alabama.

HYPNOTIZED FIFTEEN YEARS.

Woman Restored to Her Family After Long Absence.

GREAT PONT, Me., Jan. 15.—After an absence of 15 years, during all of which the woman claims she has been under the hypnotic influence of James A. Montgomery, Mrs. Lucretia McIninch has been restored to the remnant of her family, her husband and four of her nine children having died since the mother went away.

Mrs. McIninch was found at Leominster, Mass., recently by her son-in-law, John E. Shuman, who had searched for her for many years. She was living with Montgomery and on being taken away by Mr. Shuman expressed great relief, saying that the past 15 years have been almost a total blank because of the hypnotic influence exerted over her by Montgomery and that she did not become fully conscious of her situation until her son-in-law appeared.

Montgomery, who is employed as a janitor, made no secret of the fact that the woman living as his wife was Mrs. McIninch, but would say nothing further concerning his relations with her. The man is 78 years of age. Mrs. McIninch is 61.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Mandell Creighton, bishop of London, died in London.

Murderer William Neufeld was put to death in Sing Sing.

J. P. Morgan & Co. paid $160 a share for Jersey Central stock.

The Italian steamer Leone was wrecked on the island of Corsica.

The Philippine commission decided not to allow religious teaching in the schools.

Prince Victor Nakadchidze was arrested at Nice charged with plotting the death of the czar.

Richard Yates was installed as governor of Illinois, Winfield T. Durbin was inaugurated governor of Indiana, and Alexander Monroe Dockery was inaugurated governor of Mississippi.

The Massachusetts Senatorship.

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—The members of both parties in both branches of the legislature, contrary to the usual custom, held separate caucuses yesterday afternoon to nominate a United States senator to succeed Hon. George Frisbie Hoar. The Republicans of both house and senate were unanimous in their choice of the venerable Massachusetts senator to succeed himself notwithstanding his antagonistic attitude on some party measures. But the house Democrats, although considerably in the minority, engaged in a spirited half hour's debate over the question of a candidate and finally agreed on former Secretary of State Richard Olney. Four Democratic senators and four members of the house voted in their respective caucuses for Senator Hoar.

Injured by Falling Scaffold.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 15.—A frightful accident occurred at the Jamestown waterworks pumping station yesterday afternoon. Eight men were at work on a scaffolding over a deep reservoir, when the framework gave way, and they fell 30 feet into the reservoir, in which was only shallow water. The injured are Stewart Conant, William Johnson, Otto Lawson, Abraham Johnson, F. J. Taylor, James Eggleston, Harry Cook, V. Gilmore and Leon Rider. Nearly every one had broken bones and bruises, the first four named being fatally injured, it is feared.

To Reclaim the Pontine Marshes.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—Private advices from Rome assert that the king and government of Italy have accepted a great project by Count Czapski and Baron Douglas, Germans, for drying out the Pontine marshes and rendering them habitable and fertile. Negotiations with opposing owners along the marshes have taken a favorable turn.

Fire In Dawson.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 15.—The steamer Amur, which has just arrived from Alaska ports, reports that on Jan. 6 fire destroyed $50,000 worth of property in Dawson. The principal losers are Ruddy & Kilbourn, druggists; Bonanza Meat market, Antler's restaurant, San Francisco Oyster House, Cribb & Rogers and Rainier hotel.

Sugar Up In Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The German sugar syndicate has raised again the price of refined sugar 110 pfennigs per 100 kilos. It has now altogether raised the price 525 pfennigs per 100 kilos, thus securing for the syndicate 75,000,000 marks annually.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Hundreds of Plainfield Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people should be evidence beyond dispute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following.

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in there praise.

NEW YORK LAWMAKERS.

Annual Appropriation Bill Introduced—Other Important Measures.

ALBANY, Jan. 15.—A record breaker was established last night in the assembly in the introduction of the annual appropriation bill, the earliest date on record. The subcommittee of the ways and means committee in the make up of the bill has evinced a disposition on their part to carry out the recommendations of the governor for economy.

Assemblyman Harburger of New York introduced his concurrent resolution for the appointment of a joint committee which shall prepare a bill framing an amendment to the constitution so as to limit the powers of the government in the removal of officers elected by the people. It went over until Monday night under the rules.

In the absence of Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, who is ill with grip, Senator Ellsworth called the senate to order at 8:35 o'clock last night.

Three measures carrying into operation the consolidation policy expressed in the message of Governor Odell to the legislature were introduced in the legislature. Two bills abolish the state board of charities and the state board of prisons as now constituted and place the departments in their charge under the control of two new commissioners. Each commission is to be composed of two constitutionally elected state officers and one person appointed by the governor for a term of three years at an annual salary of $2,500 and to be confirmed by the senate.

The third bill abolishes the commissioner of jurors in New York county and provides for no successor. This bill does away with an expense of $17,250, which is paid by the city of New York.

ARMY BILL DELAYED.

Senate Makes No Progress With the Measure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Just at the close of a day of dreary discussion of technical details of the army reorganization bill Mr. Teller of Colorado, speaking to an amendment he had offered, delivered a sensational denunciation of General Eagan, formerly commissary general of the United States army. His statement included also the administration, because General Eagan had been reinstated, according to the senator's charge, as a "decoration and a reward" for his attack upon the commanding general of the army.

An appeal for the early passage of the pending bill was made by Mr. Carter of Montana, who declared that delay now would mean an additional expense of $500,000 a day. He asked that a time be set for a vote, but Mr. Teller objected. No progress was made with the measure, not a single amendment being disposed of finally.

The house appropriations committee has agreed to report favorably the bill appropriating $21,000 to provide for the electric illumination of the exterior of the capitol, White House and public buildings on the occasion of the inauguration of President McKinley.

The house postponed District of Columbia business, which was the regular order, until next Monday and proceeded with the river and harbor bill. General debate closed at 2 o'clock, and the bill was read under the five minute rule for amendment. Good progress was made, 59 of the 97 pages being completed. Many amendments were offered, but without exception all of them failed.

DR. PUPIN'S INVENTION.

Telephoning to San Francisco and London Will Soon Be Possible.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—According to the statements of Michael Idvorsky Pupin, adjunct professor of mechanics in Columbia university, the American Bell Telephone and Telegraph company has paid him instead of the $200,000, as originally stated, nearly $500,000 for his recent invention of a system by which ocean telephony is made possible. This is in addition to the annual royalty of $15,000 a year during the life of the patents.

Professor Pupin returned to Columbia Sunday from an out of town trip and was greatly surprised to learn that his invention had been made public.

"The Bell company has tested the invention for six months," he said, "and express themselves as perfectly satisfied with it. The question of ocean telephony is solved from a scientific standpoint, and there now only remains the commercial question.

"There is no doubt that as soon as the financial part of the matter is settled it will be perfectly possible to telephone to San Francisco and London and to send cable messages to Europe at far less cost than at present."

TO BE TRIED IN CUBA

Supreme Court Orders Neely's Extradition.

THE ISLAND FOREIGN TERRITORY.

Postal Fund Embezzler Must Be Dealt With and Punished Where He Committed the Crime—A Unanimous Decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Justice Harlan has announced the opinion and judgment of the supreme court in the Neely case, involving the validity of the law passed by congress on June 6, 1900, to enable the authorities to send Charles F. W. Neely back to Cuba for trial on charges growing out of his alleged embezzlement of postal funds in that island.

The case came up on appeal by Neely from the judgment of the circuit court for the southern district of New York remanding him to the custody of the marshal of that district to await transportation to Cuba on a warrant of arrest issued under the provisions of the new law. The facts in the case were reviewed by the justice and the grounds upon which Neely attacked the constitutionality of the law.

The first question discussed was whether or not Cuba was a foreign country. This, he said, was not difficult to answer. Cuba was under the resolutions authorizing the president to use the United States forces to free it of Spanish dominion, the terms of the treaty of Paris of Dec. 10, 1898, and the action of the military powers of the United states subsequent to the ratification of the treaty foreign territory. It could not be considered in any legal or international sense as part of the United States. The island, he continued, was none the less foreign territory because it was under a military form of government.

The results of the Spanish war could not have been avoided by the United States under international law even if it had been desired to do so, and the government was compelled to hold Cuba in trust for the people of the island until the people there had formed a government for themselves and to pacify it in the meantime.

The act of June 6, 1900, was in execution of the terms of the treaty so far as they applied to persons in Cuba. It was competent for congress to provide by legislation for carrying out the guaranties of protection of life and property in Cuba made by the United States in the treaty.

Neely's citizenship did not give him the right, said Justice Harlan, to set it up as a protection against extradition to a country where he had committed a crime in violation of its laws to be punished there for his acts.

The contention of Neely that the military occupation of Cuba was unwarranted by the constitution and an invasion of the rights and territory of a friendly territory, the justice said, was without merit. The war against Spain was conducted jointly, and the resolutions of congress authorizing its prosecution did not commit the United States to the recognition of any government in Cuba until after one had been set up after the island had been wrested from the control of Spain, the territory pacified and a condition of tranquillity assured.

The judgment of the circuit court remanding Neely to the custody of the marshal, thus affirming the validity and constitutionality of the extradition law, was affirmed and by a unanimous court.

Upon motion of Solicitor General Richards an order was issued directing that the mandate go down at once.

Prosperous New York Railways.

ALBANY, Jan. 15.—The state board of railroad commissioners in their annual report show an exceedingly prosperous condition for the railroads operating in this state. The steam surface roads earned in the gross $27,060,056 more in 1900 than in 1899 and their net earnings $10,242,410 more than in 1899. The companies paid in taxes $983,627.72 more than in 1899, in interest $538,653.02 more than in 1899 and in dividends $1,208,668.77 more than in 1899. The capital stock increased $22,144,400 over that of 1899, and the funded debt increased $3,584,498.50 over that for 1899. The percentage of dividends to capital stock was 2.52 as compared with 2.43 in 1899. The average freight earnings per ton per mile increased .013 cents. The average freight expenses per ton per mile decreased .007 cents. The total number of accidents on the lines of steam surface railroads was 671 killed and 1,374 injured, an increase from 1899 of 33 killed and 48 injured. The number of passengers carried was 73,846,114, and one passenger was killed for every 9,230,764 carried. The physical conditions of all the steam roads in the state have been greatly bettered.

Train Wreckers In Florida.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 15.—Train wreckers are believed to have caused the derailment of a west coast Plant system train a few miles south of Dunnell, Fla., causing the death of Engineer Tom Roach and injuries to several passengers. The names of the passengers said to have been hurt are not known here, and the railroad officials refuse to furnish any information regarding the wreck. A survey of the track at daylight showed that a rail had been removed.

No News From Frazer.

ATLANTA, Jan. 15.—Despite the efforts of the family and the offering of a reward there are no developments in the case of Bass Frazer, the missing student, who is believed to have been kidnaped in Atlanta ten days ago. Local police officials are now of the belief that Frazer is not in Atlanta.

Island Sale Will Soon Be Made.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 15.—It is understood here that the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States will soon be completed. It is added that the minister of finance, H. E. Horring, is concluding satisfactory arrangements. The desire here is to sign the convention before March 4.

Dewey Has the Grip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Admiral Dewey is confined to his home by an attack of the grip. It seems to be yielding to treatment, and the admiral expects to be out again in a few days.

Four Deaths From Plague.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Four deaths from bubonic plague occurred on the steamer Highland Prince, which arrived in Shields harbor from the river Platte.

Weather Probabilities.

COMING EVENTS

January 17—Annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. for the election of six directors for three years.

Elizabeth's Mayor.

Elizabeth has lost one of the most popular and efficient Mayors that has ever served that commonwealth. Throughout Union county and the State, there was a general feeling of sorrow that such a capable official should have ended his career on this earth.

William A. M. Mack was an excellent type of the man who is sought by the office. He was remarkably popular throughout Elizabeth although he was a very quiet and unassuming man. He took but little part in politics but was a great favorite with those prominent in both parties. His services to that city were so satisfactory that there was a general feeling that he should be re-elected and he was again chosen last spring for another term.

One of the busiest physicians in the county seat, Dr. Mack found time to attend to his official duties. The constant strain told on his system and for nearly a year prior to his death, he was but a wreck of his former self. In Plainfield, there are many who knew Mayor Mack well and who now mourn the loss of a good citizen and an honorable and trustworthy official as well as a true friend.

F. M. Jackson, the manager of a financial concern at Jersey City, says the Philadelphia Record, has achieved a remarkable success in a single year and he ascribes it chiefly to his use of newspaper space. In an interview he said: "There is nothing like newspaper advertising. I take space in half a dozen newspapers regularly and carry fifty-four lines every day in one. Almost every week I run a full double column in the leading newspaper, from which I always receive direct returns, getting my money back tenfold. People have taken to reading my 'ads' just because they are readable. There is no mistaking the fact that people nowadays read advertisements."

Councilman Lee seriously objected at the last Council meeting to the adoption of the specifications for the changes at the sewage disposal beds recommended by the street committee. Mr. Lee was a member of the street committee, but had not been present at the meeting of the committee when it had been decided to ask the Council to adopt the specifications. Saturday afternoon most of the Council went to the beds and listened to a practical explanation by Expert Osgood of the plans he had suggested, but Mr. Lee was not present. While Mr. Lee undoubtedly had an excellent reason for being absent, it was unfortunate that it had to be so.

It is now assured that the oratorio, "Elijah" will be rendered next month by the Plainfield Choral Society. The necessary support has been forthcoming which is a matter for general congratulation.

The first thing on hand for the State Legislature is to choose a United States Senator. There isn't any question but that General Sewell will succeed himself.

Every day there are people who wander about the city in search of a street and cannot find it for the reason that the street signs are lacking.

Some day there will have to be a system of sewers for North Plainfield. It is only a question of time.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

In speaking of Gubernatorial possibilities, what is the matter with Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth? As far as ability is concerned he easily leads the New Jersey representation at Washington, and then again he is popular with the people. As Governor, Mr. Fowler would be a credit to his party and his State.—Railroad Employe.

* * * * *

It is not improbable that the frequently proposed plan of incorporating Fanwood, Westfield and Cranford, in Union county, into a city, to be known as Westfield City, will take the form of a bill in the present Legislature Assemblyman Smith, of Westfield has the matter in charge. It is said that property owners at Cranford are opposed to consolidation.—New York Tribune.

* * * * *

The announcement is made that ex-Mayor John C. Rankin, of Elizabeth, has declared that he is out of politics. This is to be regretted. Mr. Rankin is an aggressive, intelligent Republican, and one whose integrity and ability were recognized by his election for several terms as Mayor of Elizabeth. Such men are useful in any party, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Rankin will reconsider his determination to retire from politics, especially when he cannot adhere to it without incurring the supposition that he retired while under fire.—New York Tribune.

* * * * * * *

The victory of Senator Kean in the Union county Republican primaries last week was of a personal character, the candidate for chairman of the County Committee being, in fact, his own brother. While this was a source of strength in the contest, it will cause some embarrassment later, for family complications are not less troublesome in politics than in business. The defeated candidate, Mr. Codding, has had things his own way in Union and in the State House at Ttenton for several years, and there is more or less of the rejoicing which always accompanies the downfall of the powerful who have not been over-considerate toward the less fortunate.—Newark Call.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Two little girls, carefully dressed, have been noticed at the North Avenue station every morning for several weeks. They go to meet Miss Cora F. Cadmus, a teacher in the Bryant public school. Rain or shine the little ones are there to greet their teacher as she alights from the 8:21 train. Miss Cadmus greets her charges with a smile and a kiss.

The affection displayed by these pupils is as interesting as it is noticeable to many commuters, who have watched this pleasant comedy. Friendships formed by young children in early life and the impressions they receive at tender years are never forgotten. When grown to womanhood these girls may look back upon this incident with feelings of satisfaction that will remain with them until the day of their death.

* * * * *

There is already a noticeable difference in the length of the days. Each day is about a minute longer than its predecessor. It is the more perceptible, perhaps, in the afternoon than in the morning. There is an old saw "As the days begin to lengthen so will the cold begin to strengthen." Thus far this winter mild weather has been the rule rather than the exception. This weather has more the appearance of fall than the middle of January. Predictions are being made tnat the winter will be an open one. However, there's yet time for plenty of cold weather. February and March are yet to come. The latter is especially a disagreeable month and it may prove so this year. The writer has often seen good genuine winter weather in this blustering month. Old inhabitants can recall the time when it was not uncommon to have "six weeks' sleighing in March."

Board of Agriculture.

The twenty eighth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture will be held at the State House in Trenton, Supreme Court room, tomorrow, Thursday and Friday of this week. A large attendance of farmers throughout the State is respectfully urged.

For Church Building Fund.

The annual offering for the church building fund will be taken next Sunday morning at Trinity Reformed church.

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Opening Spring Wash Goods.

Dainty, Cool, Stylish, The Latest, Bewitching.

Fast Colors, Durable, Reliable, Exclusive, Immense Variety

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27 in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27-in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier, 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty.

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn, satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked sulsees, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits. Cambric, nainsook and sulsee edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

IN THE CARPET STORE.

The chief problem of a carpet business is to dispose of the short lengths. We solve the problem by selling them at greatly reduced prices. Lengths suitable for small bed rooms, halls, etc., as follows: 75c and 85c Tapestry Brussels at 45c and 50c. 1 00 and 1 10 Velvets at 75c. 1 60 and 1.10 Axminsters at 75c. 65c Best all-wool Ingrains at 49c. Rug Lengths of above at 35c and 50c and 75c each. Old carpets made over and relaid by skilled workmen.

THE JANUARY FURNITURE -:- SELLING -:-

has been beyond our highest expectations. We have been making new friends and customers every day, and it's not to be wondered at when you consider the extremely low prices prevailing at this sale. It's not a question of money making, simply that of keeping busy during a usually dull month in the furniture line. Many are buying now for their future needs. Goods will be stored till wanted.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan. 15 — Miss Lizzie Kuldoshes, the eighteen year old daughter of Mrs. H. K. Kuldoshes, died yesterday morning after an illness which first gave cause for alarm but one week ago. She had been complaining for some time but it was at first thought she was only suffering from a slight indisposition. She attended the Whittier school and was in the class which graduates this year. Her sudden death has cast a gloom upon her schoolmates among whom she was very popular. The deceased was an only daughter and is survived by four brothers all of whom live in the borough. They are David, Theodore, George and Joseph. The funeral services will be held from her late residence tomorrow morning at 9:00 and from St. John's church at 10:00 Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

Contrary to expectation, nothing of importance was transacted at the special meeting of the Borough Council held last evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of taking action in regard to the notice served on the Mayor and members of the Council by Henry Garretson. The result of the meeting was simply to confirm the Council's offer to pay Mr. Garretson's bill for work on Madison avenue, with the exception of $75. The outcome of the trouble from now on will be watched with considerable interest.

At the conclusion of the regular meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F. held last evening, the recently elected officers were installed. The members afterward enjoyed a sociable time.

According to the prediction of W. H. Cole, there are four more snow storms due this winter. Mr. Cole's prediction of seventeen snow storms last winter was verified exactly.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley was made a member of the legislative committee at the Republican county executive committee meeting held at New Brunswick last Saturday.

Scotch Plains, Jan. 15 — A very pleasant surprise party was tendered last night to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaloway, who have just returned from their wedding trip, at the home of Mrs. Kaloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis B Coddington on Terrell road. Dancing was the feature of the evening and was enjoyed until midnight when refreshments were served. After satisfying the inner man and spending a short time in social chat, dancing was again resumed and continued until a late hour. The newly married couple, although taken by surprise by their friends, were equal to the occasion and proved to be an excellent host and hostess. The committee in charge of the pleasant affair were G. Terry and P. Uhdal. Music was by Frazee.

Mrs. J. S. Braker, of Waltham, Mass., who is the guest for a short time of the Misses Hayes, of Fanwood, has been spending a few days with her sister. Mrs. W. Stewart Hess, of New York.

Mrs. Roll, mother of George Roll teamster at Hollinsworth's mill, is suffering from an attack of blood poisoning caused by cutting a corn on a toe too close.

Mrs. James Hunt, of Fanwood, who attempted suicide while temporarily insane early Sunday morning is reported as improving very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Paff, Sr.

Miss Jennie Johnston led the weekly meeting of the Epworth League Society held in the Methodist church last evening.

George Doon, who recently entered the Soldier's Home at Newark, has returned home.

Wm. H. Trayno, who has been quite ill for a week, is able to be around again.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, January 15.—The ticket office in the railroad depot is being enlarged and remodeled. It will be made to occupy the whole centre of the building, and the two side windows which have never been used will be opened. The train dispatcher's office is to be moved down stairs. The upper story will then be left vacant for other uses. A. C. Bunn is in charge of the carpentering.

The Board of Education has advertised for bids for the janitorship of the new school building. The bids will be opened January 18.

U. S. Tingley is recovering from a three weeks' illness. He expects to go to South Carolina in a few days.

Mrs. William Clawson has returned home from a two weeks' visit with friends in Bound Brook.

Danield Sofield has secured board and lodgings at Thomas VanNest's.

Superintendent Cathers was here yesterday and visited the school.

William Terrel is confined at home by an attack of the grip.

CALIFORNIA.

Thirty-five Days' Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged for a special personally-conducted tour through California, to leave New York and Philadelphia on February 14, by the "Golden Gate Special," composed exclusively of Pullman parlor-smoking, dining, drawing room sleeping, compartment, and observation cars, returning by March 20. This special train will be run over the entire route. The best hotels will be used where extended stops are made, but the train will be at the constant command of the party.

Round-trip tickets, covering all necessary expenses, $450 from all points on Pennsylvania Railroad except Pittsburg, from which point the rate will be $445.

For further information apply to ticket agents; Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.; B. Courlaender, Jr., Passenger Agent Baltimore District, Baltimore, Md.; Colin Studds, Passenger Agent Southeastern District, Washington, D. C.; Thos. E. Watt, Passenger Agent, Western District, Pittsburg, Pa.: or address Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia. 1 15 29

Mrs. F. C. Adams, of East Orange, was the guest last evening of her cousin, Miss Vroom, of 503 Madison avenue.

Baldwin, a daughter of Farmer Baldwin, was put on the stand and told her story as to her relations with Doyle, their separation, Doyle's first quarrel with her father and their meeting on the night of the shooting. She was upstairs when the first shot was fired and hurried down in time to see Doyle fire the shot which resulted fatally. She testified that Doyle then fired at her, but missed, and that she fled and sought safety at a neighbor's house. She was still undergoing her direct examination when the court adjourned.

At the session of court this morning her direct examination was concluded and the cross-examination begun.

PERSONAL.

Miss Bessie Moffett, of Stirling, has returned home after a visit with relatives on Watchung avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Long, of Somerville, has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue.

Miss Bessie Brown, of Plainfield avenue, who has been quite ill, has been taken to the hospital for treatment.

The Misses Sadie and Nettie Leichtentritt, of Central avenue, have returned from a visit with New York relatives.

Harry Jenkins and family, of Bethlehem, Pa., have been visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Jenkins, of East Sixth street.

Charles F. McCann, the efficient night operator at the local telephone exchange, is confined to his home on West Third street with a severe attack of the grip.

PROPERTY OWNERS NOTIFIED.

Assessment for Widening Somerset Street Will Soon be Considered by Council.

Frank Bowley, borough clerk, today served notices upon all property owners interested in the matter of the widening and improvement of Somerset street. By law the clerk is obliged to tack in conspicuous places at least five notices and must also send a notice to each owner of property along the line who may reside outside of the borough. The report of the Commissioners of Assessment will be made at the next meeting of the Borough Council to be held Friday evening, February 1, when all persons having objections to the widening of the street may appear and be heard.

CHOSE DIRECTORS.

Annual Meeting of the Watchung Silk Company Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Watchung Silk Company was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Harry C. Runyon. The following stockholders were elected members of the Board of Directors: J. Fred McDonald, Eugene Laing, W. R. Codington, W. R Stanbury, Willis W. Vail, Frank Runyon, Harry C. Runyon. The board will meet Wednesday evening to choose officers. The report of the secretary and treasurer showed the business to be in a good condition.

It Girdles the Globe.

The fame of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, as the best in the world, extends round the earth. It's the one perfect healer of Cuts, Corns, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Scalds, Boils, Ulcers, Felons, Aches, Pains and all Skin Eruptions. Only infallible Pile cure. 25c a box at L. W. Randolph's.

Working on Regular Time Again.

Overtime at the Potter Press Works, which the men have been enjoying for nearly six months, has been stopped for the present. A large number of orders are on hand, however, and the men may be placed on extra time again within a few weeks.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given Wednesday evening of last week in honor of the anniversary of Mrs. Dyanson's birthday. The affair was given at her home on Woodland avenue and a large number of friends were present to enjoy the festivities of the occasion.

Cleaned Men's Ward.

At present, there are five patients in the men's ward at Muhlenberg Hospital and as none of them are in a serious condition, they were moved yesterday to another room for the time being so that the ward could be given a thorough cleaning.

Annual Turkey Supper.

One of the events of the winter season will be the annual turkey supper to be given in Trinity Reformed church on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 24 and 25, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society.

Locked up For Hearing.

Joe Sullivan was found drunk in a barn at Roberts' stable on Second street this morning by one of the employes, who brought him to police headquarters where he was locked up. He will be arraigned later.

Berlin. Der Export Deutschlands nach den Ver. Staaten wies im abgelaufenen Jahr eine starke Zunahme gegen 1899 auf. Die Ausfuhr aus dem Berliner Konsulardistrikte hatte einen Werth von 6,677,355 Mark, gegen 6,633,883 in 1899.—Das öffentliche Anschlagwesen in Berlin wurde für das Jahr 1901 der Firma Nauck & Hartmann vergeben, die das Höchstgebot mit 400,000 Mark abgegeben hatte.—Auf allen Berliner Straßenbahnen ist neulich ein einheitlicher Fahrtarif von zehn Pfennig pro Person in Kraft gireten.—Auf dem Grabe seiner Frau erschossen hat sich auf dem Kirchhof in Steglitz der Schriftsteller Julius Isenbeck. Er war Herausgeber der „Allgemeinen Reichs-Korrespondenz" und hat unter dem Pseudonym Jul. O. Binder zahlreiche Erzählungen verfaßt. Seit zwei Jahren war Isenbeck Wittwer und litt an Schwermuth.

Alt-Landsberg. In Vogelsdorf sprang jüngst ein zwölfjähriger Schulknabe am Tische in der Wohnstube seiner Eltern plötzlich mit den Worten auf: „Ich lerne überhaupt nicht mehr!" Er eilte in die Schlafstube, wo man ihn kurz darauf, am Bettpfosten hängend, entseelt vorfand. Mit seinem Halstuch hatte er sich aufgeknüpft. Der Knabe war kurz vorher wegen Trägheit vom Lehrer getadelt worden.

Spandau. Ein Soldat von der 7. Kompagnie des 5. Garde-Grenadier-Regiments faßte Nachts den unseligen Entschluß, seinen bei den Pulvermagazinen zu Nieder-Neuendorf auf Posten befindlichen Freund in Furcht zu versetzen. In gebückter Haltung näherte er sich ihm in der Dunkelheit, indem er hüpfend vorwärts sprang. Der Posten rief der Vorschrift gemäß mehrere Male „Halt!" Als die Gestalt ihr sonderbares Thun fortsetzte, feuerte der Soldat, nicht wissend, wen er vor sich habe, einen Gewehrschuß ab und tödtete den „Spaßmacher" durch eine Kugel, die den Kopf durchbohrte. Das Kommandanturgericht leitete eine Untersuchung des Vorfalles ein.

The Life of the Artist's Model in NEW YORK

Its Bohemian Wickedness Is Not Nearly So Black As It Is Painted

NEXT to Paris, New York can probably boast of the largest number of studios, therefore making the occupation of artists' model but one of the many in which the average New York girl seeks her livelihood. And it seems strange that so many should immediately conjure up the most awful visions of bohemian wickedness at the mere mention of the word model. But the life of such in New York is never so black as it is painted.

Among the artists a model is as much respected as any society woman sitting for a portrait, the work is serious and a model whose living depends on her posing goes about her work as steadily and earnestly as though she held the most responsible position in the land. Of course there are a few frivolous ones, who now and then go about the studios seeking engaments, just for the fun of the thing, as they express it, but they soon drop out, as they discover that posing is anything but child's play, and the artists too much engrossed in their work to waste time on idle visitors.

The work itself is desirable from the standpoint that no experience or study beforehand is required; all that is needed is fairly good looks, a trim, stylish figure and rather pretty gowns, the more chic and stylish they are the better. And a girl beginning to pose need only to visit the different studios and leave her name and address, if the artist has no immediate use for her, though it is a good plan to call oftener, at least until she is well known, as an artist is likely to forget all about a model ten minutes after he has taken her name, and is more likely to engage a model at the door than to risk the disappointment possible in sending for one.

The hours, compared with those of the average working girl, are certainly to the model's advantage, being from 9:30 till 12:30 in the morning and from 1:30 till 4:30 in the afternoon. To the model the time seems long or short, according to the pose. If the position be a natural one, a comfortable sitting attitude where the model can chat at ease with the artist while posing, the time passes very agreeably, and at the end of the three hours' sitting the model will feel as though she has just reached the end of a pleasant call and will accept her fee for the morning's work with the satisfaction of knowing it was very agreeably earned, but, should the pose be a standing one or even a difficult reclining position, the work will be found most arduous, and each five minutes seem more than double the preceding. Some artists are much more considerate of a model's ease and comfort than others, helping to make their models as comfortable as the pose will permit, seeming apparently unable to work unless doing so, while others think only of their own work, begrudging every moment the model requires for resting. But this kind is by far in the minority, and if they would but stop to consider they would soon be convinced that the more a model is rested and the more at ease she is while posing the result will always be better and more satisfactory work for both artist and model.

A DIFFICULT POSE.

The earnings of the successful model average from $15 to $25 a week in the winter months, while during the summer such models are usually engaged to accompany an artist out of town to pose for outdoor pictures. A model is considered very fortunate to obtain an engagement of this kind, as there is generally very little posing to do, while, besides having all her expenses paid, she receives the money for a certain number of sittings every week, whether she poses during that time or not.

The American girls, with very few if any exceptions, pose only for the head and costumes, leaving the foreign models, mostly French and English, to pose for the nude. These girls may be looked at askance by the allwise who have never stepped inside of a studio, but about the studios and by those who know anything at all of them they are treated with as much deference as the most fastidious woman could desire. It is their way of earning a living and the artists are grateful for a good model to work from, though a girl will not pose for the nude if she is pretty and stylish enough to obtain plenty of work without, as it is more trying and calls for no larger compensation than the other.

As a rule the models prefer posing for the painters to the illustrators; the work is easier and more steady. An illustrator very seldom requires more than one pose for a picture, whereas a painter beginning a new canvas will give the same model employment for weeks at a time. Then, again, not a few of our successful painters have been known to marry their models, so, altogether, a girl in New York can do much worse than pose for an artist.

NITA L. PIERSON.

DIDN'T MAKE THE SALE.

Because They Scrubbed the Antique Out of Sight and So Grieved the Connoisseur.

"New Orleans is still a fine hunting ground for antique furniture," said a local auctioneer, relates the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "and scores of northern tourists prowl over the field every winter looking for treasure trove in that line. It is lots of fun, and sometimes they pick up a good thing. In that connection I can tell you rather a quaint little story.

"Last fall a Boston woman, who is well-known here and a great collector of antiques, was looking up an address in Ursuline street, and stopped at a certain house to make some inquiries. While talking with a widow and her daughter, who live on the premises, she caught sight of a beautiful old Dutch cabinet in the front room. The doors were ornamented with carved figures of the apostles, and the brass hinges and lock were in themselves fine examples of early eighteenth century workmanship. The Boston visitor was greatly interested, of course, but she was in a hurry, and, keeping the address, she promised to call again and make an offer for the curio. A day or two later, however, she was summoned north, and it was only last month that she wrote to say she would be in the city shortly and would be around to have a talk about the cabinet.

"This letter greatly excited the widow and her daughter, and they decided it would be a good idea to burnish up the old piece of furniture before the stranger arrived. Accordingly they scrubbed it with lie and pumice stone until they removed all the mellow luster of age, put on nice, strong hinges they bought at a hardware store around the corner, and equipped the door with a patent Yale lock. Then they touched up the apostles with pink enamel paint, and gave the whole thing several coats of shiny varnish.

"When the Boston connoisseur arrived they met her with beaming smiles. 'Yes, we still have the cabinet,' said the widow, 'but you would hardly know it—it looks exactly like new!' The visitor gave a glance at the thing and came near fainting in her tracks. She is an old customer of mine, and when she told me the story she shed briny tears. She declared those salmon pink apostles would haunt her to the last day of her life. I understand the widow and her daughter were highly indignant over their failure to effect a sale. They felt they had been imposed on somehow."

WERE BORN TO LEAD

Historic Quartette of Giants in the Thirty-Fourth Congress.

Sumner, Morrill, Brooks and Breckenridge Were, Physically and Mentally, the Greatest Men of Their Day.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"I TOLD you all about the fires days when I was a fireman," in Washington in the early said Calhoun Clark, the retired veteran fire-fighter. "At the same time I promised to tell you about my experiences as a little page boy in the old house of representatives. To-night I am in a humor to fulfill that promise.

"It was in 1855 that I was appointed, and I guess you and your readers were babes in arms then; I mean the eldest of your readers, as well as yourself. I was a lively little lad then, and these gray whiskers were not even sprouting, while this bald head was covered with a thick growth of dark brown hair. I was only one of about a dozen page boys, but I was very observant of everything about me, because I had been told that I must study the men, and know how to anticipate the desires and wishes of all of the statesmen, if I would make myself popular and keep my position.

"My vivid recollection of that time is the fact that the most handsome and distinguished-looking men in the house were the four giants—Morrill, of Vermont; Sumner, of Massachusetts; Breckenridge, of Kentucky, and Brooks, of South Carolina. Two of them were from the north and two of them from the south. I do not believe that at any time in the history of congress four men of such magnificent physique and intellect have appeared in the house of representatives.

"Brooks, of South Carolina, was about six feet tall, and as perfectly formed a man as ever lived. Morrill, of Vermont, who remained in public life until he passed away about two years ago, was by far the handsomest man of them all, but not quite so robust physically as the others. He had a classic face and his power of utterance was marvelous. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, was about Morrill's height, but heavier. The biggest man of the quartette was Sumner. He was about six feet five inches tall, and must have weighed about 200 pounds. There was no fat about him. He was all big bone and muscle. He dressed well, too. He was the best dressed man in congress. He dressed to show off his physical proportions. He was an athlete, and kept a little gymnasium in his apartments. He swung dumb-bells and Indian clubs every morning, and he took long walks every day.

"I can see Sumner now, walking down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol, in creased trousers, with cutaway coat and white vest. He always wore a white vest. They call it waistcoat nowadays, but it was a vest then, and it would make a dress coat for a man of ordinary size. I have seen prize-fighters in recent years, and I believe, as I told you before, that if Sumner lived to-day, and were a scientific boxer, he could take Jeffries, and Corbett, and Sharkey, and bump their heads together He used to walk down Pennsylvania avenue alone, and everybody looked at him as a physical wonder. It was not very long until they were also pointing at him as an intellectual prodigy. As a southern boy, I did not like him, because he was always hammering away at slavery and denouncing southern states because they upheld that institution. Being but little more than a child, I did not understand his great purpose as I do now.

"I was still here after Sumner went to the senate, and I remember well when Brooks attacked him in that chamber. That story has never been truthfully told in print. At any rate, I have never seen it truthfully told. The current story is that Brooks struck Sumner with a heavy cane, and that he almost killed him while he was at his desk in the senate, after an adjournment. That is absolutely false. I was in the senate chamber a few minutes after the occurrence, and picked up the shattered cane which Brooks used in his attack upon Sumner. If I had known that it would become of historic value I would have kept it. But I didn't, and so I smoked it."

In reply to inquiry concerning this peculiar statement, the old man said: "The boys in those days used to smoke fibrous wood called rattan. It would burn like a cigar. It was full of pores, and the smoke easily ran through it. Brooks carried a rattan cane with an ornamental silver handle. It was very light and in no sense a murderous weapon. I do not remember the cause of the trouble, but Brooks felt personally aggrieved and went to Sumner in the senate chamber and demanded an apology for something which Sumner had said in debate. Sumner looked up and said he had nothing to apologize for, and Brooks struck him over the head with his light cane, shattering the cane.

"Now, I was very sure at that time that Brooks simply intended to provoke the giant from Massachusetts into a personal fight or a duel, and that has always since been my impression. I believe he expected Sumner to arise and grapple with him in a personal fight, or to resort to a duel. But the blow stunned Sumner, and he fell back on his chair and seemed to be almost dying. The word passed quickly about the capitol, and I was one of the first to rush into the chamber. Brooks had gone, and I picked up the shattered cane. Nobody ever called for it; and, as I said, I cut it up and smoked pieces of it with the boys. That is what became of the shattered cane which would now be a historic thing, if it were in existence.

"As a matter of fact the blow which Brooks delivered was harder than he intended it to be, and it lacerated Sumner's scalp, and put him to bed. But I know very well that it did not fracture his skull, as reports have said, and it caused him inconvenience only for a few days. The difficulty was not, as the newspapers and historians have said, 'a murderous assault.' Brooks was not a man to commit murder, although he would fight a duel with anybody.

"But that episode helped to inflame the differences between the northern and southern states, and it had more to do with bringing on the civil war than any other one thing, except Mrs. Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." That story alone would be interesting. I was here when that book was published. I heard many representatives from southern states say that the book was dangerous and likely to produce harm, and some of them thought it ought to be suppressed.

"Well all of those handsome men have gone to their long home, and I am still here. Breckenridge was the kindest man of the quartette. He remembered the names of the little page boys. He gave them little bits of change for their services. There were no cigarettes then, but we had other ways of getting rid of our extra money. He always spoke to us in a kindly manner. Consequently the boys all believed in him and loved him.

"Mr. Morrill went to the senate and was the foremost man in that body during the civil war. He framed the war tariff bill of 1863; and I remember that while he was engaged in that great work I went to the senate one day with an official document to deliver to the secretary of the senate, and Senator Morrill called me to him, gave me a silver quarter, and told me that he remembered me as a good boy over in the house.

"Brooks was never very considerate of the boys, and we did not like him particularly well. Mr. Sumner was also indifferent to us. Consequently, when Brooks attacked Sumner we page boys had no ground of sympathy on either side. We didn't care particularly for either Brooks or Sumner. Hence, you will see, that it was not then nor is not now a matter of prejudice when I say that the sentiment at that time was not against Brooks, for nobody believed that he intended to hurt Sumner as much as he did when he struck him with that rattan cane.

"When the civil war came on those big men divided on geographical lines. Brooks and Breckenridge went into the confederacy, while Sumner and Morrill remained with the government. Morrill had no aspirations other than for the general welfare, but Sumner was a candidate for the presidency as long as he lived. He would have been a great president; but, like Douglas, and many other great men that I have known, his ambitions in that direction were not gratified. It was not so written, and Sumner died as unhappy a man as Blaine did, covered with honors and fame, but without the one particular honor which he most desired.

"All of these little details concerning those men may be interesting to you and your readers, but the thing which stands out in my memory most prominently and which you cannot comprehend is the fact that those four men were the biggest men physically that have ever come together at any one time in any congress; and that they all proved to be intellectual as well as physical giants. I have seen many congresses and many aggregations of great men, but I believe that the four greatest and most distinguished-looking men that ever came together here in the national capital were Sumner, of Massachusetts; Morrill, of Vermont; Brooks, of South Carolina, and Breckenridge, of Kentucky, in the Thirty-fourth congress."

KENTUCKY ETCHINGS

Picturesque Features of Life in the Blue Grass Country.

Charming Towns Rich in History and Tradition—The Home of Henry Clay—Incidents of "Court Week."

[Special Lexington (Ky.) Letter.]

LEXINGTON is perhaps the most picturesque city in central Kentucky; yet Versailles, Frankfort and Paris each claim the palm. But Lexington is the most ancient and historic of all the pretty towns of this section, so rich in history and varied in scenery. It contains more ruins, natural and physical. A number of the old local "landmarks" are still standing and are pointed out to visitors as objects of historic interest. Others have lost their identity in the surrounding improvements of this modern age of bustle in which sentiment is lost in the hot pursuit of the mighty dollar. The Kentucky gentleman of the "old school" takes a pride in showing to strangers these interesting objects, and the sites where historic buildings once stood, when "Kentucky was not what it is now, sir." Some of the magnificent residence buildings of modern architecture and electric lights overshadow the modest cottages of a past generation, and these superimposed the cabins of the earliest settlers, who cleared the virgin land of timber and of Indians. The aristocracy of the Blue Grass country is founded upon birth and generated by learning. Much of it is, however, based upon learning—the only true basis of aristocracy. Here, wealth confers no privileges—it does not open the doubly-guarded doors of the exclusive aristocracy, who trace their origin from the Scotch-Irish of Virginia and Pennsylvania, and from English ancestors. The many distinguished names show what kind of men they and their descendants were. Kentucky has furnished more men of national reputation, men celebrated in literature, inventions, arts and learning generally, than perhaps any other state. While some of these were "transplanted," others "grew" here from the parent tree. And thus was built up the Blue Grass aristocracy, of which all Kentuckians are proud.

While some of the offshoots of the original "trees" have become somewhat stunted in their intellectual growth, there is still enough of the "chips" of the old trees to keep the ancient line unimpaired, just as there may be seen grand and beautiful oaks in the picturesque grounds of their ancestors. The pride of ancestry is the greatest pride, and a pardonable one, of the Kentuckian of to-day.

One of the principal objects of interest here is the pretty residence occupied for nearly a half-century by the "great commoner," Henry Clay. It is situated about three miles from the city, and, as it is easily reached, is visited by nearly all strangers. Ashland is now occupied by Mrs. McDowell, a granddaughter of the "mill-boy of the Hanover slashes." She is kind and hospitable, takes a pleasure in showing visitors through the old-style southern mansion, with its broad piazzas and imposing white flute colonnades. Ashland is a typical southern residence, doubly celebrated as the home of "Kentucky's greatest statesman," and for the large number of distinguished men who visited it during the life of Clay. The grounds are picturesque, the most prominent "feature" being the "oaks primeval" in this garden forest, beneath the shade of which the "sage of Ashland" often strolled in meditating "compromises," or perhaps in the entertainment of his distinguished guests. In the grove of these magnificent oaks is the office of the sage, in which is his law and literary library.

The old Transylvania university is another object of interest, especially to pedagogues and to theologians. The old university, which numbered among its graduates many of the most distinguished men of the country during the first half of the present century, is no more in name; nor is the original building standing. The present magnificent structure is pointed out as the "old university," with the qualification that its name has been changed. This change was mainly due to the usual sectarian troubles in colleges, and "Transylvania" was lost in the "Kentucky university." The time-worn building of 60 years has witnessed many changes and theological wars, which have been more disastrous to the college, than time has to the scarred building.

For a quarter of a century it was the football of succeeding theologians, each of whom attempted to control its destinies in the interest of his particular sect, to the detriment of philosophy and the sciences. The first endowment of this university was lands confiscated from Kentuckians who sided with the British in the revolution. With each successive confiscation an additional chair was endowed. The beautiful grounds on which the buildings are situated were donated by the first settlers of Lexington. Their aim was to build and maintain a college equal in its scope to any other in the United States, or in Europe, and here educate the youth, instead of sending them abroad. From the number of brilliant scholars who graduated at "Old Transylvania" it is evident that they succeeded, at least, for awhile—until sectarianism blighted the spreading flame, and almost extinguished it.

The visitor is impressed with the number of aged men seen upon the streets of Lexington, Frankfort, Versailles and other "Blue Grass" cities. It is said there is something in the Blue Grass soil conducive to long life and to the building of a robust physique. The men are of a firmer build than the long, lanky, sallow-complexioned mountaineers, or those of any other section of the state. This section has also produced more "brainy" men than any other part of the state. It is a pathetic reminder of the past to see these aged men of a bygone age walking the streets of the modern city bending forward on their long canes reaching to the shoulder. These old-style canes have a silver knob-head, and a steel ferrule at the bottom. They are relics of the past—handed down from a preceding generation, and some of the canes are curiosities in architecture. The pedestrian ambles along, planting his long cane in front, and slightly inclines his body forward at each step to rest hs weight upon the slender support. Many of these aged men stand as straight as the traditional shingle, almost. They had not contracted the "stoop-shoulder" habit in early manhood. The old type of the "Kentucky gentleman" always assumed an upright position—asserting his manhood and independence.

The modern courthouses are objects of interest on "court days." Court is opened as in olden days. A bell summons all in attendance, and the sheriff opens court with: "Hear ye; hear ye; all who have business in court draw near. God save the commonwealth and this honorable court!" Then he shouts "silence in court," and turns to greet his friends from the rural districts in no suppressed voice

Horse trading is one of the "features" of court week, and the public square is crowded with all kinds of horses—from the racer to the "scrub," and the plain old farmer is about as shrewd in a horse trade as the jockey who thinks he knows all about horses.

Here is seen that always interesting, yet pitiable, figure, the olden time "Kentucky darky," of the day "befoh de wah." There are not many of them, and as the type is disappearing, they become more interesting to the present generation. The Kentucky slave darky was a more picturesque figure than the negro of the present—he had no cares, and while he worked much harder, he seemed to be more happy. Negroes are improvident and care only for today—to-morrow may not come. The house servants, especially the cooks and those who "minded the children" were especially well provided for; and those who did work in the towns and villages fared much better than those who labored in the fields.

The visitor is charmed with the prettily shaded streets in the residential part of these cities. That earlier settled part of Lexington is decidedly marked by the heavily shaded grounds which make the home more pleasant to the eye. The houses are situated back from the street, usually on a knoll and amid a grove, and the wide walks are graveled and well shaded by native oaks or shrubbery. The old homesteads occupy half a block or more, and seem like a country seat in the midst of a city.

BRYAN COMING HERE.

Says He Will Again Avail Himself of Hospitality of Cedar Brook Farm When Circumstances Will Permit.

James E. Martine, of this city, has just received a letter from Wm. J. Bryan, replying to a letter which Mr. Martine had written in which he expressed himself as regretting Mr. Bryan's defeat, though still maintaining that the cause for which the party fought was just.

Mr. Bryan's reply to Mr. Martine in effect is that while naturally all Democrats regretted that they did not win the fight, he as an individual and the Democrats as a party had nothing to recall in regard to their position that had been taken or the way the battle had been fought.

Mr. Bryan wrote that as soon as circumstances permitted he would be pleased to again avail himself of the hospitalities of "Cedar Brook Farm." Mrs. Bryan joined in sending best wishes to the members of the household at "Cedar Brook Farm."

Let me say I have used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and can thoroughly recommend it for what it claims. Very truly, Rev. H. W. Hathaway, Elizabeth, N. J.

I tried Ely's Cream Balm, and to all appearances am cured of catarrh. The terrible headaches from which I long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

CURIOUS FISH.

Ossified Sun Fish on Exhibition at Endress' Market on West Front Street.

In the sea food department of Fred Endress' market on West Front street there is on exhibition one of the most curious specimens of the finny tribe ever seen in this city. It is called an ossified sun fish and the appearance confirms the name. Its color is almost a deep black, and with the exception of an outward layer of skin is one solid mass of bone. When alive the fish is incapable of any action whatever, and by reason of its great weight is forced to lie on the river or lake bed and subsist by suction through the stomach.

This particular specimen was found landlocked in the Croton Lake reservoir, where it had undoubtedly lain for many years as shown by the imprint of a water main on the stomach. As these fish are extremely rare Mr. Endress will have this one mounted by an expert.

NO HOSE TOWER.

So Borough Firemen Have to Dry Hose on the Sidewalk Near Headquarters.

Since the fire at the Gulick grocery store Sunday morning, when a quantity of hose was used, it has been necessary to stretch the hose on the sidewalk in front of borough fire headquarters for the purpose of drying it. At one time the fire house had a hose tower but the wind blew it down. Since then the firemen have been put to much inconvenience to dry hose. In fact there is no suitable place to do so and the sidewalk has to be used for the purpose.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

Evangelistic Service.

On Thursday evening a special evangelistic service will be held in Marconnier chapel and Dr. Schenck will have charge of the meeting and speak to those present. The Holy Spirit seems to be working on the hearts of many who regularly attend this chapel and the officers are praying for a special spiritual blessing.

House Warming at Casino.

The management of the Casino have under consideration a "house warming" to take place in the near future. Not since the re-organization has there been any special features to mark the event and the members feel as though the event should not go by unnoticed. Committees are now at work arranging the proposed affair.

Great Sachem is Busy.

Great Sachem William Newcorn will be absent from this city every night but Saturday, this week. This evening he visits the Tribe of I. O. R. M., at Camden, and tomorrow evening he goes to Trenton. Thursday evening he visits the Newark Tribe and Friday evening the Tribe at Flemington.

Entrance Examinations.

Examinations are being held today at the borough public schools of pupils from the higher grammar grades who are eligible to entrance to the High School, to which promotions are to be made next week.

YARDLEY MILLS BURNED.

Completely Destroyed By Fire Late Last Night—Loss Amounts to $40,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Yardley, January 15.—The Yardley Mills were totally destroyed by fire here late last night involving a loss of $40,000. The loss is only partially covered by insurance. The cause of the conflagration is a mystery.

The mills have been running day and night until yesterday. The mill was then closed for the night and a fire left in the stove. At 10:30 o'clock the flames burst out and soon the building was wrapt in flames.

The efforts of the firemen were devoted toward saving the saw mill, stables and Continental Hotel which were close by. They caught fire several times but were finally saved.

ENTERED EMPTY HOUSE.

Thieves Ransacted Residence of F. K. Fish, Jr., When Family Was Away But Took Little of Value.

The residence of Fred K. Fish, Jr., of West Seventh street, near Lee place, was broken into several nights ago. Entrance was gained by forcing a back door. The thieves searched the house and ransacted the bureau drawers, evidently in search of money. Mr. Fish's family has been out of town for some time and the house has been closed. The robbery has been reported to the police, who are making an investigation. It is the belief of Captain Kiely that the house was entered by young boys. Nothing of value was taken.

Larger Quarters Needed.

The business conducted in this city by the Sperry & Hutchinson Co., dealers in green trading stamps, whose place of business is at present on Central avenue, has grown to such proportions as to demand larger quarters, that the business will be moved on the first of February to the Manning building at 325 West Front street.

Camera Club Election.

The annual election of officers of the Plainfield Camera Club held last evening resulted as follows: President, Harold Serrell; vice-president, J. Hervey Doane; secretary, William L. Murray; treasurer, Harry H. Coward; directors, W. W. Moore, Frank Ostrom, Preston Thorn.

POOL TOURNEY BEGINS.

Started Last Evening in Krewson's Parlors With Sixteen Competitors.

An interesting pool tournament, in which sixteen of Plainfield's crack players have entered, began at Krewson's pool parlors last evening. The start was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiasts and the players were rewarded with long applause when extra good shots were made. Three games were played with the following results: Sutterline, 75; McLaughlin, 31; Moore, 60, Kingston, 38; McCann, 45, Greader, 48. This evening several more games will be played.

The tournament will last about one month. The total number of entries and the respective classes are as follows: 75 class, Greader, Sutterline and Dowd; 60 class, Smith, Moore, Beekman, Walsh and Melvin; 55 class, Ammons and Coombs; 45 class, Pope, McCann, Stelle and Kingston.

Y. M. C. A. Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Y M.C A. directors will be held Thursday evening, January 17, at 8 o'clock. Six directors will be elected and interesting reports of the association will be presented.

France's Declining Population.

The real explanation for the declining French population, as shown once more in the statistics, is to be found in the provisions of the Code Napoleon. It is not immorality, but really the stipulation of the code that all children must have equal shares whenever their parents' property is divided. There was a time when the French were given to large families, and the French-Canadians, who preserve in America the language and customs of the France of Louis XIV., still consider 16 as a normal family. But in France parents are regarded as little less than cruel who have more children than can live comfortably upon the divided parental estate. In the excess of its population Germany has the equivalent of more than a million fighting men, although the emigration of the Germans is six times that of the French. If the present conditions continue Germany will before many years elapse have a preponderance of fully 2,000,000 of fighting men.—London Chronicle.

Interrupted the Game.

"Jist wait till me an' Hi finishes this game of checkers," called out Silas Cornhill, proprietor of the Lonesomeville grocery, to the woman who had entered.

"But I'm in a hurry," said the woman. "I want one of 'em red an' white checked tablecloths."

"Guess that'll break up the game, then, Hi," said Silas, as he pushed the checkers aside and gathered up the tablecloth on which they had been playing.

"You see," he continued, turning to the woman, "I lost my checkerboard the other day, an' Hi an' me 'lowed this tablecloth 'ud do fairly well for a substitute. Made it a leetle dirty, mebbe, but it'll all come out in the warsh. Only one in the store. Sixty-three cents. Wrap 'er up?"—Indianapolis Sun.

Her Choice.

"She walked into the store with an expression of disgust on her face, her nose tiptilted to an angle that presupposed the immediate presence of a glass of Croton water, and a blase I-wish-I-were-dead insouciance.

"She turned over some handkerchiefs, sampled some neckties, glanced at some silks, scrutinized some gloves, picked up an umbrella or two, and finally arrived at the hat department. There she sat down wearily and asked to be shown a stylish chapeau."

"Yes!—yes!" exclaimed his listeners. "Go on!—go on!"

"Oh, nothing," continued the salesman, "except that she bought the first one I brought out."

Then the assembled crowd began to tell up to date fishing anecdotes.—N. Y. Herald.

New York Is Provincial.

Perhaps there is no city quite so provincial as New York, due to the fact that the average New Yorker, whether in society or business, has got into the habit of patronizing the inhabitants of any other city. The New York business men complacently feel that the rest of the country is financed by New York and must do as New York tells it, the society man or woman of New York believes that outside of New York, with few exceptions, there is no society worthy of the name, and what society does exist is merely a bad imitation of its New York prototype.—A. Maurice Low, in Atlantic.

Surgery of the Heart.

At the recent medical congress in Paris, it was shown that surgeons have been opening up a new field for operative work in the surgery of the heart. A Paris correspondent says that more than ten cases are now on record in which, after bullet or knife wounds of the heart muscle, the heart was boldly but deliberately exposed to the surgeon and the rent in the walls repaired by suture. About half the patients have lived for more than a year after the operation, and the survivors are in good general health.—N. Y. Journal.

The Double Letter.

The doubled letter is scarcely of use in any language. Sometimes we are purely inconsistent. Letter must have two t's, literal one. The double letter very seldom affects the pronunciation. Would it not be well to drop the double letter altogether? It would simplify spelling and save time, too.—Notes and Queries.

WEALTHY EVANGELIST.

Man Who is to Conduct Meetings Here is President of Hall Signal Company.

Although the fact is not generally known that William Phillips Hall, the evangelist, who is to come to Plainfield early in March to conduct a series of meetings under the auspices of the Minister's Association, is the president and chief owner of the Hall Signal Company, the factory of which of located at Garwood. Mr. Hall is a wealthy man and spends much of his time in evangelistic work, refusing to accept any remuneration or even expenses. The Lord, he says, has been kind to him and he is going to share the kindness with others.

TROLLEY LINE MAKES NUMBER OF CHANGES.

New Car Despatcher and Clerk are Now on Duty Looking After the End of Line.

CHANGES IN WAGES DENIED.

WHY SUPERINTENDENT SMITH CAME TO CHANGE SCHOOL TICKETS.

Company Making Arrangements to Sell Tickets Near Transfer Station—Cards Issued to Teachers and Pupils—Concerning the Wages.

Teachers and pupils in the Plainfield public schools may once more secure the school tickets for three cents from the Plainfield Street Railway Company. The Daily Press published the provision of the franchise relating to that subject which makes it imperative on the part of the company to sell school tickets for three cents to all pupils and teachers, and an interview with General Superintendent Smith, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, in which Mr. Smith stated that he would rescind the order if it was not according to the provisions of the franchise.

As soon as Superintendent Smith investigated the city franchise he discovered the mistake and, as has already been stated in The Daily Press, a new order was issued in which the employes of the company are directed to sell the tickets as formerly. The company will issue cards, which must be signed by the principal of the school and presented each time tickets are purchased. Similar cards were issued by the Plainfield Street Railway Company when its lines were first opened. Tickets are now procurable from the clerk at the car house or from the car despatcher in this city. Superintendent Smith is making arrangements to have tickets on sale in one of the stores near the transfer station at Watchung and North avenues, so that teachers and pupils in the east end of the city may obtain tickets without having to go to the car house or hunt up the car despatcher. Many of the school principals have purchased a stock of tickets and then sold them to the pupils so that the latter may obtain them without trouble.

Since the resignation of John Adelmann as superintendent of the Plainfield trolley system, Superintendent Smith has made new arrangements for the control of the local lines. They will be under the direct supervision of the management of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Company but a car despatcher is now located in this city to have immediate control at this end of the line. Peter Dowd, of Elizabeth, has been appointed to that office. John Peters, of Elizabeth, has been appointed clerk at the car house and will have charge there. The main offices of the company are located at Westfield. Superintendent Smith will divide his time between that point and Elizabeth where he still retains his position as superintendent of the Elizabeth division of the North Jersey Traction Company.

The reason for the change in the rules regarding school tickets has been explained by one of the officials of the company. Superintendent Smith supposed that the franchises in Elizabeth and Plainfield were practically the same. The one in Elizabeth only provides for the sale of the special school tickets for three cents to pupils of sixteen years and under. So he issued an order to have both parts of the system work under the same rules.

Assistant Superintendent Husband, of the company, denies that any change had been made in the wages paid the conductors and motormen by the new management. The wages were, he said, the same today as they were six months ago. New men are paid $1.50 a day. After being in the service of the company for six months, their pay is increased to $1.75 a day. Such a scale of wages, he declared, prevailed at the present day and the reports that there had been a reduction in wages was utterly false.

Horse Badly Cut.

A horse, driven by John Stryker and attached to one of the grocery wagons of George Rockfellow, fell on West Front street, opposite Patterson's tobacco store, yesterday afternoon. Before the horse could be got to its feet a severe gash had been cut in one of its knees. No other damage was done.

BOWLING TOURNEY.

Individual Competition Will Be Started at Conover's Alley Monday Evening—Twenty Entries.

Good natured rivalry between a number of Plaingeld's crack bowlers, has culminated in an individual tournament which is to be held on Conover's alleys. There are twenty entries and the first game will be rolled Monday night. In order that every one may have an equal chance, handicaps are to be given and the man winning the largest number of games will be declared the champion. To increase the spirit of rivalry, Mr Conover has offered several handsome prizes which will no doubt spur the men on in their efforts to head the list.

JOHN HAND CAMP GROWING.

OFFICERS INSTALLED AT LAST EVENING'S MEETING OF THE CAMP.

Much Interest Shown—Report of Inspection Officer Was Very Complimentary.

The regular meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., was held last evening when Past Commander Charles B. Stephens, of Post No. 73, G. A. R., installed the newly-elected officers as follows:

Captain, Frank H. Clarkson; first lieutenant, George Bedford, second lieutenant, Frank Perry; first sergeant, Raymond McVoy; quartermaster, Herbert C. McVoy; sergeant of the guard, E. P. T. Smith; color guard, Clifford Compton; chaplain, Clarence Rittenhouse; principal musician, Charles Graves; corporal of the guard, John Devine; camp guard, Cornelius Perrine; picket guard, Chas. Willis.

There was more than usual interest manifested in the meeting and the camp seems to have taken on new life. Strong efforts will be made to secure new recruits and thus enlarge the membership of the camp. Past Captains Walter C. Dobbins, Herbert C. McVoy and Clifford Compton were appointed a committee to draft a set of resolutions on the death of the late George W. Moore, of the G. A. R., the same to be presented to his widow.

During the evening there were excellent remarks by Installing Officer Stephens and Comrade Francis Whiteley, and officers and members of the Camp. It was announced that the annual convention of the Funeral Benefit Association would be held in Paterson and the Camp decided to be represented by the regular delegates, Frank Perry and E. P. T. Smith. The report of Inspection Officer Fred Morse, of Elizabeth, was read showing the standard of the Camp to be 99 per cent. The members expressed great satisfaction over this.

The annual division encampment of the Sons of Veterans, it has been announced, will be held in Elizabeth next June, and no doubt it will be one of the largest gatherings ever held, it being a place easy to reach. After the meeting last evening the members retired to a local restaurant and had refreshments.

CINDER IN EYE.

John M. Hetfield Neglected It, and is Now Confined to Muhlenberg Hospital.

John M. Hetfield, formerly postmaster of Plainfield, but now residing at Cranford, is a patient at the hospital for eye trouble. About six weeks ago, while Mr. Hetfield was riding in a railroad train he got a cinder in his eye. He thought nothing of it at the time, although it gave him much trouble. He gave the injured member home treatment, but this did not seem to bring favorable results. He decided yesterday to be treated at the hospital.

The injury to the eye has caused iritis and it will take some time to cure the disease. No serious results are apprehended and Mr. Hetfield will undoubtedly retain the sight of the eye.

Through Freight Trains Promised.

According to the New York Sun, one result of recent conferences between officers of the Baltimore and representatives of the Reading Jersey Central combination is the concession of addititional freighting rights to the Baltimore and Ohio over the Jersey Central's tracks. Within a short time, it is alleged, solid Baltimore and Ohio freight trains will be run between Jersey City and Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Carriage Upset.

Mrs. Lolon Palmer, of New York, accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. G. W. Lowerre, of Grandview avenue, this city, had her carriage upset yesterday by a collision with a trolley car on Madison avenue, New York. A serious accident was prevented by several pedestrians rendering prompt assistance.

JURY DECIDED THAT BURNET WAS ASSAILANT

Found Guilty Yesterday of Shooting James W. Jerolaman Near Liberty Corner.

SOMERSET COUNTY COURT.

BURNET WAS ONLY ASKED ONE QUESTION WHEN ON THE STAND.

After Being Out Four Hours, Jury Brought in Verdict of Atrocious Assault and Battery—Jurors Dismissed Until January 22.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 16.—The case of the State against Robert Burnet, indicted for shooting James W. Jerolaman, was continued yesterday morning. The defendant was put on the stand by his counsel, John A. Frech, and only asked one question—"Are you the defendant in this case, Robert Burnet?" The answer was "Yes." Of course there could be no cross examination of this witness.

Ira G. Burnet, father of the defendant, testified that his son was in the house when Jerolaman drove up after 5 o'clock and said that he had been shot again. Burnet asked him if he knew who shot him, and Jerolaman said he didn't; he didn't have time to see, as the horse jumped and he had all he could do to attend to him. Jerolaman showed him where he had been shot and showed shot holes in wagon curtains.

Counsel offered the Farmers' Almanac in evidence to show that it was dark when Jeroleman was shot and he could not possibly have distinguished the features of anyone the distance he said Robert Burnett was when he saw him. Mabel Burnet, sister of Robert, corroborated her father's testimony. The defendant then rested.

The State called in rebuttal Clifford King and Lewis Nuse to prove that it was shortly after four o'clock when they saw Jerolaman, right after the shooting.

John A. Frech summoned up for the defense and Assistant Prosecutor Pope performed that service for the State. Both pleas were earnest and eloquent.

Judge Schenck delivered an impartial charge and the case was given to the jury at 3 o'clock. After being out four hours they returned a verdict of guilty of atrocious assault and battery.

This finished the court business for awhile, no other cases being ready. The jurors were all dismissed until January 22, when the appeal cases will be tried.

Friday Judge Schenck will sentence the prisoners who have been convicted or pleaded guilty.

GROCER HOWELL SOLD OUT.

BUSINESS AND STOCK PURCHASED BY J. A. SMITH & BROTHER.

Mr. Howell and His Clerks will Enter the Employ of J. A. Smith & Brother—Change Was Made Today.

R. O. Howell, who for many years has conducted a grocery business on North avenue, has sold his entire business to J. A. Smith & Brother, of West Front street, and he himself has engaged his services with the above named firm.

Two clerks, Wilbur P. Henderson and Harry Radin, who have been working for Mr. Howell, have also been engaged by J. A. Smith & Brother. The deal was consummated last evening and the change was made this morning. The firm takes Mr. Howell's entire stock and it will be placed in their store. The change is in the nature of a consolidation, although Mr. Howell will not be a member of the firm.

Mr. Howell is one of Plainfield's oldest grocers and many of his friends will be surprised to learn of the change he has made. He desired to give up business on his own account, yet continue in the same business with less responsibility to himself.

WILL RESUME BUSINESS.

ROCKFELLOW GROCERY COMPANY INCORPORATED TODAY.

Will Carry on Grocery Business of Former Mayor Rockfellow—F. W. Stack Will Manage It.

Articles of incorporation were filed today incorporating the Rockfellow Grocery Company with a capital of $100,000. The officers of the company are: President, George W. Rockfellow; vice-president, C. L. Beach; secretary and treasuror, Fred W. Stack. The business will be carried on at the store formerly occupied by George W. Rockfellow at Park avenue and West Fourth street. The business will be managed by Mr. Stack.

Former Mayor Rockfellow has been in the grocery business for many years in this city. He is one of the oldest merchants in Plainfield. Mr. Rockfellow's failure of several weeks ago was due in a measure, it was understood, to slow collections. Since the failure the store has been in the hands of a receiver, J. Fred MacDonald acting in that capacity.

Mr. Rockfellow's friends will be pleased to hear that he is again to become identified with the business industries of the city.

Mr. Stack, who will manage the business of the new firm, is a son-in-law of Mr. Rockfellow. He has been identified with the grocery business for a number of years, having had general charge of the Rockfellow store.

It is understood that there were 135 creditors of Mr. Rockfellow. A few of these have arranged to settle with the other creditors and to do so have formed the above company of which Mrs. George W. Rockfellow, who is one of the chief creditors, is one of the incorporators.

DURING LAST CENTURY.

There Were 200,000 Prescriptions Put Up in Armstrong's Pharmacy—A Wonderful Collection.

With the end of the Nineteenth Century, Armstrong's pharmacy prepared the two hundred thousandth prescription put up in that pharmacy. It is a wonderful record and gives some idea as to the great amount of business attended to by Mr. Armstrong and his assistants. The first prescription was put up in 1863, when the pharmacy at the corner of Park and North avenues was established. In 1880, T. S. Armstrong came here and took the management of the place. In 1895 Mr. Reynolds retired and Mr. Armstrong assumed control.

This great list of 200,000 prescriptions includes many by some of the greatest physicians of the country. Among the prominent Philadelphia medical men whose names are to be found there are Drs. Pepper, S. Wier Mitchell, DeCosta, Keene, Gross and Duer. New York's greatest physicians and surgeons included are Drs. Loomis, Janeway, Dana, McBurney, Van Valza and Lincoln.

From all over the globe, these prescriptions have come. One was written in St. Petersburg, Russia, others at Cairo, Egypt, London, Paris, Carlsbad, Brussels, and Vienna. There are quite a number from various parts of Canada and several from Australia. It is a wonderful collection but is filed away with such care that it is possible to find any of the 200,000 prescriptions at a moment's notice.

Mrs. William T. Campbell, wife of the borough marshal, has recovered from a serious illness caused by neuralgia.

DOYLE TELLS STORY OF BALDWIN'S DEATH

Baldwin Murder Trial is Continued at Elizabeth Before Judge VanSickel.

PROSECUTION COMPLETED.

DOYLE, THE ACCUSED, WAS FIRST WITNESS CALLED FOR DEFENSE.

His Recollections of Events Leading to Death of Baldwin Were Rather Indistinct—Expected to Finish Tomorrow.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 16.—The trial of Thomas Doyle, for the murder of Farmer Baldwin, of Union, was continued in the circuit court before Judge VanSickel yesterday and today. The remaining witnesses for the prosecution were examined yesterday morning and, in the afternoon, the defence began.

Doyle, himself, was the first witness summoned by the defence and he was on the stand all the afternoon.

Doyle seemed to have only an indistinct recollection of the events that occurred prior to the act that resulted in the killing of Baldwin. He said that he and Grace Baldwin, the farmer's daughter, became engaged to be married February 1, 1900, and a month after he went to work for Baldwin. He said Baldwin had remarked to him that he would not let Grace marry him. Besides that, Baldwin said he did not know the past record of Doyle. Doyle continued his testimony by saying that he left Baldwin's employ March 15, and that afterward he had several meetings with Grace. It was his custom, he said, to ride from Newark to Hilton on a trolley car and meet Grace either going to or coming from Sunday-school. There was no previous arrangement that they should meet, but the witness knew where he could find her.

Doyle declared that when he drank he had no recollection of what occurred, and admitted that he had been drinking heavily for two days before the fatal encounter between himself and Baldwin. Doyle was still on the stand and had not reached his narrative of the tragedy when court adjourned.

This morning Doyle was again put on the stand and completed his testimony and the cross examination was begn. It is expected that the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

NETHERWOOD LEASED.

Major Coleman Has Taken a Lease of That Popular Hostelry For Three Years More.

Major F. W. Coleman today secured a lease for three years of the Netherwood Hotel of its owner, Charles Hyde. Mr. Coleman's present lease would not have expired for another year, but as he desired to continue the business he therefore chose to take out a new lease for three years.

Major Coleman told a reporter of The Daily Press this morning that he expected to open the hotel on or about June 16. He anticipates another good season. The house has become very popular. Already many people have written to Mr. Coleman to engage rooms for next season.

Ice Dealers Worried.

The mild weather which has prevailed for so many weeks is causing ice dealers to feel a little anxious about the annual ice crop, which they wish to gather as soon as possible. There is still time for plenty of cold weather, however. If February should prove to be extremely cold there will not be any difficulty in getting a sufficient quantity of ice to supply the demands of the dealers in this city and vicinity.

Loss of Stock Adjusted.

W. T. Teal, adjuster and appraiser for the Netherlands Fire Insurance Company of New York, came to Plainfield yesterday and adjusted the loss on stock sustained by Gulick & Co. by Sunday morning's fire. The loss on the building is yet to be settled. Gulick & Co. are removing the debris and getting ready to resume business as soon as possible after their store is repaired.

Horse Walked Away.

While Dr. H. H. Lowrie, of Park avenue, was in Armstrong's drug store yesterday afternoon, his horse, which he left outside untied, started to walk away. He went about a block when a small boy captured the animal and thus prevented any damage.

SAVED HER HOME.

Presence of Mind on the Part of Mrs C. W. Runyon Prevented a Serious Conflagration.

As Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, of Park avenue, was about to light the gas at her home Monday evening, the head of the match flew into a lace curtain, which immediately sprang into a blaze. A serious fire was threatened, but with rare presence of mind Mrs. Runyon tore the flaming material down and managed to stamp the blaze out. The wall in the immediate vicinity of the window was scorched and Mrs. Runyon's hands were burned in several places. The loss is slight, but would have been much worse but for Mrs. Runyon's prompt action.

CANNOT RUN TO CITY'S BEDS.

DIFFERENCE IN HEIGHT WILL MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE.

Street Commissioner Gavett Interviewed on Subject of Borough Connecting With City's Sewage System.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett who has charge of the city sewerage system, was interviewed yesterday by a Daily Press reporter regarding his opinion as to the feasibility of connecting a North Plainfield sewer system with the disposal beds proposed to be constructed by the city as told in The Daily Press.

Mr. Gavett stated that he had not looked carefully into the mattet but was of the opinion that the proposed septic tank and contact beds would be too high to receive sewage by gravity from the greater part of North Plainfield. If pumping had to be resorted to, it would be much cheaper to put in a plant in the borough similar to that proposed for the city but smaller, and it might be the more economical plan in any case. The cost of operating such a system is less, Mr. Gavett said, than any other known, unless where a very large farm is available upon which the value of the crops would help toward the expense of maintenance.

The only way to carry out the idea of connecting with Plainfield would be to pump the sewage by electric pumps which would practically be automatic in action and require little attention. Being asked if the system could be built for North Plainfield, Mr. Gavett implied that one had been outlined for the borough some years ago by F. A. Dunham. The advantage of the contact bed system is, Mr. Gavett continued, that so small an area is required that it can be covered over so as to be hidden from sight by a layer of broken stone, as proposed for Plainfield, or by a roof if desired. Where Plainfield has been using seventeen acres, the new plant would use but little over two.

In some places it is considered more economical to have several disposal plants in different drainage areas in preference to bringing all the sewage to one large plant by expensive tunneling or pumping, so that even if consolidation of the city and borough should eventually come, it is quite possible that two plants would represent the best engineering practice.

FOR A SPEEDWAY.

Meeting to be Held Tuesday Evening to Boom That Project—All Are Invited.

A meeting of all horsemen interested in the proposed naw speedway, will be held in S. D. Drake's office Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. A plan to set the proposition in motion will be mapped out and all interested will be asked to render all assistance possible to carry it out successfully. Some of the city's most prominent horsemen are interested in the plan and an invitation is extended to every one, whether the owner of a horse or not, to be present.

Will Resume Business.

As soon as the loss occasioned by Sunday morning's fire is adjusted by the fire insurance companies, Messrs. Gulick & Co. will reopen their grocery store at the corner of Duer street and Lincoln place. In the meantime the firm is supplying their customers from the stock of a down town grocer.

Giving Transfers Again.

Transfers are now being given by the trolley company between Plainfield and Elizabeth. The company has returned to the former custom which was done away with several months ago. The change is an agreeable and appreciative one on the part of the traveling public.

Home-Made Cake Sale.

The Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold a sale of home-made cakes at the home of Mrs. J. Fred MacDonald, corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue, Saturday afternoon, January 19, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock.

BOTH HOUSES ADJOURN UNTIL NEXT WEEK

More Appointments and New Bills Brought Before Legislature for Consideration.

BRIEF SESSIONS YESTERDAY

BILL INTRODUCED TO REGULATE TRUSTS AND MONOPOLIES.

Governor Sent Number of Appointments to Senate for Confirmation—Several Bills of More or Less Importance Introduced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 16.—Nothing of importance was done at yesterday's session of the State Legislature. Governor Voorhees had more appointments to submit to the Senate and there was another batch of bills introduced. Then both houses adjourned for the week.

The Governor's nominations received by the Senate were as follows: For Justices of the Supreme Court, A. Q. Garretson, of Morris county, and J. Franklin Fort, of Essex county; for Adjutant General, Alexander C. Oliphant, of Mercer county; for District Court Judge of Atlantic City, Robert W. Ingersoll.

General Oliphant and Justices Fort and Garretson are all serving ad interim, having been appointed by the Governor since the last session to fill vacancies caused by death in their respective offices.

The only other business done by the Senate before adjourning for the week was the introduction of a number of bills, among which were the following:

By Mr. Francis—Giving township committees the same powers as governing bodies in cities with regard to the widening of streets and condemnation of land. The chief object of the bill is to provide for the proposed widening of Main street, in Ocean Grove and Asbury Park.

By Mr. Reed—Providing for the prosecution before the Supreme Court of the bonds of public officials charged with neglect, default, malpractice or misconduct in office.

By Mr. Haines—Making it a high misdemeanor to maliciously set fire to any woods, meadows, marshes or cranberry bogs of another person.

In the House Mr. Abbett introduced the following bills: Making combinations to restrict competition in trade a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000 or imprisonment of from six months to two years; prohibiting railroad companies operating in this State from combining with other roads to control passenger or freight rates, under penalty of a forfeiture of charter; providing that the issue of capital stock of incorporated companies of this State, in payment for property acquired, shall be subject to the approval of the State Board of Assessors; providing that the present tax on railroad property, which now goes to the State, shall go to the municipality in which the property is located; making the annual franchise tax on corporations with a capital of $3,000,000 or more, one-twentieth of 1 per cent. on such excess.

Mr. Williams introduced a bill to repeal the act prohibiting the payment of rebates by insurance agents.

Exciting Runaway.

A team of horses belonging to Mrs. Hoerster, of Somerset street, and driven by Thomas Traynor, ran away Monday evening as the driver was delivering an order at the corner of Muhlenberg place and South Second street. By turning the several corners successfully, the runaways ran all the way to the barn with but one mishap. They were just entering the yard when the wagon collided with a fence tearing it down and throwing the vehicle against a large hennery, which was also wrecked. The horses were uninjured.

Annual Musicale.

The third annual musicale under the auspices of the Woman's Friendly Society will be held in the Parish House of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Friday evening, January 18 at 8 o'clock. Several artists from New York have kindly volunteered their services and with the assistance of local talent, a rare treat is in store for music lovers. The proceeds are for the new pipe organ recently installed in the church.

Wall Is Safe Again.

B. W. Hand, of West Front street, who was obliged to move out of his place of business owing to a bad partition wall, has moved back again, the wall having been thoroughly repaired and made safe.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." Art and Philosophy in a Calendar.

That helpful and inspiring motto—"Keeping Everlastingly at It Brings Success"—is again suggested by the receipt of the 1901 calendar from N. W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia. These gentlemen conduct the world's greatest advertising business in newspapers, magazines and billboards—but as responsibilities increase they seem to grow more energetic while their work grows brighter and better. The 1901 calendar is an evidence of taste and originality. It is mounted on a striking design in clay modeling executed in two delicate tones, with the famous Ayer motto standing out in bold relief. The cost of production and the demand for this calendar are so great that Messrs. Ayer & Son have found it necessary to charge a nominal price for it—25 cents. Those wanting a copy of this very serviceable and highly ornamental work should send at once before the edition is exhausted. In previous years, its predecessors have been quickly bought up, and it is more than likely late application now will prove disappointing.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

The Misses Frentz, of Scotch Plains, have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Frank Putnam, of East Fifth street.

W. R. Codington, of the firm of Reed & Codington, is gradually recovering from a tedious attack of the grip.

Miss Edna Bowers, of Basking Ridge, who has been spending several days with friends in this city, returned home yesterday.

A CONGRESSMAN HISSED.

Unlooked For Incident In the Boos Investigation.

WEST POINT, Jan. 16.—An unlooked for incident occurred yesterday at the close of the afternoon session of the congressional committee's investigation at the United States Military academy. There was a very large attendance of army officers, with their wives and daughters, present.

When Congressman Driggs asked Cadet Deen if it was through having a "convenient memory" that he could only remember Cadet Sheridan's name out of all the men he had exercised, there was a storm of hisses, which ran round the room. The women as well as the men took part in it, and it was evident that they considered the question as one impunging the credibility of the witness.

The code of honor at West Point, according to the testimony adduced during this investigation, as well as the military inquiry, does not admit of untruthfulness, and the people living at the post resent anything suggestive of a doubt on this point.

Congressman Driggs immediately asked that the courtroom be cleared, but Chairman Dick declared a recess of an hour and a half without recognizing the request.

Several officers did not try to conceal their displeasure at the question put by the Brooklyn congressman.

They also said that Judge Smith, another member of the committee, had no right to say in his examination of Deen that "the death of Booz was laid at Deen's door."

The news of the hissing spread quickly al over the post, with the result that the attendance at the night session was unusually large.

A LACKAWANNA WRECK.

Several Passengers Injured In a Collision Near Bath, N. Y.

BATH, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last night the vestibuled passenger train from Buffalo, due here at 8:23, on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, crashed into the caboose of a wildcat train about a quarter of a mile west of the station. The passenger train plowed through the caboose and landed upon a car of lumber eight cars ahead.

The engine is a total wreck. The cars took fire and five or six cars of lumber burned. The local fire department responded to an alarm and extinguished the fire. The engineer and fireman had a miraculous escape, both jumping to save themselves. Several were seriously injured.

The Variag In Commission.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—The Russian cruiser Variag was formally placed in commission yesterday at Cramps' shipyard. Although her officers and crew have been aboard the vessel for some time it was not until yesterday that the actual transfer of the vessel from her builders to the Russian government was made. The ceremony was simple. After the Russian ensign had been raised Captain Behr, the ship's commander, called the crew on deck. They stood with heads uncovered as he announced that the vessel was now in readiness to obey any order of the czar. They were then ordered to their respective stations. Following this formality the ship's officers gathered about Captain Behr as he presented to Charles H. Cramp a silver loving cup manufactured in St. Petersburg.

ARMY BILL DELAYED

Slow Progress on Much Needed Measure In Senate.

DECISIVE VOTE ON BACON AMENDMENT

Proposition Was to Strike Out the Discretionary Authority Conferred on the President—River and Harbor Bill Not Completed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Some progress was made by the senate yesterday in the consideration of the army reorganization bill. One amendment that has created much debate was disposed of, and a tacit agreement has been reached for a "vote very soon."

Mr. Cockrell of Missouri emphasized his opposition to the increase in the army proposed by the bill and his intention to vote against it, but expressed his opinion that the bill ought to be disposed of speedily. Mr. Sewell of New Jersey also urged speedy action on the measure on account of the serious embarrassment the government as laboring under in preparing for the return of the volunteers from the Philippines.

The principal speeches against the bill were made by Mr. Berry of Arkansas, Mr. Bacon of Georgia and Mr. Teller of Colorado. Mr. Warren of Wyoming delivered an extended argument in support of the bill. During the speech of Mr. Bacon a colloquy between him and Mr. Hanna of Ohio as to the issues in the November elections created much interest. Mr. Bacon's amendment striking out of the bill the discretionary authority conferred upon the president to increase the size of the army was laid on the table by the decisive vote of 39 to 20.

The house spent another day on the river and harbor bill without completing it. Twenty-six pages were disposed of. The friends of the bill successfully resisted all attempts to load down the bill with new projects, and only one or two unimportant amendments were adopted. The western members labored unsuccessfully to secure an entering wedge for their pet scheme for the reclamation of the arid lands, but received only very limited support.

Pettigrew's Plan.

MADISON, S. D., Jan. 16.—It is announced by the Social Democrats of this city that Senator Pettigrew will at the proper time introduce a substitute for the subsidy bill which will provide for the same amount of money expended in building new vessels to be owned by the government and to be known as the commercial navy, to be chartered for commercial purposes in time of peace and used as transports in time of war, but always to be officered and controlled by government officers.

That Light From Mars.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 16.—Professor Pickering of the Harvard observatory says: "Early in December we received from the Lowell observatory in Arizona a telegram that a shaft of light had been seen to project from Mars (the Lowell observatory makes a specialty of Mars) lasting 70 minutes. I wired these facts to Europe and sent out neostyle copies through this country. The observer there is a careful, reliable man, and there is no reason to doubt but that the light existed. It was given as from a well known geographical point of Mars. That was all. Now the story has gone the world over. In Europe it is stated that I have been in communication with Mars, and all sorts of exaggerations have sprung up. Whatever the light was we have no means of knowing. Whether it had intelligence or not no one can say. It is absolutely inexplicable."

New York Police Bill Reported.

ALBANY, Jan. 16.—By a vote of 7 to 3 the cities committee of the assembly has decided to report favorably the New York city police bill, which provides for a single headed commission. There was but little debate on the bill, which, it is understood, will be slightly amended on the floor to meet some objections of the minority. No date was fixed for a hearing on the Buffalo police bill, which is a measure similar to the New York city one. Attorney James Quackenbush of Buffalo, who will oppose the bill on behalf of certain lawyers and other residents of Buffalo, asked the committee to fix a date for a hearing, but owing to the absence of Assemblyman Schneider, the introducer of the measure, Chairman Kelsey refused to grant the request. It is expected that a hearing will be held in the very near future.

First Appearance of Toselli.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Enrico Toselli, the young Italian pianist, made his first appearance in America at Carnegie hall yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large audience. Signor Toselli is only 19 and has been accepted in Italy as one of the greatest pianists that country has produced. He has also played with success in Germany, France and England. His first programme included compositions by Bach, Rubinstein, Chopin, Liszt and Martucci, which he played with a fervor and a display of technique that completely won his audience. He was recalled again and again and was compelled to add three numbers to his programme. Signor Toselli will give 50 concerts in this country and will be heard in all the principal cities.

New Baseball Association.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The American Baseball association will make its debut this spring, it is finally announced. The circuit of this association will be made up of the cities of Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington in the east and Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Louisville or Detroit in the west. The organization of the new league has been perfected.

Colombian Rebels Defeated.

COLON, Colombia, Jan. 16.—General Alban attacked the revolutionary forces outside the city of Panama Saturday. The fighting was of short duration. The revolutionists were defeated, losing many killed and wounded, as well as two chiefs captured. The government forces sustained a loss of seven killed and wounded.

Two Villages to Combine.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Jan. 16.—The villages of Oswego Falls and Fulton have decided to combine and form a city under one corporate name. A petition will soon be made to the legislature for incorporation. The villages aggregate 9,000 population.

Weather Probabilities.

MEN FOR KITCHENER.

England to Send Large Reenforcements to Africa.

GUARDS FOR THE RAND MINES.

British Force In Many Cases Worn Out In the Cape Colony Campaign and Forced to Take Needed Rest.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The government has decided to send large re-enforcements to Lord Kitchener, and the war office, in carrying out this decision, has determined to enlist 5,000 yeomanry volunteers.

At a meeting held at the war office yesterday afternoon this plan and others for securing more men were discussed and approved, and it is understood that the government will in the course of a day or two issue a communique on the subject.

A dispatch from Cape Town says that Sir Alfred Milner's consultative committee of uitlanders is telegraphing to the various committees of the uitlanders throughout the country the terms of the formation of guards for mines. Each mining company is to pay and feed its own men.

The casualty list shows that there has been a severe engagement, with a loss of 6 killed, 17 wounded and 5 missing at Murraysburg, where the Dutch are said to have been joining the invaders. Murraysburg is 16 miles west of Graaff Reinet.

Indications are not wanting that the decision of the government to send re-enforcements has not been taken a moment too soon. Colonel Colville's mobile column, which has been pursuing the Boers, has been obliged to rest at Greylingstad to erect a blockhouse and to cease operations until re-enforced by mounted troops.

General Paget has taken his force to Pretoria to refit. Many of the men are suffering from enteric fever.

Three hundred Boers captured a small British convoy at Bronkhurstspruit, near Pretoria, but made off after liberating the prisoners.

General Brabant, while addressing a conference of mayors at Cape Town, said the authorities were anxious to keep the war away from Cape Town if possible, but that the only hope of doing this lay in sending 1,000 men to the front. He urged that no precaution should be omitted to prevent the enemy from advancing farther south.

Sympathy For Kruger and the Boers.

HANOVER, Prussia, Jan. 16.—A mass meeting of Guelphs in Hanover, under the presidency of Baron von Schele-Wunstorf, who represents one of the Hanoverian districts in the reichstag and is himself a Guelph and anti-Prussian, telegraphed to Mr. Kruger an expression of sympathy, together with the hope that God would help the Boers and the people of Hanover, which Prussia annexed, to a final victory.

Ready to Try Neely.

HAVANA, Jan. 16.—Mr. Lamar, who is associated with Mr. Rubens in the prosecution of the postoffice fraud cases for the government, says that with the exception of some evidence which Mr. Rubens will bring from the United States, especially what is contained in the Lawson report, the government is now ready to proceed with the trial of C. F. W. Neely, charged with embezzlement while acting as financial agent of the department of posts. Neely has already been indicted by the court of first instance, and on his arrival here under the extradition proceedings he will be imprisoned to await trial before the audiencia. Seven judges will sit in the case. Spanish law allows an appeal to the supreme court, but the decision of the latter tribunal is final.

After Alleged Absconder.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Acting under instructions from Chief of Detectives George F. Titus, Scotland Yard officials were yesterday cabled to arrest today in Liverpool as he steps off an incoming steamer the defaulting confidential clerk of a large wholesale house on Walker street who is said to have got away with $50,000 of the firm's funds at the time of his flight and to have embezzled nearly $200,000 before he was even suspected. The utmost secrecy is being observed about the case by Captain Titus and District Attorney Philbin. Beyond admitting that there is such a case they will make no details public and refuse to give even the name of the defaulter, the name of the boat he sailed on or the name of his employers.

Pine Gaff For Lawson Yacht.

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—The Oregon pine log, 112 feet in length, which will be the main boom on the Lawson boat, was placed in the hands of the spar makers at Lawley's yard yesterday afternoon, two of them split sawing it, getting through all but 18 feet of the length. The log is proving to be a good one, with few knots or bad cuts. When fashioned into shape, it will be decagonal. Designer Crowninshield is somewhat in doubt as to the value of the steel gaff, and a stick of Oregon pine 70 feet long is more to his liking. He has figured out that a steel gaff with enough metal in it to withstand the bucking strain will be really heavier than a wooden gaff.

Wireless Telegraphy.

ATLANTA, Jan. 16.—A special from Norfolk says that Professor R. A. Fessenden, wireless telegraphy expert of the weather bureau, accompanied by Professors Theissen and Hesse, will leave Norfolk today for Cape Hatteras to begin the erection of wireless telegraphy stations at Hatteras and Cape Henry. The intention is to experiment between the two stations in the dissemination of weather reports.

Nevada Would Allow the Fight.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16.—An evening paper has replies from 27 governors in regard to prizefights, and only one, the governor of Nevada, states that he would allow the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight in his state if it cannot take place in Cincinnati on Feb. 15. The Sangerfest Athletic association continues to proceed with its arrangements for the fight.

The Austrian Reichsrath.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—"The new Austrian reichsrath offers all the elements of an even more distracted parliament than the last," says the Vienna correspondent of The Times, "and already it is predicted that a deadlock will come between Easter and Whitsuntide and perhaps sooner."

RARE COLLECTION ON SALE.

Famous Clark Prints and Autographs Offered In Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—The autograph genealogy of George Washington at the sale of the Clark collection of prints and autographs here yesterday brought $1,750. The sale was made by auction. The book went to Dodd, Mead & Co. of New York, who, it is understood, purchased it for the account of George W. Vanderbilt. Another of the rare autographs sold was an original manuscript record of the formation of the Concord company of minute men who met on Jan. 17, 1775, and chose their officers, with a list of 52 members. With this is a record of the meetings of the company, with an additional slip, one of the entries being, "Concord, April the 19th, 1775, then we ware colld a Way to Cambridg, then the battel be gune." This brought out some lively bidding, and the work was finally sold upon order at $275.

An autograph of Rev. John Eliot, the Indian apostle, sold for $61. An account of Lovewell's fight at Pequaket 1725, written by Elaser Melvin, a participant in the fight, brought $31, and an old book which was worth possibly a few cents of itself, but which had Nathan Hale's book, 1768, written on the flyleaf, was sold after some lively bidding for $150 to Goodspeed of this city. Benjamin Franklin's autograph in the form of a page letter brought $40, and a military order issued by Colonel Benjamin Church was sold for $70. A broadside issued by the provincial congress at Watertown, 1775, was sold for $65. One of the parliamentary blue stamps which caused so much trouble under the act of 1765 was sold for $20.

Primarily, however, the sale is one of prints and promises to be the most remarkable one of the kind ever held in this country, as there are some very fine and rare Washington prints to be disposed of.

THE SEAL AFFIXED.

Chinese Envoys Have Returned the Joint Note.

PEKING, Jan. 16.—Prince Ching and his staff were a long time in the Forbidden City yesterday. Accompanied by the chief eunuch, they saw a woman servant guarding the imperial seal. She produced the seal, the papers were sealed in her presence and then the seal was returned. Owing to the lateness of the hour the papers thus sealed were not presented to the foreign envoys until today.

In the American district a Chinese court of justice came into being and operation today. The death penalty may be inflicted for murder, manslaughter, attempted murder, robbery, counterfeiting, looting and burglary. It may also be inflicted upon those known to have been Boxers who have done injury to life or property. Other punishments, like whipping, imprisonment and the imposition of fines, can be inflicted.

Owing to orders received from Berlin a hitch has occurred regarding the transfer of the railway, which Russia began turning over to Germany.

French railway engineers have made a breach in the western wall of the Chinese city through which they will bring in the Pao-Ting-Fu railway.

The Tien-tsin line will be extended to the wall of the Tartar City.

Yuan Shi Kai Ordered to Peking.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 16.—Yuan Shi Kai, governor of the province of Shangtung, has been ordered to proceed to Peking to assist in the peace negotiations, but it is expected here that he will decline to go.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Ground was broken for new custom house in New York.

Venezuela was reported to have seized two American steamers.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, the Wichita W. C. T. U. woman, was released from jail.

Elijah W. Blaisdell, one of the founders of the Republican party, died at Rockford, Ills.

The British steamer Monarch cleared from New Orleans for Cape Town with 1,100 horses for the British army.

Stephen Van Rensselaer Townsend, a well known New York lawyer, died at his home in Hempstead, on Long Island, after several months' sickness.

The Williamstown colliery, controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad, has suspended operations on account of differences between the company and the operatives over the hours of work.

The owners of the steamship Russie, which was recently wrecked near Faraman, France, will distribute 20,000 francs to the fishermen who rescued the passengers and crew of the vessel.

A Load of English Lacemakers.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 16.—On the steamer Tunisian, which arrived from Liverpool, were 33 lacemakers bound for Zion City, Wis. Acting upon advices from the immigration bureau at Washington Collector Moses refused to allow the party to land until the case was laid before the authorities at Washington. The letter received from the immigration bureau stated that it was understood these people were being brought here by Rev. J. A. Dowie and that they had signed contracts to work in the silk mills at Zion City. The collector was cautioned to use extra vigilance in examining these people to see that their landing did not violate the alien contract law. The lacemakers came from Nottingham, Leeds and other English cities.

Berlin Death Rate Large.

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—The official annual statistics show an increased death rate in Berlin for 1900 of 4 per cent as against an increased birth rate of 2½ per cent. The labor market statistics for December, 1900, show a considerable deterioration. There were 162 persons demanding work to every 100 positions as against 124 persons in December, 1899.

England Might Consent.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Daily Telegraph, which assumes that the cabinet council Friday will discuss the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, expresses the opinion that if the United States government presses for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty in the "usual diplomatic manner" it will not find the British government difficult to deal with.

Judge Thrashes Lawyer.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 16.—Justice Louis Jacobs adjourned court Monday afternoon long enough to take a belligerent lawyer by the ears and thrash him. The attorney was James B. Martin, chairman of the Democratic town committee, a prominent politician and a lawyer of good reputation.

A KANSAS LYNCHING.

Angry Mob at Leavenworth Burns a Negro at the Stake.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 16.—Fred Alexander, the negro who on Saturday evening attempted to assault Miss Eva Roth and who was supposed to have assaulted and killed Pearl Forbes in this city in November last, was taken from the sheriff's guard by a mob and burned at the stake at the scene of his crimes, half a dozen blocks from the center of the city. Probably 8,000 people witnessed the lynching.

Alexander was brought to the city from the penitentiary at Lansing at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and placed in the county jail. The citizens gathered in great numbers and, finding peaceable entrance to the jail impossible, armed themselves with railroad irons. The jail doors were battered down and Alexander dragged to the scene of his crime, followed by hundreds of howling, frenzied men and boys. Arrived at the scene a railroad rail was stuck into the ground and the negro fastened to it with chains. Then coal oil was poured over his body and set afire. The wretch protested his innocence to the last.

Men kept piling on wood all the time until about 7 o'clock, when the flames were allowed to die down. From 6 to 8 o'clock there was a continuous stream of people going to the scene of the burning. These were persons who had been unable to get away from their work in the afternoon and who were determined not to miss seeing the awful spectacle. When the fire had died down sufficiently to allow the crowd to approach the remains of Alexander, there was a wild scramble to obtain relics. Bits of charred flesh, pieces of chain, scraps of wood, everything that could possibly serve as a souvenir, was seized on with morbid eagerness.

After Alexander's arrest he was taken before Miss Roth, who identified him. Since then a mob has surrounded the penitentiary day and night. The crowd became so formidable that Governor Stanley, in response to a telegram from Warden Tomlinson, ordered two companies of militia to be in readiness to start for Leavenworth at a moment's notice.

Governor Stanley Indignant.

TOPEKA, Jan. 16.—Governor W. E. Stanley is indignant over the lynching at Leavenworth. He says it will result in the establishment of the death penalty in Kansas, as it should do. Governor Stanley condemns Sheriff Everhardy of Leavenworth in unmeasured terms. He says the sheriff should be made to make suitable retribution if such a thing is possible. "The sheriff of Leavenworth is either a despicable scoundrel or a despicable coward," said the governor. "There was no reason in the world why the negro should not have been protected to the last. The whole militia power of the state would be devoted to that effort, and the sheriff knew it all the time. I ordered the militia of Lawrence and Topeka to be ready, and they would have been sent to the scene of the trouble the minute the sheriff would say he needed them. The life of the negro should have been preserved at all hazards, and it is to the lasting shame of the great state of Kansas that such an infamous proceeding should have been allowed to take place within a few miles of the capital city."

PROSECUTION RESTS.

The Bosschieter Murder Trial Sets a Rapid Pace.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—With an array of expert evidence to show the cause of death, the admission of statements made by the police that one of the defendants made a confession of the crime and a sensational interruption of one of the witnesses by one of the prisoners Prosecuting Attorney Emley last night announced that the case of the state against William A. Death, Andrew Campbell and Walter L. McAlister, three of the four men accused of murdering Jennie Bosschieter, was complete.

The greater part of the day was occupied with the testimony of the medical experts, the most important of whom was Dr. Andrew F. McBride, the county physician, who performed the autopsy on the body of the girl and declared that she came to her death from the effects of "some poison," and Professor Rudolph S. Witthaus, a chemist, who made a qualitative and quantitative analysis of the stomach and other organs of the girl and declared the presence of chloral hydrate in sufficient quantities to show that death had resulted from the administering of this drug. A number of detectives and policemen were put upon the stand to tell of the arrest of the prisoners.

Kruger Coming Here?

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Daily Express says: "Mr. John E. Milholland, who arrived in London last week bearing an invitation from a number of well known New York citizens to Mr. Kruger to proceed to the United States, has been to see him and has offered him a palatial residence in New York city. In the course of an interview Mr. Milholland told a representative of The Daily Express that he was quite sure Mr. Kruger would accept the invitation and would go to New York about the middle of next month."

Wu Ting Fang Speaks In Albany.

ALBANY, Jan. 16.—Wu Ting Fang, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of China to the United States, addressed the annual meeting of the New York State Bar association at Harmanus Bleecker hall. The hall was filled with 3,000 persons, who listened with great attention to Minister Wu's address, the subject of which was "Chinese Jurisprudence."

Maurice Thompson's Condition.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 16.—There has been little change in the condition of Maurice Thompson, the author, who has been seriously ill for several weeks. He is extremely weak, but it is not believed there is immediate danger of death.

Vanderbilts Leave Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt left the Hotel Somerset in a carriage yesterday afternoon and boarded the Providence express at Back Bay station on their way to western Massachusetts.

No Clew to the Murderer.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 16.—The officers engaged in the search for John McLain, the alleged Gorham murderer, admit that they have not a single reliable clew upon which to work.

Famous Pencil Maker Dead.

NUREMBERG, Jan. 16.—Johann Faber, founder of the Faber Lead Pencil factory, is dead.

QUAY WINS THE FIGHT

Memorable Struggle For Pennsylvania Senatorship Ended.

MASSACHUSETTS RETURNS HOAR.

A Fifth Term For the Venerable Senator—McMillan Re-elected In Michigan—Clark Lacks One Vote In Montana.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—After a memorable struggle, which has continued for several years, Colonel M. S. Quay, regular Republican nominee for United States senator, was elected by the Pennsylvania legislature to fill the vacancy created by the expiration of his term on March 4, 1899. His combined vote in the senate and house was 130, or three more than the number necessary to a choice. The house and senate will meet jointly at noon today to canvass the vote and declare an election. Mr. Quay's commission has already been prepared and signed, and he will take it to Washington this afternoon. A party of his friends will go with him to be present when he takes his seat in the senate tomorrow.

The Democratic vote was cast almost solidly for Colonel James M. Guffey of Pittsburg, and that of the anti-Quay Republicans was divided among nine "favorite sons." Representative William J. Galvin of Schuylkill, who two weeks ago voted with the Republicans on the organization of the house, was the only Democrat who voted for Mr. Quay. When he cast his vote, the followers of Colonel Quay broke into cheers, which continued for more than a minute. Representative L. D. Brown of Crawford voted for the Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, the Prohibition leader.

The solid Democratic vote in the senate was cast for Colonel Guffey.

The wildest excitement prevailed during the balloting in the house. Long before that body convened at 3 o'clock the chamber was packed with legislators and spectators. The crush at the doors was so great that many members had to have the aid of police to get into the hall.

The election of Colonel Quay ends the struggle which began at the organization of the legislature in 1899 and has since continued without interruption. Seventy-nine ballots were taken by the last legislature without a choice, and then the legislature adjourned. The day following, April 21, Governor Stone appointed Mr. Quay to the senate, and on April 23, 1899, his appointment was rejected by the senate by one vote. Pennsylvania has since had only one United States senator, Boise Penrose.

Clark Lacked One.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 16.—William A. Clark of Butte lacked one vote of the number required to elect him to the United States senate yesterday. The first ballot for senator was taken at noon by both houses. Two members were absent. Had the vote been in joint session Clark would have been elected, as he received a majority of the votes cast. A joint ballot will be taken today. Meantime the absent Republican members are expected to arrive. There were 30 Republicans in the senate and house, and they voted for Senator Thomas H. Carter for the long term and former Senator Mantle of Butte for the short term. Ten labor men in the house voted solidly for A. E. Spriggs.

No Choice In Delaware.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 16.—The Delaware legislature met here at noon yesterday and proceeded to ballot for a United States senator. The first ballot was indecisive, as was expected. It brought out no surprise except that Senator Richard R. Kenney lacked but two votes of being re-elected for the long term, and Willard Saulsbury was one vote behind Kenney. This state of affairs was caused by the absence of three Republicans, Senator McFarlane and Representatives Ewing and Hitchen. J. Edward Addicks, the gas man, received the solid vote of the Union Republicans.

Hoar For the Fifth Time.

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—For the fifth time in a quarter of a century the Massachusetts legislature elected George Frisbie Hoar of Worcester to the United States senate. In the upper branch of the legislature 28 Republicans and 1 Democrat voted for the venerable senator, while 8 Democrats voted for former Secretary of State Richard Olney. In the house 164 Republicans and 5 Democratic members voted for Senator Hoar, while 48 Democrats chose Mr. Olney, and 1 vote was cast by a Social Democrat for Charles H. Bradlee of Haverhill.

McMillan Again From Michigan.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 16.—Senator James McMillan of Detroit was re-elected by the Michigan legislature, being the unanimous choice of the Republican majority. He received 85 votes in the house and 31 in the senate. Thomas E. Barkworth of Jackson was given a complimentary vote by the Democratic minority. He received one vote in the senate and ten in the house. Five members of the legislature were absent when the vote was taken.

Patterson Wins In Colorado.

DENVER, Jan. 16.—Thomas M. Patterson was yesterday elected United States senator to succeed Edward O. Wolcott. Mr. Patterson was the nominee of the Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans, receiving 74 votes out of a total of 87 cast at the joint caucus.

Dubois Chosen In Idaho.

BOISE CITY, Jan. 16.—The legislature, balloting in separate session for United States senator, elected ex-Senator Fred T. Dubois. The vote in the senate was: Dubois, 13; Shoup, 7; Joseph C. Rich, 1. In the house: Dubois, 28; Shoup, 20; Rich, 1.

Jerry Simpson Defeated.

TOPEKA, Jan. 16.—At a caucus of the fusion members of the legislature last night David Overmyer of Topeka was nominated for United States senator, defeating Jerry Simpson.

The Bellevue Inquiry.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Further inquiry into the abuse and neglect of patients in the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital was made by the grand jury yesterday. John W. Keller, commissioner of charities; Dr. Allen Fitch and Dr. Henry Valentine Wildman, the official examiners in lunacy attached to the pavilion; William B. O'Rourke, former superintendent of the hospital, and some of the doctors and other employees were summoned before the jury.

A Capable Official.

The announcement that S. St. John McCutchen, of North Plainfield, had been appointed by Governor Voorhees to serve as a member of the State Board of Education occasioned no surprise as it was generally expected that he would be returned to that public position. Although Mr. McCutchen is a Democrat, he has performed his duties on the Board in a strictly non-partisan manner. He has worked from from first to last for the best interests of the State and devoted his efforts toward giving the people of New Jersey the best school system possible with the funds at hand.

Plainfield's public school system is recognized as one of the best in the State while the schools of New Jersey compare very favorably with those in any other State in the Union. Last year a Commission, on which Mr. McCutchen served, codified and revised the school laws of the State. As a general thing, the new law was very satisfactory, but there a few things which will probably have to be altered by the present Legislature. If the changes will affect an improvement in the present system, they should by all means be made.

It is a matter for general satisfaction that Governor Voorhees realizes the need of keeping the public schools out of politics as much as possible, and appoints those men to take charge of them for reason of their ability rather than their political beliefs.

There is so little crime in Plainfield that it is but seldom that the people of Plainfield come to realize the need of better police protection. This year the Police Board has asked that the four vacancies in the force be filled to bring it up to its regular standard of efficiency. While there would undoubtedly be considerable opposition to increasing the police force of the city, there should be no objection to bringing it up to the standard which was arranged several years ago.

At the request of the Audobon Society of the State, Senator Cross has introduced a bill prohibiting the use of the plumage, skin or any portion of the body of a bird for anything but scientific purposes. While Massachusetts passed such a law, it is extremely doubtful whether it will ever get any further than the committee to which it was referred.

The promptness of Jersey justice as illustrated by the short time in which the jury for the great murder trial at Paterson was chosen, has caused general comment all over the country. It was a perfect revelation to the New York newspaper men who were accustomed to seeing several days occupied in the selection of the jury.

The idea of a Lieutenant Governor pleases some of the politicians of the State. It would mean one more high office to fill. Last year, however, there really seemed a need for such an official when the executive head of the State passed from one to another so frequently.

Although Assemblyman Meeker is not much of an orator, he appears to be a prominent figure in the Assembly this winter.

Mayor Jenkins will make his appointments for the year at the February meeting of the Common Council.

There seem to be quite a number who desire to be policemen.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The battle between the Kean and Voorhees sections of the Republican party in Union county is still on, and will wage fiercer than ever since last Friday, when Hamilton Kean, younger brother of United States Senator Kean, downed the Governor's friend, Charles N. Codding, for chairman of the county committee. Gov. Voorhees, Congressman Fowler and Former Mayor Rankin, of Elizabeth, backed Codding, but the Kean brothers won.

Relations have been strained between the Governor and the Senator for some time past. What the trouble is does not appear, but there is an impression that it arose because there is not room for a Governor and a United States Senator in a small county like Union.—Passaic Daily News.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The Colonial Dames of New Jersey offer a prize of $5 for the best essay on a colonial site or building, written by a pupil in any public or private school of the State, and entitled "A Colonial Landmark of New Jersey." It must be a description of some historic site or edifice known to the writer. Anecdotes and accounts of notable colonial individuals may be embodied. The essay should not be less than 700 words in length and should be sent by March 1 to Miss Anna I. Brakeley, Bordentown, N. J.

A well known citizen, who is a commuter, exhibited a tax bill to some of his friends a few days ago. The bill had been sent to him in New York. By it he was rated as being worth property to the value of $20,000. Now the fact is that the gentleman in question is simply an employe of one of the largest establishments in New York. He hasn't got any propterty to speak of and never has had. He told the writer to whom he exhibited the tax bill that he would be perfectly willing to pay taxes on $20,000 if he was so fortunate as to be the possessor of so large amount of cash or real estate of that value.

Calendars have for years been useful and appropriate Christmas gifts, the close of the year and the beginning of a new year so close at hand, suggesting the marking off of future time. Tradesmen and organized companies have utilized them in the way of remembrance that was intended to do a stroke of advertising business as well.

The purely personal calendar is the gem of all. Gotten up by friends for friends, they are daily reminders of interest and affection that make a beautiful gift. Some very handsome calendars of this kind were presented this year. Generally the person who wishes to present one solicits from mutual acquaintances and friends original sayings, quotations, sketches and poems as varied as the taste and ability of the contributors.

A pretty leather binding supplied by the bookbinders art sometimes finishes these calendars, and a unique and beautiful gift is the result. If the leaves are fastened together to be removed daily the recurrent pleasure will last through the whole year. Less expensive calendars of this kind are sometimes made by stringing on ribbon the 365 pages which are turned over after the reading.

Some missionary societies and charitable organizations in town used these calendars this year not only as Christmas gifts to some persons whom they wished to honor, but they collected a fund for the charity or organization by asking each person who contributed a sentiment to give also ten cents or more. One of these calendars was sent by the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church to Miss Julia G. Shinn, a missionary in Burmah.

Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank. Respectfully yours,

Opening Spring Wash Goods.

Dainty, Cool, Stylish, The Latest, Bewitching.

Fast Colors, Durable, Reliable, Exclusive, Immense Variety

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27-in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27-in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier, 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty.

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn, satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked suisses, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits. Cambric, nainsook and suisse edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point-de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

IN THE CARPET STORE.

The chief problem of a carpet business is to dispose of the short lengths. We solve the problem by selling them at greatly reduced prices. Lengths suitable for small bed rooms, halls, etc., as follows: 75c and 85c Tapestry Brussels at 45c and 50c. 1.00 and 1.10 Velvets at 75c. 1.00 and 1.10 Axminsters at 75c. 65c Best all-wool Ingrains at 49c. Rug Lengths of above at 35c and 50c and 75c each. Old carpets made over and relaid by skilled workmen.

THE JANUARY FURNITURE -:- SELLING -:-

has been beyond our highest expectations. We have been making new friends and customers every day, and it's not to be wondered at when you consider the extremely low prices prevailing at this sale. It's not a question of money making, simply that of keeping busy during a usually dull month in the furniture line. Many are buying now for their future needs. Goods will be stored till wanted.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan. 16—Funeral services over the remains of Miss Lizzie Kuldoshes were held from St. John's church this morning and were probably the most impressive of any held in the borough in a long time. A large number of the deceased's schoolmates were in attendance in addition to a host of older acquaintances. Rev. Father Bogaard, of Somerville, was the officiating clergyman. His remarks were very touching and tended to comfort the bereaved mother and brothers and reconcile them to their loss. The pall bearers were the deceased's four brothers, Theodore, David, George and Joseph. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

For the past few days the running time of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company's cars has been anything but satisfactory to borough patrons. At times the cars have been from one to two hours apart, to the great inconvenience of prospective passengers. This was especially true yesterday when scores of people were forced to walk to the Jefferson avenue terminus to catch a Plainfield car.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church will hold an oyster supper in the lecture room of the church on Thursday evening, January 24. An informal programme of music has been prepared and an invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Daniel Randolph, South Plainfield, was the guest of borough relatives yesterday.

Mrs. Annie Abbott is spending several days with Mrs. H. L. Terry, of Westfield.

John Barick has gone to Newark for a few days visit with friends and relatives.

A letter remains uncalled for at the postoffice addressed to H. DeMaziere.

Frank Fletcher has succumbed to an attack of the grip.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, Jan. 16.—The annual congregational meeting of the First Baptist church was held Monday afternoon and was largely attended. Various reports for the past year were read, which showed the church to be in a prosperous condition. John Dayton and James Manning were elected trustees for the ensuing year.

The third reception of the dancing class was held in Friendship hall last night and like the preceding ones was greatly enjoyed by the large number of young people who attended.

The annual parish meeting of the First Baptist church, was held Monday afternoon for the purpose of electing new trustees and also the renting of pews and church sheds.

William Waglow, of Plainfield, who is confined at the home of his parents here, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pleurisy and grip.

The Farther Lights will not hold their regular weekly meetings until Feb. 2, when they will meet at Mrs. Foster Sofield's.

The Lakeside dancing class will hold their third reception Tuesday evening. An enjoyable time is expected.

James Darrow has returned to his home in Elizabethport after several days visit with friends in town.

Mr. Leonard, of Caldwell, and Mr. Bonnell, of Union, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Nelson.

The Friendly Circle meets at Mrs. Walter Clawson's Wednesday evening.

Lakeside Council will hold their meeting Thursday night of this week.

A. G. Nelson is entertaining relatives from Caldwell and Union.

The G. E. Club met at Miss Lillian Gunther's, Monday evening.

S. R. Titsworth is confined at his home with the grip.

Mrs. Wm. Farrier spent Monday in Plainfield.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, January 16.—The trolley pole on the 6:30 car yesterday morning broke shortly after leaving the village. The car was filled with men who are employed in the factories at Plainfield, and for a time it looked as though it would be a case of walk. The damage was finally repaired so that the car was able to run at a reduced headway and the men were able to make the shops by 7 o'clock.

Owing to a car jumping the track between the village and Westfield yesterday afternoon, the usual fifteen-minute schedule of the trolley was knocked out and cars were running most any way.

The light fall of snow Monday night, together with the mild weather of Tuesday, has again spoiled the skating which was beginning to be good again.

Miss Sadie Reger, who was obliged to leave her class in the public school Monday on account of illness, was able to resume her position yesterday.

Rev. G. M. Shott, who has been suffering from a combination of the grip and rheumatism, is improving nicely.

"Fogg's Ferry" at Music Hall Plainfield, last evening, was the attraction for a number from the village.

Mrs. Norman Dunn, of Mountain avenue, is suffering from an attack of the grip.

George R. Nichol is detained at home, suffering from a severe cold.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 16—John Hine, of Piscataway, has preferred charges of assault and battery against William Schwengel, also of Piscataway. The matter will be settled in Judge Strong's court.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brantingham attended a dance at the home of A. I. Smalley, of Plainfield.

Miss Carrie VanNest has returned home after a visit in Perth Amboy.

Joel Manning is confined to his bed by an attack of the grip.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Hoyt's famous comedian, Jas. B. Mackie, will appear at Music Hall tomorrow night with a great company of stars in his support in his own original character of "Grimesey Me Boy" in the musical farce comedy "Grimes' Cellar Door." A splendid supporting company, including that very clever artist, Miss Louise Sanford, is with Mr. Mackie on this occasion and their performances have been highly praised in all cities where they've lately played this season. Henry E Dixie, of Adonis fame, and Jas. B. Mackie were boys together, and learned to sing and dance on the old cellar door in Boston years ago. Now both are stars and while Mackie still slides down the cellar door, they occasionally meet and talk over their boyhood days when old Grimes lived and chased them away to make the whole world laugh at their funny sayings.

* * * * *

At Music Hall on Saturday, matinee and night, Little Iola Pomeroy will appear in her own musical comedy drama, "Little Hurricane," the play similar to "Musette" made famous by that favorite actress Lotta. Little Miss Pomeroy impersonates a girl of ten years of age in the opening scenes of the play, a veritable child of the street. She is a hoydenish, irrepressible little body full of mischief, prone to practised joking, but with a nature full of love and a pathetic disposition that at once wins the hearts of all who witness her performance. She sings sweetly, is an expert dancer and as an actress is entirely legitimate in her methods; she is supported by an unusually strong company of fifteen artists and every member in the cast will be afforded an opportunity for displaying his or her talent. There are an abundance of original and up-to-date specialties and a big chorus of pretty girls also the famous Herald Square Quartette of Klaw & Erlanger's "1492" fame.

New Residences for Woodland Park.

The S. D. Drake Realty Co., which owns Woodland Park, sold yesterday to J. D Loizeaux three lots on Evergreen avenue and one on Martine avenue. Mr. Loizeaux will break ground at once for four fine dwelling houses to be completed next May. Two of the houses will be built from designs furnished by Architect E. V. French. During the past six months the Drake Realty Co. has sold lots in the park to the value of $12,000.

TO BETTER SOCIAL CONDITIONS

INTERESTING ARTICLE BY C. E. BUELL IN NEW YORK SUN.

Tells Some Interesting Facts Concerning Various Methods for Relieving the Condition of the Poor.

Charles E. Buell, of Craig place, has an interesting article in Sunday's New York Sun on "How to Better Social Conditions" that should be read by people interested in the amelioration of poverty. In referring to the number of secular communities which are under way, Mr. Buell says that the one at Burley, Wash., represents a novel idea. This community has a membership of thousands. Each member pays a sum of $125 for a life membership, and only those who are in necessitous circumstances are employed in the industries which such a liberal subscription enables the community to put in operation. It is practicable to enroll 10,000 members in an organization and then give temporary employment to the percentage which will be out of work at their regular avocations at any one time. This is nothing more than a systematic insurance against enforced idleness.

Further along in the article Mr. Buell tells where the English Baptists have established industrial stations at their African missions. They purchase plantations for raising coffee and employ the natives in production as wage workers. The earnings of these plantations go to purchase other plantations and are not turned back into private channels. This self-supporting, self propagating system will result in great good, as it affords a new field for employment for the poorest and promises to inspire additional and now unthought of means for bettering industrial conditions by giving a larger liberty and providing new fields without narrowing those already opened. A similar work is being conducted by the Sabbath Evangelizing and Industrial Association, which has one or more plantations under way in Central Africa, self-propagating industries. Like efforts are making by other denominations and organizations.

QUARTER CENTURY WEDDED.

Pleasant Celebration at Pluckemin Attended by Number of Boroughites.

A pleasant surprise was given to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dolliver, of Pluckemin, Monday evening the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. There were present about forty guests from Pluckemin, Belle Mead, Larger Cross Roads, North Branch, Peapack, Bedminster, Somerville and the following were present from the borough: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powlison, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, Mrs. J. A. Hoffman and Garrett Dolliver. Mr. and Mrs. Dolliver received their guests cordially and entertained the party pleasantly until midnight, when an enjoyable supper was served, when the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dolliver many happy returns of the occasion.

ORDER WILL CONTINUE.

Most of the Local Members Will Remain Members of It.

The majority of the members of Plainfield Council, Order of Chosen Friends, have decided to join the new order called the "Home Council of Friends." The new organization was recently effected in New York and most of the members of the old order in the east are joining the new one. The direction of it is entirely in the hands of the eastern members and it is proposed to make it stronger than ever. A few members in the local council decided to withdraw and the money coming to them was paid over. The new order will continue to be beneficial and social, as heretofore.

Locating Street Centres.

Street Commissioner Gavett has been engaged during the past few days locating street centres on Clinton avenue, between Second and Fourth streets. The original points were obliterated when the street grade was lowered several years ago and since then surveyors have had considerable trouble in locating property. Permanent stone monuments are now being placed in position, which will not be lost in a change of grade

MILITIA BOYS VICTORIOUS.

DEFEATED PLAINFIELD BUSINESS MEN AT BASKET BALL.

Company M Won by Score of 16 to 10—Game Was Played at Company Gymnasium at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, January 16—The Business Men's basket ball team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. met defeat last evening at the hands of the boys of Company M, Second Regiment, by a score of 16 to 10. The game was played in the old Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, now used by Company M. The game was a very rough one, little regard being paid to fouls.

While the visitors had a slight advantage in size, the militia boys were quick and had the advantage of team play. They played well together and, but for the stubborn defence of the Plainfielders, would have rolled up a much larger score. The game they played, however, differed materially from the game usually played in Plainfield.

As soon as the visitors realized that the rules regarding fouls were not carefully observed, they followed the example of the other side and the play grew quite fierce. On team work, the home team was considerably superior but their defence was weak.

Neither Moraller nor VanWyck could play for Plainfield, and their places at guard were filled by Denton and Reynolds who played a strong game. The Plainfielders were considerably handicapped in throwing goals by the low ceiling. There were no umpires. A large crowd witnessed the game and was impartial in its applause

The teams were as follows:

| BUSINESS MEN. | | COMPANY M. |
|---|---|---|
| Peterson | right forward | Hoffman |
| Browning | centre | Chambers |

Score—Company M. 16; Business Men, 10. Goals from the field—Hoffman, Dudeck (5), Houston (2), Peterson (3), Doane (2). Goals on fouls—0. Fouls—Company M. 1; Business Men, 1. Referee—M. H. Thompson, of Somerville.

Schweiz.

Bern. In Bern starb im Alter von 80 Jahren der in der ganzen Schweiz als Wohlthäter bekannte Gründer des Diakonissenhauses Bern, Dändliker.—Der Grütliverein in Aarwangen richtete für seine Mitglieder einen Buchhaltungskurs ein, an dem sich aber auch Nichtmitglieder betheiligen können.

Zürich. Die Stadt Zürich hat laut den Ergebnissen der jüngsten Volkszählung 150,228 Einwohner, gegen 94,129 in 1888.—Eine in Meilen abgehaltene, von 200 Landwirthen beider Seeufer besuchte Versammlung des landwirthschaftlichen Seeverbandes beschloß den Ankauf der Dr. Gerber'schen Molkerei in Zürich um 450,000 Francs zum Selbstbetrieb.

Schwyz. Der mit der Ausführung des Sihlseeprojektes betrauten Oerlikoner Maschinenfabrik haben sich noch drei andere bedeutende Firmen angeschlossen, um das Riesenwerk zu Stande zu bringen und die nöthigen Kapitalien (nach neuerer Berechnung 34,000,000 Francs) aufzubringen.

Waadt. In Nyon wirkt seit 50 Jahren Frau Augustine Olivet als Hebamme. Ihre Thätigkeit zu ehren, hat der Staatsrath ihr eine silberne Medaille nebst Glückwunsch und Dankschreiben zukommen lassen.

Wallis. Beim Spielen mit anderen Kindern am Ufer der Rhone fiel in St. Moritz der 14jährige Karl Botaro in's Wasser und ertrank.

Genf. Von an die 20,000 in Genf ausgetheilten Volkszählungsumschlägen kam nur ein einziger nicht ausgefüllt zurück: derjenige einer Genferin, die weder lesen noch schreiben kann, so wenig wie ihr 14jähriger Sohn.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Neuenburg. In der Oberförsterei Neuenburg war der etwa 19 Jahre alte Käthnersohn Paul Kohland aus Lippink beim Holzfällen beschäftigt. Er wurde von einem niederstürzenden Baume so unglücklich getroffen, daß der Tod sofort eintrat.

Thorn. Das Projekt, die Erbauung eines Stadttheaters in Thorn, geht nunmehr seiner Verwirklichung entgegen, da die neue städtische Anleihe dafür 300,000 Mark vorsieht.

Rheinprovinz.

Dülken. Für das hier zu schaffende Volksbad (Kaiser Friedrich-Bad) waren durch Sammlungen bis vor Kurzem 32,000 Mark eingegangen. In einer Stadtverordnetensitzung theilte Bürgermeister Voß nun mit, daß die hiesige Niederrheinische Flachsspinnerei der Stadtgemeinde im Interesse der Arbeiterschaft ein für das Bad geeignetes Grundstück zum Werthe von 15,000 Mark zur Verfügung gestellt habe.

Duisburg. Die Strafkammer verurtheilte den früheren Prokuristen der Firma Curcius, Arthur Lamberg, der vor einiger Zeit wegen Unterschlagung von 84,000 Mark verhaftet worden war, zu zwei Jahren Gefängniß.

Essen. Der Bergmann Volker wurde in seiner Wohnung ermordet aufgefunden. Seine Frau wurde wegen Mordverdachts verhaftet.

Opladen. Der Rechtsanwalt Hugo Krüger wurde von der Strafkammer wegen Unterschlagung von 6000 Mark, Geldern aus verschiedenen Konkursmassen, zu acht Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Delitzsch. Nach den Ergebnissen der jüngsten Volkszählung gibt es in unserer Stadt 843 bewohnte und 8 unbewohnte Wohnhäuser. Die Zahl der Haushaltungen beträgt 2557, ortsanwesend waren 5009 männliche und 5476 weibliche Personen. Bei der Volkszählung im Jahre 1895 hatte Delitzsch 9560 Einwohner.

Merseburg. Der aus dem benachbarten Günthersdorf gebürtige, in der Walkmühle zu Roda beschäftigt gewesene 19jährige Knecht Seidler ließ sich aus Furcht vor Strafe wegen eines Vergehens von einem Eisenbahnzuge überfahren. Der Unglückliche wurde sofort getödtet.

Provinz Schlesien.

Grünberg. Die Bedeutung des hiesigen Obstbaues erhellt aus der Thatsache, daß bei der letzten Zählung 89,477 Obstbäume verzeichnet worden sind. Die auf mehrere Tausende zu schätzenden Nußbäume sind nicht mit einbegriffen, ebenso die überaus zahlreichen Beerensträucher in den Plantagen.

Myslowitz. Zur Erlangung von Entwürfen für das hierorts zu erbauende Gymnasialgebäude hatten die städtischen Körperschaften einen Wettbewerb für deutsche Architekten eröffnet und als ersten Preis 1200 Mark, als zweiten Preis 600 Mark und als dritten Preis 400 Mark ausgesetzt. Es waren insgesammt 47 Entwürfe eingegangen. Der erste Preis zu 1200 Mark wurde mit dem zweiten Preise von 600 Mark vereinigt und je zur Hälfte dem Architekten Holzberger-Köln und dem Architekten Ostrinski-Preußisch-Holland, der dritte Preis von 400 Mark den beiden Architekten Wagner und Sinning-Stettin für einen gemeinsamen Entwurf zuerkannt.

Neisse. Das Kriegsgericht der 12. Division verurtheilte den Unteroffizier Franz Hoffmann vom 63. Infanterie-Regiment wegen Soldatenmißhandlungen zu fünf Monaten Gefängniß.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Petticoats and the Skirts of Street Costumes.

Since the fashion of extremely clinging skirts the use of more than one petticoat has been abandoned on the plea that the short underpetticoat once universally worn tends to enlarge the hips and make the figure clumsy. To compensate for the omission silk petticoats intended for winter wear are lined with flannel or cashmere, which gives them much protective warmth and also adds to their durability.

A silent and not altogether equal war is raging between the short and the long skirt for the street. The skirt just creeping the ground has reason, hygiene and cleanliness as its allies, but the trailing skirt has the incalculable force of blind fashion at its back, and the very women who, being of moderate income and therefore obliged to walk in the street a great deal, most urgently require the success of the short skirt are the ones who do most to resist it by clinging to the mode of trains.

CLOTH COSTUME.

The cut shows a costume of beige cloth. The skirt is ornamented with three lines of stitching, which pass around the front and up each side of the front, designing a redingote. The bodice simulates three superposed boleros, each bordered with stitching, and has groups of gold buttons and a crenelated bertha of moss green velvet, plain at the back. The sleeves have stitched folds down the outside, with gold buttons at the bottom and a wrist puff of printed panne gathered into a band of green velvet. The chemisette and collar are of printed panne, the corselet belt of green velvet. The hat of beige felt is trimmed with beige plumes and a knot of green velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

CARE OF THE HANDS.

How to Keep Them Fair and Smooth In Winter.

In order to keep the hands smooth and white they should never be allowed to become very cold nor be exposed to frosty air. In case they are chilled they should be warmed gradually and not held close to the fire at once. Abrupt transitions from cold to heat or from heat to cold encourage roughness, redness and chapping of the skin, and another determining source of these evils is the habit of not drying the hands perfectly after washing them.

EVENING COSTUME.

The illustration shown today depicts a costume of pale gray voile. The skirt is plain in front and is laid in large plaits at the sides and back. The short bolero is of plaited voile, bordered with guipure and having a large collar and revers of guipure. The sleeves of plaited voile are decorated at the elbow with a plaited ruffle and a band and bow of black velvet ribbon with metal ends. The chemisette of white mousseline de soie has a band of guipure across the square top. The high corselet belt is of black velvet.

BICYCLES and MOTORS

BEAUTY AND CYCLING.

The Relations Between the Wheel and Good Health Are Too Close to Be Over-Estimated.

There is a deal of common sense in the article in Health Culture on the subject of bicycling and beauty. Of course the author had reference to women riders. Men who ride wheels do not do it to acquire beauty primarily. Perhaps all women do not, either; but the particular phase of cycling which the author has undertaken to discuss is the relation of this form of exercise to physical well being. The ground is rightly taken that the foundation of beauty lies in perfect physical health, and anything that promotes the latter must of necessity help the former. The writer, a woman, by the way, says: "It is difficult to induce the home woman to go out and take sufficient exercise in the open air. She will always find some excuse for putting it off until to-morrow. If she goes out, she will not stay long enough to do much good, unless she has an object in view. She must have something to direct her mind to insure any degree of enthusiasm. This she can find in riding a wheel." A series of instructive illustrations show that, next to walking, riding on a well-adjusted bicycle brings the greatest number of muscles into play in the most harmonious manner with the body in a natural posture, nearly erect. As an exercise it is far preferable to riding horseback. To those intensely practical people who claim that a woman might as well stay home and tread a sewing machine as far as exercise goes, the author has this to say, illustrating the statement with a drawing: "In the case of the sewing machine the body is bent and a strain comes upon the back. With the endless motions of the treadle, the tiresome up and down heel and toe motion of the foot, working from the ankle, there is no freedom of movement, as in wheeling, where the foot describes a flowing, easy circle."—The Wheel.

NEW PACKAGE CARRIER.

A Labor-Saving Device for Errand Boys Who May Be Provided with Bicycles.

Here is an arrangement which will be much appreciated by errand boys who are provided with bicycles, as it enables the rider to detach his carrier at will, leaving the machine free for pleasure purposes when desired. The carrier is composed of a light frame, mounted on two wheels and provided with a box or basket to receive the packages. To attach the carrier to a bicycle a leather or rubber collar is provided, which is wrapped around the seat post or frame, and a metallic clamp grips the collar in place, the clamp being provided with an eyelet through which the tongue of the carrier is inserted. The collar is used to prevent the clamp from marring the frame of the bicycle, and the method of attachment is so simple that it takes only a few minutes to rig up the carrier for work or separate it in order that the wheel may be used for pleasure riding. The inventor is Stonewall J. Ford, of Jacksonville, Fla.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Automobiles for Army Use.

In the German army, the automobile using alcohol as a combustible is to be tried for the transportation of provisions and ammunition. Emperor Wilhelm has given an order for the construction of four automobiles with gasoline motors, in order to test the value of this type for army use. The alcohol automobile has recently been used in Germany by some of the large firms for delivery wagons, with considerable success, for the emperor has decided to have two of these made for the army.

Evaporation from Trees.

Some curious facts concerning trees have been discovered. A single oak of good size is said to lift 123 tons of water during the months it is in leaf. This moisture is evaporated and rises to form rain clouds. From this estimate of the labor of a single oak we can gain some idea of the immense force which the forests exert in equalizing the evaporation and precipitation and preventing periods of inundation and drought.

Wheeling on Muddy Days.

For riding on very muddy days the tires of a bicycle should be pumped much harder than for riding on dry roads. This matter of inflating the tires is one of importance, as a really hard tire is not nearly so liable to slip as is one that is only moderately hard.

Simple Price Reasoning.

A dentist's office expenses are the same whether he serves few or many patients. If he serves few he wastes time and must charge higher prices to make good the waste. If he serves many he can divide a fair profit above expenses into much lower prices for all. That's what my practice enables me to do, and that's why my prices are so little for work that's best—GUARANTEED BEST.

GAS AND BELL BUOY.

New Combination Safeguard That Will Burn Three Months and Can Be Seen Six Miles.

Remarkably effective as an aid to navigation is a gas buoy which at the same time is a bell buoy. It is likely to play an important part in the protection of the shipping of this port, as well as being a most important factor in increasing and developing the commerce of New York. This is so because through the proper use of these buoys this harbor could be made navigable at any hour, at low tide as well as when the tide is full, while fogs and thick and stormy weather would no longer be a bar to the free and expeditious entry of ships of all tonnage.

The height of the buoy over all is 18 feet. From the water line to the focal plane it measures ten feet six inches, and the diameter of the body of the buoy is seven feet, the total weight being 6,860 pounds. The body of the buoy forms the receiver for the compressed gas, and is of sufficient size to give proper buoyancy for flotation and of adequate strength to safely hold a pressure of 150 to 180 pounds per square inch.

On top of the body is a wrought iron tower, about six feet high, surmounting which is a lantern. Surrounding the lantern is a cage for protecting it, and the tower is provided with a platform on which to stand to light or adjust the flame.

Just below the platform is suspended a bell weighing 185 pounds. The bell is sounded automatically every 20 or 30 seconds, or indeed at regular intervals of any duration, all of which may be predetermined. The flow of the gas from the receiver to the lantern furnishes the means of operating the bell. Thus a reliable sounding of the bell warning is secured without any dependence upon the action of the waters, as is the case with the old-fashioned bell buoys.

The advantages of these buoys can be easily understood, for they not only furnish a fixed or flashing light, that can be seen a distance of between six and eight miles, but operate in combination, and most successfully, a bell, thus affording a double protection to mariners. These buoys will burn continuously day and night, from three months to one year, with one charge of gas, and may be rented for about 50 cents a day, including the cost of gas. Buoys of this type without the bell attachment are used very largely by all the civilized nations of the world, and are officially recommended. England has 236 in service; France, 228; the United States, 134; Germany, 98; Holland, 60; Denmark, 21; Egypt, 112; Canada, 46, and Italy, 15.—N. Y. World.

WORK FOR THE BLIND.

Giving Massage Treatment to Invalids Is a New Avenue of Employment Just Opened.

The occupations which can be undertaken by the blind with any hope or prospect of being remunerative and of enabling them to contribute to their own support are unfortunately few in number. Brush making, mattress making, basket making, bookbinding and piano tuning almost complete the list for the less intelligent; tutorial work is occasionally undertaken There is a restricted field open to those who have sufficient ability to qualify themselves for the post of organist. We are informed that a small committee of gentlemen and ladies who are interested in the welfare of the blind have resolved at some cost to themselves to make an effort, which they trust will receive the favorable support of the profession, to introduce a new industry for those who are so unfortunate as to have lost their sight. It is that of massage.

It is said that it has been found by actual experience that massage as performed by blind people can be as efficiently practiced as by those who see, and that their delicacy of touch and intelligent manipulation have been fully appreciated by those placed under their care. It is proposed, if funds will allow, that rooms should be taken in some central situation, under the control of a matron, who should be in communication with a certain number of thoroughly educated blind masseurs and masseuses. To these rooms physicians and surgeons could send their patients, or, if it were preferred, from this center, as in the case of other nursing establishments, a male or female blind expert could be sent into the country. The blind are clever in making their way about, and it is not apprehended that any difficulty will be experienced in enabling them to reach their destinations.—London Lancet.

Average Size of Whales.

The average whale is from 50 feet to 65 feet in length and 35 feet in circumference. The jawbones are 20 feet to 25 feet long, and a tongue has been known to yield almost a ton of oil.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

INSULATION FOR WIRES.

Ice Is Used on Mont Blanc Telegraph Line in Place of Posts and Glass Insulators.

It is a matter not simply of convenience, but of vital importance, that observatories situated on the tops of high mountains should be able to keep up constant telegraphic communication with stations at a lower level.

Storms often rage for days and weeks at high altitudes, with such violence as to defeat all attempts at reaching the observers; telegraph posts are swept down by howling winds and buried under masses of snow, while the wires themselves frequently give way under the severity of the strain.

Realizing these difficulties, the authorities of Mont Blanc wisely bethought themselves of inquiring whether the ice which perennially covers the slopes of the mountain might not possess sufficient insulating power to replace both telegraph posts and porcelain insulators.

To ascertain this some interesting experiments were made by R. Lespian at the request of Dr. Janssen, the head of the observatory. A double line was laid between the Grands Mulets at the summit and the peculiar mass of rocks known as the Petits Mulets, near the base. Ordinary galvanized iron an eighth of an inch thick in diameter was used. It was stretched bare on the ice, the two conductors, each of 5,500 feet in length, lying about 16 feet apart.

For the purpose of testing the insulation of the line the two wires were left disconnected at the lower station, while at the upper they were placed in circuit with a delicate ammeter and a battery of 18 large Leclanche cells. On pressing down the key the needle of the ammeter did not move at all, but remained steadily at its zero.

The ends of the wires at the lower station were then pinned together, and when the battery was reduced to three cells the needle flew at once over the limit of the scale and remained there, pointing to 50 milliamperes. These two measurements clearly indicated that the insulation of the line was excellent. —Engineering Magazine.

AUTOMATIC FEED BAG.

It Prevents Spilling and Waste of Grain When Horses Have to Be Fed on the Street.

Many a horse when fed on the street wastes a portion of the feed by spilling it out of the feeding device in trying to get at it, and with the idea of preventing this loss Thomas A. Howard, of Baltimore, Md., has devised the feed bag shown in our illustration. The intention is to supply just enough feed at a time in the lower chamber to keep even with the demand, the remainder of the grain being contained in the hopper shown at the rear. The supply hopper is suspended behind the animal's throat by straps attached to the bridle, and the front portion is held in place by a strap attached to the check rein. A stiffening ring is placed at the top of the feed pouch, and in the bottom is a wooden disk hollowed out on the upper side to throw the feed toward the center and prevent its accumulation around the sides. It is obvious that the grain will feed by gravity into the feed pouch, and that the supply will be dependent upon the amount consumed by the animal. An important feature of the device is that when the horse lowers its head the pouch is raised by the action of the check rein, thus allowing the animal to obtain a good mouthful with little exertion.—Chicago Daily News.

Clothing from Pine Needles.

Germans make flannel underclothing of the fiber of the pine needles, as well as socks for men and stockings for the women, while knee warmers, knitting and darning yarns, cork soles, quilts, wadding, deafening paper for walls, pine-needle soap, incense and even cigars made from the raw material have been exported from Germany for years. Bathing resorts have also been established at points where the pine needles are crushed, and these resorts have long been popular with people afflicted with rheumatism and other ills.

The Beet Sugar Industry.

Beet sugar industry is on the increase. The farther north one can get above the isothermal line of 69 the better the results. The conditions of North Dakota rival the sugar regions of California and Utah, the former having on an average one hour more sunshine a day and cooler nights than the two latter states. The consumption of sugar is so great that the beet sugar industry has had little effect on the growth of the cane product or the import from Honolulu.

SPORTING.

WHIST.

The American Whist League challenge trophy is now the property of the American Whist Club, of Boston. Their team won it for the necessary twentieth time by defeating the strong team from the Baltimore Whist Club. The Baltimore team was the American team's nearest competitor in the East in number of matches won, and it was extremely satisfying to the victors to win the last match from them so decisively. The American Whist Club is without question the strongest whist club in the country, and there record of winning the American Whist League challenge trophy at two successive congresses and also at one congress, winning both the Hamilton trophy (which represents the United States championship, and is held for one year) and the A. W. L. trophy is without parallel.

LEHIGH ELECTS DIRECTORS.

NEW ALLIED INTERESTS ARE ALL REPRESENTED ON BOARD.

Five Old Directors Retired—Road Completely in Hands of Morgan and His Associates.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Philadelphia, January 16—Changes made in the Board of Directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad at the annual meeting of the shareholders in this city yesterday show that the control of this property is now completely in the hands of J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates. These changes show furthermore that the Erie, the Reading, the Jersey Central and the Lackawanna interests are to have representation in the new management of the Lehigh Valley.

The new Board of Directors is composed as follows: E. B. Thomas, president of the Erie Railroad; George F. Baer, representing the Philadelphia and Reading; J. Rogers Maxwell, president of the Jersey Central; George F. Baker, Robert C. Lippencott, Charles Steele, B. Borie, J. Wharton, E. T. Stotesbury, Irving A. Sterns, A. Nesbit and Wilson S. Bissell.

The first six names in this list represent the new interests. There was one vacancy in the old board and these five directors retired: E. P. Wilbur, Charles Hartshorne, John B. Garrett, Eugene Delano and R. M. Gallaway. Wilson S. Bissell, who was re-elected a director, has been the company's general counsel for several years.

Alfred Walter was re elected president, John R. Fanshaw, secretary, M. C. Alderson, treasurer, and Edward J. Hartshorne, assistant treasurer. The vice presidency, resigned by John B. Garrett, will not be filled.

Funeral of James Reville.

The funeral services of the late James Reville were held from St. Mary's church this morning being attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Rev. Father Smyth officiated. The beautiful casket was covered with handsome floral tributes, among them being a large pillow from the letter carriers of this city. The pall bearers were Morris Shannon, Edward Cline, James Whalen, Thomas Callahan, John Day and James Motley. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Rev. A. E. Crane to be Wedded.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Rev. Arthur E. Crane, formerly of this city, but now pastor of the First Baptist church, of Camden, S. C., to Miss Sarah Goodale, of that place. The event will take place Sunday, February 20.

Representative to Grand Conclave.

Protective Conclave, I. O. H., met last evening and elected Fred Lounsbury a representative to the Grand Conclave and J. P. D. Kirch an alternate. After the meeting the members enjoyed a game of quoits.

TO BRING INDUSTRIES HERE.

BUREAU OF STATISTICS OF LABOR AND INDUSTRIES DIRECTORY.

Will Contain Useful Information About Every Municipality—Plainfield Invited to Send Facts.

The attention of the Plainfield Board of Trade is called to the fact that the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries has in course of preparation a directory of the State, which will include information such as persons seeking locations for industries of any kind that would be considered desirable to have locate in this State. The purpose of this directory is to make the resources and advantages of the State known, and to influence them in establishing business in the towns of the State.

The directory will contain the names of every city, town and borough in the State, together with the population, banking facilities, railroad connections, industries now in operation, factory buildings that are idle, but available for use, and other information which will bring every community in the State into public view, thus affording all towns an equal chance in the competition for the advantages that lead to growth.

Every community that desires to increase in population and business activity is earnestly requested to write to William Stainsby, chief of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries, a statement conveying full information on the following points:

Railroad connections and distances from nearest station. The quantity of land available for factory sites and the conditions on which it may be obtained by those desiring to establish factories.

Number of buildings idle that are suitable for factory purposes, giving the floor area of each, and the prices at which the buildings may be purchased or the rent per month asked for them.

The kind of power available, whether steam, water or electric. What special advantages are offered to induce manufacturers to settle.

It is believed that this information will prove of vast benefit to the business interests of every city and borough throughout the State.

The members of the Plainfield Board of Trade might be the means of inducing some wide-awake industry to locate in this city if they will avail themselves of the opportunity here presented to place before the country the many excellent advantages of this city for the establishment of first-class business industries.

Taken With Spasms When Arraigned.

When Joseph Sullivan, arrested yesterday morning, charged with being intoxicated, was arraigned this morning before City Judge Runyon, he was seized with a fit and fell to the court room floor, where he writhed in spasms. It required all the strength possessed by Doorman Flanagan, Patrolman Vanderweg and Jim Donohue to hold the unfortuuate man. Captain Kiely telephoned for Dr. Carman, the city physician, who gave Sullivan the necessary attention.

Informal Tea.

Mrs. Israel P. Pierson will give a tea this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her residence, 733 Watchung avenue, in honor of her friend, Mrs. Howard Williams, formerly of New York, but who has recently taken up her residence at Netherwood, and to Miss Welles, of Wyalusing, Pa., a friend of her daughter, Miss Pierson. The function is to be an informal affair and only a small number of Mrs. Pierson's friends are to be present.

Business on Her Own Account.

Miss Gassner, who for some time past has been conducting a millinery department at Woodhull & Martin's store, will make a change about February 1. She has leased the vacant store in the Stillman building on West Front street and will continue her business at that place. For some time she has desired a place with more room, hence her plans to make a change.

Big Raccoon Captured.

The largest raccoon seen in this vicinity in a long time was captured alive at Oak Tree yesterday by Pierre Moore, of East Third street, and Edward Wilson, of Oak Tree. The animal made a hard fight, but was finally subdued and brought to this city. It is the intention of the captors to tame the 'coon and make a pet of it.

Delay in Shipping Lumber.

The carpenters doing the work at the new railroad station are delayed owing to a failure of the firm that was to furnish the lumber. They are now seven weeks behind the contract time. If the lumber had been furnished as contracted for they would have completed their work one week ahead of the contract time.

Some People Wonder.

People who have occasion to travel over the new Madison avenue-Duer street bridge are wondering when the stone walks are to be laid on that thoroughfare. The present dirt walk is not desirable nor pleasant.

John P. Powers, the Somerset street druggist, is confined to his home on Craig place by illness.

WOULD NOT KEEP OFF ICE.

SO ICEMAN McDONOUGH HAD YOUNG MEN ARRESTED.

South Plainfield Greatly Interested in Arrest of Two Prominent Residents of That Place.

Cormick McDonough, an ice dealer, who lives near South Plainfield, in Piscataway township, has caused the arrest of Claude Cubberly and Harry Manning, two well-known and popular young men who live in South Plainfield. The young men were arrested Monday by Constable Charles Grover on a warrant issued by Justice William A. Housell, as has already been told in The Daily Press.

The charge against the accused is malicious mischief in skating on a pond in Piscataway township which is used by Mr. McDonaugh to gather ice. A few days ago when Mr. McDonough had arranged to gather the ice he received notice from the State Board of Health informing him that unless he kept the ice free from skaters it would be condemned and he would not be permitted to sell it.

When Mr. McDonough received the notice from the State Board of Health he drove the skaters off the ice and posted notices warning all that there must not be any trespassing. It appears, however, that Cubberly and Manninfi refused to keep off the ice. It is also alleged by McDonough that they used language that is not printable. It is on these words that the charge of malicious mischief is based.

After being unable to make the skaters leave, Mr. McDonough consulted George S. Silzer, a lawyer, and also made affidavits before City Judge Runyon, of this city. The accused were taken before Justice Weaver, of South Plainfield, Monday, where they furnished bonds in the sum of $100 for their appearance before the Grand Jury.

VICTIM OF GRIP.

Mrs. Catherine Noel Died Last Evening at Home of Her Sister on New Street.

The death of Mrs. Catherine Noel occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Brandt, on New street last evening after a two weeks' illness from grip. She had been very low for the past few days but she bore her illness patiently and passed away peacefully.

Mrs. Noel was born in Dublin, Ireland, seventy-eight years ago but has lived in this city for the past fifty years. She resided with her son, Charles Noel, of Netherwood, until the destruction of his home by fire last spring. The fire gave her a nervous shock from which she never fully recovered.

She then made her home for two months with her oldest son, Joseph Noel, of West Third street, but of late has been living with her sister, Mrs. Brandt, at whose home she died.

In addition to these she is survived by a brother, William Hewson, acting Overseer of the Poor, who also resides on New street. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

MRS. WINZENREID PASSED AWAY

Died at Her Home on Lee Place This Morning—Pneumonia was the Cause.

In spite of the highest medical skill obtainable and all that loving hands could do, Mrs. John Winzenreid, wife of Patrolman Winzenreid, passed away at her home on Lee place this morning shortly after 10 o'clock. She contracted a cold two weeks ago which rapidly developed pneumonia. She sank very quickly during the past few days and her death was expected hourly, although she was conscious to the last and conversed with those about her.

Mrs. Winzenreid was thirty-two years old and had lived in this city all her life. She was the daughter of the late Frederick and Mary Vanderweg and is survived by the latter. Beside her husband, four children, the oldest of which is ten years old, are left to mourn her loss. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

"Elijah" Chorus Rehearsal.

A divided rehearsal of the members of the Choral Society, which will render "Elijah" next month, will be held tomorrow. The sopranos and altos will meet at Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, while the tenors and basses will meet at the same place tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The regular rehearsal of the chorus Monday evenings, Jan. 21 and 28, will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

MADE HER DEBUT.

Reception Given by Mrs. Percy H. Stewart to Introduce Miss Ida Stewart Into Society.

A charming affair of yesterday afternoon was the "at home" given by Mrs. Percy Hamilton Stewart, of 922 Central avenue, for Miss Ida Stewart, who made her appearance into society for the first time. The hours were from 4 to 7 o'clock, and during that time about two hundred of Plainfield's society folk called to do honor to one of the city's fair young women.

Mrs. Stewart and Miss Stewart received and were assisted by Mrs. Frederick W. Yater, Miss Bessie Ginna, Mrs. Jules Erickson, Mrs. Thomas Day, Mrs. Eugene Moore, of this city, and Mrs Granville Garth, of New York. Miss Helen Davis and Miss Cochran poured tea. The decorations were beautiful, and especially attractive in the dining room. They consisted of roses, smilax, etc., all arranged prettily. During the hours Rogers' orchestra discoursed a pleasing programme of music.

Funeral of Mrs. Weyer.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Henry Weyer took place at her late home on Columbia avenue yesterday afternoon. They were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. He spoke very highly of the Christian character of Mrs. Weyer and referred in various ways to her faithful church attendance when her health permitted. Those who acted as pallbearers were Edward Willis, James Borrup, Oscar Zugbaum and William Cole. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Missionary Service.

The prayer meeting at the First Presbyterian church this evening will be a missionary service in charge of the "Kings Messengers," a mission band of the church. An address upon work among the Freedmen will be given by Rev. Dr. Shearer, of New York.

London's Chief Magistrate.

The city of London invests its chief magistrate with the most extraordinary powers and prerogatives. He is not only chief criminal and civil judge of the city, but likewise generalissimo of the city militia and admiral of the port of London. But before entering upon his 12 months' term of office it compels him to sign a bond of $1,000,000 for the safekeeping of the jewels forming part of his insignia of office.—N. Y. Times.

Waste of Apples.

In ordinary apple years the waste of skin and cores amounts to 500 or 600 carloads, and during years of abundant yield it runs as high as 1,200 and 1,500 carloads. All this waste now goes to the factories, which make cheap jellies. There are upward of 140 of these factories in this country and they have an annual capacity of some 200,000,000 pounds.—Chicago Chronicle.

Great Smokers.

Hollanders smoke more than any other Europeans. Tobacco is cheap in their country and nearly all the grown males delight in the pipe. The habit is so common that the boatmen of Holland measure distances by smoking—saying that the distance between two named points is so many pipefuls of tobacco.—Albany Argus.

HOW WILL IT AFFECT GUBERNATORIAL RACE?

Trenton Correspondent of Jersey City Journal Writes Concerning Factional Troubles.

MR. KEAN IS FOR PITNEY.

SUCH IS SAID TO BE SENATOR'S ATTITUDE ON NOMINATION.

Battle Between Republican Factions in This County Becomes of General Interest in State—Strange Rumors That Have Gained Credence.

The Trenton correspondent of the Jersey City Journal writes at length concerning the relative chances of Franklin Murphy and Senator Pitney for the Gubernatorial nomination of the Republicans next fall. According to that writer, Gen. Sewell is "on the fence" as to a choice for the Republican candidate. The recent factional differences in the Union county ranks are supposed to have considerable bearing on the Gubernatorial contest, and The Journal correspondent says concerning then and Senator Kean's position:

"But, say the Pitney men, Senator Kean is for our man. This is the secret of the row over in Union, but there are some spots for doubt about this statement. No doubt Senator Kean favors Pitney. He has said so, and the fact that he is a United States Senator does not deprive him of his right to have a favorite or to express his opinion.

Rumor says that the trouble in the party in Union county dates back to a certain gas contract that failed to materialize because of adverse action by the Common Council, but that may not be true. It happened many years ago, and while it may have been an initial friction point the new points generated in several years of contest have no doubt obliterated the original cause, whatever it was. The latest bone of contention was the appointment of a postmaster for Elizabeth. The county committee indorsed a man and the Congressman favored that man, as was natural for an organization man. Senator Kean had another man, and the Senator's man won. Such things have happened before. It was known that the Senator wanted to secure control of the county organization, and the postmaster matter was only an incident.

It is alleged that more than moral suasion was used to convince some of the County Committeemen-elect that they should support Senator Kean's brother for the chairmanship of the County Committee; but the fact that Senator Kean and his brother are wealthy men would naturally breed such stories out of pure air. The tru h seems to have been that Kean stole a march on the other side and carried one-half of the primaries. Thus he required but three or four votes to win, and the reported offer of the position of Assistant Postmaster to one of the opposition side carried three or four votes to the Kean side and produced victory. It may have been that this offer was made. Even if it was it would be nothing new, in fact, it would not be new to have made the promise and dropped the man afterwards. Such things are not unknown even in Hudson.

"Out of this victory the most surprising stories have grown up. It is alleged that Pitney will not be in the race for Governor, that he will be appointed to the Supreme Court bench, and that Franklin Murphy will have the field to himself. It is also alleged that Congressman Fowler will be a candidate for chairman of the State committee when Franklin Murphy withdraws, and that four years hence he will be a candidate to succeed Franklin Murphy as Governor. It is also alleged that Former Mayor Rankin will be a candidate for State Senator to succeed Senator Cross, of Union, a year from next fall. It will be remembered that Former Mayor Rankin and Congressman Fowler opposed Senator Kean in his campaign to capture the county committee, and that Senator Cross favors Kean. It may be that these stories are the outcome of the campaign, which was a very warm event, but the possibilities seem so natural that the stories find easy circulation, if not general credence.

"Charles N. Codding, the defeated chairman of the County Committee, suffered vicariously, because the contest was carried on more by others than by him, but Mr. Codding is closely connected with Supreme Court Clerk Riker, who is a pronounced Murphy man, and the defeat of Mr.

OUT IN MANILA.

Plainfield Boy, In the Army, Sends Home Some Newspapers Published in the Philippines.

John Kuhn, formerly of this city, where he played third base on the Crescent Baseball Club, but now a member of Captain Sloan's Co. A, Twenty-seventh Regiment, stationed at Manila, P.I., has sent to his mother in this city two newspapers. One is The American, and the other The Manila Times. The former is an evening paper and the latter a morning edition. The American is a ten-page paper, while the other contains eight pages. Both are creditably edited and show that the news of the Islands as well as that from other parts of the globe are gathered and put in good readable shape. The American speaks especially of the heroic work performed by the Twenty-seventh Infantry in the capture of Pinauran during the latter part of November.

"BIRD'S CHRISTMAS CAROL ILLUSTRATED WITH TABLEAUX.

Pleasant Sociable Given The Endeavor Society of Seventh-Day Baptist Church Last Evening.

One of those pleasing social affairs for which the Ladies' Society for Christian Work of the Seventh Day Baptist church is noted, took place last evening. The first part was taken up with an excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music and readings. Long applause greeted the rendition of each number and those taking part were obliged to respond with an encore each time.

The programme in detail was as follows: Selections by instrumental trio composed of Messrs. Mosher, Korff and Smith; singing pantomime, Miss Elizabeth Allis; reading, Miss Haven; soprano solo, Mrs. J. P. Allis; reading of the "Bird's Christmas Carol," by Mrs J. G. Miller, illustrated by six tableaux. The last number was especially pleasing, the grouping and surroundings of the different tableaux making excellent illustrations.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, refreshments were served to all present and an hour was passed in a social way. The committee having the affair in charge consisted of Mrs. W. C. Hubbard, Mrs. J. G. Miller, Mrs. Charles H. Dunham, Mrs. F. H. Smith, Mrs. T. C. Smith and Miss Ida Randolph.

In the tableaux illustrating the "Bird's Christmas Carol," Miss Ida Randolph appeared as "Mrs. Rugglles," and her children were Boardman Mosher, Boy Titsworth, Eva and Helen Rogers, Joe Miller, Lawrence Miller, Wendell Mosher, Marie Rogers, Izzie Randolph, Walter Rogers, Queena Force, Charles Neagle, Charles Titsworth, Emma Manley and John Manley, Jr. The young folks acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner.

MISS PIERSON'S TEA.

Given at Her Home Yesterday Afternoon in Honor of Two Out of Town Friends.

Miss Mabel Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue, gave a most charming tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Howard Williams, of Netherwood, and Miss Wells, of Wilmington, Del. Flowers decorated the house and were used with profusion on the two small tables from which the guests were served. Miss Pierson was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Israel C. Pierson, Mrs. Williams and Miss Wells. Mrs. William H. Murray and Mrs. Malcolm McKenzie presided at the tables and were assisted by the Misses Wood, Ginna, Ethel Bowen, Mrs. Eugene Moore and Miss Holt, of Brooklyn.

To Give Temperance Drama.

In addition to interesting addresses, phonograph selections and extra good singing will be the features at this evening's meeting at Reform Hall. A pleasant evening is promised all who attend. Next Thursday night a temperance drama is to be given in which the characters are to be taken by local talent. It is a new departure for the Reform Club members and the production will no doubt be witnessed by a large audience.

Death of Mrs. Heyniger.

The death of Mrs. Sarah H. Heyniger, widow of Lambert Heyniger, occurred this morning at her home on Grant avenue. She was a resident of this city for many years, having come here from New York. She was a faithful and earnest member of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and a sincere Christian woman. The notice of funeral will be given later.

CAR JUMPED TRACK AND ROLLED OVER.

Two Men Injured in Accident to Big Trolley Car at Garwood Last Evening.

CONDUCTOR WAS HURT.

MOTORMAN GAMBLE STAYED AT HIS POST AND ESCAPED INJURY.

Only Two Passengers in the Car—One Was Injured—Supposed That Brakes Wouldn't Work—Car Badly Wrecked.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, January 17.—Two men are injured and one of the large double truck trolley cars of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Street Railway Company, is a wreck as a result of an accident which occurred at Garwood, one mile north of here early last evening.

Car 77 in charge of Conductor William Mitchell, of Plainfield, with Walter Gamble, of the same city, as the motorman, was bowling along at a pretty fast clip about 8 o'clock when, in taking the curve at the Morse corner in Garwood, the car trucks left the track. The body of the car was separated from the fore truck and was thrown on its side on the roadway.

Gamble, the motorman, stuck to his post and was not hurt but Mitchell, the conductor, did not fair so well. He was on the rear platform and as the car left the track he was thrown to the ground, a corner of the heavy car hitting him as it fell.

Elmer Miller, a son of David Miller, of this town, was a passenger on the car and was thrown through a window by the contact. The only other passenger was Charles Embleton, of Westfield, the well known bicycle racer. He was unhurt.

News of the accident was at once despatched to the Westfield office of the company and the wrecking crew was soon on its way to the scene of the accident. The injured men were brought to the office of Dr. R. R. Sinclair, in this town, by another car.

Mitchell was covered with mud from head to foot and it was some time before it could be determined whether he was badly hurt or not. It was found on examination that his most serious injury was a sprained wrist, although he was badly cut and bruised.

Miller was cut about the hands and arms and complained of pains in his stomach. It could not be learned as to whether he was hurt inwardly or not but the doctor thinks not. After being attended to both men were able to go to their homes.

How the accident occurred seems to be a mystery. At the office of the company it was said by one of the officials that Gamble, who is the vice-president of the Employe's Benevolent Association, was one of the company's most valuable men and never known to be careless. The motorman could not be interviewed.

It is supposed that the brakes refused to work just before the car reached the curve or else the motorman miscalculated the distance and failed to apply the brakes in time.

The wrecking crew succeeded in getting the wreckage, which resembled a wreck such as is seen on the steam railroads, cleared up late last evening. The car is badly damaged.

NATURALIZATION COMMISSION.

One of the Bills to be Introduced in This Session Will Provide for One.

Among the bills which the Legislature is expected to consider will be an act for the appointment of a naturalization commission.

The bill in contemplation will, it is said, provide for a commission consisting of four, two representatives from the two parties polling the largest vote in all counties. The judge of the court of common pleas will have the appointing power, and will act as final arbiter in all disputes. The commission will be allowed to conduct examinations at its own pleasure, night or day, and this phrase of the law will mean much to prospective citizens, who are now obliged to lose several days' work in order to become naturalized.

Meeting of Clinical Society.

The regular meeting of the Clinical Society was held at the Casino Tuesday evening. The entire membership was present, including as guests Prof. T. Gilman Thompson, of New York, and Dr. Harrison, of Westfield. The paper was read by Prof. Thompson, followed by a discussion.

DOYLE'S FATE NOW IN HANDS OF JURY.

Murder Trial at Elizabeth Ended This Morning When Case Went to Jury.

DOYLE TELLS HIS STORY.

FELT HAPPY WITH DRINK AND WENT TO CALL ON BALDWIN.

Was Attacked Through Closed Door and Fired Wildly in Return—Generally Believed Verdict Will Be Guilty of Homicide.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, January 17.—The fate of Thomas Doyle now rests with twelve men who will decide whether he murdered Farmer Baldwin, of Union, or whether the killing was merely an act of self-defence. After hearing the testimony and the Judge's charge, the general belief is that he will be found guilty of murder in the first or second degree or of manslaughter.

Doyle began his story of the incidents which led up to the shooting Tuesday, and was on the stand when court adjourned for the day. Yesterday morning he was again called.

Doyle was perfectly cool and collected in the witness chair and told his story slowly and deliberately. At times he smiled when asked a question by his lawyer. A feature of his testimony was the lack of memory he displayed as to what happened during the two days prior to the tragedy. He explained this, however, by stating that he had been drinking whiskey heavily from Sunday, September 16 until Tuesday night, September 18 when the shooting occurred, and that when in this condition he had no recollection afterward of what he did or said.

When he called at Farmer Baldwin's house on the fatal Tuesday night the prisoner declared he had no intention of harming anybody, but was feeling pretty good from what he had drank and wanted to have a chat with Mr. Baldwin. He knocked at the door and then shook the knob in order to be admitted. The next thing he saw was a flash, and then he felt as if the side of the house had fallen on him. He realized in a moment that he had been shot. The door, he said, then opened from the inside, and, drawing his revolver, which he carried in an outside pocket of his coat, he fired blindly three times in the direction of the open door.

The next thing the witness remembered was Mr. Baldwin saying to him, "You've shot me," and then he heard Baldwin calling for a doctor.

The prisoner said his mind was dazed during the whole affair and more particularly after he knew that he had been shot. Then he remembered sitting on a chair and that Farmer Baldwin was lying beside him on the porch and that both had asked for a doctor. After that he wandered away from the place and the first thing he was in Newark.

Doyle said he could not recollect seeing Grace Baldwin on the night of the shooting or of firing at her.

What shooting he did was done, he declared, while sitting in a chair on the porch. He denied having tried to force the door of Baldwin's house, and said that after he left the place, until he was picked up by a policeman at Newark, everthing to him was a perfect blank.

Prosecutor English put Doyle through a severe cross-examination, but was unable to make him contradict himself.

Mrs. Estelle VanCott testified concerning a conversation with Baldwin after the shooting in which he said he had shot to kill Doyle. Mrs VanCott told how he had complained of the treatment he was receiving. Frank VanCott, James Wood and Dr. J. W. Crane, gave testimony of minor importance. The court then adjourned for the morning.

After the recess for lunch, the counsel in the case summed up at length and made strong pleas for their respective sides. The speeches occupied all the afternoon.

This morning, Judge VanSickel charged the jury at length in an impartial manner. The case was then given to the jury which retired under the charge of the court constable. A verdict is looked for this afternoon.

Mrs. Winzenried's Funeral.

TROLLEY CARS CRASHED TOGETHER IN THE FOG

Serious Accident Occurred Near New Brunswick Early Yesterday Morning.

THREE MEN BADLY HURT.

PASSENGERS SHAKEN UP BUT ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY.

Passenger Car and Work Train on Bound Brook Line Met in Collision—Misunderstanding of Orders Was Cause.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Jan. 17.—The dense fog that prevailed early yesterday morning was in a measure responsible for an accident on the Bound Brook branch of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company's trolley road. Although no one was killed several passengers were shaken up and three of the employes of the company were seriously injured.

The accident occurred shortly after 8 o'clock at a point in the road above Raritan Landing, a short distance from the farm of J. A. Blish, the well-known architect. It was a head-on collision between passenger car No. 106, in charge of Edward Martin as conductor and Philip Peters, motorman, going west, and a "dummy," consisting of a flat car and a box car, bound east. The "dummy" was in charge of Motorman Jason Eicke, who is understood to have been ordered to wait on the switch below the Five Mile Lock. There was a misunderstanding of orders, however, and the "dummy" cars started toward Bound Brook.

Without any warning to the passengers the cars came together with a crash, throwing the passengers, most of whom were students of Rutgers College, in a heap upon the car floor and bruising many of them severely.

A short distance before the cars came together, Motorman Peters saw the "dummy" cars coming rapidly toward him. He displayed plenty of nerve and his strict attention to duty was the means of saving the lives of the passengers. Instead of jumping from his car, Peters shut off the current and did what he could to stop its momentum, but was only partially successful. The cars came together with a crash, throwing Conductor Martin off and jamming Peters between the dash board of the "dummy" car and the door of his own. Motorman Eicke jumped from his car as they came together and was not seriously injured.

A survey of the wreck after the accident revealed that Conductor Martin, Motorman Peters and Charles Norman, a fifteen-year-old boy were the most seriously hurt. The latter was riding on the "dummy" car. He was thrown off with great force and rendered unconscious, being bruised about the head and face. Peters, the motorman, was a mass of cuts and bruises and was otherwise shaken up.

Besides the employes of the road some of the passengers sustained slight bruises. Among those on the car were Arthur Smith, a son of William C. Smith, of North Plainfield, who is attending Rutgers College, and William A. Fisher, of Bound Brook, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, who is also a student at Rutgers College. James LaRue, of Plainfield, was a passenger, but was not seriously hurt. All the injured received medical aid at New Brunswick.

Charles Norman, the boy who was so seriously hurt, lives at Sayerville. He was employed to manage the the trolley pole on the "dummy" car. Besides this boy there were a number of Italians on the "dummy" cars at the time of of the accident. None of them were seriously injured.

CHARMING SOCIAL EVENT.

Second of Series of Teas Given by Mrs. Mason W. Tyler of West Seventh Street.

The second tea of Mrs. Mason W. Tyler was given yesterday afternoon at her home on West Seventh street and was attended by a large circle of friends of Mrs. Tyler's and her sister, Mrs. Wright, for whom the tea was given. The rooms were prettily decorated with flowers, and the red tints used in the decoration of the dinining room were most charming and effective.

Mrs. Tyler and Mrs. Wright, assisted by George VanBoskerck, received the guests. In the dining room, Mrs. Daniel Ginna and Mrs. Fred W. Yates presided at the table, assisted by Mrs. Tyler's niece, Mrs. Miss Shroeder, Mrs. Louis G. Timpson and the Misses Fisk, Ackerman, Strong, Helen Bushnell, Maude and Elizabeth VonBoskerck.

WIDENING SOMERSET STREET

REPORT OF COMMISSIONERS IN HANDS OF BOROUGH CLERK.

Cost of Widening Street Will Amount to $2,500—Improvements May Be Charged to General Public.

The report of the commissioners with reference to the widening of Somerset street is understood to be in the hands of the borough clerk. It will be presented to the Borough Council at their next meeting February 1. The commissioners recommend the payment of 1 cent per foot to each holder of property for the damage to the land caused by cutting into the sidewalk and setting back the fence line. It is not believed this will be necessary as the borough has a building line of nineteen feet from the curb.

It is possible that the property holders may be assessed for the benefits to be derived from the widening of the street though the improvements made will be charged to the general public, when certificates will be issued, bearing interest, a number payable each year, until all are paid. It has been estimated that the cost of widening the street from the brook to Jackson avenue, about 2,500 feet, will be approximately $2,500, which will be about 50 cents a foot on each side.

WORK AMONG NEGROES.

Rev. W. H. Weaver Told of His Efforts to An Interested Audience at First Presbyterian Church.

The mission service held last evening at the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Children's Band of King's Messengers was led by Miss Grace Knight, president of the band. An address was delivered by Rev. W. H. Weaver, who represents the Freedman's Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church, and has been sent out by the Board as a special representative. It was highly interesting and much enjoyed by the members of the King's Messengers as well as by the large number of members of the church who were present at the services.

Mr. Weaver told of the work that has been done in the south to educate the negro and the efforts that the race was making toward raising themselves to a plane equal to that attainted by the whites. Before the services closed a collection was taken to aid in rebuilding the Brainerd Institute at Chester, South Carolina.

Favorably Impressed.

Charles F. Sarson, of Cortland, N. Y., representing the Standard Printing Company, of that place, who has been visiting at the home of his brother, Samuel T. Sarson, 203 Watchung avenue, returned home yesterday morning after a very pleasant visit of about one week. Mr. Sarson has formed a very favorable opinion of Plainfield and hopes the next time he visits his brother to see this beautiful city in its summer attire.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given last evening to Mrs. Dentz, of Fairview avenue, by a number of her friends. Dancing and singing were the features of the evening. Among those present were Mrs. Robert Philpitt, Warner Philpitt, Winfield Philpitt, Miss Mamie Philpitt, Miss Lu Windham, Mrs. A. Windam, Augustus Windham, Jr., Miss Carry Dentz, Jessie Perrine and Fred Coller.

Bridles Stolen.

Hackmen John Kennedy and August Utzinger, who solicit fares about the North Avenue station, have reported to the police that at about 12:45 o'clock this morning some person stole the bridles from their horses' heads. The police belive the bridles were taken as a joke while the men were asleep in the station.

NEW MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL NEARLY READY

Addition to Borough School System will be Regularly Opened Jan. 28.

DEPARTMENTS EQUIPPED.

CARPENTERY, CHEMISTRY, COOKING AND DRAWING WILL BE TAUGHT.

Building is Practically Completed—Manual Training Made Possible by Generosity of C. W. McCutchen—Description of Building.

The substantial building which has been constructed in rear of the Somerset street school in the borough, to be used as a manual training school, is nearly ready for use. Carpenters and painters are putting the finishing touches upon the interior and the structure has now assumed natural proportions.

The establishment of a manual training school for pupils attending the High School department of the borough schools was made possible through the generosity of Charles W. McCutchen, who donated the sum of $2 500, while the State contributed an equal amount, making $5,000 in all. Hereafter each year the State will contribute $2,500, together with $400 for each teacher in the manual training school, which is to be devoted toward maintaining the school.

The building is of brick, two stories high and about 60 feet long. It is thoroughly ventilated and will be heated from the main building.

The manual training school will be opened Monday, January 28, when active operations will be begun in teaching carpentry, cooking, drawing, etc. There are but four principal rooms. They are each about 24x32 feet and open into a spacious hallway.

The first room one enters is on the lower floor at the south side of the building. This room will be used as a carpenter shop. In this will be 18 carpenter's benches and plenty of suitable tools for each pupil. Arranged along the south side of the room will be twenty lockers to be used for the storage of tools and patterns. The lockers will be supplied with keys, which are to be hung on pegs near the entrance to the room and are fastened in, only to be released by a master key. This department will be in charge of Robert Sander, a graduate of Stevens' Institute, of Hoboken.

Directly off the hall is a small dark room, to be used by pupils who study photography.

The lower north room, which is the same size as that occupied by pupils studying carpentery, will be used as a laboratory. It will be supplied with every modern appliance known to science for this very interesting study. The chemicals will be kept in a glass case at one side of the room and supplied with a hood to admit of all gases escaping to the ventilators. The case will also be fitted with sliding sash doors. This room will probably not be supplied with apparatus for work at present.

Ascending the broad stair case the visitor finds two more large rooms. The one at the south will be used for for drawing and will be fitted with suitable tables.

Directly in rear of this at the south side of the building is the cooking room. It is expected that this room will prove to be one of the most interesting of any in the building, particularly if the pupils avail themselves of their opportunities and succeed in learning to make the good things to eat that may be possible. This department will be in charge of Miss Bessie Taylor, a young woman well-known in this city, and who is skilled in her line. The cooking room will be supplied with every convenience known to the culinary art. There will be two long tables located in the centre of the room, each provided with twelve gas burners, while running along the middle of each table are metal rods upon which will be suspended various cooking utensils when not in use. The tops of the tables are of slate, one half inch thick, and covered with white tiling. Underneath and at the sides are drawers, moulding and boards. The cooking tables are the same as those in use at the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and are said to be the best yet devised for this purpose.

Besides the tables with gas burners there is also to be a large sized cooking range to be used for baking and roasting. At another point in the room there will be tanks of hot water and faucets supplying cold water. As in the carpenter shop, each pupil will

While other farces have come and gone "The Cellar Door" keeps floating on the high tide of prosperity and Mackie has achieved fame and fortune. Good specialties, greatest comedians and all the latest songs and dances. Among the people supporting Mackie are the Bernard sisters, singers and acrobatic dancers, well-known in the east, and a host of clever dancing soubrettes. Not forgetting last but not least Miss Louise Sanford, that queen of all comediennes, in her latest success.

If you want to get at seat at Music Hall for Saturday matinee and night, secure seats early, for indications are that during the engagement of Little Iola Pomeroy in her own musical farce with its great specialties, choruses of pretty girls and the Herald Square Quartette of Klaw and Erlanger's "1492" fame, the seats will be at a premium because every where this popular soubrette star has appeared she has done a phenomenal business and the press every where speaks in the highest terms of her and her company. She is a big drawing card and her play "Little Hurricane" abounds in specialties and humorous situations that will make you laugh. Join the majority and see this musical farce that made all Boston laugh for fifteen weeks. Everything new but the name. Iola has a big company, having seventeen people in the cast.

An event of interest to patrons of Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre will occur next Monday, January 21, when Rose Coghlan, a favorite with all theatre goers, and Louis Massen appear in Frank A. Ferguson's new one act comedy drama, "The Ace of Trumps." Other vaudeville favorites who will assist Miss Coghlan in all-star programme are: The Streator Zouaves, fresh from their European tour, in their marvelous drilling feats and wall scaling sensation; Joe Welch, in his quaint Hebrew character studies; Mlle. Delbosq, the European wire performer; Fields and Ward, clever comedians; Lizzie Raymond, commedienne; Lew Hawkins, minstrel jester; Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Neuville, in a new playlet, "How It Ended"; Crane Bros., the Mudtown rube, Kreisel's performing dogs; Spencer Kelly, baritone; Three Juggling Barretts, and many more.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—An adjourned meeting of the Common Council will be held next Monday evening to close up the business for the month.

—The most soothing, healing and antiseptic application ever devised is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It relieves at once and cures piles, sores, eczema and skin diseases. Beware of imitations. L. W. Randolph.

—An important meeting of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held tomorrow evening.

—Miss Clark, now employed as bookkeeper at the store of C. Frank French, on Somerset street, has resigned her place, the same to take effect Saturday.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Mary Waldron, of West Fourth street, is quite ill at her home.

Miss Ella Whitall, of East Fifth street, returns today after spending a few days with relatives in Newark.

Charles Whitall, of East Fifth street, has returned to Stonington, Conn., after spending a few days with his parents.

Mrs. Theron VanInwagen, of Franklin avenue, who recently lost her husband by death, may take up her residence in Ithaca in the near future. She will return here for awhile, however.

ENGLAND'S RIVALS.

Earl Rosebery Thinks American Aggressiveness Most Threatening.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Earl of Rosebery, responding to a toast to his health last evening at the annual banquet of the Wolverhampton Chamber of Commerce, spoke of the "great commercial warfare being waged against England."

"The chief rivals to be feared," said his lordship, "are America and Germany. The Americans, with their vast and almost incalculable resources, their acuteness and enterprise and their huge population, which will probably be 100,000,000 in 20 years, together with the plan they have adopted for putting accumulated wealth into great co-operative syndicates or trusts for the purpose of carrying on this great commercial warfare, are perhaps the most formidable.

"On the other hand, the Germans, with their calculating and conquering spirit and the energy with which they seize and use the best and most economical methods, are but a little less redoubtable than the Americans.

"The Americans, scarcely satisfied with gigantic individual fortunes, use these by combination to make of capital a power which, wielded by one or two minds, is almost irresistible, and if this power is concentrated against Great Britain in trade warfare it will be a danger we cannot afford to disregard.

"A trust of many millions might compete with any trade in England, underselling all her products at a considerable loss. This is a possible outcome of the immediate future.

"A curious feature, if I may say so without impertinence, seems to be that in combination with the faculty for the acquisition of money there is a complete contempt for money except as a means of making more and for power. These millionaires of whom we hear so much are often men of simple lives, whose simple rule is to make enormous accumulations in order to acquire more power.

"England, in order to withstand international competition, must thoroughly educate her youth, and I would suggest sending batches of young men abroad to learn the best our rivals know."

Neely Will Tell All.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 17.—Friends of C. F. W. Neely, the embezzler of Cuban postal funds, who recently visited him in the Ludlow street jail, report that he gave evidence of weakening and professed a willingness to tell all he knew and make full restitution of the stolen money if the government would grant him immunity from punishment. They say he told them he had enough money in sight, with what his friends could raise, to make good the entire shortage, but the government had shown no disposition to treat with him. It is said that he was fearful of the result of his case before the supreme court, and they now expect him to offer to disclose everything in order to obtain mercy.

Horse Meat For New York.

YONKERS, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Dr. J. T. Dorian of the Yonkers board of health reports to that body that he has discovered a place in the Seventh ward of this city where horses are slaughtered and the meat taken to New York and sold as beef. He said that when he visited the place he found eight carcasses dressed and ready for shipment. Outside in the yard there were several horses that had died, and the doctor said that he understood that the meat from such animals was made into frankfurters, which was supposed to be shipped abroad, but were probably sold in New York city, if not in this city. The horses killed were old ones purchased in New York.

An Oil Lake.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—The excitement in southeastern Texas and southern Louisiana over the discovery of the oil gusher near Beaumont, Tex., is such that the belief is general that a stream of oil underlies the surface of the earth from Corsicana, Tex., to the gulf of Mexico, with an outlet into the ocean some 20 to 30 miles from the shores of Louisiana and Texas, at the famous "oil lake," known to all mariners on the gulf coast. No matter how severe the storm there is always a calm there. The oil lake is always sought by masters of small craft on the appearance of a gulf hurricane.

Hard on British Workmen.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Daily Mail publishes an interview with Mr. Francis Clergue, a Canadian financier, who represents an American syndicate, including Mr. William C. Whitney, for the development of Algoma, western Ontario. Mr. Clergue, who sailed for the United States yesterday by the Oceanic, said the syndicate expected to get the greater part of the colonists not from Great Britain, but from Scandinavia and north Germany. "The British workman's idea," he remarked, "seems to be to do as little work for his pay as possible, and he must have rum or whisky before breakfast."

Logan Statue In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The bronze equestrian heroic statue of General John A. Logan which is to be placed on the pedestal cast of the same metal now standing in Iowa circle, this city, has arrived here from New York on the two masted schooner Ida L. Ray of Stonington, Conn. The statue arrived in New York some six weeks ago from Rome, where the work of casting was done. The statue was brought to Washington by water because it was too large to pass through the tunnels on any of the railway lines between here and New York.

Grip Has Buffalo In Its Grip.

BUFFALO, Jan. 17.—Health Commissioner Wende announces that there are 20,000 cases of grip in Buffalo and no indications of the abatement of the epidemic. The estimate is based on reports made by physicians and is considered as nearly accurate as a report of this kind can be.

Clark Elected Senator.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 17.—W. A. Clark was yesterday afternoon elected United States senator to succeed Thomas M. Carter. Mr. Clark in joint session received 57 votes out of 93 cast on the first ballot and was declared elected. No one was elected for the short term.

Snow In Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 17.—The weather here is unusually cold. It has been snowing for many hours, and the tramways have been stopped and traffic on the railways interfered with.

United Mine Workers.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 17.—The United Mine Workers' convention at Edwardsville has finished its labors and adjourned sine die.

MOUNT'S SUDDEN END

Retired as Governor of Indiana Monday Noon.

WAS A VICTIM OF OVERWORK.

Death Came Without Premonition at the Close of a Busy Day—Had Announced His Retirement From Politics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 17.—James A. Mount, who retired Monday at noon from the office of governor of the state of Indiana, died suddenly at 6:45 o'clock last night in his apartments at the Denison hotel. He had attended a reception tendered by Mrs. Mount to a number of prominent ladies of the city during the afternoon, and shortly after the guests had departed he started out for a walk. Upon his return he said nothing about being ill and after removing his hat and overcoat sat down to read. In a few minutes he turned to his wife and niece, who were in the room, and said:

"I am sick. It is my heart. Send for a doctor at once."

After taking off his collar and tie and assisting her husband to reach his bed Mrs. Mount went out into the corridor, where she met Senator and Mrs. C. C. Bickley of Richmond. She was wringing her hands and said:

"Mr. Mount is very ill. Please get a doctor as quickly as possible."

Dr. O. S. Runnels, was called and found those in attendance at Mr. Mount's bedside chafing his feet and hands in an effort to revive him. He knelt down and listened for a heart beat and, rising on his feet, said:

"You can do nothing more for him. He is dead."

Attorney General William Taylor was passing through the corridor from his room, which is directly opposite the door of the apartments occupied by Mr. Mount, and, hearing the commotion, went in and gave his assistance in the last few minutes of the life of Mr. Mount, whose official counselor he had been during Mr. Mount's term as governor.

In the room at the time of his death were Mrs. Mount, her niece, Senator and Mrs. Bickley, Mrs. John H. Baker, Attorney General Taylor and two physicians.

During the forenoon Mr. Mount visited the office of his former private secretary and was in consultation with him for several hours. In the afternoon he made a speech before the Indiana State Wool Growers' association and was elected president of the association and again spent some time with Colonel Wilson.

Part of the time he spent assisting in receiving his wife's guests.

Word was at once sent to Governor Durbin, who was at Anderson, and instructions were issued at once ordering the issuing of a proclamation.

Three children besides Mrs. Mount are the surviving members of the family. The oldest child is Mrs. Charles Butler, who lives on a farm in Montgomery county adjoining that of her father. Mrs. John W. Nicely, who is now at Beirut, Syria, and the Rev. Harry M. Mount, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Connersville, are the other children.

During his term of office Governor Mount was attacked several times by fainting spells, but none of them was serious.

Colonel Wilson, who was with him during his term of office, said last night:

"Governor Mount was worked to death. His close application to the duties of his office impaired his health, and until some of the burden is removed from the shoulders of the governor of Indiana the exactions of the office will kill anybody."

Governor Mount expected to return to his farm in Montgomery county tomorrow. His death will have no effect politically, as he had announced his permanent retirement from politics.

Mr. Mount was 57 years old. He was brought up on a farm, but received a collegiate education. He entered the army in 1861 as a private and served through the war. In 1890 he was elected to the state senate and served in the sessions of 1891 and 1892. Meantime he conducted farmers' institutes throughout the state, and when he became a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in 1896 the farmers gave his candidacy hearty support and nominated him.

Noted Engineer Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—William Rudolph Otto Bergholz, 68 years old, is dead at New Rochelle, N. Y., of heart disease. Mr. Bergholz was born in Germany and studied civil engineering at Munich. He came to this country when 22 years of age. For a time he followed landscape gardening. He laid out the Le Grand B. Cannon place at Burlington, Vt., among other places. He was in the south during the civil war and joined Sherman's army just before the march to the sea. He was the only engineer with the army in its famous march. He served until the close of the war and was retired as a major. He laid out the Southern Pacific road through Texas and Arkansas, built the Alliance and Lake Erie road in Ohio, and three towns in Ohio have been named after him. He secured the right of way through the government reservation for the West Shore railroad and built the Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburg road.

Many Americans Apply.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—Among the applications reaching the military department for positions on the Baden-Powell police force in South Africa are many from the United States. There were 50 applications received at the department yesterday in all, and half of these came from New York.

A HURRIED DEFENSE

Alleged Slayers of Paterson Girl on the Stand.

ALL ACCUSATIONS ARE DENIED.

The Three Men on Trial Tell Plausible Story In Their Own Behalf. A Sensationally Brief Trial. Summing Up Today.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 17.—Counsel for the defense in the Jennie Bosschieter murder trial yesterday practically closed their case. William A. Death, Walter L. McAlister and Andrew Campbell, the three men now on trial for the murder, went on the stand in their own behalf and told their versions of the events of the night Jennie Bosschieter met her death while in their company. They told the same story practically, and their testimony varied but little as to details.

The plea set up by counsel for the three defendants was a general and specific denial of all the accusations made against the men. He opened with an attack on the moral character of the dead girl and claimed that the prisoners were in no way responsible for the death of Jennie Bosschieter. He denied that she had been drugged, and he denied that she had been ill treated and assaulted.

McAlister, Death and Compbell were each on the stand. Their testimony was on the line that they were acting on a generous impulse when they took the girl out of the saloon to the hack. They claimed that she was "jolly drunk" for a time in the back room of Saal's saloon; said she was joking and laughing after the first drink; that she became "dopey" after taking the absinth and then became dead drunk. They had thought a drive in the fresh air would do her good and had taken her across the river out into the country. The assault was denied. They had lifted the girl out of the hack because she was sick, and they had conducted themselves like humanitarians in their efforts to bring her back to her senses. They had taken her to the brook to obtain water. They would have taken her home after she was dead, but when they reached the neighborhood they saw persons about.

They were frightened at "the dead girl" and did not want to get mixed up in the scandal. They maintained that they had no evil intentions against the girl.

The story as told by each appeared plausible, explanatory and reasonable, but conflicted with the testimony of the hackman and the alleged confessions of Death and Campbell as introduced by the state and admitted as evidence. The state, which was beaten the day before in the effort to introduce the confession said to have been made by Campbell, succeeded in getting it all in in even more detailed a manner than would have been possible the previous day.

When the defense had exhausted its resources, Mr. Emley entered Campbell's confession and then rested.

Southern Railroad Consolidation.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 17.—It is learned that a reorganization of the railroads included in the Plant system in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida has been agreed upon. The meetings of the various boards of directors, at which the reorganization will be effected, is to be held in early April. The Savannah, Florida and Western is to be the leading line in the reorganization. It is to acquire the stock of the other lines comprising the system and issue preferred stock upon all the property included in the consolidation. The lines to be included in the new scheme are the Savannah, Florida and Western, the Charleston and Savannah, the Brunswick and Western, the St. John's River railway, formerly the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West; the Florida Southern, the South Florida, the Silver Springs, Ocala and Gulf, the Green Pond, Walterboro and Branchville, the Abbeville Southern, and the Southwestern Alabama.

After the Magistrates.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 17.—The grand jury has made presentments to court against six magistrates who, it is alleged, have been unlawfully drawing money from the county treasury by manufacturing cases and multiplying cases. They are: Aldermen John J. Ruddy, J. W. Millett, John Lentes and John P. Kelly of this city; Justices of the Peace Nicholas Glenn of Fell township and M. J. Cannon of Olyphant. Judge R. W. Archbald, before whom the presentments were laid, directed the district attorney to prepare indictments against the men. This is the beginning of an inquiry into the official conduct of every magistrate in the county.

The Clark Collection Sale.

BOSTON, Jan. 17.—The sale of the Clark collection of American portraiture continued yesterday. About 350 portraits were sold, ranging in price from 25 cents to $140. This latter price was paid for a portrait of General Knox, and the same purchaser paid $91 for a mezzotint of John Hancock and $50 for another Hancock portrait engraved in 1784 for the Royal American Magazine. A mezzotint of Thomas Jefferson, size eight by ten inches, published in Philadelphia in 1800, brought $81. A set of 13 portraits, full length, of the American and English officers of the Revolution, published at Newcastle-on-Tyne in 1780, brought $2.53 each.

Governor Will Not Try to Punish.

TOPEKA, Jan. 17.—Governor Stanley has decided that he will not issue an offer of a reward for the arrest of the perpetrators of the negro burning in Leavenworth. "It would be absolutely no use to issue the offer," said the governor. "If the guilty persons were arrested they would necessarily have to undergo the first trial in Leavenworth county, and on account of the present condition of public sentiment there it would be absolutely useless to attempt to prosecute anybody there for the crime."

Nicaragua and the Canal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—"The disposition of the people and the government of Nicaragua is most friendly toward the United States, not only with regard to the proposed canal, but in other matters," said William B. Sorsby, United States consul at Greytown, in an interview. Mr. Sorsby is a native of Clinton, Miss. He has been consul for three years and expects to return within 60 days. He left Greytown on Jan. 6 and will go to Washington in a few days.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and colder; brisk to high northwesterly winds.

DE WET ACROSS THE VAAL.

Boer Leader Said to Have Joined Cape Colony Invaders.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The important report received from Johannesburg that General De Wet has crossed the Vaal and joined forces with the Transvaal commandos, if true, probably means the concentration of 7,000 Boers, with several guns, for another big attack.

There is a rumor current in Cape Town that several Boer leaders are urging an attack upon the mines. It has long been understood that General De Wet has been anxious to join the invaders in Cape Colony, and this rumor may be spread to cover an attempt to break southward.

As an outcome of the fact that the Boers in several instances have worn khaki, a government notice has been promulgated in Pretoria prohibiting civilians from wearing khaki and notifying all persons who wear this costume, which is likely to be mistaken for the British uniform, that they will render themselves liable to arrest and imprisonment.

The war office issued no fresh news yesterday.

The response to the government's call for volunteers is said to be very brisk in both London and the provinces. Defensive measures in South Africa proceed apace. Seven thousand men have joined the city guard in Cape Town, and 3,000 have volunteered in the suburbs.

An additional big gun has been mounted on Table mountain.

A small Boer commando entered Sutherland, cut the telegraph wires, looted the stores and then proceeded northward.

According to the Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail, the Boers occupied Aberdeen, 40 miles south of Graaff Reinet, Tuesday.

A unique feature of Kitchener's fighting scouts is the enrollment of 300 Matabele camp followers for riding and leading spare horses. This is likely to renew the color agitation.

A PHILIPPINE CELEBRATION.

American Occupation Anniversary Kept In Mindanao.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The war department has received official advices of a celebration which occurred at Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, on Nov. 16, 1900, in honor of the first anniversary of the occupation of the province of Zamboanga by the Americans. The affair, which was inspired by the rajah, Muda Handi, and his officers, assisted by the presidente, Isidore Midel, was upon invitation of these officials participated in by General Kobbe and his staff. The programme for the day embodied a celebration of mass in the church at 8 o'clock in the morning, which was attended by all the American officers, after which a sumptuous banquet was given the American guests at the boys' schoolhouse. At noon a salute to the Union was fired. At 3:30 p. m. a review was tendered by General Kobbe to the rajah and presidente of all the troops in the vicinity, together with the sailors from the Isla de Luzon, after which General Kobbe, assisted by Dato Mundi and Presidente Midel, held a reception at his quarters, which was attended by all the leading citizens of the province.

The festivities, which were concluded by a ball at the residence of Dato Mundi, were successful and enthusiastic, all the towns in the province were handsomely decorated and illuminated, and General Kobbe reports that he was informed by the native officers that the services and feast were intended to indicate acquiescence in the new order of things and gratitude for benefits conferred.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

Constitutional Convention to Resume Public Sessions Soon.

HAVANA, Jan. 17.—It is expected that the public sessions of the Cuban constitutional convention will begin next Monday. The delegates are rushing business forward as rapidly as possible with that object in view. Many clauses in the draft constitution will be left for public discussion.

The government has signed a contract for a $50,000 schoolhouse in Santiago. It will be the first modern schoolhouse in Cuba and will be built of stone. Mr. O. B. Stillman of New York is the builder.

Contracts aggregating $110,000 have been awarded for the purchase of schoolbooks. The successful bidders are Ginn & Co., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., the Hammett company, the American Book company and Silver & Burdett.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Moslem tribes in Dahomey are preparing to rebel.

Havana's death list in December was the smallest in ten years.

Governor Allen signed the bill establishing jury trials in Porto Rico.

Scott Wike, former assistant secretary of the treasury, died at Quincy, Ills.

The German government has ordered 2,400 tons of sauerkraut in Philadelphia.

The mutilated body of a man was found in a trunk on Pier 11, East river, New York city.

Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., who pleaded guilty of stealing $620,000 from the First National bank, New York, was sentenced to 13 years in Sing Sing by Judge Thomas.

Addicks Men Rejoice.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 17.—The Addicks men are jubilant over having gained three decisive moves on the senatorial chessboard. They secured the appointment by Governor Hunn of Dr. Caleb E. Layton, a prominent Addicks leader, to the office of secretary of state, the highest salaried office in the state because of the success of the incorporation law. They then got the anti-Addicks Republican senators to join them in a caucus and ended the day by overcoming all opposition and securing Layton's confirmation.

Accident Near Corning.

CORNING, N. Y., Jan. 17.—At noon yesterday John Scott of Bath, aged 70 and very deaf, was walking along the Lackawanna railroad tracks to the scene of Tuesday night's big wreck when he was struck by a special and cut to pieces. His head was found on the engine pilot after it had run a mile to the station. A. H. Suker, who was also walking to the wreck, fell in a culvert, cracked his breast bone and was otherwise seriously injured.

Johnson Buys London Railroads.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—It is understood here that Mr. Tom L. Johnson, the American street railroad capitalist, has bought the Baker Street and Waterloo Underground railroad of the London and Globe Finance corporation, limited.

CONGRESSIONAL DOINGS.

Senate to Vote on Army Bill Friday. River and Harbor Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—A final vote upon the pending army reorganization bill will be taken by the senate at 4 o'clock tomorrow under the terms of an agreement reached late yesterday. Speeches in opposition to the bill were delivered by Mr. Allen (Pop.) of Nebraska, Mr. Teller (Silver Rep.) of Colorado and Mr. Butler (Pop.) of North Carolina. Mr. McCumber (Rep.) of North Dakota made an argument in support of the measure. The feature of the debate was the denunciation of the practice of hazing at West Point Military academy. Mr. Allen, Mr. Money of Mississippi and Mr. McCumber declared it to be an evidence of brutality and cowardice, the Mississippi senator maintaining that a cadet whom others attempted to haze would be justified in killing his assailants. He declared that if he were a cadet upon whom such cowardly brutality was attempted he would kill those who assaulted him if he had to wait 100 years for the opportunity.

The river and harbor appropriation bill was passed by the house. The bill has been under consideration for over a week and has been assailed from many quarters, but its friends have stood solidly by it and defeated every amendment to which the river and harbor committee would not agree. The bill passed practically as it came from the committee. It carries slightly less than $60,000,000, of which $23,000,000 is in direct appropriations.

The friends of the Missouri river improvement, although they were unsuccessful in securing what they desired, persuaded Chairman Burton to offer an amendment to permit owners of property abutting on the Missouri to build dikes and wind dams for its protection where such structures do not interfere with the navigation of the stream.

THE BOOZ EXAMINATION.

Chairman Dick Makes the Witnesses Wince.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The congressional committee put in a good day's work at the West Point academy yesterday. While they relaxed for a few hours in the afternoon to witness a drill of the first class cadets in the riding school, they got down to the bottom of the hazing practiced at the academy during the last four years, and, while at least a dozen other witnesses have yet to be examined in this connection, the committee has laid out the work for touching rock bottom before the end of the week.

Three witnesses were examined during the day. They were Cadets Mahaffey, Dockery and Pegram. All three were thoroughly examined by Congressmen Wagner, Driggs, Smith and Clayton.

Not a point was missed by these gentlemen, but what the witnesses received at the hands of these investigators was as nothing to their experience in the hands of the chairman, General Dick of Ohio.

The general questioned them in his quiet, suave manner and led them on by easy stages to the point he desired. Then like a bolt from a clear sky he let loose his torrents of scathing sarcasm, every word of which cut deeply and made each of the witnesses wince. All three of them left the stand in a breathless condition and in a worse state of mind and body than if they had just been compelled to go through the entire curriculum of hazing which, according to the evidence adduced at this investigation, consists of a half hundred different forms.

German Operations In China.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—The government has sent to the reichstag a document concerning progress made at Kiao-chau, province of Shangtung. Everything there threatened to come to a standstill during 1900, but the administration exerted itself to the utmost to keep all works of improvement going on. Harbor improvements did not cease for a single day. The moles made the greatest progress and will soon afford safe anchorage for the largest vessels. Roadmaking and the waterworks at Tsing-tau are nearing completion, and the city has been connected with the transmarine cable system. The stoppage of work on the railway beyond German territory caused redoubled efforts on the line from Kiaochau to Tsing-tau, making possible an opening in the coming spring.

Money Lender Lewis' Will.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Samuel Lewis, the money lender and usurer, who died Sunday, left £4,000,000, all of which goes, under his will, to his widow, with the exception of £200,000, which is divided among relatives. In his will he expresses a desire that his widow should give, in her own name, £400,000 to provide dwellings for the poor of all creeds, £250,000 to the Prince of Wales' Hospital fund, £100,000 to the Jewish board of guardians of London and £200,000 to various hospitals.

THE SCORPION SENT.

Navy Department Orders Gunboat to Venezuelan Port.

AMERICAN INTERESTS THREATENED.

Revolutionary Movement Increasing. Commander Sargent Instructed to Avoid Bloodshed and Destruction of Property if Possible.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—At the request of the state department the navy department has instructed the commander of the Scorpion to proceed at once from La Guayra to Guanoco, Venezuela, to protect American interests upon reports that the revolutionary movement there is increasing and the attempt is making to take possession of the arms of the New York and Bermudez company.

The news came to the state department from a private, but perfectly reliable, source and was made the basis of immediate representations to the navy department. Secretary Long responded very promptly to the request of the state department, and within a few minutes after its receipt Captain Cowles, who is acting as chief of the navigation bureau during the illness of Admiral Crowninshield, was in conference with Acting Secretary Hill at the state department respecting the movements of the naval vessel and the character of the instructions to be sent to Lieutenant Commander Sargent of the Scorpion, which happens to be the only vessel available for immediate service and adjacent to the scene of trouble. Respecting these instructions, nothing could be learned at the state department beyond the statement that Commander Sargent had been instructed to avoid bloodshed and the destruction of property if possible. Still, taken in connection with what has gone before, there is little doubt that if the disturbing forces in Venezuela, whether governmental or revolutionary, are seeking to dispossess the incumbents in the asphalt concession, in defiance of the tacit agreement that there first should be a thorough judicial inquiry, the United States warship will prevent that action, peaceably if possible, forcibly if necessary. Guanoco is not to be found on the ordinary charts, but is said to be the nearest point to the asphalt concessions accessible to the Scorpion, lying up the Orinoco river about two days' run from La Guayra, so that the ship should be at the seat of the trouble before the end of the present week.

The state department is also in receipt of private, but trustworthy, advices to the effect that the Orinoco Shipping and Trading company, two of whose vessels were seized by the Venezuelan government, is an English corporation. The vessels are under British registry, but fly the Venezuelan flag. Under these circumstances the state department has found itself unable to intervene directly to compel restitution, but in view of the fact that American capital is invested in the company it has directed Minister Loomis to use his good offices as far as possible to protect these American interests.

Colored Train Wrecker Hung.

OCALA, Fla., Jan. 17.—Norman McKinney, colored, has been lynched for wrecking the Plant system fast train near Dunnell on Sunday night. The victim implicated two others, who may share the same fate if caught. Monday afternoon McKinney was taking a deep interest in the affair and was promptly arrested by the officers on suspicion. That night he was questioned so closely and told so many conflicting stories that it was decided to carry him to Inverness to the county jail. On the way a mob of 50 or more overpowered the officers and took the prisoner. He was taken back to the scene of the wreck and there confessed the crime, implicating and describing the two others, who have escaped, but are now being hunted. After the confession, in which he stated that the train was wrecked for the purpose of robbery, he was hanged to a tree. The coroner's jury returned the verdict that he met death at the hands of parties unknown.

Wanted Another Victim.

LEAVENWORTH, Jan. 17.—It is learned that the city jail was visited late Tuesday night by a body of masked men on horseback who ordered the jailer to deliver Charles Letcher, a negro who they declared was guilty with Alexander in the assault and murder of Pearl Forbes. Letcher had been arrested for insulting several women and sentenced to serve three months in jail. Jailer Glynn refused to give up the prisoner, and the timely appearance of other officers prevented his being overpowered. The city jail is situated some distance from the county jail, and the excitement around the latter place over Alexander caused the affair at the city jail to pass off almost unnoticed. No further trouble is anticipated.

Thief Was a New Yorker.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The alleged forger for whose extradition the United States authorities are asking is Sigmund Hertz, alias Emden, of New York city. He is supposed to be on board the steamship Corinthian, which left Halifax Sunday, Jan. 6, for Queenstown and Liverpool. The police of both cities are watching for him. It is said that he has absconded with $100,000.

Optical Companies Combine.

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 17.—By a deal that is now under way the American Optical company, the largest concern of its kind in the world, is to absorb the plant of the Southbridge Optical company, one of its biggest rivals. The question of price is the only point not settled upon, and an agreement on this is expected to be reached today.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New Hampshire—North Salem, M. H. Taylor. New York—Owasco Lake, H. L. Burlew. Pennsylvania—Coalport, L. S. Thompson; Elbrook, J. S. G. Lowrey; Gibsonia, R. M. Gibson; Plank Road, Frank Wolf; Starrucca, A. C. Crossley.

Freight Trains Collide.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 17.—A head to head collision between two freight trains occurred on the Ontario and Western railroad at Summitville. One train was standing on the track when the other rounded a curve. The engines were badly wrecked. The crews escaped by jumping.

State Aid in Road Building.

The proposition made by Senator Hutchinson, of Mercer county, that the State bear two-thirds instead of one-third of the cost of road building, has found very few advocates. At the meeting of the State Road Association, held at Trenton Tuesday, the members of that association put themselves on record as being directly opposed to such a plan. While they would greatly like to see the appropriation for State road construction increased from $150,000 to $300,000, as Senator Hutchinson's bill provides, they would much prefer to see the present arrangement whereby the State contributes one-third of the expense remain as it is.

It is not difficult to understand the reason for the opposition to increasing the State's share in the cost in road building. While some of the counties have shown great progress during the past few years in providing good roads and have taken advantage of the State aid in that direction, there are other counties which have entirely neglected the work. These counties would now have the benefit of this increased assistance while the more progressive counties, which are really deserving of all the help that the State can give, did not receive.

It is extremely doubtful whether Mr. Hutchinson's bill, in its present form, at least, will ever pass the Legislature as this particular feature has caused general criticism all over the State, particularly in the counties where many good roads have already been built.

It is almost a truism among eminently successful business men, relates the Philadelphia Record, that newspaper advertising is bound to prove more profitable than any other form of publicity seeking. Still, a western editor the other day could not resist the temptation to relate a recent experience of several merchants in his town. The merchants united in a coupon scheme to get business. And then what did they do? Why, they found it necessary, of course, to advertise the coupons in the newspapers.

All the county engineers of the State have gathered to consider the advisability of the establishment of uniform specifications for the construction of roads throughout the State. It is a question whether such a plan could be worked satisfactorily owing to the great variety of foundations to be found in the different parts of the State. A uniform standard of excellence might, however, work very satisfactorily.

Essex county wants the proposed new Normal School located at East Orange while one of the Assemblymen of Passaic county has introduced a bill providing for its location at Passaic. It might be well to authorize the Normal School first and then allow the State Board of Education, which is fully acquainted with the situation, to decide on the proper location.

After lying idle for so long, it is good to see the big hotel at Netherwood run successfully once more. The many strangers who visited that hostelry last summer gained a very favorable impression of Plainfield and several of them liked this city so well that they have come to make it their permanent home.

Although close to New York, the proprietors of the New Brunswick Press seem to have made a success of their morning paper. Charles A. Prinkitt and William B. Prinkitt have now assumed the entire control and have enlarged their force with the idea of making an even greater success of their venture.

Plainfield's fraternal organizations are well known through the State for their excellence. Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, has just been declared the best drilled and conducted commandery in New Jersey.

One of the recommendations of the retiring street committee of 1900 was that suitable street signs be provided at once. The same members who recommend that step are in the Council now.

The Jersey legislators will not assemble at the State capital again until next week. Next week's session will likely see a host of new bills introduced.

The dealer in sleds has not been doing a rushing business so far this winter.

The days are getting perceptibly longer now.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Assemblyman Meeker, of Union county, comes to the front with the proposition that the State shall go into the life insurance and savings bank business. The bill, which is fully described elsewhere, possesses many novel features and trends in the direction of State socialism. And yet no one can deny that the purpose of the bill is beneficent, and since it is conceded to be the province of the State to provide for the support of the helpless poor, logically it would seem to be quite as much within the scope of its duties to assist those who desire to avoid becoming objects of public charity.—Newark News.

Elizabeth be praised! For there is much interest shown in the subject of paving North Board street in that city with asphalt, as it ought to be paved. Every human being who has ever had occasion to ride into Elizabeth from Newark on any road vehicle, be it wagon or bicycle or automobile, knows what that awful vertebrae jolting, nerve-racking, hummocky, block pavement is that has to be traversed on North Broad street. Everyone has wondered why in the name of modern progress smooth pavement was not provided. And, finally, every man jack, when he reached the macadam which leads out of the town, has breathed a sigh of relief and hastily put the hated city behind him as fast as he could. Elizabeth is not a bad place, after all. If it had such streets as the Oranges and Montclair, people would come from miles away and enjoy it, commending it to their friends and kindred. A new pavement will be a good investment.—Newark Advertiser.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Among other things that are taught pupils at the public schools of the city and borough is to have their shoes free from dirt. If a boy or girl has soiled shoes he or she is compelled to go into the basement and clean them before entering his or her department Several common scrubbing brushes and a long platform have been provided for this purpose. There is no scuffing off the mud in the assembly rooms.

Knights Installed.

The installation of officers of Goodwill Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., took place last evening as follows: Chancellor commander, Joseph H. Saunders; vice chancellor, John A. Scott; prelate, Rev. W. H. McLean; master of exchequer, Rev. George W. Johnston; keeper of records and seal, L. L. Croom; master at arms, Herbert Smith; inner guard, R. Cruse; outer guard, Cyrus Hughes, master of work, Henry Jackson; grand representative, L. L. Croom; alternate, J. H. Saunders. The work of installation was done under the direction of District Deputy Grand Master, L. L. Croom.

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27 in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27-in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier, 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty.

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn, satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked suisses, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits. Cambric, nainsook and suisse edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

IN THE CARPET STORE.

The chief problem of a carpet business is to dispose of the short lengths. We solve the problem by selling them at greatly reduced prices. Lengths suitable for small bed rooms, halls, etc., as follows: 75c and 85c Tapestry Brussels at 45c and 50c. 1 00 and 1 10 Velvets at 75c. 1 00 and 1.10 Axminsters at 75c. 65c Best all-wool Ingrains at 49c. Rug Lengths of above at 35c and 50c and 75c each. Old carpets made over and relaid by skilled workmen.

THE JANUARY FURNITURE -:- SELLING -:-

has been beyond our highest expectations. We have been making new friends and customers every day, and it's not to be wondered at when you consider the extremely low prices prevailing at this sale. It's not a question of money making, simply that of keeping busy during a usually dull month in the furniture line. Many are buying now for their future needs. Goods will be stored till wanted.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan. 17—T. J. Runyon, who for the past nine years has been ticket agent at the local depot of the Central Railroad, has been appointed station master at the Lincoln depot, the change to take effect at once. His many friends in the borough, gained by his courteous attention to the company's patrons, will unite in wishing him success in his new position. As yet no one has been appointed to fill Mr. Runyon's place.

As yet no settlement seems to be in sight in the controversy over the goods stored in the Hetfield building, which belonged to the borough's late resident, Col. W. B. Hayes, and which are now claimed by two separate parties. Replevin papers have been served upon Lawyer Cooz, of New Brunswick, who first stored the goods and he has been unable to dispose of them as was his intention. The goods will now remain where they are until Charles Haynes, of Philadelphia, the other claimant, begins proceedings through the courts.

At a meeting of the Whittier school tenth grade held yesterday, a committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions extending the sympathy of the class to the bereaved mother and brothers of Miss Lizzie Kuldoshes.

Miss May Taylor, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to the Edward White place, which Edward Taylor is taking care of during the owner's absence in California.

John B. Lane, of Bound Brook, a former resident of the borough, was a noticeable figure in town yesterday.

Miss Annie Sirisky, of Raritan, has returned home after an extended visit with relatives in the borough.

Mrs. Frank Wynkoop has been confined to the house for the past week with the grip.

A young daughter has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs Herbert Williams.

The Whist Club will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. A. W. Warden.

Miss Pauline Kratzel is visiting Westfield relatives.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, January 17—Messrs. Elliott and Smalley have started carting brick for Z P. Osmun's new barn which he expects to build on his place.

Miss Rita Brokaw has the grip and therefore is unable to teach school.

Mr. Watton, of New York, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nelson.

Miss Hannah Dantz spent Wednesday in Plainfield.

Mrs. John Otto is confined at home with the grip.

Mrs. Staats Titsworth is ill with the pneumonia.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, January 17.—Town Committeeman Terry was out last night looking after the scraper, which is the property of the township. When the scraper was bought by the township a place had to be provided for the storing of the machine so as to protect it from the weather. Arrangements were made by the Township Committee with John G. Cook to stable it for $15 per annum. Mr. Cook has been crowded for room during the fall and winter, so the scraper was put out into the yard The Committee heard of it and immediately took steps to have the machine taken care of in a proper manner or find other quarters for it. The matter was settled satisfactorily to both parties by Mr. Cook making arrangements to have it put under cover again at once.

Mrs. John Archibold, of Washington Valley, who was taken suddenly ill several nights ago while on her way home from the village, is reported as being dangerously ill. Mrs. Archibold is still at the home of Mr. Roll where she was taken when found and her condition is so critical that it would be dangerous to remove her to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaloway, who have just returned from their honey moon and are spending a few days with Mrs. Kaloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B Coddington, of Netherwood, were the guests of friends in town yesterday.

An interesting reading on "Shakespeare's Works" was enjoyed by the members of the Epworth Literary Society at their meeting held in the Methodist church last evening.

The condition of Stites M. Parse, one of the oldest residents of the village, who has been seriously ill for a week, remains about the same.

Mrs. Andrew Rogers, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aivah Ryno, of East Front street.

Charles Wade, who has been detained at home for several days with the grip, was able to be out again yesterday.

Mrs. Ann Dobbins, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Newark for a week, has returned home.

A regular meeting of the Township Committee will be held in township rooms tomorrow evening.

Mrs. W. S. Terry, of Plainfield, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. James Buckley, yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 17.—The Farther Light Society will meet tomorrow evening at the residence of the Misses Faulks. After the regular business refreshments will be served and a general social time will be in order.

William Hamilton will utilize the school house building which he has recently purchased as an auxiliary to his blacksmith shop. Albert Manning has the contract to renovate the building.

Miss Higgins, principal of the local school, has returned to her duties after an absence of about a week. She has been suffering with the grip.

Mrs. Linaberry has returned home after a week's visit with relatives in New York.

Mrs. Daniel Randolph has returned home after a visit with friends in Dunellen.

An important meeting of the P. O.S. of A. will be held tonight.

Officers were elected at the last meeting of the Red Men.

LOOKING FOR CROWE.

Chief Kiely Receives Circular From Omaha Police Describing Man Said to be Implicated in Kidnapping.

Chief Kiely has received from J. J. Donahue, chief of the Omaha police force, circulars offering a reward of $50,000 for the arrest of Pat Crowe, who is believed to be one of the men implicated in kidnapping the son of E Cudahy, of Omaha The city offers $25 000 and Mr. Cudahy $25 000 for the apprehension of Crowe or any one of the men implicated in the kidnapping

Pat Crowe is described as about forty years of age, five feet ten and a half inches high and weighs about 165 pounds. He has blue eyes, brown hair, light sandy mustache or sandy full beard. He is a heavy drinker and an inveterate cigarette smoker. Crowe has several aliases, sometimes passing under the name of Frank Roberts, John Wilson or Harris.

The circular contains besides the description four photographs of the fugitive, the pictures having been taken at various periods in Crowe's career. The last picture was taken in 1900.

New School Building for Westfield.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Westfield, Jan. 17—At a meeting of the Westfield Board of Education held last evening, Contractor Williams, of Norwich, Conn., was awarded the contract for the new primary school house to be erected on the lot on Elm street recently purchase for the purpose for $9,000. The contract price is $31,950. The next lowest bidder was the Wales, Lyon Co., of Meriden, Conn., which put in a bid of $31,955. # HOW WILL IT AFFECT GUBERNATORIAL RACE?

Codding is counted as a victory for Mahlon Pitney and this made the local fight in Union a matter of State interest. The possibility that Mr. Fowler may appear as a candidate against Senator Kean four years hence, in case the contest continues, enlarges the Union county contest to a national matter and gives point to the possible candidacy of ex-Mayor Rankin for the State Senatorship a year from next fall. The Senator elected at that time will have a vote for Senator Kean's successor."

THE MODE.

Skirts, Separate Bodices and Princess Costumes.

With flannel or velveteen bodices all kinds of wool skirts may be worn. Plaid waists look best with a plain skirt, while waists of plain flannel are better accompaniments to a plaid, checked or figured skirt. With silk and velvet bodices a skirt of satin, broche silk or taffeta is appropriate, or fine cloth, which is at present considered as elegant a material.

Princess gowns are, as usual, considered the highest type of fine costume. In many cases, however, the back alone is in the princess style, the front being a slight blouse or a bolero with vest tabs. The back of the princess gown is far more easily fitted and made perfect than the front; hence this method much simplifies matters. The circular flounce is a frequent addition—indeed it seems to have established for itself a permanent place in the wardrobe, for it completes both skirts and petticoats and adapts itself to all degrees of dress.

Today's picture illustrates an evening gown for a young girl. It is of gauze over white silk and is drawn in to the figure at the waist and hips by nine rows of shirring, which form a sort of yoke and corselet. The long sleeves of wrinkled gauze have three puffs of graduated size and finished by a frill over the hand. The round decolletage is encircled by a drapery of gauze, and a garland of roses is placed at the left shoulder. The edge of the gauze, which forms the foot of the skirt, is embroidered with silk and chenille.

MILLINERY ORNAMENTS.

Decorations For Hats, Bonnets and the Hair.

Roses of gold or silver tissue are the latest millinery ornament. They are placed upon hats of all kinds—fur, lace, tulle, gauze and velvet—and are also used, with the addition of upright toques of ribbon or lace, as hair ornaments. Not long ago decorations for the hair were quite abandoned, but now they are the almost invariable accompaniment of evening dress or demitoilet. The bowknot remains the favorite design, but it has many forms. It is always wired to keep it in shape, but may be of plain silk, satin or velvet ribbon, of gold or silver ribbon, of the two combined or of ribbon embroidered with beads, spangles or jewels. Then there are jeweled hairpins with the head forming a bowknot design, and there are gauze and lace butterflies and little clusters of ostrich tips held by a jewel. These are more mature than the bowknot and butterfly styles and therefore more suitable for middle age.

A picture is given of a black velvet gown. The skirt has a yoke which forms a narrow tablier, and at each side there are corded horizontal tucks. A circular flounce finishes the front, and at the back is a double watteau plait. The bodice has a tight back, while in front there are corded tucks and a plastron embroidered with spangles. The yoke and collar are of white satin embroidered with gold. The plain velvet sleeves have deep cuffs of the white embroidered satin. The belt of silver ribbon is embroidered with gold and has a gold buckle. The hat of black velvet is trimmed with draperies of white panne and has flowers under the brim.

WEDDED AT BRIDE'S HOME.

POPULAR YOUNG PLAINFELDER MARRIED TO YOUNG RARITAN WOMAN.

retty Home Wedding at Which Miss Ina Dailey and Bertram F. Tallamy Were Joined in Wedlock.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Raritan, January 17—A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. V. Dailey, of this place, yesterday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Ina Thompson Dailey, was united in marriage to Bertram Fallon Tallamy, of Plainfield. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion with greens and English ivy, the bride and groom standing beneath a floral bell. Rev. W. H. DeHart, of Raritan, was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Rita Dailey, of Raritan, a sis- of the bride, acted as bridemaid, while the groom was attended by his brother, William Tallamy, of Plainfield. Fred and Louis Tallamy, of Plainfield, brothers of the groom, were the ushers. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white chiffon, tastefully trimmed with lace and ribbon. She carried bridal roses. The bridemaid was gowned in pink chiffon trimmed with lace and carried pink carnations. As the bridal party took their places before the minister, the Lohengrin wedding march was played in an excellent manner by Miss Ida May Tallamy, of Plainfield, a sister of the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests, of which there were 150 from Plainfield, New York, the Oranges, Somerville, Trenton, Three Bridges, Stanton and Readington, adjourned to the music room, where an enjoyable programme of songs and instrumental selections were rendered by the Tallamy brothers and William Holmes, of Plainfield. A supper terminated the festivities after which the young couple departed amid a shower of rice for the Somerville station, where a train was taken for Washington, D. C. After a short stay they will take up their residence in Plainfield on West Sixth street, where the groom has furnished a handsome home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tallamy received a large number of handsome gifts, among them being several to the bride from the members and societies of the Raritan Third Reformed church of which she has always been an active member. The groom's gift to the bride was an elegant gold watch and chain, and to the best man and ushers handsome diamond and pearl scarf pins. The bride's gift to the bridemaid was a pearl brooch. Mr. Tallamy is a well-known young business man of Plainfield and is popular among a large circle of acquaintances.

Let me say I have used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and can thoroughly recommend it for what it claims. Very truly, Rev. H. W. Hathaway, Elizabeth, N. J.

I tried Ely's Cream Balm, and to all appearances am cured of catarrh. The terrible headaches from which I long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50cts., or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

Heating System Satisfactory.

Ralph Giddes, a representative of the Wells' system of heating and ventilating of Newark, yesterday made a thorough and final inspection of the Somerset street borough public school. The test was found to be entirely satisfactory. The school has never been so well heated or ventilated as it is at present.

Seats Going Rapidly.

The sale of seats for "The Private Secretary," to be given in Music Hall Saturday evening, Feb. 16, is progressing rapidly. There are some good seats left, however to select from.

HUNTING DOGS WERE KNIFED.

ANTONIO CHEVETTI WAS ARRESTED CHARGED WITH DOING IT.

Dogs Belonged to His Employer, William Lair, of Bound Brook—Chevetti in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, January 17.—Antonio Chevetti was brought to the Somerville jail yesterday by Officer Sebring, of Bound Brook, committed by Justice Brampton to await the action of the Grand Jury, charged with killing two valuable hunting dogs belonging to his employer, William Lair.

Some time ago one of Mr. Lair's dogs mysteriously disappeared, and he thought that it had been stolen. Yesterday he went into his barn and saw fresh blood on the floor. He asked Chevetti, who was working around the stable, what it meant. Chevetti only shrugged his shoulders. Mr. Lair started to investigate and in a corner found his valuable dogs covered with blood and dying from several knife wounds. A warrant was at once issued for Chevetti's arrest and he is now lodged in jail.

Some time ago, it is alleged that Chevetti held up John King in the highway with a revolver and threatened to blow his brains out if Mr. King would not pension him for life. Mr. King had to promise, but he subsequently had Chevetti arrested and bound over to keep the peace. It seems that Chevetti had been injured in stopping a runaway team of King's, and he thought that this heroic deed should entitle him to be kept in ease the rest of his natural life. Mr. King had paid his doctor's bill and kept him until he was able to work again, but this was not enough for Chevetti.

Y. M. C. A. FOR WESTFIELD.

Meeting Held to Organize a Y. M. C. A. in That Town—Much Interest was Shown.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, January 17.—A number of prominent Westfielders met a Gale's Clubhouse on Elm street, last evening, for the purpose of organizing a Y. M. C. A. in town, but no permanent officers were elected, it being considered best to take advice of State Secretary McCall, who was present and asked that the matter be looked further into before an organization was perfected.

The following committee was appointed to nominate other committees: Roland P. Grant, of the Baptist church; Martin Welles, of the Congregational church; B. H. Woodruff, of the Methodist church; Arthur N. Pierson, of the Presbyterian church, and George L. Delatour, of the Episcopal church.

A committee of five will be appointed to arrange to hold Sunday evening prayer meetings for young men only. A committee of nine will interview the young men of the town to ascertain how many would join such an organization, a committee of five to see about finding suitable rooms and a committee of five to interview the merchants and business men of the town to see how they feel in regard to the movement.

NEW TROLLEY SYSTEM.

B. & O. Railroad Will Discontinue Overhead Trolley Through Tunnel at Baltimore.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Baltimore, January 17—The overhead system used by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to supply power to its electric locomotives running through the city of Baltimore will soon be abandoned in favor of a surface system of supply. This means a loss of about $500,000 in the cost of the overhead fixtures, but it is believed the change will be economical.

Two systems have recently been completed. In the tunnels and near the stations the sectional rail system has been laid down, named after the inventor, John McLeod Murphy. On other portions of the road what is called the third rail has been laid, being similar to that used on the Nantasket Beach Branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Dr. Thiers Gets an Assistant.

Dr. John B L Swentgel, of Brooklyn, a celebrated dentist, has been engaged by Dr. Charles R. Thiers, now of 44 Grove street, to assist him in his work. Dr. Swentgel was for several years associated with Dr. Colton, of New York, and makes a specialty of extracting and bridge work. He comes very highly recommended, and Dr. Thiers is to be congratulated on securing him as his assistant.

Doud and Beekman Won.

In last evening's games in Krewson's pool tournament, Doud beat Stelle 75 to 28 and Beekman won from Pope 60 to 27. As may be seen by the scores neither game was close the players seeming to be rather nervous and not up to their usual form. This evening's games will be much more exciting as all of the players are about in the same class.

Official Visitation.

Grand Foreman Tussey, of Camden, will visit Columbia Lodge, No. 53, A. O. U. W., tomorrow evening, at which time the members of Central Lodge, No. 48, will attend.

COMPLICATED CASE IN COURT

D. W LITTELL WON HIS SUIT AGAINST FRANK VAIL IN NASH'S COURT.

Another Suit Started Against Executor, Thomas Martin, Immediately in Justice Nash's Court.

An unusual proceeding was taken in Justice Nash's court yesterday in the case of D. W. Littell against Frank Vail, formerly of Pumptown. The latter had property left to him by the will of Harriett and Mary Vail and Thomas H. Martin, of Rahway, is the executor. Mr. Littell had writs of attachment issued against property owned by the defendant, as did also J. W. VanSickle and N. B. Smalley, Mayor of the borough. By legal process the money was garnisheed in the hands of Thomas Martin.

Yesterday afternoon the case was tried. Judgment was given the plaintiff for $83 63 and $8 39 costs. Law Student William Nash appeared for the plaintiff, and Fred. Hyer, of Rahway, appeared for Thomas Martin, executor, also J. Smith, of New York, who claims to have an assignment from the the defendant of interest in the estate.

City Counsel Fred Weigel, of New Brunswick, is the attorney for Mr. Smith, of New York. It is claimed that Vail owes money which is in the hands of the executor. Another suit has now been started against the executor and the papers are returnable in Justice Nash's court January 24. An adjournment has been given in the cases of VanSickle and Smalley against Vail, who are represented by Codington & Swackhamer. They were originally first claimants, but, owing to the fact that Littell secured first judgment, it places them next in the list. The cases will be watched with considerable interest by many.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. A. M. McKee, of First place, is confined to the house with illness.

Walter Scott, of East Front street, is recovering from his recent illness.

J. H. Leggett, of Central avenue, is unable to attend to business on account of the grip.

Miss Irene Epner, of East Front street, has returned home from a two weeks' visit with friends in Lakewood.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

Illness Came so Quick That John Kent Could Not Return to His Home.

While making a visit at the home of Julius Williams, of West Fourth street, Tuesday evening, John Kent, of Garwood, suddenly became seriously ill. A physician, who was hurriedly summoned, found the trouble to be pneumonia in a very severe form. He was too ill to be removed and is now receiving the best of care at the hands of Mrs. William Kent, who is a young man, came to this country only two monts ago from England. He secured employment in a Garwood factory and has been boarding with relatives of Mr. Williams at that place.

Installation at Iona Council.

Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, held a regular meeting last night and the deputy great chief from Perth Amboy raised up the chiefs of the council, a list of which was published recently in The Daily Press. There was a large attendance of members and visiting sisters. After the installation refreshments were served and a general good time was had.

Arrested Again.

Minnie Barry, the mother of a four months' old infant, was arrested last evening by Marshal Emmons, who found her in an intoxicated condition at the home of Mrs. Maggie Bell Prior, where she was using profane language. Mayor Smalley fined her $2 which a friend paid.

Present at Launching.

In response to an invitation H. C. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, was one of the guests present yesterday afternoon at the launching of a Government boat at Elizabethport.

Meeting of Directors First.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at 7:45 this evening. The annual meeting will commence at 8 o'clock.

Judgment For Plaintiff.

The contract case of Dinckle et als against Benner was tried yesterday before Justice Nash. Judgment was given the plaintiff for $15 75 and costs.

The Suburban Bluff.

Mrs. Hermitage (of Lonelyville, with suburban interest) — The "For Sale or Lease" sign has disappeared from the Isolates' cottage and they are singing "Home, Sweet Home." They must have sold or leased their place.

Mr. Hermitage (sagely) — Oh! I guess they have only got some city friends spending Sunday with them. —Puck.

One Thing Needed.

The class in physiology was discussing the qualities of food, when the teacher asked: "What has to be done to canned fruits to make them digestible?"

A boy who held up his hand was asked to reply.

"They have to be opened," said he.—Columbus Dispatch.

GAME FISH FOR CRANFORD.

THE RAHWAY RIVER AT THAT POINT STOCKED BY FISH COMMISSION.

Result of Application of Cranford Fish and Game Protective Association.—480 Fish Put in River.

By direction of the State Fish Commission, Warden C. M. Hawkins put in the Rahway river at Cranford last week 480 fine food fish, including black bass, crappies and pickerel, together with a lot of shiners for them to feed upon until they shall have learned where to find their own food. The fish were set ftee opposite the Casino, and above the dam at Vreeland's mills. One of the bass weighed 5 lbs., 4 oz.; the largest crappie, which resembles a sun fish, weighed 3 lbs.; and the pick of the pickerel lacked only an inch of being two feet long.

Mr. Hawkins says that the fish had been taken from the canal at East Millstone when, on January 2, the water was drawn off. To keep them alive they were put into small ponds, subject to recapture at the direction of the commission.

The Commission took favorable action upon an application by the Cranford Fish and Game Protective Association for the stocking of the river, there, with the result as above stated. As many more fish will be set free in a few days.

The spawning season will begin early in March, and the matrons of the river are expected to start families of 5,000 and to have them trained to make their own living before June 15, when countless numbers of them will be orphaned by the exposure of the adult fish to the temptation of bait in which is hidden an angler's hook.

The Curfew in England.

The revival a few days ago in Buckingham of the ancient custom of ringing the curfew bell is a reminder that this picturesque relic of Norman England still survives in more than 30 towns and cities throughout the country. At some of these the bell is rung at certain stated periods only. Thus, at Pertshore, in Worcestershire, the curfew is only heard between November 5 and Candlemas, and at Brackley church from Michaelmas to Lady day only; while its original significance is, of course, entirely a thing of the past. "The knell of parting day" is—or was until recently—still tolled from Canterbury cathedral, and from the church of St. Nicholas, Bristol, every evening. By a code of instruction dated 1481 the suffragan of the Bristol diocese was directed "to ring curfew with one bell at IX of the clock."—London Chronicle.

Wonderful British Dogs.

A delightful story is told of a sportsman who was boasting of the intelligence of his dog. "Would you believe it," he said, "when I was walking into the city he suddenly stopped and pointed at a man by a book stall; and nothing I could do would induce the dog to move. So I went up to the man and said: 'Would you oblige me with your name?' 'Certainly,' said the stranger, 'my name is Partridge.'" Another dog's "tail." A suburban gentleman, who was in the habit of giving his dog some small delicacy on leaving for the city each morning, forgot to do so on one occasion. As he was going out of his house the dog caught his master's coat-tails in his teeth, and, leading him into the garden, stopped at a flower bed. The flowers growing there were "forget-me-nots."—London Globe.

Overlooked the Gold.

An old resident in the eastern Transvaal has told his friends in Kensington how he passed through the enemy's country with $1,000 in gold, which the Boers never succeeding in detecting. After spending some months on his mine, cut off from the world, he determined to say good-by to the Boers. So he beat $1,000 worth of gold into clasps and clamps and nailed them onto his box. He daubed the whole with thick paint and set out on his journey. Although his box was frequently searched the Boer officials never suspected the metal clasps, and the adventurer at length landed with his treasure on safe ground.—London Mail.

Huge Books Found in Peking.

When Peking fell a Buddhist priest named Kawakami, who had been to the temple before the present trouble, at once repaired to it to inspect its treasures, which he had not been allowed to look at previously. The search revealed to him several valuable objects, of which the most remarkable was a complete set of Buddhist texts done in the Thibetan language. The volumes were of prodigious size—so prodigious, indeed, that a pack horse could only carry two or three volumes at a time, and, as there were some 300 copies, the transportation all at once would require the services of 300 horses.—Japan Mail.

Climate Affects Cigars.

Many attempts have been made to grow Havana tobacco in other parts of the world. They have never succeeded; any more than you can persuade an expert that Australian claret is French. The true Havana cigar must be grown in Havana and made there. Export the leaf in bulk and have it made up precisely according to Cuban methods and you will find that the results are quite different. Even the real Havana cigar cannot be smoked for a few days after reaching England. It is "sea-sick."—London Express.

WHY THEY DID IT.

South Plainfield Young Men Declare That They Didn't Swear and Were Not on McDonough's Part of Pond.

Considerable interest is being shown by the people of South Plainfield in the case against two of its well known young men, Claude B. Cubberley and Harry Manning, who were arrested on the complaint of Cormick McDonough for trespassing on the ice at South Plainfield.

McDonough claims that the young men refused to keep off the ice and when ordered to used profane language. The young men claim that they were skating on the upper part of the lake which, they say, does not belong to Mr. McDonough, but is owned by Wm. Faulkes. They also say that they did not use any improper language and, in fact, had little to say to him. They state that they can produce witnesses to prove their statement.

No hearing in the case has yet taken place, as both young men waived examination and were held for the Grand Jury. The facts in the case will, therefore, not come out until that body meets.

SEASON'S WORK OF Y. M. C. A. REVIEWED.

Annual Meeting of the Local Association Was Held in Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT MADE.

STEPHEN CAHOONE SUMMED UP RESULTS OF LAST YEAR'S EFFORTS.

Directors Were All Re-elected Without Opposition—Other Interesting Reports Were Received—Association Is Growing.

Interesting reports, reviewing the work of the institution for the past year, occupied the greater part of the time at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Plainfield, held last evening. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not as large as that of previous years, but it was by no means small.

In addition to the review of the year's work another matter of importance was the election of six directors for a term of three years to fill the expiring terms of H. Otis Newman, John Valiant, Curtis M. Thorpe, B. H. Badford, J Herbert Case and George M. Rittenhouse. By a unanimous vote all six were elected to succeed themselves.

The lengthiest and by far the most important of the numerous reports read was that of President Stephen Cahoone in which was given a complete account of the work accomplished by all branches of the association during the past year. A suggestive fact though briefly mentioned, was that the life of the association has covered one-third of the century just passed.

According to the report, the association now has a total membership of 412, comprising all departments. This is a gratifying increase over that of last year. All the work has an underlying religious purpose and tendency, but it is sub divided for convenience.

Under the head of religious work, the Sunday afternoon meetings have been the most prominent feature, and in the past year 52 services had an average attendance of 98. Six classes for Bible study are in operation all of which have increased greatly in attendance during the past year. In addition to these classes the usual amount of personal work has been carried on by the General Secretary and other workers. Men have been visited at their homes in sickness, prayed with, counselled and encouraged. Through the untiring efforts of Secretary Manning, men have been directed to suitable boarding places 38 times; 18 situations have been obtained for worthy applicants, and, on 15 occasions, men have been helped to temporary employment, and 37 times have been assisted in various ways.

Mr. Cahoone credited the association's wide influence as being due mainly to the unfailing courtesy extended by Secretary Manning to all visitors to the building and for the complete consideration he has for all his work. His duties were as diverse as they were numerous but they are all discharged faithfully.

Mr. Heywood, director of the physical work of the association, was also congratulated for its prosperous condition and for the result of the past year's work. The gymnasium classes, boy's, young men's and business men's, had an average attendance for the past year of 62. Besides these Mr. Heywood conducts a class for young women, which meets on Thursday afternoons of each week. He has made 91 physical examinations, given special treatment to three persons by advice of their physicians, taught a weekly class for Bible study composed of gymnasium members and in many ways furthered the interests of this department of the association. During the past year 167 different men and 50 boys have used the physical department.

Another important branch of the association is the educational department which has an enrollment of 68 and an average attendance of 32. Classes are conducted in mechanical drawing, mathematics, book keeping, Spanish and German. Most of the teachers of this department serve without pay.

Mr. Cahoone also gave brief mention to the benefits derived from the Star course of entertainments, the work of the Volunteer Missionary League, whose object is to develop a true missionary spirit in the association, and to the Christmas dinner given to poor boys by the Junior branch. In closing

FUNERAL OF MAYOR MACK.

BUSINESS PRACTICALLY SUSPENDED IN ELIZABETH YESTERDAY.

Thousands Paid Their Respects to the Memory of the Departed Mayor—Very Impressive Service.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 18.—The funeral of William A. M. Mack, the late Mayor of this city, was held in St. John's Episcopal church yesterday. Business was practically suspended throughout the city, and thousands of people stood in the streets to see the funeral cortege pass. It is estimated that 10,000 people viewed the body at the home of the late Mayor Wednesday. All the children of the public and parochial schools passed through the house to pay their tribute of respect to their dead friend. Governor Voorhees, ex-Mayor Rankin, the directors of the Elizabethport Bank, of which Dr. Mack was one of the founders, and the medical staff of the General Hospital, who were the pallbearers, were present, and the city was represented by its officials.

The body was escorted to St. John's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon by a platoon of police. The bells of the churches were tolled while the procession was passing, and hundreds of flags draped in crape were displayed in front of the stores and homes. Five thousand persons viewed the body in the church. The invocation was delivered by Rev. John V. Ellison; the Scriptural reading was by Rev. J. W. Trout; the address by Rev. Dr. E. T. Tomlinson, and the oration by Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook. The body was placed in a vault in Evergreen cemetery.

CHARMING TEA.

Given By Mrs. John M. Whiton to Women's Association of Congregational Church.

A charming tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. John M. Whiton, of 821 Central avenue, to the Congregational Women's Association, of this city. A large number of Plainfield women were present. The guests were received by Mrs. Whiton, and an enjoyable programme was given during the afternoon. This included reports of the work of the association; the reading of a short story, "Cindy's Chance," by Mrs. Chares Lyman Goodrich; three vocal solos, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," a lullaby, and a Scotch air by Hawley, by Miss Grace Hart, and a chapter from Ralph Conner's "Black Rock," read by Miss Annie E. Ellis.

At the conclusion of the programme tea was served. Mrs. Alexandar Millar and Mrs. Anthony C. LaBoyteaux presided at the table, and were assisted by Miss Elsie DeRiemer Suffern, Miss Minnie Genevieve Morse and Miss Annie E. Ellis. The decorations in the dining room were pink. Bouquets of narcissus were placed about the house.

Says Sale Was All Right.

Some goods owned by Mrs. James A. Moore, of Clinton avenue, were sold Tuesday afternoon by Mr. Hand, of the auctioneer firm of Hand & Pangborn. As Mrs. Moore owned the goods, including poultry, horses, wagons, etc., and as she had no further use for them, she desired to sell. In justice to Mr. Moore, the husband, and at the request of Mr. Hand, The Daily Press is asked to say that the sale was perfectly straight. Mr. Hand says that he satisfied himself before the sale that Mr. Moore does not owe any money, and therefore consented to the sale of the goods.

Will Sustain Reputation.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church have established an enviable reputation as good providers and hostesses. This reputation will be maintained at the annual turkey supper to be held on Thursday and Friday evening, January 24 and 25. There will be music by an orchestra each evening.

Will Help Entertain.

Ferdinand O. Smith, of West Front street, will go to Orange today where he will take part in an enertainment to be given this evening by the Golden Star Lodge. Mr. Smith will give some recitations.

At The Hospital.

Some improvements in the way of cleansing are being made at the hospital. A few days ago the men's ward was cleaned, and soon the woman's ward will be treated likewise.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Florence M. Kline, of this city, to Charles S. Langdon, of New York, is announced.

TWENTY YEARS FOR BALDWIN'S SLAYER.

Thomas Doyle Found Guilty of Murder in Second Degree—Sentenced at Once.

PRISON FOR TWENTY YEARS.

JURY IN THE CASE BROUGHT IN A VERDICT YESTEADAY AFTERNOON.

Was Only Out Two Hours and a Half—Doyle Pleaded Guilty of Assault of Girl and Given a Year For That Offence.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, January 18—Thos. Doyle, charged with the murder of Farmer Baldwin, of Union, was found guilty yesterday afternoon of murder in the second degree and Justice Van Syckel promply sentenced him to twenty years in State prison.

The trial of Doyle was completed yesterday. At the morning session, Lawyer John F. Brown, counsel for the prisoner, concluded his summing up and Prosecutor English presented the side of the State.

At 12:30 o'clock the speeches of the lawyers were over and Justtce Van-Sickel charged the jury. In charging them the Judge said Doyle was not justified in shooting Baldwin, even after the latter had shot him, as he had no right to take the law in his own hands and his act was therefore criminal. The prisoner had not said that he shot in self defence but had fired at Baldwin because the latter had shot him and therefore Doyle's act was in the nature of seeking a revenge.

The jury retired at 1 o'clock and at 2:25 o'clock announced that a verdict had been reached. The jury then returned to the court room and announced that Doyle was guilty of murder in the second degree. He was sentenced immediately.

Doyle pleaded guilty to having assaulted the girl for which he was sentenced to one year in State Prison, the two sentences to run concurrent.

FINE MUSIC

Programme of Concert to Be Given by Kneisel Quartette at Casino Tomorrow Evening.

The Kneisel Quartette, of New York, will give a subscription concert at the Casino tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock sharp. The quartette is composed of Franz Kneisel, first violin; Karl Ondricek, second violin; Lovis Svecenski, viola; Alwin Schroeder, violoncello. The music rendered is pronounced by the best critics to be the finest. The New York papers have been unstinted in their praise of the quartette's work. The following carefully selected programme will be presented tomorrow evening:

Beethoven..Quartette in A Major. op. 18, No. 5
Allegro.
Menuetto.
Andante Cantabile.
Allegro.
Chopin—"Lanto" for Violoncello and Strings.
A. Schroeder.
Schubert—Quartette in C Minor—
One Movement
Written in December, 1820. First published in 1868. The Ms. was in the possession of Johannes Brahms. The other movements of this work were never written.
Dvorak—Quartette in E-flat Major. op. 51.
Allegro ma non troppo.
Dumka. (Andante con moto.)
Romance. (Andante con moto.)
Finale. (Allegro assai.)

Testified for First Time.

Notwithstanding the very stormy weather there were about twenty persons in attendance at Marconnier chapel last evening and a very helpful meeting was the result, several persons testifying for the first time and resolving with the help of God to lead Christian lives in the future. Rev. Dr. Schenck, Superintendent H. W. Marshall and several members of Trinity Reformed church, were among the number present and all thoroughly enjoyed Dr. Schenck's earnest words on the necessity of the indwelling of the Holy City.

Gave a Euchre Party.

Miss Noan Doyle, of Richmond street, gave a pleasant euchre party at her home last evening. First prizes were awarded to Miss McLaughlin and William Connelly and second prizes to Miss Lizzie Casey and David Mack. The booby prizes were secured by Miss Nellie Casey and William DePlanque. Following the games refreshments were served and the young people enjoyed dancing until a late hour.

FEARS FATHER WILL KILL HER

BUT MAYOR IS ILL AND JUSTICE WILL ISSUE NO WARRANT.

Young Italian Girl is Trying to Obtain Protection From Enraged Parent—Result of a Family Quarrel.

There was a lively time last evening at the home of Austin Salvi, an Italian, who lives at the corner of Watchung avenue and Pearl street. It was all over the fact that Tony Dantz, who lives in a house in the rear, was drunk and in a quarrelsome mood. It appears that Clementine Dantz, Tony's daughter, has been living with her uncle, Austin Salvi, but her father appears to object, because he does not like his brother-in law.

This morning Salvi and Clementine Dantz, together with the two other Italians, went before Justice Mattison to procure a warrant for Dantz's arrest, charging him with threatening to kill the girl and do other dire things to the other members of the family. Clemintine told the justice that her father chased her from the house some time ago. Since then she has been living with her uncle. The girl said her father was drunk last night and went to Salvi's home where he had made threats to kill the entire family.

Justice Mattison thought the matter was a question for the borough magistrate to adjust. He refused to issue a warrant. The justice suggested that the marshal go before the Mayor and have a borough warrant issued. Marshal Campbell told the justice that the Mayor was ill and could not attend to the matter. Justice Mattison claimed that it did not come under his jurisdiction and he declined to issue a warrant.

IN HONOR OF GUEST.

Pleasant Social Event at Home of Mrs. John Bushnell, of Central Avenue, Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a delightful social affair at the home of Mrs. John Bushnell, of 331 Central avenue, yesterday afternoon, on the occasion of a tea given to about seventy-five of her friends, and in honor of her daughters and their friend, Miss Amy Sellers, of Carlisle, Pa. Mrs. Bushnell was assisted in receiving by her daughters and Miss Sellers. The decorations were of red and very handsome, a profusion of red roses being conspicuous on the table. Mrs. Wm. Myers and Mrs. Francis C. Harder poured the tea, and Miss Tracy, Miss Cook and Miss Lovell were in the dining room.

GAVIN WON.

Defeated C. L. Howard in Twenty-Five Bird Race at Campbell's Road House Yesterday.

A large number of crack trap shooters from this city, New Brunswick, Metuchen, Rahway and Dunellen, assembled at Campbell's road house yesterday and witnessed one of the best matches held in this vicinity in some time. The contestants were D. E. Gavin, of the borough, and C. L. Howard, of this city. The former won easily, securing 23 out of a possible 25, against his opponents 17.

After the match several miss and out events were held, all of which were won by the borough crack, D. E. Gavin, who secured every bird.

Plainfielders on Committees.

The Retail Merchants' Association of New Jersey, comprised mostly of grocers doing business in the State, held a session at Newark Wednesday. The convention decided by a unanimous vote to present a bill to the present Legislature tending to recover judgments from debtors. Fred W. Dunn, of this city, was made a member of the committees on transportation and fire insurance; C. E. Gulick on trade interests and Adam Dealaman, of Dunellen, on legislative and trade interests (general)

May Return to Plainfield.

It is being whispered around by a few of J. P. Laire's many friends in Plainfield that he has about completed arrangements with the firm that he represents at Trenton to return back to Plainfield soon. There is no doubt but that Plainfield people will receive Mr. Laire with open arms.

President At Mayor Mack's Funeral.

Among those from this city who attended the funeral of Dr. William A. M. Mack, Mayor of Elizabeth, which was held at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon were City Clerk J. T. McMurray, Postmaster E. H. Bird, Andrew J. McCardell and Patrick Kiely, chief of police.

MEETING PLACE FOR LOCAL LABOR UNIONS

Labor Organizations of the City Considering Advisability of Having Headquarters.

A GENERAL ASSEMBLY HALL.

WOULD HAVE PUBLIC READING ROOM IN CONNECTION WITH IT.

The Two Thousand Union Men in Plainfield Have No Regular Meeting Place—Several Buildings Have Already Been Considered.

The various labor organizations in this city have under advisement the leasing of a general assembly hall where all organizations can hold meetings. There are nearly 2,000 union men in Plainfield. They are found among the carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, machinists, hod carriers, printers, in fact nearly every trade known has a well established union organization in this city. The various unions have for some time been agitating the question whether it would be wise to have a central place of meeting, where each organization can have assembly rooms.

It is the belief that a central place of meeting will be advantageous to the interests of the union organizations. It has been proposed to have, besides meeting rooms, a public reading room that will be open at all hours of day or evening, and where a member of any union will feel perfectly free to go. The room is to be supplied with the daily papers, suitable books and various games.

The feasability of such an undertaking has been discussed at the various meetings of the local unions from time to time for several months. It is believed that the matter was first brought to the attention of the labor organizations of this city by the Building Trades' Council, a particularly strong organization, numbering among its members all unions that are in any way connected with the building business.

No definite plans have as yet been formulated. Several buildings have been mentioned, but as yet a suitable place that will be central and not too expensive, has not been found that is considered desirable in every particular. The unions have had two or three buildings offered them by the owners or agents, one or two being quite reasonable in the price of rental and convenient to the central portion of the city.

If it is decided to establish a central headquarters where all unions can have headquarters, the cost for maintaining such a place will be assessed pro rata against each union. If such a plan was adopted the expense would not be heavy neither would it entail a hardship upon individual unions.

It is possible that the matter may be brought to a head in a few weeks by having each union send a delegate to joint meeting to be called for the purpose of taking some action toward furthering the project.

Besides the fact that a central meeting place would conduce to the general welfare of unionism, it would also, it is believed, be the means of promoting sociability. From a moral standpoint, also, it might result in being of vast benefit, as it would keep from the streets, and possibly from saloons, a class of men who have no place for recreation. The associations that would be formed might be valuable too in the way of educational advantages.

TRIAL OF TWO MEN CHARGED WITH ENTERING HOUSE AT LINCOLN.

Defence Began This Morning—Men Claim That They Hadn't Been Near The House That Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, January 18.—The trial of James Murray and James Ryan, who are charged with breaking and entering the house of Lawrence W. Reedy, at Lincoln, November 11, was continued in the Middlesex county court this morning. The case was opened Wednesday morning, when Reedy was placed on the stand and told his story.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Reedy and a lad living at the Reedy house were the chief witnesses. Owing to the absence of Prosecutor Voorhees, the case was then laid over until yesterday afternoon when the other witnesses for the State were sworn. The case for the State was then completed.

Judge Covenhoven, counsel for the defense, called his witnesses when court was opened this morning and the defense began. The two prisoners claimed that they did not meet the night of the breaking and entering of Reedy's house until at the sand house. They testified that they had just reached Lincoln coming there on a coal train from Phillipsburg and were in company with some other men all the time.

It is expected that the defence will be completed this afternoon and that the lawyers will sum up in time to give the case to the jury today.

FRED A. POPE WEDDED.

Crouse, of Raritan. Rev. Dr. W. H. DeHart performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. E. S. Jamison.

Miss Mabel Jamison was bridemaid, P. C. Drake was best man and the ushers were S. W. Crouse and H. P. Wyckoff.

Guests were present from Dunellen, Plainfield, Newark, New York, New Brunswick, Trenton, Philadelphia, Somerville and Raritan.

After refreshments the happy couple were driven to Bound Brook, where they took the 8 o'clock train for Washington, D. C.

THROUGH TROLLEY LINE.

Plan to Connect Flemington With Phillipsburg by System of Electric Railways.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Flemington, Jan. 18—The Central New Jersey Trolley Company is procuring franchises for the operation of lines connecting the principal towns in Hunterdon and Warren counties. It is stated that the company proposes to build a line that will connect the towns of Phillipsburg, Washington, High Bridge, Annandale, Clinton, Pittstown, Quakertown, Cherryville, Flemington, Ringoes and Lambertville. The Common Council of Clinton has granted a franchise, and the village trustees of Flemington may take similar action on Monday night. It is said that work will begin on the lines within 60 days after the franchises are granted.

STATE ORGANIZER CANNOT BE FOUND.

Newark Members of University Association Are Worried About Dues That Were Paid Him.

RESIGNED HIS POSITION.

DAVIS ORGANIZED PLAINFIELD BRANCH NEARLY YEAR AGO.

Was Not Popular Here But There Was no Trouble With His Charge of Finances—Main Association Will be Responsible for All Collections.

Although the Plainfield Branch of the University Association exists only in name, at present, the monthly numbers of the magazine, "Progress," still continue to arrive at the homes of over a hundred Plainfielders. The local organization began its career very auspiciously a little less than a year ago. Owing, however, to the general unpopularity of the organizer, Clarence Davis, of Passaic, the interest began to languish very soon.

Mr. Davis is at present the cause of a great deal of worriment to the members of the Newark branch of the association. Mr. Davis collected some $1,200 for enrollment and advance dues, and a short time ago announced that he had resigned as State organizer of the association. Since then, the officers of the Newark branch have been unable to find him.

Superintendent of Schools Gilbert, of Newark, wrote to the officers of the main association in Chicago, and, in return, received a letter from Bishop Fellows, chancellor of the association, in which he assured Mr. Gilbert that the association would be responsible financially for any collections which Mr. Davis might have made.

Mr. Davis was in Plainfield for more than a month last winter forming the local association. Superintendent H. M. Maxson and many of the public school teachers were interested in the work while the membership also included a number of prominent lawyers and clergymen. Mr. Davis' work as instructor did not please many of the members and they did not attend. Mr. Davis finally decided that the association could get along better by itself and withdrew. Rev. Dr. A H. Lewis was made instructor and the association flourished until warm weather came. Study was then given up until fall.

An attempt was made to reorganize the local branch last fall, but business duties made it unable for Rev. Dr. Lewis to continue in his position at the head of the organization, and so it was decided to defer the beginning of the meetings until later. Since then, nothing has been done.

While Mr. Davis was not popular here, his integrity was not questioned and the money paid for dues, which included the subscription for the textbook and magazine, "Progress," evidently reached the proper destination as the magazine has been regularly received by the members ever since.

HOUSE ROBBED.

Thieves at Work at Residence of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh During Absence of Family.

The residence of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh on West Eighth street was broken into last Monday night and ransacked from top to bottom. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh are in the Bahamas for Mr. Marsh's health. It will probably not be known whether anything was stolen until their return early in the spring

During the absence of the family the house is in charge of a colored woman, one of the servants. Warren H. Marsh, a brother of the Corporatoin Counsel, was notified the day the robbery was discovered. He made a thorough inspection but could not ascertain whether anything had been taken. The police were notified.

SUMMING UP.

Opposing Counsel In the Bosschieter Case Address the Jury.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 18.—For the entire session yesterday the opposing counsel in the Jennie Bosschieter murder trial appealed to the jury. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Ralph Shaw began the summing up for the state. It was expected that Mr. Emley would do this, but he merely offered in evidence the undergarment said to have been a part of Jennie Bosschieter's wardrobe.

Mr. Shaw, in his summing up, claimed that the state had proved its case and that its every contention had been sustained. He denounced the accused, who, he said, had taken the girl out to do her to death like a dog. He demanded that the jury render such a verdict as the law and evidence demanded, one of guilty in the highest degree.

Then ex-Judge Francis Scott led in the summing up for the defense. He was followed by City Counsel Michael Dunn. Their addresses were very similar.

They declared that no case had been made out against Walter McAlister, William Death and Andrew Campbell. They ridiculed the expert testimony and branded the hackman Sculthorpe as a man of the lowest type and of the basest motives. They maintained that the story told by him was not supported by evidence and that it was a lie. Mr. Scott made a point that if Sculthorpe's story were to be believed at all he should be a prisoner accused of participation in the crime. Mr. Scott argued that the state had failed to prove its first count, that of assault.

The counsel for the defense declared that it had not been proved that chloral was administered to the girl. Dr. Vandenberg declared that he had seen persons "knocked out" by drinking absinth. The defense maintained that it had not been proved that any of the defendants had purchased chloral or that the bottle alleged to have been found near the dead girl belonged to one of the prisoners. They declared that none of the medical testimony offered had shown that the girl had been assaulted.

Ex-Judge Hoffman will conclude for the defense, and Prosecuting Attorney Emley will conclude the summing up for the state. It is probable that Judge Dixon will give the case to the jury late this afternoon.

Alta Rockefeller Weds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Miss Alta Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, the richest man in America, was married at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to E. Parmlee Prentice of Chicago. She is heiress to $50,000,000, but the wedding, which took place in the palatial home of her father at 4 West Fifty-fourth street, was marked by quiet simplicity and absence of ostentation that usually marks the nuptials of the very rich. The first part of the honeymoon will be passed at the Rockefeller mansion near Tarrytown. At the end of a fortnight they will sail for Europe, returning to Vienna, where the bride will resume treatment for her defective hearing.

Cullom Renominated In Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 18.—The contest among Illinois Republican candidates for the United States senate came to an unexpected close by the announcement that former Governor Tanner and Messrs. Cannon, Hitt and Prince had withdrawn from the race, leaving present United States Senator Cullom a walkover. The announcement of Governor Tanner's withdrawal came first and was shortly followed by announcements from the other candidates. The exact causes that led Senator Cullom's opponents to leave him a clear field are not announced. Senator Cullom was renominated in caucus last night by acclamation.

Large Blast Furnace Starts.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 18.—The new blast furnace of the American Steel and Wire company, which has been in course of construction for the past 14 months, was "blown in" yesterday. This is next to the largest furnace in Ohio. It cost about $1,000,000, and it has a capacity of 500 tons of bessemer pig iron daily. The furnace was lighted by Miss Marie de Forest, the young daughter of the district manager of the company, who was presented with a gold watch as a souvenir by the company.

McNeal Must Stand Trial.

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 18.—Chief of Police Seedenburg returned from Norfolk yesterday with ex-Assistant District Attorney Samuel A. McNeal, who is charged with forgery, embezzlement and conspiracy. ## BRITISH OPERATIONS AT STANDSTILL

Kitchener Supposed to Be Making Preparations For Striking a Decisive Blow Against the Cape Colony Invaders.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Lord Roberts, who was entertained privately at dinner last evening by the United Service club, the guests including the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Duke of Cambridge and some 300 officers, has issued a stirring appeal to the country for a prompt response to the call for 5,000 yeomanry, whose past services in South Africa he highly commends to the gratitude of the nation.

The authorities continue to hold a hopeful view regarding the South African situation, but they seem to recognize that vigorous measures are necessary. The proclamation of martial law throughout almost the whole of Cape Colony, Lord Kitchener's strong measures against the population of the republics, the placing on reduced rations of the wives of men in the Boer service and similar measures go to show that there is still heavy work ahead.

British offensive operations have ceased for the present. It is supposed that Lord Kitchener is collecting his strength for a final effort to crush or to capture the commandos by a repetition of the tactics which caused the surrender of General Cronje and General Prinslow.

It is alleged that the Boers who are concentrating at Carolina and Ermelo are preparing to descend into Natal.

The casualty list issued yesterday shows that the Boers have released 297 British who were captured at Helvetia and Belfast. The facts regarding the captures at Belfast have not yet been allowed to transpire.

It is asserted that more heavy naval guns will be landed at the Cape. Information as to the doings of the invaders is hard to obtain, but it is clear that they are getting very little help from the Dutch. Twice they attempted to capture Barkly East, but both times they were repulsed. For three days they occupied Sutherland, but they cleared out on the approach of a British column. Small scattered parties are reported operating in various parts of the Ceres district.

Apparently the invaders abandoned the idea of attacking Clanwilliam on finding the town well defended. A commando of 1,000 has been active in the Richmond district, but there the Boers have secured only 100 Dutch recruits.

The "stop the war" committee yesterday passed the following resolution:

"Orders which a British officer reports he personally received reveal the adoption by Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener of a policy having for its aim the extermination of a heroic nationality by starving its women and children and the deliberate massacre of unarmed prisoners."

The latter clause alludes to General Kitchener's alleged secret orders to General De Wet's pursuers to take no prisoners.

Copies of letters from an unnamed British officer containing these and other charges will be sent by the committee to Lord Salisbury, Lord Roberts and others.

Boer Families Well Treated.

PRETORIA, Jan. 18.—Boer families and their stock are being systematically brought in to convenient centers from all over the country. They are kept in camps and fed. Those who surrender voluntarily are supplied with full rations, and those whose husbands are still in the field are provided for on a reduced scale, which is raised, when the husbands surrender, to a full allowance. Every opportunity is offered to the refugees to work for pay and for special privileges. Prominent burghers who have surrendered are allowed to visit the camps in order to ascertain the facts as to the treatment.

Martial Law In Cape Colony.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 18.—Martial law has now been proclaimed in every part of Cape Colony except the districts of Cape Town, Simonstown, Wymberg, Port Elizabeth and East London. It has also been proclaimed in Tombuland, Griqualand East and in East and West Pondoland.

It has been proclaimed unlawful for any person in the Cape peninsula, except officials and regular or irregular troops, to possess arms and ammunition or either.

Peace Delegate Accused of Treason.

STANDERTON, Jan. 18.—Boer women brought in by the military report that William Steyn, who was appointed a delegate of the Boers here to ask the fighting Boers to surrender under Lord Kitchener's proclamation, was made a prisoner and sent to Pietrewief, accused of high treason. The Boers are still active around Standerton.

Large Gift For Syracuse University.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 18.—Announcement is made that "a friend" has given $400,000 to the endowment fund of Syracuse university, conditional only upon a like amount being raised among other friends of the institution. The gift is made anonymously, and Chancellor James R. Day refuses to divulge his name, but it is learned from reliable sources that it is John D. Archbold of New York, a vice president of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Archbold is president of the board of trustees of Syracuse university and a close friend of Chancellor Day. This gift follows a long series of annual gifts of from $40,000 to $60,000 made by the same man in a similar anonymous manner.

Arrested For Neglect of Duty.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Chief Conley of the police department has been arrested for alleged neglect of duty in failing to arrest several saloon keepers on charges alleging that they are Raines law violators. Chief Conley gave bail in the sum of $200. Professors H. W. Hibbard and J. S. Reed of Cornell are active workers in the Antisalon league, and charges against the chief were preferred by Professor Hibbard.

Carnegie Library For Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 18.—Mayor James K. McGuire has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie stating that if Syracuse would furnish a good location and agree to spend $30,000 a year upon its library he will give the city a building to cost $200,000. The city will comply with the conditions.

PRUSSIA'S GALA DAY

Bicentenary of the Kingdom Fitly Commemorated.

EMPEROR WEARS DIAMOND CROWN.

Great Pomp Marks the Occasion In Berlin—A Hundred Principalities Represented In the Celebration.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Thus far the celebration of the bicentenary of the kingdom of Prussia has been in every way successful. When the sun rose yesterday morning, it revealed all Berlin in holiday attire. Many thousands of flags waved from housetops and windows. By noon immense crowds had gathered along Unter den Linden, around the Schloss and in the vicinity of the armory, where the festivities were to take place. Thousands of people from the provinces were on hand to witness the sights.

Emperor William, the empress and the court had dropped for the time the mourning donned in tribute to the late Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar.

Altogether 52 knights of the Black Eagle were present at the investiture, among them three foreign knights, the EMPEROR WILLIAM.

Duke of Connaught of England, Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and Grand Duke Vladimir of Russia. The ceremony was in all respects unusually gorgeous. The whole court, together with the highest state, army and navy officials, stood in four rows on both sides of the throne. Emperor William wore a big crown whose diamonds alone aggregated 750 carats, besides pearls and one enormous sapphire, the whole crown weighing three pounds. The royal insignia was borne upon cushions by pages on the right and left.

Throughout the whole day his majesty was in high spirits. During the afternoon, accompanied by the Duke of Connaught, he drove to Charlottenburg, going through the Thiergarten, the people cheering him along the route.

No fewer than 100 principalities are represented in the celebration. The universities, high schools and academies celebrated yesterday or will do so today. Yesterday their delegations placed wreaths on the monuments of Frederick I and William I.

Washington Portraits Sell Well.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—The last day of the Clark sale of prints surpassed in interest any such ever had in the United States. The feature was the auction of the engraved portraits of Washington, 217 of them in the morning averaging just under $10 each. The portrait described as the "Late President of the American congress, London, published in June 16, 1797, by Haines & Son, 19 Rolls Building, Fetter Lane, Height 4½, width 7 inches; small quarto mezzotint, fine brilliant impression, in black frame, similar type to Baker No. 23, but reversed," brought $330 from a Mr. Barry, who also took a similar print for $275 and an original oil painting of Washington, probably by L. PePaon, for $220.

South Dakota Farmers Prosperous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—S. H. Jumper, postmaster at Aberdeen, S. D., stated before the industrial commission that the condition of the farmer had improved materially during the past four years and that there were now practically no foreclosures of mortgages. He said that the thrifty farmers had greatly prospered and added to their acreage by wheat farming. The average price of wheat throughout the wheat producing belt for the past eight years was 54 cents per bushel, and the average for the past four years was 10 cents above the average for the preceding four years.

This "Man" Was a Woman.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—In the death of Murray Hall, proprietor of an employment agency at 145 Sixth avenue, a remarkable state of affairs is disclosed. Hall died from cancer of the left breast, and when Dr. William C. Gallagher made an examination of the supposed man he found the victim to be a woman. Dr. Gallagher learned from other occupants of the house that "Mr." Hall's wife died a few weeks ago after a married life of 20 years. Many who had known Hall for years never suspected that she was not a man. She had kept her secret well.

A Railroad Through Abyssinia.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Daily Mail says it learns that the French concessionaires of the Jibutil, Harrar and Adis Abeba railroad, connecting the capital of Abyssinia with the Red sea, have entered into an agreement with three English companies whereby the latter will provide funds for the construction of the line, which, tapping the immense resources of Abyssinia, will thus be practically under British control.

Turks Starving In Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—The Berliner Tageblatt asserts that the Turkish students here, who number more than 100 and are wholly dependent upon the sultan's stipends, are starving, as they have been without money for a year. The Turkish legation professes to be unable to render any assistance.

Battleship Wisconsin Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The battleship Wisconsin has been accepted by the navy department, subject to the usual three months' reservation. No date has yet been set for putting the vessel into commission. The matter will be settled in a short time.

AMENDED TREATY OPPOSED.

British Government Urged to Stand on Original Agreement.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Times, in the course of an editorial on the Nicaragua canal controversy, expresses itself gratified to find that "the crudeness of Mr. Morgan's methods has startled the press on his own side." It quotes from its New York correspondent, Mr. Smalley, the statement:

"I do not believe that a majority of intelligent Americans either expect or desire Great Britain to submit to what is unmannerly."

The Times commends to Americans the attitude of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in its report on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which, the paper asserts, "takes practically the British view of the canal question."

"It may be taken for granted," continues The Times, "that in some form or other Lord Lansdowne will explain to President McKinley and Secretary Hay that we do not share the senate's views of the freely repudiable character of an international bargain and that we have no notion of allowing the senate to accept all we offered by the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and then to take all we retained as a condition of our offer.

"It will only be necessary to recall the terms of the agreement accepted a year ago with gratitude by American statesmen to refuse assent to a wholly different agreement and to intimate that until the agreement is ratified or other reasonable proposals are courteously presented by the American government we shall continue to stand upon the Clayton-Bulwer treaty."

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

The Krum Inheritance Tax Bill Would Save the State $100,000.

ALBANY, Jan. 18.—The new collateral inheritance tax bill introduced in the senate by Senator Krum carries out the recommendations of the governor fully. The governor suggested the abolishing of fees of county treasurers, and they are abolished by the bill in Albany, Westchester, Erie, Dutchess, Monroe, Oneida, Onondaga, Orange, Queens, Rensselaer, Richmond, Suffolk and Kings.

The bill also abolishes the fees of the comptroller of New York city, approximating $17,000 a year, and in all other counties not mentioned above compels the county treasurer to act as appraiser without extra expense other than the fee he now has. In Erie, New York and Kings, where there are now appraisers, they remain as now, five in New York, two in Kings and one in Erie. In New York the appraisers receive $4,000, in Kings $3,000, in Erie $2,500, in Albany, Westchester, Queens and Suffolk each $1,500 and in the other counties $1,000, except Richmond, where only $250 is allowed.

It is estimated that the bill saves the state, if passed, between $100,000 and $135,000.

Governor Odell yesterday signed the first laws of the session of 1901 and the first of his term as governor. Chapter No. 1 is Assemblyman Allds' bill relative to assessments for paving in Norwich, and Chapter No. 2 is Senator Higgins' bill regarding the approval of the bond given by the county clerk of Cattaraugus.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A hurricane swept over the Suez canal.

The Hamburg-American liner Bulgaria grounded in the Elbe.

A black deer that barks like a dog has been discovered in the Philippines.

The British cruiser Sybille was wrecked near Lambert's bay, Cape Colony.

A man was murdered and robbed and a woman shot on an English railroad train.

The British steamer Kaisari was wrecked on the island of Reunion. Twenty-five lives were lost.

M. Paul Jules Barbier, the French dramatic author and the librettist of "Faust" and many other well known operas, died in Paris.

Want Pay For Extra Time.

BARRE, Vt., Jan. 18.—Many granite cutters and tool sharpeners are pushing their claims for back pay for work done in the service of the United States government nearly 30 years ago. The claims arise out of the building of the Boston and New York postoffices, the government work on Dix, Hurricane and Fox islands and work in navy yards. The claimants worked ten hours a day instead of eight, and they are now trying to collect pay for the extra two hours a day. The navy yard men got their pay two years ago, and the other claims have been before congress three times during the past 20 years.

Shipyards For Carnegie.

ASHTABULA, O., Jan. 18.—The latest announcement made in this section concerning the gigantic projects of the Carnegie company is to the effect that shipyards and a drydock are to be built the coming spring at Conneaut and that work will begin on these plants at about the same time that operations on the construction of the tube works begin. The Conneaut Evening News asserts with positiveness that these new plants are to be built and claims that it will be but the carrying out of a project which was planned last winter.

A Kentucky Cashier Short.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 18.—A special to The Times from Bowling Green, Ky., says: "Luther A. Porter, recently cashier of the Warren Deposit Bank of Bowling Green, is said by the bank officials to be short in his accounts to the amount of $49,000. The alleged shortage was discovered about Jan. 1, but in order to prevent a run on the bank the matter was kept secret, and the sum of $50,000 was charged off from the surplus fund to meet it."

Congressman Bailey Exonerated.

AUSTIN, Jan. 18.—The legislative committee which has been investigating the charges against Congressman Joseph W. Bailey regarding his connection with the issuing of a permit to the Waters-Pierce Oil company to do business in the state in violation of the state anti-trust law closed its sessions yesterday after hearing the testimony of several witnesses. The committee is preparing a report which will fully exonerate Mr. Bailey.

A Girl Firebug.

BRISTOL, Conn., Jan. 18.—Maggie Carroll, aged 17, was arrested on a charge of attempted arson. According to the police, Miss Carroll, who is employed at the factory of the M. L. Bird & Sons company, where several mysterious fires have occurred lately, was caught while fixing a number of matches in cotton. The young woman is held under bonds of $1,500 for the next term of the superior court.

HOLLAND SOCIETY'S DINNER.

Ex-President Cleveland's Address on Conservatism.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Holland society gave its sixteenth annual dinner last night at the Waldorf-Astoria, and the function was the largest in its history, nearly 500 diners being at table. The principal feature of the dinner was the presence and address of ex-President Grover Cleveland, who, in speaking on "Conservatism," made his first public utterance on the Philippine question.

The ex-president said that with success in subjugating the islands a new, untried and exceedingly perilous situation will be forced upon the nation. "We can conquer the Philippines, and after conquering them we can probably govern them," said he. "It is in the strain upon our institutions, the demoralization of our people, the evasion of our constitutional limitations and the perversion of our national mission that our danger lies.

"Our country will never be the same again. For weal or woe we have already irrevocably passed beyond the old lines."

Mr. Cleveland also denounced the Boer war, declaring that the British, like the Americans, are killing natives in an effort to possess their land.

The ex-president read his address, and only once were there signs of disapproval. When he said that this country could never be the same again there were cries of "Oh, oh!" which were continued when he said that, for weal or woe, we had passed beyond old lines.

ALLEGED FORGER ARRESTED.

Hertz, Caught at Queenstown, Professes Ignorance of Charges.

QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 18.—The Allan line steamer Corinthian, Captain Henry, which left Halifax Monday, Jan. 7, for Queenstown and Liverpool, arrived here at 10 o'clock last evening with some difficulty.

Sigmund Hertz of New York city, for whose extradition the United States authorities are asking on charge of forgery, was on board. His wife accompanied him. They were the only passengers booked for Queenstown. They were transferred to the tender, and Hertz was immediately arrested by three detectives. When charged with forgery, Hertz merely replied, "I know nothing about it."

He had given his name in the passenger list as Henry Emden and had described himself as a merchant.

There is no accusation against the wife, but she declined to be separated from her husband, and both were lodged for the night at the police barracks.

Hertz will be charged before a magistrate this morning. It is believed that he possesses a large sum of money and a quantity of bonds, the proceeds of forgery, but the police search discovered nothing.

General Alger Ill.

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—General Alger has suffered a relapse and is now again confined to his bed, a very sick man. One week ago last Monday he left his office not feeling well, and before the end of the day a cold had set in with marked symptoms of grip. He was forced to take to his bed. Last Monday the general was feeling sufficiently well to permit of getting up, and until Wednesday he was about his house, when the fever which had accompanied the attack returned. It is admitted that his illness is quite serious.

Good News For Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 18.—From information just received in this city it is certain that three more manufacturing plants are to make their future homes in this city. They are the Ilion Automobile works of Ilion, N. Y., the De Voe Merino Underwear company of Fort Plain, N. Y., and the Unadilla Tie company. The concerns will bring hundreds of employees to this city. The main reason for their changes in location is to obtain better railroad facilities.

Ice Bound For Two Months.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 18.—According to a dispatch to the Novosti from Irkutsk, on the Angara, 30 miles from the northwest shore of Lake Baikal, both of the Lake Baikal ice breakers are at present unserviceable in consequence of injuries received, and the transportation of passengers or goods will be impossible probably for at least two months.

QUAY TAKES HIS SEAT

A Great Demonstration and Flowers by the Carload.

WARMLY WELCOMED BY THE SENATE

Army Reorganization Discussed—The Hazing at West Point Denounced. The House Works on Postal Law Revision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—As a demonstration in honor of the seating of a single senator and as an elaborate and beautiful floral spectacle the return of Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvania to the senate was unique in the history of that body. Within the memory of the oldest senators nothing approximating yesterday's scene ever was witnessed in the senate on a similar occasion.

Mr. Quay's friends from Pennsylvania came to Washington by the hundred to witness his induction into office, and they brought with them floral offerings literally by the carload. While Mr. Quay's desk and the desks of other senators adjoining his were banked with costly and beautiful floral pieces, scarcely an appreciable quantity of the profusion of flowers his friends had provided could be displayed in the senate chamber.

The demonstration accorded to Mr. Quay when he entered the chamber amounted to an ovation. While he was receiving the congratulations of friends on the floor the hundreds of persons who thronged the galleries rose as one and applauded him tumultuously. That Mr. Quay appreciated this distinctly personal tribute was quite evident. He glanced smilingly around the galleries, nodding familiarly to friends whom he recognized here and there.

The brief ceremony of administering to him the oath of office passed without special event, the president pro tem. having warned those in the galleries that it was against the rules of the senate for spectators to express either approval or disapproval.

During the day's session the army reorganization bill was discussed at length by Mr. Money (Dem.) of Mississippi, Mr. Comas (Rep.) of Maryland and Mr. Bate (Dem.) of Tennessee. The Mississippi senator devoted some attention to the practice of hazing at West Point, which he bitterly denounced.

The entire day was spent by the house upon the bill to revise and codify the postal laws, which is to be the continuing order, not, however, to interfere with appropriation bills or conference reports, until disposed of. It is a bill of 221 pages and is simply a revision of existing laws.

To Observe Sun's Eclipse.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—Plans have been perfected for sending a party of scientists from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to observe the total solar eclipse of May 17, 1901, near Padang, Sumatra. The eclipse is visible only in the Indian ocean. The party, under charge of Professor Alfred E. Burton, will include Harrison W. Smith of the department of physics as photographer, George T. Hosmer and Gerard H. Matthes, the last named being fluent in Dutch. The party will leave New York on the Werra on Feb. 29 for Genoa, at which port they will take the Dutch line steamer Koningen Rengentes, sailing direct to Padang. On this steamer will be a party sent out by the Netherlands government. The central line of the eclipse passes only a few miles south of Padang over hills of about 3,000 feet altitude.

Good Reports From Tilley.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Commander B. F. Tilley of the United States steamship Aberenda reports to the navy department under date of Auckland, N. Z., Dec. 26, that he has just concluded a visit to all the islands of the Samoan group under the control of the United States and found affairs in a very satisfactory condition. He says he was impressed with the great improvement in the condition of the roads, the sanitary and cleanly condition of the villages and the large increase in the planted and cultivated areas. He was cordially received everywhere and given numerous presents of food and Samoan curiosities.

The Booz Inquiry.

WEST POINT, Jan. 18.—The congressional committee only held two sessions at the West Point Military academy yesterday. The afternoon session only lasted a little over an hour. The committee afterward attended a cavalry drill at the riding academy, and after dinner they were entertained at a concert by the West Point Military band at the Cullom Memorial hall. A night session was to have been begun at 9 o'clock, but General Dick decided to postpone any further hearing of testimony until today. Only two witnesses were examined.

Clever Check Swindlers.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—Three men visited the Manhattan Trust company's office yesterday afternoon and presented a check for $400 which was apparently genuine. The amount called for was paid, and the strangers disappeared. Soon afterward, however, it was found that the check was forged, and in course of this investigation it appeared that a check for $500 presented by the men Wednesday, which also was cashed, was bogus. The police are at work on the case, but they have very meager descriptions of the three men implicated.

Child Burned to Death.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 18.—Carl, the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Annie Nystrom of this city, was burned to death yesterday. The mother went out to a grocery store, leaving the child alone in the house, and on returning found the child lying dead on the floor and the woodwork ablaze. The boy had evidently been playing around the kitchen stove and set fire to his clothing.

Vanderbilts In Canada.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt and his bride, a maid and valet, arrived in Montreal via the Delaware and Hudson express from Albany last evening, occupying a parlor compartment in the regular drawing room car. They registered at the Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt are en route to Quebec.

Boy Shot His Mother.

OLEAN, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Bruce Boardman was shot by her young son. The boy was playing with a revolver of small caliber, and, thinking it not loaded, he pointed it at his mother and pressed the trigger. The sight of one eye was destroyed.

Westfield's Y. M. C. A.

Westfield's good folk are again planning to organize a Young Men's Coristian Association in that place. The attempt was tried there some years ago and the association flourished for a time. But interest in it gradually lessened and the support necessary to maintain the Y. M. C. A. building diminished to such an extent that the rooms, provided by the association for the use of its members, had to be given up. Without a home, the organization became a dead-letter, Somerville went through a similar experience.

Now, however, there is renewed interest in the project among the people of Westfield and the promoters of the organization believe that conditions have changed sufficiently to make a permanent organization possible. The business men of that place are to be consulted and it is thought that they will give the plan their vigorous support.

Plainfield has a Young Men's Christian Association which has survived all sorts of vicissitudes and is now on a firm foundation. Nobody, who understands the workings of the local association, questions the expediency of having such an organization in the city. The good which it accomplishes and the opportunities which it presents to the youth of this city cannot be under-estimated.

If Westfield can put its reorganized Y. M. C. A. on a good basis and conduct it with the success that is meeting the efforts of the local workers, there is no doubt but that it will be an excellent thing for Westfield. The only trouble is that the good people who are often at the head of such organizations grow weary of well doing, and the efforts, instead of being steady and persistent, are rather intermittent.

While the enthusiasm lasts, wonderful things can be accomplished, but it is the daily routine that counts in the long run and brings success to crown the efforts of those working toward the desired end. It was this persistent toil that has sustained the local Y. M. C. A. and, if infused in the blood of Westfield's proposed organization to a sufficient amount, will carry to a satisfactory culmination the present movement.

Elizabeth, irrespective of political affiliations, united yesterday to honor the memory of the late Mayor William A. M. Mack, whose sudden death was such a shock to the community. Mayor Mack was a good city official, a good friend and a good man. He achieved wonderful popularity. That unusual popularity has long existed but it has not been brought to such public view as now. His death was regarded as a public calamity and all the city felt the loss. Yesterday, the stores were closed and business practically suspended while the last sad rites were being said

The efficacy of newspaper advertising says the Philadelphia Record has been newly demonstrated at Beverly, Massachusetts, where the First Universalist church trustees have made a contract for a half page of advertising space in the leading newspaper for every Saturday. This half-page is used to declare the doctrines of the church, announce the preacher's subject and the music programme for the next day, tell people how to reach the place and describe the seating arrangements. The church is crowded every Sunday night.

In little over a week, the citizens of the borough will have an opportunity of witnessing the new manual training school in full operation. There are few places the size of North Plainfield that can boast of such an institution and it is bound to draw to that municipality many people who desire to see their children given a practical training in addition to the usual educational advantages afforded by the progressive cities of the State.

The evangelical churches of the globe are trying to arrange for a world-wide revival movement to mark the opening of the Twentieth Century. All through this country, the movement has gained fresh strength. The series of meeting, which are to be held in this city early in March, are really a part of this world-wide effort to evangelize the people of all lands.

What with his concurrent resolution providing for a lieutenant governor for New Jersey, and his bill adopting a new banking scheme, Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker is fast assuming a prominent place in State affairs.

Now that the Rahway Reformatory is ready for occupancy, it would seem as though it were the duty of the Legislature to provide the necessary funds for conducting that institution.

Every day shows the pressing need of a system of street signs for Plainfield. Even a Councilman cannot find many streets inside the city limits.

When Somerset street is widened one of the long-needed improvements in the borough will be an accomplished fact.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Republicans and, in fact, men of all parties in this county will watch with interest the appointment of a successor to Hon. L. A. Thompson as Clerk of the Court of Chancery. If merit alone were considered, Mr. Thompson would be his own successor, as it is conceded by Democrats, as well as Republicans, that the business of the office was never better conducted than at the present time, and that is saying a great deal. But it is reported that Senator Thompson is at present a persona non grata to the powers that be, and that he will have to walk the plank to make room for another. Senator Stokes is supposed to be the choice of Gen. Sewell, and, if this be so, Senator Stokes will be the man. Just imagine supplanting a man of the calibre and attainments of Mr. Thompson with a stateeman of the Stokes stripe!—Somerville Messenger.

Complaints are numerous and loud against the Brunswick Traction Company. The transportation between New Brunswick and Bound Brook is of an uncertain quality. Why the change has been made no one but the trolley magnate can tell. There is no schedule connection with New Brunswick. This results from the N. B cars running on a forty-minutes schedule. The Plainfielders and Somerville people — merchants, especially —like the present arrangements. They can draw on the 4 000 inhabitants of Bound Brook and S. Bound Brook to the disadvantage of New Brunswick. They are all pulling for Bound Brook trade, but New Brunswick is handicapped.

The people are justly complaining about the fare to Somerville. The company has asked more favors from the Bound Brook Council. It wants to substitute chestnut poles for the present octagonals. We hope the Council will say, "Nothing more, gentlemen, until the fare is reduced to five cents to Somerville."—Bound Brook State Centre.

Opening Spring Wash Goods.

Dainty, Cool, Stylish, The Latest, Bewitching.

Fast Colors, Durable, Reliable, Exclusive, Immense Variety

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27-in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27-in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier. 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty.

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked sulisses, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits Cambric, nainsook and sulisse edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan. 18—The cars of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company running through the borough have been equipped with patent air brakes of the latest invention. The power is furnished by the rotary motion of the wheels. They are regarded by experts to be vastly superior to electric brakes as the power is always to be had whether the electric current is on or not.

Charles Cyphers, a former resident of the borough and also of Plainfield, died at his home at Valley Station, Wednesday. Court Dunellen, I. O. F., of which he was a member, will send flowers and two members as representatives to the funeral services which are to be held at Junction tomorrow.

Beginning at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and lasting until 5, a sweet meat sale will be held in the chapel of the Presbyterian church. The pupils of Mrs. T. C. Bodine's Sunday-school class will be in charge and tend to the wants of all purchasers.

Charles Hack has secured several days leave of absence from work in order to recuperate from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Charles Smalley and daughter, of South Orange, are visiting Mrs Smalley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L B Nelson.

The entire family of John Beetham, of Greenbrook, with the exception of Mr. Beetham, are ill with the grip.

Mrs. Wm. Winges, who has been ill for a long time, is able to be about the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tinsman are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son.

Mrs. Everitt Gordon entertained company from Elizabeth yesterday.

Miss Emma Nelson is entertaining Miss Grace Schellhart, of Roseville.

Alvah Gray is again confined to his home by an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Charles Carpenter is entertaining relatives from Califon.

Mrs. Edward Ayers is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Abram Whitlock is ill with pneumonia.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 18. — Aaron Darby, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Darby, had a narrow escape from serious injury from the kick of a horse at Allen's livery stables Wednesday. The little fellow was standing near the animal when it made a savage kick at him. The horse's hoof just grazed the boy's face scratching it quite badly. Had he been a step nearer the blow would have no doubt injured him quite badly.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held an interesting weekly meeting in their rooms last night. The members of Twilight are well pleased with their new and cozy quarters in the Library rooms in Excelsior Hall.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Carel to Witness.

Miss Iola Pomeroy in her merry musical comedy of "Little Hurricane" will be the attraction at Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night. As an incentive for patronage, the management will give to every child attending the matinee, a doll or some kind of toy, as souvenir of the event. The play, however, is one of interest and will be interpreted by a competent cast.

. . . . . .

"The Ladder of Life" comes to Music Hall on Thursday of next week and carries all the scenery used in the production. The cast is the same as that seen at the Metropolis Theatre, New York city, and is without doubt one of the strongest melodramas on the road today. The stars, Miss Myrtle Edwards and Guy T. Bennette, were for several seasons featured with William Gillette's "All the Comforts of Home," and have made an equally successful record in "The Ladder of Life." The papers throughout the country have devoted a great amount of space in eulogizing both the company and the play and they will no doubt be greeted by a large audience on the opening night in this city.

PACKING A BARREL.

Will Be Sent From Warren Chapel to Mission Where Mrs. Rachel Mair Has Been Working.

At Warren Mission chapel yesterday afternoon was held a most interesting and instructive missionary meeting, under the auspices of The King's Foreign Missionary Circle. The attendance was large. Miss Rachel Mair, president of the circle, presided, and, after the usual reports of committees, gave an address on the "Workers of Africa."

The circle have just finished a large quilt, made of pieces of outing flannel, from sample cards received from H. V. Borden, of Hillside avenue. Any other friends who have odd strips of gingham may find them utilized in pillow cases, if sent to the circle to put together, also any bright picture cards, which are arranged in panels, for decorating the mission house where Miss Mair has been.

After the exercises a cup of delicious African coffee was served. This coffee was grown at the mission, where Miss Mair was stationed, and picked by the Wissika boys. The barrel in which these quilts, pillow cases, etc., are to go to Africa is not yet full, and friends may yet have an opportunity to help.

MRS. FISK'S TEA.

Charming Social Event Held at Her Residence on West Seventh Street Yesterday Afternoon.

Among the series of delightful teas that have been given lately by some of Plainfield's society folk, none have been more enjoyable than the one of yesterday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock, given by Mrs. Charles J. Fisk and her daughter, Miss Louise G Fisk, at their home on West Seventh street. The affair was largely attended, despite the disagreeable weather, and the many pleasing features that marked the event fully repaid all who attended.

Mrs. Fisk and her daughter were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs Elliott T. Barrows, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mrs. William T. Kaufman, Mrs. Ames of this city; Mrs. Richey, Miss Richey and Miss Fisk, of Trenton. Others of the younger set who assisted were the Misses Waring, Miss Lowe, Miss Helen Talmage, Miss Bushnell and Miss Reinhart.

PERSONAL.

Miss May Lieb, of Easton, Pa., is visiting at the home of Ticket Agent George Ballantyne, of East Second street.

Mrs. Morgan Taylor, of Boston, formerly of Rockview terrace, has been visiting at the home of S. St. J. McCutchen, of Myrtle avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews, of 49 Grove street, left yesterday for Sunbury, Pa., to spend a week or more at the home of Mrs. Matthews' sister, Mrs. W. J. Greenough.

Will Remove to Passaic.

Mrs. Theron VanIowagen, of Franklin avenue, returned last evening from Ithaca, where she went to bury the remains of her husband. After settling up affairs here she will take up her residence with her sister at Passaic, and not in Ithaca, as previously stated.

Tomorrow is the Last Day for the Greatest Trading Opportunity Ever Offered Plainfielders at this Season of the Year. Don't Let it Pass Without Taking Advantage Of It.

It has been a busy time with us ever since last Saturday morning, when we inaugurated our Great Eight-Day Clearing sale, but tomorrow we propose to keep our clerks busier than ever—if that is possible—in attending to the wants of the customers that will throng our triple stores. You'll probably say we are speaking in quite a positive manner—"counting our chickens before they are hatched," so to speak—but we know from experience that when we offer the bargains that we present in this advertisement today for sale tomorrow that the buyers of Plainfield are not going to let such an opportunity pass without taking advantage of it. It isn't human nature to do it, and Plainfielders are the same as the people the world over—always looking for a bargain. Here in our store tomorrow they are bound to find one; yes, several of them. Monday we commence stock taking—a period that means plenty of extra work for our store staff. The more we sell tomorrow the less we have got to take account of in stock-taking. That's why we want—and we know that we will get it—lots of customers tomorrow to come in, take advantage of our bargains, buy our goods, please themselves and satisfy us in our desire to diminish the hard work incident to stock-taking.

At Twenty-five Cents.

Tomorrow morning we place on sale one lot of sixty-five doz. women's hosiery; fancy stripes, dots and plain. These goods are manufacturers' samples, with scarcely two pair alike. Not any of the lot worth less than 39 cents and most of them 50 cents a pair.

At Twenty-five Cents.

One case of women's black cashmere hosiery, full regular made. Seconds of the regular 50-cent quality—practically as good as the firsts of the same brand.

At Seventeen Cents.

Thirty dozen women's full regular made black cotton hosiery. Never sold heretofore for less than 25 cents.

At Twenty-five Cents.

Men's percale shirts, fast colors, stiff bosoms, detached cuffs. The only sizes in the lot are 15, 15½, 16 and 16½. This low price only made in order to close them out by Saturday night.

At Twenty-five Cents.

A case of women's Swiss ribbed vest and drawers, heavy fleece lined. Easily worth 39 cents a garment. The weather-wise say that we haven't had a sample, hardly, of the severe weather we are yet to have. So there is plenty of wear to be got out of these articles before they are packed away for the summer.

At Ten Cents.

A few odd sizes of children's heavy merino underwear. worth 20 and 25 cents. We anticipate that these will sell quickly. If you need them an early call at our store will be advisable.

At Twenty-five Cents.

Children's Swiss ribbed vests, pants and drawers, fleece lined. All sizes in this lot. These garments are worth fully one-third more than what we have marked them down to.

At Three and a Half Cents.

A case of sixty pieces of outing flannel. Choice light colors, stripes and plaids. Worth six cents a yard.

At Fifty Cents.

Women's umbrellas. Fast black serge covers with natural wood handles and steel rods. A splendid assortment that have been selling for 69c and 89c a piece.

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT.

A mark-down of prices in our household department always means a cut that is astonishing—simply because our prices here are always so much lower than they are in any other store that handles this line of goods. What other stores call a "mark-down" means, practically, that they are meeting our regular prices. Thus it is that when we shave the regular prices to a lower notch in this wind up day of our Eight-Day Sale it means that we are doing a thing that no other house can duplicate. As an evidence that this is so we quote you these prices—they prevail only for tomorrow :

Crystal Glassware.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. Im Landtage wurde jüngsthin unter Anderem das Eingehen der Stellung eines Oberstaatsanwalts wegen ungenügender Beschäftigung beschlossen. Ferner wurden zur Unterstützung des Schulschiffvereins je 2500 Mark auf zwei Jahre bewilligt.

Mecklenburg.

Schwerin. In der hiesigen katholischen Kirche ist unlängst sämmtliches Silbergeräth, welches für den allgemeinen Gottesdienst gebraucht wird, gestohlen worden. Von den Dieben fehlte jede Spur.

Braunschweig. Anhalt. Lippe. Waldeck.

Blankenburg. Der Bankier Fischer vergiftete sich mit 10 Gramm Cyankali. Er ließ sich das tödtliche Gift und, um solches überhaupt zu erhalten, zur Photographie nöthige Substanzen aus einer Berliner Apotheke kommen. Die Waaren nebst dem noch vorhandenen Cyankali wurden polizeilich beschlagnahmt, da die Lieferantin gegen das seit zwei Jahren bestehende Giftgesetz verstieß. Von der Fischer'schen, auf 50,000 Mark lautenden Lebensversicherung erhielten die Hinterbliebenen nichts, da die betreffende Versicherungs-Gesellschaft bei Selbstmorden eine Zahlungsverpflichtung ablehnt.

Dessau. Unsere Stadt ist unlängst regelrecht gepfändet worden. In einem Civilprozesse über 88 Mark hatte das Amtsgericht zu Ungunsten der Stadt entschieden, und die obsiegende Partei ließ, obgleich die Stadt gegen das Urtheil sofort Berufung einlegte, unverweilt—das Sopha im Amtszimmer des Oberbürgermeisters mit Beschlag belegen.

Steinhude. Fuhrmann und Spediteur H. Thiele hat sich erschossen. Derselbe hat 1870—71 den Feldzug in Frankreich mitgemacht. Allwöchentlich fuhr er zwei Mal von hier nach Hannover, durch die Kleinbahn aber wurde sein Geschäft bedeutend beeinträchtigt, und dieser Umstand veranlaßte ihn, seinem Leben auf gewaltsame Weise ein Ende zu machen.

Arolsen. Der aus Helsen gebürtige Musketier Frese vom zweiten ostasiatischen Infanterie-Regiment ist in Peking von einem Kameraden in fahrlässiger Weise erschossen worden.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die Sterbekasse des Bundes Deutscher Gastwirthe, die hierorts ihren Sitz hat, verzeichnete im Jahre 1899 einen Ueberschuß von 97,461 Mark. In Hypotheken wurden weitere 131,700 Mark angelegt. Der Reservefonds beträgt jetzt über 600,000 Mark. Die Kasse hat in den 7 Jahren ihres Bestehens circa 1,300,000 Mark an die Hinterbliebenen verstorbener Bundesmitglieder ausbezahlt. —Die hiesige Technische Hochschule zählt im gegenwärtigen Wintersemester 1664 Hörer, gegen 1563 im letzten Sommersemester. Es studiren: 143 Architektur, 200 Ingenieurwesen, 420 Maschinenbau, 625 Elektrotechnik, 134 Chemie, 31 in der Allgemeinen Abtheilung, dazu kommen 111 Theilnehmer an einzelnen Vorlesungen und 61 Damen.

Bingen. Die Regulirung der untern Nahe, welche lange Zeit in der Schwebe war, wird jetzt Thatsache. Kürzlich besichtigte eine Kommission von Vertretern der preußischen und hessischen Regierung sowie Gemeinde-Vertretern die Ufer der Nahe. Die Lage und Richtung der Schutzdämme ist in der Hauptsache festgestellt.

Gießen. Der Rentner Ludwig Bücking hat aus Anlaß seiner goldenen Hochzeit dem Allgemeinen Verein für Armen- und Krankenpflege eine Stiftung von 10,000 Mark gemacht.

Bayern.

München. An der hiesigen Universität hat sich, nach dem Vorbilde von Berlin, Leipzig, Göttingen und Wien, ein Ausschuß gebildet, der das Entstehen eines Musenalmanachs der Studirenden Münchens bezweckt.—Eine hervorragende Wohlthäterin der Armen, Viktoria Gräfin v. Butler-Haimhausen, feierte kürzlich ihren 90. Geburtstag. Das Kloster Indersdorf für verwahrloste Kinder, die Anstalt Schönbrunn für verwahrloste Kinder, die Anstalt und das Asyl für obdachlose alte Dienstboten in München, das Kindererziehungshaus in Neuhausen und das Arbeiterinnenheim in München verdanken nicht nur ihre Entstehung, sondern auch ihr Gedeihen den Anregungen und Bemühungen der edlen Dame.

Aschaffenburg. Das Ergebniß der Hofjagden im Spessart war heuer ein etwas geringeres als im Vorjahre; es wurden insgesammt 480 Sauen geschossen.

Bayreuth. Justizrath Heidenreich, der langjährige Führer der nationalliberalen Partei des Wahlkreises Bayreuth, ist gestorben.

I must say, said she, I have more confidence than ever in Ripans Tabules. When I woke this morning I had a slight headache but disregarded it, for I had so much to do. I was at the dressmaker's at eleven, then at the milliner's to see what I could find for a bonnet, and by that time my head ached so I was almost crazy and I called a cab and came home; and the first thing I did was to swallow a Ripans; then I attended to two or three matters that could not wait and the next time I thought of the headache it had gone. I believe if I had taken the Tabule when I first got out of bed I should have had no headache at all.

FRENCH FASHIONS.

The World Follows Them, and They Follow the Stage.

Practically the French stage sets the fashion for the civilized world. It is there that novelties in costumes first appear, and they are at once seized upon and copied, with more or less variation, by leading modistes whose designs are taken as models by other countries. The success of "L'Aiglon" has launched a shoal of empire fashions of different degrees of accuracy.

The majority of black silk gowns of all sorts now seen are worn by middle aged and elderly women, to whose years and dignity this reserved sort of elegance is particularly suitable. Black satin and black velvet gowns are, however, used for highly attractive costumes for young women, being cut and ornamented in a youthful way.

The picture shows an evening gown of accordion plaited pink mousseline de soie over pink silk. The skirt has a long tunic of black net embroidered with jet and black spangles. The back of the square cut bodice is of black satin, with draperies at the side of the same material. The front is of embroidered net over pink silk. The wide, plaited belt of black satin has a jeweled buckle in front and a bow and long ends at the back. The long sleeves are of plaited pink mousseline de soie. They have a puff at the elbow and encircling bands of black satin ribbon. The square top of the bodice is bordered by bands of black satin ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

ACCESSORIES.

Pretty Additions to Bodices and Gowns.

A novel accessory is a detachable yoke of lace or passementerie which may be worn with any bodice and which quite changes its aspects. These yokes are round, pointed or square and are so trimmed at the edge that the lapping upon the gown beneath is dissimulated.

The bolero is seen everywhere, from the tea gown and mourning jacket to the coat and long wrap. Often it is separate, to be added or removed at will. Again it is indicated solely by the arrangement of the trimming, which is sewed on in the bolero form.

The corselet bodice is an attractive novelty. The lower part consists of a close corselet which comes up under the arms. Above this the bodice is of taffeta of a contrasting color, entirely plaited or tucked, or it is of velvet or of applications of lace or passementerie. The lower part of the sleeves and the collar are of the same.

The illustration depicts a costume of silver gray bengaline. The skirt is laid in large plaits, and over it is a peplum tunic bordered with embroidery and galloon. The bodice consists of a corselet covered with lines of stitching and a crossed bolero, finished with embroidery and galloon, like the tunic. The yoke and collar are of guipure, and the cravat is of narrow velvet ribbons, with metal tips. The pagoda sleeves end at the elbow with a band of galloon. Below them are large puffs, gathered into galloon cuffs at the wrist. The hat of taffeta has a brim covered with folds and is trimmed with plumes and a pink bow.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 20—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Abiding Influence.—Heb. xi, 4; Math. xxvi, 13.

"The evil that men do lives after them. The good is oft interred with their bones." Thus writes the great poet, but it is not always the case. Good has an abiding influence as well as evil, and the good that men do often lives after them, and they being dead yet speak. The fact is that both good and evil remain after we are gone and exert an influence, and this fact only makes it the more important that our lives should speak for good instead of evil. How long and how farreaching the influence of a life is to be no one can know. Eternity alone can reveal the length and extent of the influences of our lives. What an inspiration this should be in favor of a good life! What a hindrance in the way of an evil life!

In the topical references we have two illustrations of abiding influence, and in both cases for good.

1. Abel's abiding influence, Heb. xi, 4, "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts, and by it he being dead yet speaketh." Abel's life and this particular act in it speak for faith, for the true spirit of worship and for the sacrifice of the best to God. The man who believes and shows his faith by his works has a great influence, and his influence not only lasts during his lifetime, but it is an abiding influence. Abel's faith has been an inspiration to thousands of worshipers and has directed them aright in their worship. Abraham's faith in God, shining out brightly in the days of the grossest idolatry, has been a beacon light in every generation of the world since he lived and has kept multitudes true to their faith in God. So it has been with all the worthies of the past who have believed and who have kept the faith. A life of faith in God has an abiding influence.

2. Mary's abiding influence, Math. xxvi, 13, "Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world there shall also this that this woman hath done be told for a memorial of her." These are Christ's words of eulogy upon Mary for anointing Him with the alabaster box of ointment. His prophecy has been fulfilled. It is fulfilled today. For 2,000 years this beautiful story has been told and has had an abiding influence. This act of Mary's speaks for good deeds and illustrates the fact that not only faith has an abiding influence, but also good deeds. Simple, humble, loving, unselfish deeds of kindness live forever and bear eternal fruit. This should inspire us to fill our lives full of such good deeds. No one wants to be forgotten, and, that we may not, let us imitate the faith of Abel and the service of Mary, and then throughout all time—yea, throughout all eternity—we shall be remembered for what we have believed and for what we have done. Though we are dead, our faith shall speak, and our deeds of loving service shall be remembered.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a testimony meeting. Let each one try to tell what have been the words and deeds of others that have influenced their lives most. Thus we may learn what will influence the lives of others.

Judged by His Chosen Work.

The character of one's work is not determined altogether by its social status. Whatever is necessary is honorable. The mind worker and the physical worker meet upon the same platform. The hand and the brain are always in partnership. One's ability to do tests the divinity of his call. No one was ever called to preach who cannot learn how. Preaching and plowing go on within the same fences. Sometimes we get confused in our missions. We turn the wrong furrows, and because of this turn short ones. A successful plowman and a successful preacher get to the end of their furrows at the same time. Success is always determined by the triumph of one's own vocation. The minister who fails as a preacher is a total failure. He may write books or make fortunes, but the ministerial scales are the ones in which society will weigh him. So with every vocation.—Presbyterian Journal.

Help Me Also.

Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them that trespass against us. It is not sufficient to banish hatred from our hearts. We must also efface every painful recollection. O my God, what happiness is it if Thou wilt forgive me as I forgive! I have been offended by words; I forget. By actions; I forget it. By omissions; I forget it. By unkind thoughts; I forget. I also have offended Thee in all these ways. O my God, and Thou hast forgiven and forgotten all. Help me also to forgive and forget.—Catholic Universe.

Come to Jesus.

O soul, alone and weary,
With burdens hard oppressed,
Come lean thy fainting heart tonight
Upon the Saviour's breast.

A refuge safe and quiet
In Jesus thou shalt find;
The calmness of his changeless love
Will heal thy troubled mind.

O soul, grown sick of sinning,
Bowed low with shame and grief,
Christ waiteth to receive thee now;
His mercy brings relief.

O heart, oppressed and weary,
Thy rest thou'lt never find
Until thou find it in the arms
So strong and true and kind.
—Laville D. Landon.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 20, "Abiding Influences"—Text, Heb. xi, 4; Math. xxvi, 13.

"This shall be told for a memorial."

More enduring than monumental bronze or stone is the simple story of a great truth or a noble deed.

Abel offered sacrifice in confession of sin. He is long ages dead. His grave is unmarked and unknown. Of all his other deeds we know nothing. This one thing the world has never forgotten—he offered sacrifice for sin. It was a prophecy of the great atonement by the Lamb of God; it was a recognition of guilt and expression of contrition; it was an act of faith in God, as more than Creator and giver of life, as Saviour from sin and death.

So also of the alabastron of Mary of Bethany. It was a touchstone of character, revealing her tender love and spiritual penetration of the mission of Jesus. She discerned as no other soul did the impending death. That is the meaning of those moments spent at His feet in breathless listening and heartaching sympathy while Martha was fussing about something to eat and Judas was plotting the satisfaction of greed.

The deed reveals the inner life. We know Abel, we know Mary. No need of statue or monument. Their actions are better memorials than pictured stone or canvas. Tell the story and each heart shall translate it into terms of its own existence. Repeat the facts, not to merely commemorate the names of the doers of the deeds, not that we may implore their influence and intercession for us, but to tell the story that the influence of the truth they discovered and set forth in action may have its proper effect on our minds and be reproduced in our deeds. In this way we live long after bodies have returned to mother dust.

But there was Cain beside Abel and Judas looking at Mary. What are their memorials? The story of their words and acts? And their influences abide also. Which will you admire and emulate?

What honesty of spirit and fixity of purpose we should have if an influence is to abide in such permanence! We can never know how wide the word shall sound nor how far the act shall reach. All we can control is the nature it shall have. We are masters of that. Its effect is far beyond us. As guides in ascending the Matterhorn will not allow a shout or loud word at some part of the ascent lest the noise set some avalanche loose upon the path, so should we consider the results which may follow carelessness on our part, and beware that no unnecessary risk comes from us either for ourselves or other men.

If influence abides and affects others as well as self, we will need to watch well the secret springs of all our nature, for out of the heart proceed all our words and acts. We must have pure hearts if we would have clean lips and hands. "Create in me a clean heart, O Lord!"

Moody Revival Influence.

The great revival meetings of D. L. Moody in America and Great Britain were noted features of the religious history of our times. It is recognized on all sides that the tide of that movement reached its high water mark some time since, and we need not expect in the future a repetition of its effects. Of the permanent results for good we will not undertake to determine. Certain it is that work of another character must engage the attention of the church.

Personal, individual effort seems to be the call of the present. Hand to hand labor and face to face persuasion is the demand of the hour. Mass meetings and platform appeals will not answer the demands. Souls must be sought out and cultivated. The coming year means much to the cause of Christ. Beyond question the people had declined in power of winning men to God. Other things had taken the place of genuine revival zeal, and in consequence the church declined in numbers. We need revival not to replace lost numbers, but to save lost men.

Do you ever speak to any one of personal love for Jesus and try to get them to give the heart to Christ? If you have never attempted to get some one to lead a Christian life, you have lost some of the purest joy this life can afford. No gain of wealth, position, honor or knowledge is comparable to the satisfaction and glow of soul experienced when one has induced a fellow sinner to accept Jesus. Try it and see.

Christmas Bells.

Hark, the bells of Christmas ringing;
All abroad their echoes flinging,
Wider still and wider winging
On the waste of wintry air;
On their solemn, swift vibrations,
Rapture, rapture through the nations;
Rapture till their glad pulsations
Million blissful bosoms share!

Every bell to every hammer
Answers with a joyous clamor—
Answers, till from out the glamour
Of the ages far and dim,
Till from Bethlehem's stable lowly,
Fair as moonrise opening slowly,
Streams of radiance pure and holy
Down the brightening centuries swim.

Then the bells ring fine and tender,
And from out that faroff splendor,
Veiled in light no dreams could lend her,
Lo, the virgin mother mild,
Pale from guiltless pain unspoken,
Calm in faith's deep trust unbroken,
Bright with heaven's unconscious token,
Bends above her wondrous Child.

Crown Him, monarchs, seers and sages!
Crown Him, bards, in deathless pages!
Crown Him King of all the ages!
Let the mighty anthem rise!

Living Christ, o'er sin victorious;
Dying Lamb, all meritorious;
Rising Lord, forever glorious,
Take our songs and hearts, we pray!
May we Thee by faith descrying,
On Thy death, for life relying,
Rise to rapture never dying,
Rise with Thee in endless day.
—George Lansing Taylor.

WAR AGAINST WOLVES.

Nebraska Cattlemen Are Determined to Exterminate Beasts Now Preying on Young Stock.

Western Nebraska is overrun with wolves and coyotes, these animals being more numerous now than ever they were known to be in the history of the state. Losses of young cattle and sheep from the depredations of the wolves have been enormous this season. The calves have suffered mostly, but in many cases full-grown steers have been run down by the pests and torn to pieces.

A few years ago in Nebraska a bounty of five dollars was paid by the state for the slaying of each wolf or coyote, but this became such a prolific source of fraud that the taxpayers put a stop to it. The cattle men did all in their power to have the law observed, but the careless hunters would kill wolves over in Dakota or Wyoming, or wherever they happened to find the biggest packs, and then present the scalps to the Nebraska officials and claim the reward. In addition to this, a good many enterprising Nebraskans found it paid better to raise wolves than it did to breed cattle, so they sold their cattle and went into the business of raising wolves for the bounty.

As a result of all these methods the wolves and coyotes, instead of becoming fewer, actually increased rapidly in numbers.

In 1885 the land boomers advanced the idea that the giving of bounties for the destruction of wild animals was detrimental to the best interests of the state, as it was calculated, they said, to cause eastern people seeking investments in western lands to regard the state as being in a primitive condition. This plea wiped out the five-dollar bounty and resulted in a bounty of one dollar on the wolf and coyote scalps being substituted. So regular wolf hunting ceased. The Nebraska Live Stock association, however, up to this day has kept old Wolf Hunter Watson prowling back and forth over the plains of western Nebraska slaying from one to a dozen wolves a day.

The cattle men of Nebraska are greatly aroused over the situation, and are earnestly discussing how to get rid of the pests. Mr. J. S. Harvey, a well-known cattle man, suggests all the counties in the western part of the state put in operation the bounty of three dollars on wolves and one dollar on coyotes which they are permitted by the state to offer on a majority vote of the citizens of the county. This bounty, added to the state bounty of one dollar for each scalp of wolf or coyote, would make it worth while again for professional wolf hunters to take the field and go into the business of hunting down and killing the wolves.

HIS CAREER ENDED

Playwright Charles H. Hoyt Declared Incurably Insane.

Deplorable Conditions Brought On by Overwork and Worry Over His Wife's Death—List of Farces He Has Written.

Charles H. Hoyt, the playwright and theatrical manager, is now in an asylum for the insane at Hartford, Conn. where his partner, Frank McKee made application before the probate court to have him adjudged insane and his commitment made permanent.

Mr. Hoyt was taken to Hartford from his house in Manchester, N. H. He has been under the care of Drs. G. M. Graham and Dana, New York alienists, the former of whom accompanied him to Hartford. Upon their arrival he was examined by Dr. W. L. Lawton and Dr. G. C. Segur, of Hartford, and pronounced insane.

Mr. Hoyt is said to be in excellent physical health. He is able to realize the seriousness of his state and does not greatly object to the action taken. He expressed a desire, however, to make a statement in his own behalf to the court. He says he has no relatives.

Mr. Hoyt's friends trace his breakdown directly to the loss of his wife Caroline Miskel. Since her death in October, 1898, he is said to have changed rapidly, brooding over his sorrow, and growing exceedinly morbid. As a relief he turned again to literary work and wrecked his health by overwork. Several months spent in Florida resulted in his regaining his bodily strength to some extent, but his mental condition was still unsatisfactory. Soon after his last play, "A Dog in the Manger," was produced and failed. This was a great shock to Mr. Hoyt and resulted in a relapse, which has brought him to his present condition.

The alienists acquainted with Mr. Hoyt's case have not said whether or not eventual cure is probable or possible, but it is not unlikely the career of America's most successful and most characteristic playwright has closed forever.

Charles Hale Hoyt was born at Concord, N. H., July 26, 1860, and was sent by his parents to the Boston Latin school for his final schooling. He then studied law in Charleston, N. H., but gave up the law to take a position on the St. Albans Advertiser, where his talent soon procured him an offer from the Boston Post. The succeeding five years he spent as dramatic and music critic and editorial writer on that paper, when his success in playwriting induced him to give up journalism and devote himself wholly to the writing and production of plays.

His first work—written while on the Post—was a skit called "Gifford's Luck." This had some success and was soon followed by "A Bunch of Keys," the success of which will be well remembered. "A Parlor Match," played by Evans and Hoey up to the death of the latter, a period of 12 years, was the next in order, and it seems should have established the young playwright in the favor of managers. But it did not, for he was unable to secure a producer for his next play, "A Rag Baby."

After taking the farce from one manager to another without success, Mr. Hoyt determined to put it on himself, and with Charles Thomas, his first partner, and Manager Eugene Tompkins, who finally consented to take a third interest, "A Rag Baby" was launched. The result was another great success, and with that Mr. Hoyt resigned his position on the Post, and has since given his entire attention to play-writing and theatrical management.

After "A Rag Baby" followed with wonderful rapidity "A Tin Soldier," "A Hole in the Ground," "A Midnight Bell," "A Brass Monkey," "A Texas Steer," "A Temperance Town," "A Black Sheep," "A Trip to Chinatown," "A Milk-White Flag," "A Contented Woman," "A Stranger in New York," "A Day and a Night in New York," and, finally, "A Dog in the Manger."

The greatest success of these

FOOTBALL.

The game of association football between Plainfield and the Arlingtons, of Newark, tomorrow afternoon, should prove to be an interesting contest as the former team has been strengthened by the addition of five new men, all first-class exponents of the association game. It will be played on the Clinton avenue grounds and the kick off will be made by Henry Windham at 3 o'clock sharp. The Arlingtons, it will be remembered, are the State champions and the local team is the only to ever secure a goal from them.

WHIST.

The whist game played last Tuesday evening between the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club and the Jersey City Whist Club, in the New Jersey Whist League tournament, resulted in a victory for the Elizabeth Club by a score of 17 to 6. This is the first game in the series between these clubs. The games will be watched with interest as a half of the Elizabeth team is composed of the Park Club "four."

Dr. Hurlbut Lectured Here.

Despite the stormy weather last evening a goodly number of people gathered at Monroe Avenue church last evening and enjoyed an interesting illustrated talk by Dr. J. L. Hurlbut on the subject of "The Beauties of the Rhine." Seventy-five handsome views illustrated the talk. The stereopticon was in charge of J. Hervey Doane.

Will be Entertained at Dinner.

Grand Foreman Tussey, of Camden who will visit Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., this evening, will be entertained at dinner by Grand Overseer V. W. Nash and the Past Masters of Columbia Lodge. The dinner will be given at the Imperial Hotel prior to the meeting at the lodge rooms.

Donation Party.

A pleasant surprise and donation party was given last evening to Rev. and Mrs. George Hauser, of Duer street, by the members and friends of the German Reformed church, of which Mr. Hauser is the pastor. There was a good attendance and many useful gifts were brought.

Death of Dayton S. Melick.

The death of Dayton S. Melick occurred at the home of his son, William Melick, of Mount Pleasant, this morning. He was in his eighty-second year and had lived in that vicinity for many years. The funeral services will be held from the residence Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

he returned hearty thanks to all who had extended financial help during the past year and for assistance rendered in other ways and to the employes for the faithful discharge of their duties, and also thanked the committee men and workers.

The report of Treasurer Curtis M. Thorpe was read and showed the receipts for the past year to be $6703.30 and the disbursements, $6696.25, leaving a balance of $7 05.

Detailed reports were also given by George M. Rittenhouse, chairman of the committee on religious work; I. W. Travell, of the committee on educational work; O. S. Rogers, on boy's work; and C. E. A. Heywood, of the physical department.

Before adjourning the directors extended a vote of thanks to The Daily Press for past favors and to the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Co., for the free delivery of ice.

DIED AT NORTH BRANCH.

Wm. B. Vanderbeek, Well-Known Here, Passed Away Wednesday.

The death of Wm. B. Vanderbeek, aged 74 years, who for fifteen years has been a resident of North Branch, occurred Wednesday after a three days' attack of pneumonia. He was a brother of A. M. Vanderbeek, of the firm of Vanderbeek & Sattels, and was well-known in this city.

Much of his life was spent in farming, but of late he has represented the American Tea Company, of this city. He was born at Lamington, N. J., and lived there during his early life. He was a faithful Christian man, being a devout member of the Dutch Reformed church, of North Branch, and for many years a deacon.

Mr. Vanderbeek leaves four sons and a daughter: Andrew and Charles Vanderbeek, of the borough; Cole Vanderbeek, of North Branch; Elmer Vanderbeek, of South Branch, and Mrs. Lizzie VanArsdale, who lives between North and South Branch. The funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Exciting Game of Pool.

Owing to the illness of one of the players, but one game was played in Krewson's pool tournament last evening. The one game, however, was by far the best of any yet played in the series, as both men are about equally matched. The players were Melvin and Coombs and the former has always been regarded as the better player. Melvin sustained his reputation by winning out 60 to 45. The game was watched by a large crowd of enthusiasts.

Funeral of Mrs. Winzenried.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. John Winzenried were held in St. Mary's church this morning. Rev. Father J. A. McGeary officiated. Many handsome floral tributes were in evidence, among them being a handsome pillow from Mr. Winzenried's fellow officers. Those who acted as pall bearers were John Watson, James Totten, Martin Vanderweg, James Burke, William Fitzgerald and James Walsh. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

RED MEN MAY BUILD.

Wetumpkah Tribe Considered Several Matters of Importance Last Night.

Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M., met last evening and considered some matters of importance. It was announced that the new paraphernalia would arrive in time for the next meeting. M. Leichtentritt, W. A. Westphal and E. O. Clark were appointed a committee on new meeting rooms. It is barely possible that the tribe may decide to erect a building for their own use. Five propositions were received and two were accepted. The members accepted the invitation from Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., to attend the 25th sleep cold moon, 8th run, 15th breath, setting of the sun G. S. D. 410, when Arasapha Tribe, of Camden, will be present and give the natural adoption.

Collided in Darkness.

Just before the meeting in the chapel at Oak Tree, last evening, two wagons were in collision near the post-office and one of the vehicles, belonging to D. M. Kellogg, was badly wrecked. No one was injured, but the occupants of both vehicles were badly frightened by the crash and upsetting of Mr. Kellogg's rig. Darkness and a narrow road was the cause of the accident.

RAHWAY REFORMATORY READY FOR OCCUPANCY

All Needed Now is an Act of the Legislature to Provide for Its Care.

ONE WING IS COMPLETED.

REST OF THE BUILDINGS MAY BE COMPLETED BY THE OCCUPANTS.

The Wing Now Built Will Accommodate 250, But There Will be Room for 1,000 When Buildings Are Finished.

All lacking now at the Rahway Reformatory, which is located a short distance out of Rahway on the road to Woodbridge, is the corps of attendants to care for the place and the offenders to put inside. It is expected that the present Legislature will appropriate sufficient funds to maintain it, and provide the necessary power to make the institution effective in doing the work for which it is intended.

A bill with such an end in view is now being prepared. It will provide, if approved and presented as at present planned, for the indeterminate sentence of prisoners committed to the reformatory, with a minimum of one year of imprisonment and a maximum of four years. That is, the prisoner may, by good behavior and close application to the work assigned him, secure his discharge from the reformatory at the end of twelve months, or he may, if he behaves badly, have to serve a sentence of four years.

The new bill will be different from the original reformatory law, which is of effect now, in that it will provide that all employes of the institution must pass a civil service examination. It will also provide for an increase of wages with added years of service. A keeper will start with $800 as the minimum salary, and by remaining at his post a few years secure $1 200 a year, the maximum salary for a keeper.

The reformatory will be for criminals who are first offenders, between the ages of 16 and 30 years. But one of the wings of the main reformatory building has been completed. Four wings are contemplated. In addition to the wing there has been completed the central building, which will be used for the school and chapel for the prisoners and for the accommodation of the warden and his clerical force, the domestic building, in which the officers of the reformatory will be housed, the power house and ventilating plant, a subway to carry the necessary sewers, light and vetilating apparatus, and the sewer plant, which is built according to a model system and is provided with a septic tank.

The wing which has been completed will accommodate 250 prisoners. It will not take long to gather that many offenders. As soon as the building is ready to be opened, the Commissioners, who will then become managers of the institution, must notify the clerk of each county, who will in turn notify the judges that all criminals between the ages of 16 and 30, who have never been inmates of State's prison may, at the discretion of the court, be sent to the reformatory. While there will be accommodations for 250 at first, it will not be long after the institution is opened before the capacity will be doubled. It is the intention of the Commissioners, who most provide manual labor for the prisoners, to set the first arrivals at work building other wings of the main building and the work shops and other buildings planned.

Each wing will accommodate 250 prisoners. It is the plan to ultimately have room for 1,000 prisoners. Now that enough buildings have been erected to warrant the State's opening the institution, the cost of erecting the additional buildings will be very light, as nothing will have to be paid for labor.

What trades to teach the prisoners after they shall have finished the work of building, the Commissioners have not decided upon. The matter is entirely in their hands, and they can make their own selection. They may select almost any industry, except the making of hats, for the prisoners. There is a special provision in the reformatory law which prohibits the manufacture of hats by the inmates.

The law provides that all goods made by the prisoners must be labeled: "Manufactured in New Jersey State Reformatory."

Fast Recovering.

The inmates of the Children's Home, who have been ill with scarlet fever, have about recovered and the quarantine will soon be raised.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE APPROVED

BOROUGH BOARD OF HEALTH AND MINTZ BROTHERS AGREE.

Building Will be Located Close to the Mountain Away From Habitation—Under Board's Control.

The trouble which the borough Board of Health has experienced with the Mintz brothers in regard to alleged violations of health ordinances is about to be satisfactory settled. The Board has recently granted a permit to Herman Mintz to construct a small house, to be used as a slaughter house, at a point near Mountain avenue on the Mair property. The building is to be constructed near the mountain, 586 feet from the highway and is remote from any habitation. The slaughter house is to be built under the direction of the Health Inspector and is to be at all times under the direction of the Board of Health. Mr. Mintz has agreed with the Board to have Peter R binson remove at his expense any substance that is at all objectionable or detrimental to health.

When the permit was issued the members of the Board of Health gave Mr. Mintz to understand that if he neglected to comply with all the provisions of the health laws they would revoke his license and if found necessary would tear down or burn the slaughter house. Mr. Mintz promised the Board that he would keep the place in good condition and there would not be any cause for complaint in the future.

The building to be erected will be about 25x30, one story frame. A barn near by will be used by Mr. Mintz to stable cattle that are driven there to be killed.

NEW STATION.

Bound Brook May Secure One if Council Will Agree to Abolish Crossings and Lower Roads.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, Jan. 19. — Joshua Doughty, of Somerville, Borough Engineer, and G. M. LaMont, of this place, have conferred with the Jersey Central Railroad officials concerning the abolishment of the five grade crossings in this place. The railroad agreed to buid a new station and one subway if the Borough Council will do away with the present crossings.

The railroad company will raise the tracks and build a subway near the Woollen Mills, depressing the road underneath at this point. The crossings are dangerous and the company is anxious to get rid of them. The citizens are equally anxious for a new station and a deal may be made. The matter will come up at the next meeting of the Borough Council.

Judge Scott Visiting Here.

Judge Francis Scott, one of the counsel for the defendants, Death, Cambell and McAllister, who have been on trial for their lives in Paterson, charged with causing the death of the mill girl, Jennie Besschieter, spent last evening with his friend, S. St. John McCutchen, of Rockview avenue. He seemed to be well satisfied with the verdict given by the jury.

Executors Were Here.

Former Comptroller John S. Gibson, of Newark, was in Plainfield, yesterday, looking after business in connection with the estate of the late George W. Moore, for which he is one of the executors. James Atwood, of Trenton, also an executor, was in the city on the same business.

REAL WINTER HAS BEGUN.

TINY BLIZZARD OPENED THE CAMPAIGN LAST NIGHT.

Now the Ground is Really Covered For the First Time This Season and the Mercury is Falling.

A small-sized blizzard struck Plainfield shortly after 9 o'clock this morning The snow came down fast and was quickly blown about by the high wind that whirled it about promiscuously in the faces of pedestrians.

This is the first touch of real winter experienced in this vicinity this winter. Yesterday afternoon the wind blew quite hard and the mercury fel to 25 above zero. Toward morning the cold moderated somewhat and towards daylight it began to snow. When the citizens awoke this morning they were surprised to find about an inch of snow on the frozen ground. By 8 o'clock, however, the storm appeared to have cleared away and there was prospects of fair weather.

But the clearing was deceiving to all. The weather grew squally as the morning advanced and frequent snow storms put in an appearance. By noon the sky had again cleared, and the sun shown forth in all its effulgence. The indications for tomorrow are clear and cold.

BIG TIME FOR WORKMEN.

COLUMBIA LODGE ENTERTAINED GRAND FOREMAN TUSSEY.

Delegations Were Present From Number of Other Lodges—Pleasant Evening Was Passed.

Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A.O.U.W., met last evening and enjoyed an official visit from Grand Foreman Tussey, of Camden. In honor of the visitation Central Lodge, of this city; Upchurch Lodge, of Westfield, and the Elizabeth Lodge, were present to join in the festivities of the occasion. Previous to the meeting the past masters of Columbia Lodge and Grand Overseer V. W. Nash entertained Mr. Tussey at the Hotel Imperial. They then adjourned to the lodge room, where an evening of profit and pleasure was experienced by all.

There were excellent addresses by Grand Foreman Tussey and many other officers and members. This was interspersed with instrumental music by Martin Korff, violin, and Garrett Dunham, organ. Other features were the vocal selections in German by William Claassen and tenor solos by Joseph Moon After a feast of oratory and music, the members enjoyed a bountiful repast served under the direction of the committee in charge. Following the spread, there were other addresses and a general social time. It was about midnight when the pleasant occasion terminated and the Workmen retired to their homes.

RELIEF CORPS INSTALLED.

Recently-Elected Officers of Winfield Scott Relief Corps Placed in Office.

The installation of officers of Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., were installed by Mrs Charles Westphal last evening. Owing to much sickness among the members the attendance was small, in fact the same reason accounted for a small attendance of Veterans and Sons of Veterans.

The officers installed were as follows: President, Mrs. Caspar Bolsterle; senior vice-president, Mrs. W R. Mattox; junior vice-president, Mrs M. C. Dobbins; chaplain, Mrs. Anesta Corwin; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Walker; secretary, Mrs. W. C. Smith; conductor, Mrs. V. W. Nash; guard, Mrs. Sargeant; color bearers, Mrs. I L. McVoy, Mrs. Devine, Mrs. Andrew Cox and Mrs. Huntington. The delegates to State convention are Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Nash, and the alternates, Mrs. Devine and Mrs. Terry.

After the installation ceremonies there were some interesting remarks by the officers and a social time followed, during which refreshments were served.

Recovery Seems Certain.

Unless there should be a setback or some complication, the recovery of Miss Gertrude Andrews, of Central avenue, from typhoid fever, is assured. The fever has broken and temperature is normal today.

Rev. Floyd Appleton To Preach.

Rev Floyd Appleton, curate of Grace P E. church, who will in a short time give up his work here, to enter upon a larger field in Brooklyn, will preach at Grace church tomorrow evening.

TROLLEY TO WATCHUNG MAY BE BUILT SOON.

Another Conference of Interested Parties Was Held at Point of Dispute Yesterday.

FINAL AGREEMENT EXPECTED

JOHN Y. WILSON AND TROLLEY COMPANY COULDN'T AGREE.

Expected That Yesterday's Conference, Brought About By Board of Trade, Will Have Satisfactory Results.

The committee from the Board of Trade, with reference to the proposed extension of the trolley line of the Plainfield Street Railway Company from its terminus on Somerset street to Watchung, made a tour of the route yesterday afternoon. The committee consisted of L B. Woolston, president of the Board; Charles W. Runyon, J. T. Vail and Harry C. Runyon. At Watchung the committee was met by the North Plainfield Township Committee, Col. E W. Hine, of the Street Railway Company, and James Y. Wilson, who accompanied the visitors over a portion of the route which is at present the bone of contention.

About a half a mile beyond the trolley terminus is the property of Mr. Wilson. Near the centre of the highway is a large rock that stands partially on Mr. Wilson's property. The trolley people desire te have the road straightened at this point, but do not feel like paying Mr. Wilson a big price for his pile of rock, or for his consent to the widening of the road.

At present the road is less than 30 feet wide. By the proposed improvement it could be made about 40 feet wide. Mr. Wilson believes that the widening of the highway would be detrimental to his business, and on those grounds has been unwilling to consent to the trolley being extended to Watchung if it was necessary to have his property interfered with.

This particular place has offered the principal difficulty in the way of extending the trolley. Heretofore neither the trolley company nor Mr. Wilson have been willing to stand the expense necessary to widen the road nor assume the responsibilities for damages that might result from blasting at the Wilson stone crusher.

At yesterday's meeting the difficulties were thoroughly discussed from various points of vantage. Col. Hine gave Mr. Wilson to understand that the trolley company would stand for any damages that might result from blasting, if they injured the railroad property.

After the members of the party had looked the ground over and taken everything into account with reference to the proposed widening of the road, they adjourned to Nelson's Hotel where light refreshments were served.

It is believed that Mr. Wilson can be prevailed upon to accept the terms that will be offered him by the trolley company. The Board of Trade has been persistent in its efforts to assist the people of Watchung to secure an extension of the trolley road. It is believed that their efforts will be crowned with success. In the event of an amicable adjustment of affairs between Mr. Wilson and the trolley company work upon the extension will be commenced early in the spring.

Chief After Advertising Shark.

Chief Patrick Kiely had an advertising shark on the carpet last evening for posting the town with posters advertising Hoyt's Laundry Starch. Some advertising men think they own the earth, but the Chief soon took the starch out of this one by ordering him to have the posters scraped down Newspaper advertising pays best and you keep out of trouble.

Sale and Tea.

The Daughters of the Cross have sent out invitations for a tea to be given at the residence of Mrs. Samuel St. J. McCutchen, 85 Myrtle avenue, Friday evening, January 25, from 3 until 6 o'clock. The sale of cake and candy will be a feature of the tea.

Weida Will Go Out of Business.

George Weida, the West Front street confectioner, has decided to go out of business entirely for the present. He will take up his residence with his family in Elizabeth. He has disposed of his stock and fixtures to a Brooklyn firm.

Official Visit.

Great Sachem William Newcorn paid an official visit to the Tribe of Red Men at Flemington last evening.

BOROUGH ASKS FOR AID.

CIRCULAR SENT BY MAYOR SMALLEY TO ALL MUNICIPALITIES IN STATE.

Wants Legislation to Prevent Tax-Payers From Shirking Taxes by Getting Discount on Notes.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of the borough, has issued a statement which has been sent to every borough, town and city in New Jersey, requesting the co-operation of all in an effort to have laws enacted that will put a stop to tax-payers getting a discount on notes in banks for the purpose of shirking their legitimate tax bills. The statement issued shows in detail how the scheme works, and the reason why the borough has been the first to take the question up is that that municipality this last year suffered greatly from people in the borough resorting to the privilege as given by law.

At a meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council held October 5, 1900, a resolution was unanimously adopted denouncing the law as pernicious and unjust. They also adopted a resolution that the Legislature be petitioned to make a change in this law. For this reason the Mayor is causing the statement of facts to be sent broadcast through the State asking for help to change the law.

SENTENCE DAY IN SOMERSET.

ROBERT BURNETT WAS GIVEN TWO YEARS AT HARD LABOR.

Fine For Dr. Mosher Was $10—Sentence Deferred on Wm. Leupton Who Was in Scrap at Bound Brook.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 19.—Judge Schenck imposed sentences as follows yesterday morning:

Wm. Testor, stealing turkeys, $10 fine.

Robert Burnett, atrocious assault on James W. Jerolaman with a shot gun, two years at hard labor in State Prison.

Dr. Abram B. Mosher, assault and battery upon Miss Maud A. Fisher, $10 fine.

Wm. Hahn, stealing coal, sentence suspended.

Sentence was deferred two weeks in the cases of Edward Sisser and Patrick Hickey, who committed assault and battery upon a trolley inspector; and in the case of Wm. Leupton, who convicted of atrocious assault and battery upon Alfred Paniel.

Application was made for a commission to inquire into the sanity of Robert Burnett.

BARRICADED DOOR.

Police Had Much Trouble to Capture Offender Entrenched in the Night Lunch Wagon.

Joseph Sullivan was arrested at 5 o'clock this morning by Roundsman Flynn and Patrolman Myers, who found him in the night lunch wagon. Sullivan had driven Paul Feldman, the clerk, into the street and then, barricading the door, refused to admit any one. Previously he had raised a disturbance in the City Hotel and had been thrown out. About 3 o'clock Sullivan was about the borough, but was chased over the line by the night marshals.

Roundsman Flynn and Patrolman Myers had difficulty in arresting Sullivan. The officers were compelled to force a window and by a ruse finally succeeded in getting at their man. It is believed by the police that Sullivan has developed insanity, brought on by a prolonged debauch.

Chief Kiely notified Dr. Carman, the city physician, who today will examine the unfortunate man to ascertain whether he is a proper subject for an asylum.

Lincoln Robbery Case Laid Over.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Jan. 19—No verdict will be given this week in the case of James Ryan and James Murphy, who are charged with breaking and entering Reedy's house at Lincoln, as was expected. Judge Cowenhoven, counsel for the prisoners, made his summing up yesterday afternoon. His address lasted until the hour for adjourning court came so Judge Strong announced that the case would be laid over until Monday morning when he will charge the jury.

Gives a Good Appetite.

This brisk sharp weather makes a turkey supper appetizing and it will probably continue long enough to make the annual turkey supper at Trinity Reformed church on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, a great success. The Ladies' Christian Work Society will be in charge and there will be excellent music each evening.

PARKS LOST THREE GAMES.

ROLLED CRANFORD IN THE DAILY PRESS BOWLING LEAGUE.

Cranford Team Put Up Strong Games Which Were Too Much For the Team From the Park Club.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, January 19.—The team from the Park Club, of Plainfield, came down to the Cranford alleys Thursday evening and rolled three games in the Daily Press Bowling League. The Cranford bowlers were rolling in great form and made a creditable showing in each game. The Park Club team was minus several of its regular men and the rolling on the part of the visitors was not up to their usual standard.

F. O. Ball and Dr. C. B Thiers showed up in their old-time form and made good scores, but the work of the young men was uneven and, at times, way off their regular game.

All three games went to Cranford without trouble by the following scores:

PARK CLUB.

BUSY AT SCOTT'S.

Big Shipment of Various Kinds of Presses During the Month of December.

The Scott Printing Machine Works resumed Monday morning after having been closed one week for repairs. They report many orders on hand and expect a continuation of good times.

During December they shipped six web printing and folding machines, three of which print from one roll of paper, two from three rolls, and one from four rolls. They also shipped fourteen two-revolution and lithographic presses, besides many smaller machines.

Minister Wu Saw Plainfield.

Minister Wu, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States from China, accompanied by his family, passed through this city yesterday afternoon on the 2:16 train, bound for Washington, D. C. Minister Wu's private car attracted considerable attention from those who saw it when the Blue Line train stopped at the North Avenue station.

Sailed Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Evarts Tracy, of Hillside avenue, sailed this noon on the steamer "Allegheny" for a several week's trip to the West Indies and some of the states in the northern part of South America. Mr. Tracy is the well-known architect and the trip will give him a well earned rest from his business duties.

To Dispose Of Stock.

The stock in the store of the late George W. Moore on West Front street, was appraised yesterday afternoon by M. C. Dobbins and Joseph Patterson. It will be disposed of by the executors, John S. Gibson, of Newark, and James Atwood, of Trenton.

Must Be Paid Before Feb. 1.

George F. Brown, borough collector, gives notice that all taxes that are not paid before February 1, will be placed on record, as the law directs, in the County Clerk's office at Somerville. After February 1 all delinquent taxes will be advertised

Twelve Candidates Received.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., held a regular meeting last evening and worked the third rank on twelve candidates. There was a large attendance of members, and there were visitors present from New York and Somerville.

Plainfielders Among Hollanders.

Among the guests at the sixteenth annual dinner given by the Holland Society of New York, Thursday evening at the Waldorf Astoria were D. M. Van Vliet, of Washington avenue, and P. V. B. Van Wyck, of Stelle avenue.

Summons Issued.

Papers have been issued by Justice Nash in the contract case of Smith et als against Umston et als, returnable January 24; also in the case of D. W. Littell against Thomas Martin, returnable the same day.

WHAT IS REQUIRED TO BE ON THE FORCE.

Six Candidates For Police Appointments Were Examined Mentally and Physically.

SOME QUESTIONS ASKED.

CANDIDATES DID GYMNASTIC STUNTS AT Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM.

George J. Coe Conducted Educational Examination While Dr. Carman and C. E. A. Heywood Looked After Their Physical Well Being.

Six athletic young men, who wish to serve the city as policemen, underwent an examination yesterday afternoon to determine their fitness for the positions. At a recent meeting of the Police Board, nine applications were received for positions on the force. At yesterday's examination, however, but six of these put in an appearance for the test. It is understood that one or two of the men who had made application were under the required age, 25 years, and therefore are not eligible to appointment.

The names of the young men who presented themselves for examination were Charles A. Flynn, Herbert L. Overbaugh, Charles P. Gamo, Robert Wood, Arthur McGinley and Thomas O Gorman.

The examination for the educational test was made under the direction of George J. Coe, of this city, who was recently appointed journal clerk of the Assembly. The Common Council chamber was used for the purpose. There was no one present at the examination but Mr. Coe, Chief Kiely and a reporter for The Daily Press. Each one occupied one of the desks used by the members of the Council.

The men were first examined in spelling and they were requested by Mr. Coe to write the words with pen and ink. These words were given out: Hospital, governor, ambulance, grocery, parade, mayor, chief, patrolman, roundsman, sergeant, doctor, policeman, avenue, motorman, electric, trolley.

The applicants were next tested on general information and were asked to write the answers to the following questions:

Name the position of three public schools in Plainfield, and of four fireboxes.

Where are the following streets—Hillside avenue, New street, Norwood avenue, Lake street, South avenue?

How many trolley lines start from North and Watchung avenues, and how often do cars run on each?

Write briefly your opinion as to whether the city should or should not collect and dispose of ashes and garbage.

Following the general questions came four in reference to local geography. They were:

What is the capital of New Jersey? In what part of the State is it?

Name the county in which each of the following towns is situated—Bound Brook, Westfield, New Market, Dunellen, Morristown, Jersey City.

What States touch New Jersey?

Draw a diagram showing the shape of New Jersey.

The hardest test of all the educational examination for at least some of the sextette was to correctly answer three of the following questions in arithmetic:

Add 4 5 of 35 to 3 7 of 63.

Multiply 23.675 by 397 006.

If eggs are twenty-eight cents a dozen, how many eggs can be bought for $1 47?

What is the interest on $563.75 for for three and a half months at a yearly rate of six per cent?

After the educational test the men went to the Y. M. C. A. building where they underwent a rigid examination at the hands of Dr. John H. Carman, the city physician, who tested the applicants as to their physical qualifications for making good policemen. Each man was measured and weighed, his lungs tested and then given an opportunity to exhibit his breathing powers; in fact a thorough examination was made of each man's anatomy. The examinations were made in the private office of Charles E. A. Heywood, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. The men were examined separately.

The final test, and the one in which the men were placed on their mettle, was made in the gymnasium. This was under the direction of Mr. Heywood. The men were first made to run at a sharp trot five times around the room, a distance of an eighth of a mile. This was done to test their wind and not their sprinting abilities. After

FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Department Union County C. E. Union.)

The Christian Endeavor societies, of Summit, expect to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the world-wide movement by holding special anniversary services Sunday, Feb. 5. It is likely that the pulpits of the various churches will be occupied in the morning by Christian Endeavor speakers, and it is probable that a committee conference lasting two hours will be held in the afternoon. The union service to be held in the evening will include two or three addresses on "Consecration."

The bronze tablet to be placed on the Williston church at Portland, Me., for the purpose of suitably marking the birthplace of Christian Endeavor, will be unveiled February 2 in connection with the vigesimal celebration. Contributions have been received from many countries.

A society of twenty-three members has been organized among the young women in the Michigan school for the blind, at Lansing.

Christian Endeavor continues to thrive at Nagasaki, Japan, the latest development of the work being a junior society in the Dutch Reformed church.

The prison committee of the New York State C. E. Union has issued a very interesting report of the work accomplished during the past year. Over 20,000 pieces of literature have been distributed among the prisoners of the State, and a similar quantity concerning prison work has been sent broadcast over the State. Twenty-seven addresses have been made at various points, special holiday services have been held in the prisons and for many discharged prisoners employment has been found.

One of the most active of the many Chinese Christian Endeavor Societies throughout the country is that located at Watsonville, Cal. Its active members are closely identified with the various branches of church work and show a strong fidelity to the pledge of the society.

Trustees from two denominations not hitherto represented in the United Society of Christian Endeavor have been elected to that body. Rev. E. Humphries, of New Bedford, Mass., will represent the Primitive Methodists and the Presbyterians of Canada will have a voice through Rev. Alfred Gandier, of Halifax.

In the Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, of which Rev. Russell H. Conwell, D. D., the famous evangelist, is pastor, there are seven vigorous societies. The pastor is enthusiastically interested in all of the societies. During his pastorate of eighteen years Dr Conwell has baptized 4,000 persons, the four thousandth candidate being immersed at an impressive service held on the last day of the old year and century.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The most soothing, healing and antiseptic application ever devised is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It relieves at once and cures piles, sores, eczema and skin diseases. Beware of imitations. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. I. L. Mc Voy, of East Front street, is gradually recovering from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Craig, of Centreville, has been spending a few days with relatives in the city and borough.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. William B. VanNest, of Mariners avenue, has a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, of Elmwood place, has about recovered from a very severe attack of the grip.

Miss Clara Force, of the Ada Rehan Company, now playing in New York, has been spending a few days with her father on East Front street.

A. M. Vanderbeek, of Duer street, and his brother, Charles Vanderbeek, of Somerset street, went to North Branch this morning to attend the funeral services of their father, who died Wednesday.

PHILIPPINE CODE.

Public Discussion of Rules For Municipal Government Begun.

MANILA, Jan. 19.—The public discussion of the general code of government for municipalities has begun. Commissioner Dean C. Worcester outlined the bill and explained the changes from the general orders of the military governor under which local governments were operating.

Professor Worcester offered two amendments disqualifying from voting and holding office men who violate their oath of American allegiance or who remain in armed opposition after February.

The commissioner elucidated the taxation features, referring to the benefits of taxing lands and buildings as against the present special taxes on occupations and industries.

One-fourth of 1 per cent of the proceeds of real estate assessments will be devoted to public schools.

Municipal councils are authorized to license theaters, places for liquor selling public conveyances, hotels and cockfighting or prohibit cockfighting for the first year, until the tax collections are available.

Half of the internal revenue of each municipality will be paid into the municipal treasuries.

Professor Worcester did not enlarge on the section confining the exemption of church property to properties used exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes. This much discussed feature received the approval of the administration at Washington previous to making the bill public.

The bill places considerable responsibility on the provincial governments, for the establishment of which another bill is being prepared.

The public discussion which is taking place in the Municipal hall is proceeding by sections, the natives participating.

It is rumored that Aguinaldo visited his mother in Cavite province and narrowly escaped capture during the recent round up of one of the villages in Cavite.

THE VENEZUELAN CASE.

Orders to the Scorpion Countermanded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The orders to the Scorpion to proceed from La Guayra to Guanoco have been countermanded, and she will remain at La Guayra, where her presence is regarded as necessary. By direction of the state department Minister Loomis has protested to the Venezuelan government against the exercise of censorship over any of his official communications, and it is understood that the protest has been effective.

It cannot be gathered that any very late advices have caused the change in the department's plans relative to the movements of the Scorpion. In fact, it is said that nothing has been received to show any marked change in the status in Venezuela since Minister Loomis spoke of the suppression of a rebellion among the troops in Caracas, the very inception of which was unknown to the department of state. The fact that such a movement could gain headway in Castro's own capital, however, is very significant, and this rebellion among the troops may have led to the decision to retain the Scorpion at La Guayra, the nearest port to Caracas.

The naval authorities were consulted during the day as to the feasibility of reenforcing the American naval force in Venezuela, but while some such thing is in prospect it cannot be learned that any positive orders have yet gone out. The Hartford is not within reach of the cable, being on a cruise from Port of Spain for Barbados, at which place she is due in about two days. She may be turned back from that port unless the situation improves. The Lancaster sailed from Port of Spain Wednesday for the Cape Verde islands, so she is entirely beyond reach.

MOSQUITOES MUST GO.

Havana Sanitary Department to Wage War on Pest Breeders.

HAVANA, Jan. 19.—The sanitary department is taking measures to destroy mosquitoes as a preventive against yellow fever. The inspectors have been ordered to pay particular attention to breeding places both inside and outside houses, to use petroleum at least twice a month on stagnant water to destroy the eggs and seal all openings of wells and cesspools. They have also been instructed to advise the general use of mosquito netting.

The administrative council has decided that Mr. Michael J. Dady, the contractor, has no "tanteo rights" or legal rights to the contract for the sewering and paving of Havana, but that he has rights in equity, which the council recommends the military government to consider.

A high north wind has been blowing all day. No further news has been received from the Ward line steamer Vigilancia, aground off the banks of Los Colorados, about 80 miles west of Havana, and it is believed that she is going to pieces. There has been no communication whatever from the westward.

Syracuse Cases Dropped.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Attorney General Davies has been released by Governor Odell from further charge of the prosecution of city officials of Syracuse, who, it is alleged, have violated provisions of the city charter. This action places the charge of the prosecution with the district attorney of Onondaga county. Governor Odell ordered the change because he believes that the cases are such as should be handled by the local prosecuting officer and is opposed to the attorney general conducting prosecutions of this character except where there is some valid reason why the district attorney should not act.

Noted Athlete Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Michael O'Sullivan, ex-champion all around athlete and one of the most popular men connected with amateur athletics in the past decade, is dead in the Presbyterian hospital. O'Sullivan was born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1855, and made his debut at the Kinslale sports in 1879, winning the seven pound winding weight with a throw of 87 feet.

ARMY BILL PASSED.

Senate Agrees to Amendments by a Vote of 43 to 23.

TWO WEEKS' STRUGGLE ENDED

The Measure, With Exception of the Elimination of the Canteen Clause, Differs Little From That First Reported.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Just before 6 o'clock last evening the senate finally disposed of the army reorganization bill. The measure having originated in the senate, the final question was not upon its passage, but upon agreeing to the senate amendments. They were agreed to by a vote of 43 to 23.

While party lines were drawn on the measure four Democrats voted for it—Senators Lindsay of Kentucky, McLaurin of South Carolina, Morgan of Alabama and Sullivan of Mississippi. Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, who was detained at his home by illness, was paired against the bill with Senator Spooner of Wisconsin. The bill has occupied practically the entire attention of the senate since the 3d of January, when it was made the unfinished business. While the opposition to it at all stages was vigorous it never was bitter. Numerous amendments were made to it, but in general the committee was sustained, and the measure, with the exception of the elimination of the canteen clause, is not widely different from that reported to the senate.

A determined effort was made to amend the bill so as to provide against the sale of liquor in the Philippines and to prohibit the importation of any kind of intoxicants into the islands, but it was defeated.

A notable speech was delivered during the day by Mr. Hale of Maine, who, while opposing the increase in the strength of the army, stated cogently his reasons for supporting the bill.

Every effort to prevent the increase in the strength of the army was defeated by a decisive majority.

As the bill originated in the senate it will now go directly to the conference committees appointed by the two branches of congress.

The house spent the entire day on the bill to refer to the court of claims the claims of the William Cramp & Son Shipbuilding company of Philadelphia for alleged damages due to the delay of the government in furnishing armor plate and material for the battleships Massachusetts and Indiana and the cruisers New York and Columbia. The claims aggregate $1,367,244. The bill has been conspicuous at every session of congress for several years. It met with strenuous and determined opposition of a portion of the minority under the leadership of Mr. McDermott of New Jersey and Mr. Robb of Missouri. A filibuster was finally begun, but its advocates at length succeeded in having the previous question ordered upon the bill. The house then adjourned.

After the conclusion of the Republican senatorial caucus Senator Allison, as its chairman, gave out the following official statement concerning the object of the caucus and the result of its deliberations:

"Senator Morgan of Alabama, chairman of the committee on interocean canals, made a request of the Republicans of the senate that a day be fixed by order of the senate for the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill. This request was made to the committee on the order of business, and this committee considered the request and made the recommendation to the Republican conference yesterday morning that at this time it is not expedient or wise to fix a day for the consideration of the bill in view of the pendency of consideration by Great Britain of the amendments proposed by the senate to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. This view was approved by the Republican caucus without division. There was a universal sentiment expressed in favor of the construction of the canal by the United States at the earliest practicable time."

Recruiting Now In Progress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Active recruiting for the army is in progress in all the principal cities of the country. The authorized strength of the regular army at present is 65,000 men, and the recruiting in progress is with a view to maintaining it at that strength after the discharge of the 35,000 volunteers June 30 next. All enlistments are for three years, and the number of recruits averages about 2,000 a month. Owing to the delay in action on the army bill the impression prevails in the war department that it will be almost impossible to get all the volunteers to this country in time to permit their discharge here by June 30. In that case it will be necessary to discharge a number of them in the Philippines on that date in order to keep them there until replaced by regular troops now being recruited.

End of Boos Investigation.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The congressional committee, of which General Dick of Ohio is chairman, will probably finish its investigation at the Military academy tonight. The congressmen have probed deeply since they came here ten days ago into the hazing which has obtained at the cadet barracks and camp for several years past and have secured a mass of evidence in excess of that adduced by the military court of inquiry. They will make strenuous efforts to wind up their work here by midnight.

Fire In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Fire in the three story and basement structure 817-819 Fourteenth street northwest last night caused damage estimated at $120,000. The building was owned and occupied by the Pope Bicycle Manufacturing company, which used the first floor, and Milo B. Stevens & Co., claims and patent attorneys, who had their offices on the second and third floors. Mr. Stevens' loss is about $40,000. The fire is believed to have started in the basement.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New York—Italy, G. L. Preston. Pennsylvania—Arnot, James Rumgay; Belle Bridge, John B. Davis; Greider, Hiram Nickey; New Cumberland, Jesse Oren; Trivoli, Clinton Burkholder.

Accident at Christening.

CANNES, France, Jan. 19.—At the christening of the steam yacht Florentina here the gangplank broke in two, and 15 persons fell into the sea. All, however, were rescued

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL

London Spectator Says It's a Matter of Business.

ENGLAND WILL REAP GREAT BENEFIT

United States Anxious to Build and Should Have the Right to Police and Fortify—No Danger in Case of War.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Spectator, in an article discussing the Nicaragua canal question, says today:

"It is a matter of business and not of manners. We hold that it is to the interest of the British empire that the canal should be made, provided of course it is a canal which shall be used on equal terms by all ships. We are the greatest maritime nation. Any and every increase in the waterways of the world must be to our profit. Whenever and wherever you facilitate ocean carriage you confer a benefit upon British carrying trade."

Referring to the Suez canal and its advantages The Spectator proceeds as follows:

"When once the Nicaragua canal is made, we, the carriers of the world, shall obtain a considerable part of the benefit. It seems pretty certain that the canal will never be made on a commercial basis. The cost would be too great. The failure of the Panama canal has been too patent to allow the Nicaragua canal to be constructed by ordinary speculators.

"The United States government is prepared for political and trade reasons to make the canal provided America is allowed to control a waterway which is created at her cost, and by control America means the right not only of policing but of fortifying.

"We should allow military control. Neutrality could not be enforced in war unless there was some one in effective military control. The Spanish, when their fleet was intending to go to Manila by way of the Suez canal, began to commit a breach of neutrality. What stopped them was not paper regulations, but the strong arm of the British military control of Egypt. In the same way, if the Nicaragua canal were neutral only on paper and we were at war with a first class naval power, we may be sure the neutrality would be violated, with apologies to the United States and other guaranteeing powers afterward. If America were on the spot in force, there would be no tampering with the canal."

After considering the case of a war between the United States and England The Spectator concludes that "the predominant naval power could block both ends, and the Americans by manning the canal and policing it would be able to prevent England using it."

Large Purchases of Coal Lands.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 19.—The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Coal company, which has recently been making so many large purchases of Indiana county coal land, is about to add another large tract to its holdings. This tract consists of some 33 farms in Center, Blacklick and White townships and contains about 3,138 acres. The company has had this territory under lease for some time, but the tests for the coal have only recently been completed, and the company has notified its attorney in Indiana county, John A. Scott, to have the titles examined in preparation for an early purchase of the coal. The sale will likely be consummated some time this month. Satisfactory assurances have been made that the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg will build a new railroad into the county which will connect with their main line.

Coal Miners' Convention.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 19.—When the fifth day's session of the coal miners' district convention opened, the tellers announced the result of the election for officers. Patrick Dolan, president, and William Dodds, secretary-treasurer, were elected, and Uriah Bellingham succeeds James Bucnan as vice president. The only change in the executive board is the election of Edward Soppitt to take the place of Uriah Bellingham. The scale discussion occupied the entire afternoon session. It was decided to refer the question of pay for outside men to the national scale committee. The recommendation that drivers and other inside day men be advanced 2½ per cent was adopted. It was decided to abolish the free turn system and that all cut through between rooms be paid for by the yard in machine mines.

Railroad Consolidation.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19.—President Charles H. Jones of the York Southern railroad has called a meeting of the stockholders for Feb. 2 to discuss plans for the consolidation of that property with the Baltimore and Lehigh Railway company. The effect of the consolidation of these lines will be to give the Baltimore and Ohio railroad an entrance into York, Pa. The York Southern was formerly a part of the Baltimore and Lehigh, but the two sections were bought in several years ago by their respective bondholders, and since then they have been operated separately. They meet at Delta, Pa. An option on the stock of the Baltimore and Lehigh, good until April 1, is held by Alexander Brown & Sons.

Important Concessions Promised.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 19.—The British government agrees to give the colony important concessions in return for the renewal of the French shore modus vivendi for the current year. It is understood that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, has invited Mr. Bond, the premier, to visit London at the earliest opportunity to take part in a conference between the British and French representatives for the settlement of the whole French shore question. Mr. Edward Morris, who is a member of the Newfoundland cabinet, will accompany the premier. He is a lawyer, and to him will be intrusted the legal aspects of the question.

Russian Troops Searched.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 19.—By official orders from the minister of war, General Kuropatkin, the kits of the detachments of the Thirteenth rifles, which have just returned from China, have been examined. In 102 knapsacks examined were found four Chinese toys, five lacquered boxes, two knives, one fan and two pieces of silk. It is considered that the result refutes the accusations of plundering brought by foreign newspapers against the Russian troops, inasmuch as the Thirteenth rifles participated in the occupation of Mukden, where the temptation to pillage was by no means small.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

General Improvement Noted—Staples Steady—Money Easy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

In most directions the condition of general business has improved slightly this week. Prices of staple commodities are steady, as are most manufactured goods. Orders to manufacturers are sustained in volume, and that pronounced ease in money in the interior is still stimulating business is shown by bank exchanges at leading cities outside New York, for the week 14.2 per cent larger than in 1900 and 17.8 per cent above 1899. At New York the record is a gain of 77.3 per cent over 1900 and 37.3 per cent over 1899. Retail trade has not declined as much as usual since the holidays. Textiles show more life. A small but steady improvement in the demand has appeared, and in the cotton goods division it is more noteworthy because of the weakness in the raw material. Sellers of both staple and fancy cottons are able to maintain a position of independence. Railway earnings for two weeks of January were 8.9 per cent larger than last year and 26.5 per cent above 1899.

Steadiness is the chief characteristic of the iron and steel industry. The past week has brought no new developments of striking importance, and quotations are unchanged.

Another moderate increase occurred in sales of wool at the three chief eastern markets, raising the total for three weeks to 10,382,300 pounds. There is still a heavy loss compared with previous years.

The ease of the money market is still pronounced. There have been large receipts of cash from the interior, and the treasury has paid out money largely in the last ten days. Country banks lend freely here on any advance in rates, and the supply of funds from this source seems to be increasing. Little call money loaned over 3½ per cent, and lenders on time were seeking borrowers and with less discrimination against industrial collateral than for some weeks past.

Final returns of foreign commerce in 1900 show $200,000,000 increase in exports over the previous year, which was the top record up to that time. Deducting imports of $829,052,116 from exports of $1,478,050,854, there is a trade balance in favor of this country of $648,998,738 on merchandise account, to which should be added $26,461,170 net export of silver, and after deducting net imports of $12,603,402 gold there remains an increase in foreign indebtedness of $662,856,506.

Failures for the week were 325 in the United States against 242 last year and 43 in Canada against 40 last year.

A BOER ATTACK.

Fierce Attempt Made to Seize British Baggage Train.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A dispatch from Durban says that while General Colville's column was en route from New Denmark to Vaiaklaagte it was attacked by 1,000 Boers, who attempted to cut off the baggage train. They made a determined attack, but were repulsed.

At the same time 400 Boers charged the cavalry which formed the rear guard and forced it to fall back. Four companies of rifles were concealed in fold ground prepared to receive the Boers. The latter, however, retired.

General Kitchener, telegraphing from Pretoria under date of yesterday, says Colonel Grey, with New Zealanders and Bushmen, has vigorously attacked the enemy eight miles west of Ventersburg, completely routing 800 Boers. General Kitchener adds details of the insignificant casualties of both forces and continues: "Colville's mobile column was attacked north of Standerton Jan. 17 by a concentration of the enemy, who were driven off with severe loss. Our casualties were 15 wounded and one killed.

THE QUEEN'S ILLNESS.

Her Majesty of Great Britain Needs Perfect Rest.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The following official announcement regarding the queen's health has been made:

"The queen during the past year has had a great strain upon her powers, which has rather told upon her nervous system. It has therefore been thought advisable by her majesty's physicians that her majesty should be kept perfectly quiet in the house and should abstain for the present from transacting business."

Grave rumors concerning Queen Victoria's health are circulating in court and official circles. The tone of these rumors is alarming.

According to early Cowes telegrams, the queen was not well Thursday and had not improved yesterday, but later news from Cowes says she has been suffering from insomnia, but is better.

Sir Francis Laking, surgeon to the queen, has been called in to consult with Sir James Reid, the resident physician at Windsor castle.

Twenty families were rendered homeless in Jersey City by fire which partially destroyed six tenement houses.

Protocol Signed and Sealed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A message has been received from Minister Conger at Peking stating that the Chinese plenipotentiaries had signed and delivered the protocol. This removes the last doubt that had arisen as to the sealing of the agreement, for it would not have been accepted by the Spanish minister, who is the dean of the corps, unless it bore all the seals and signatures necessary to give it full force.

Jefferson Davis Inaugurated.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 19.—Governor Jefferson Davis was inaugurated yesterday before the senate and house in joint session. After his inaugural address the oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Bunn. The ceremonies were very unostentatious.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; northwesterly winds, becoming southerly.

PRUSSIA'S BICENTENARY.

Celebration Continues In Berlin—A Banquet by the Emperor.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Emperor William last evening banqueted the visiting princes, the embassadors and the great notabilities of the empire. His majesty drank the health of the newly created knights and carried on a lively conversation with those sitting near him. The emperor repeatedly pledged the embassadors.

The imperial chancellor, Count von Bulow, sat opposite the emperor. On the chancellor's right were the embassadors of Italy, Russia, France and the United States. On his left were the embassadors of Austria, Great Britain and Spain.

The luncheon began at 2 and lasted until 4. It was given in the gorgeous white hall, and over 1,200 persons were present. The chief table was in the form of a hollow square, and there were tables also in the galleries. The emperor made only a few remarks, proposing the health of the new knights.

The city is brilliantly illuminated.

The religious services in the Schloss chapel were especially impressive. The Rev. Dr. Dryander officiated, taking his text from the first book of Samuel, chapter vii, 12, and the gospel according to St. John, chapter iii, 30. Several choirs, accompanied by a band, sang the ninety-eighth psalm, Luther's hymn and an old Dutch hymn. Dr. Dryander's sermon was a historical survey, showing that God had been with the Prussian kingdom. During the benediction at a sign from the Schloss a battery of life guards fired a salute of 101 guns.

The kaiser ordered the German minister to the Netherlands, Count von Pourtales, to deposit in Delft, south Holland, upon the tomb of Prince Frederick Henry of Orange, father of the wife of the great elector, a wreath showing the Prussian colors and bearing the inscription, "In memory of the grandfather of the first Prussian king."

Fifteen new peers for the Prussian herrechaus, or house of lords, were appointed by the emperor, the list including Rev. Dr. Dryander and Professor Fiedler of the Charlottenburg Technical High school, as well as a number of manufacturers.

Altogether 3,772 orders and decorations were conferred yesterday in addition to the 10,000 conferred last year.

Patents of nobility were conferred upon 40 officers and civilians, the latter including several bankers.

The whole city was decorated and hung with flags, not excepting the United States embassy, the consulate general and other American buildings.

HERTZ IS SILENT.

New Yorker Arrested at Queenstown Tells Nothing.

QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 19.—Sigmund Hertz of New York city, who was arrested shortly after the arrival here Thursday evening of the Allan line steamer Corinthian, from Halifax Jan. 7, charged with forgery at the instance of the United States authorities, was not brought before the magistrate here yesterday. The police are awaiting the arrival of a Scotland Yard officer to take him to London for extradition. The sum of £350 was found on Hertz, but no trace of the missing bonds was discovered in his baggage. As there is no charge against his wife, who accompanied Hertz across the Atlantic, she was not searched. She is known to have a number of bank drafts. Their wearables are elaborate and costly. Mrs. Hertz spent Thursday night with her husband at the police station. Last evening she went to a hotel.

Hertz is absolutely silent on the subject of his arrest.

Sigmund Hertz, who was the confidential man of Stiefel, Sachs & Co. of New York city, had been missing since Jan. 2. Members of the firm allege that he is an embezzler to the extent of $100,000 and that his method of operation was to forge the firm's signature to checks, cash them and destroy them when returned by the bank.

Legion of Honor Decorations.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The government has been profuse in the decorations bestowed upon Americans. An examination of the list shows all the officers of the United States commission to the exposition, all the directors, two women members and Mr. De Young, president of the national commissioners, as well as 13 American representatives of various juries and 21 exhibitors. Mr. Ferdinand W. Peck had already been made a grand officer. Mr. Peck is now made a commander, while the ten officers named yesterday make 11 in all, as Mr. Benjamin D. Woodward received the honor last August. The decoration of the ladies is quite a distinction, as the honor is seldom bestowed upon women.

The Minnesota Senatorship.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 19.—The first ballot in the Republican senatorial caucus last night resulted as follows: R. G. Evans, 53; M. E. Clapp, 44; J. A. Tawney, 27; Tams Bixby, 11; J. T. McCleary and Joel Jepson, 1 each; Thomas Lowry, 3. Second ballot—Evans, 54; Clapp, 44; Tawney, 27; Bixby, 10; Lowry, 3; Jepson, 1; McCleary, 1. Seventy-one is necessary to nominate.

THEY WILL NOT HANG

Bosschieter Girl's Slayers Guilty of Second Degree Murder.

IMPRISONMENT FOR THIRTY YEARS.

This Is the Maximum Penalty Under the Laws of New Jersey—The Jury Was Out About Four Hours.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 19.—Walter C. McAlister, Andrew J. Campbell and William A. Death, three of the four persons indicted for the death of Jennie Bosschieter, a mill girl of Paterson, who was foully murdered on the night of Oct. 18 last, were adjudged guilty of murder in the second degree. According to the New Jersey law the maximum penalty for the prisoners is 30 years' imprisonment. The jury took 14 ballots and after summoning Judge Dixon and the prisoners filed into the courtroom. They returned at 8:14 o'clock, having been out 4 hours and 20 minutes.

The prisoners when brought in appeared very nervous. McAlister seemed more excited than any of the others. He sat biting his lips while waiting. Campbell thrust his hands into his trousers pockets and clinched his fists in them. Death looked anxiously about the courtroom for a moment and then assumed the same attitude as Campbell.

When the verdict was announced, the prisoners exhibited neither elation, relief or surprise.

Judge Dixon thanked the jury and said he believed the verdict a just one. He then dismissed the jurors until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The court then rose and the prisoners were taken back to the jail.

When court convened in the morning, ex-Judge Hoffman concluded the summing up for the defense, and Prosecuting Attorney Emley then closed for the state.

Judge Dixon made the charge to the jury, and at 3:45 the jurors left the courtroom.

Judge Dixon began in a low, gentle voice, which could be heard but by few save the jurors. He said it was merely his duty to instruct the jury in the law, and this he proposed to do.

"Under the indictment," he said, "you can find all guilty of assault, or all guilty of murder, or you can find one guilty of assault or murder, or two, or you can find one or all guilty of any degree of either crime. And you must remember that you must be convinced beyond all reasonable doubt that either or all of these defendants are guilty of the crimes charged in any degree whatever."

The judge said he wished to call the jury's attention to some of the more prominent facts that had been brought out by the testimony. This he proceeded to do. In closing he said:

"If it be proved that a drug was administered to this girl for the purpose of making her incapable of resistance by one of the defendants, then murder in the first degree was committed if she died from the effects of the drug. And not only is the one who gave it her guilty, but all who participated with him.

"If any one encouraged her to drink, knowing that a drug was in her glass, he is equally guilty."

Naval Contracts Completed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The board on naval construction has completed the revision of the specifications of the battleships with a view to bringing their total cost within the figures of the bidders. The electric light plants have been retained in the specifications, but by making numerous small cuts and considerably reducing the fund reserved from the total cost of the ship on account of superintendence and inspection the desired result has been obtained, and President Olcott and Judge Payson, representing both the Newport News and Bath companies, are prepared to accept the contracts for the ships on the board's terms. Moran Bros. of Seattle already have verbally notified Secretary Long of their purpose to accept the award in their case, so that, although some technicalities remain to be disposed of in connection with the contracts, the navy department practically has concluded the task of allotting the greatest contract for naval construction work ever let in the history of the American navy.

Irrigation Favored.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock was to have been heard yesterday by the house committee on public lands on the subject of irrigation, but being unable to come to the capitol he submitted a statement. This strongly supports the policy of irrigation and says that a vast acreage capable of supporting a population of 50,000,000 people should not be left a desert. Mr. Hitchcock points out the remarkable results achieved in the valley of the Nile, practically redeeming Egypt from bankruptcy. Professor Newell of the geological survey, Professor Pinchot of the agricultural department and Representative Newlands of Nevada, who started the movement by a bill for irrigation storehouses along the Humboldt river in Nevada, also advocated government irrigation reservoirs.

Shot His Brother.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Jan. 19.—During a quarrel Albert Snyder shot his brother Michael three times, and the latter died from the effects of the wounds. Albert, who is 40 years old and unmarried, had been boarding at his brother's home for several years. Michael attended the theater Thursday night and when he returned home was shocked at finding his wife and brother in a compromising position. He became enraged and, seizing a knife, was about to attack Albert, when the latter drew a revolver and fired three shots, with the result stated.

Kuhns Bagged at Last.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Jan. 19.—Local officers are positive that the alleged horse thieves captured after a battle near Lafayette and brought here are Marvin Kuhns, the escaped convict, and his brother John. Persons who know Marvin are positive in identifying him. He is suffering from a severe bullet wound in the face received during the fight. Kuhns will be turned over to the Ohio penitentiary officials if they identify him.

Four Children Cremated.

ELKHART, Ind., Jan. 19.—Four children of Benjamin Miller were burned to death. Their ages ranged from 8 to 16 years. A lamp exploded while Miller was absent, and the house burned so quickly that the rescue of the children was impossible.

Reapportionment in Jersey.

Now that the Burleigh Reapportionment bill has become a law, having been passed by both houses of Congress and signed by the President, it rests with the New Jersey Legislature to say what is to be done about the two additional Representatives which now fall to the share of this State. There are two alternatives before the Jersey legislators. They may leave the Congressional districts as they are and let the two new Congressmen be elected by popular vote or else they may redistrict the State, forming ten districts where there are now but eight.

Political reason will undoubtedly prevail when the Legislature finally decides what to do. It is but natural that the Republicans should desire to so arrange things that both of the new Congressmen shall be of that party. As New Jersey is now Republican by a varying majority, the election of two Congressmen at large would mean that they would both probably be Republicans.

According to the law of the land, any additional members of Congress apportioned to a State shall be elected by the people at large in that State until the State Legislature shall redistrict it. If the present Legislature therefore fails to pass a law dividing the State into new Congressional districts, the two Congressmen will be elected at large.

A great cry has arisen from many of the Democrats who say that the intent of the law is that the State should be redistricted as soon as possible. Most of the proposed divisions of the State offer a fair probability that the Democrats would elect one of the two new Congressmen. So it is not surprising that the Democrats are anxious to see the State redistricted.

All the Republican politicians at the State and national capitals have been amusing themselves since the passage of the Burleigh act trying to figure out the best arrangement for the ten districts. Unless the Republicans decide to let the present arrangement stand and elect the two extra Congressmen at large, the present Eighth district, of which Plainfield is a part, will undoubtedly be divided.

The Washington correspondent of the Newark News has the following division of the counties which, he says, was prepared by one thoroughly acquainted with the State:

First district—Salem county, 25,530; Cumberland county 51,103; Gloucester county, 31,905; Cape May county, 13,201; Atlantic county, 46,402; total population, 168,141.

Second district—Camden county, 107,613; Burlington county, 58,241; Ocean county, 19,747; total population, 185,631.

Third district—Mercer county, 95,365; Monmouth county, 82,057; total population, 177,422.

Fourth district—Middlesex county, 79,762; Union county, 99,353; total population, 179,115.

Fifth district — Somerset county, 32,948; Morris county, 65,156; Hunterdon county, 34,507; Sussex county, 24,131; Warren county, 37,781; total population, 194,526.

Sixth and Seventh districts—Essex county, total population, 359,053.

Eighth district— Passaic county, 155,202; Bergen county, 78,441; total population, 233,643.

Ninth and Tenth districts—Hudson county, total population, 389,048.

As can be seen from the foregoing Union county and Middlesex county would be united to form the new Fourth district, while Somerset county would form an unimportant part of the Fifth district.

If the Councilmen who were members of the street committee last year, were really in earnest in the recommendations made in their report, they will lose no time in providing for proper street signs for this city. North Plainfield has not a great many but still there are a few over there.

If the Board of Trade succeeds in amicably settling the disagreement between the Plainfield Street Railway Company and John Y. Wilson and thereby makes a trolley line to Watchung a certainty, that body will have accomplished one worthy act at least.

A trolley road to Watchung and Washington Valley would be invaluable to property in that section and would do much to develope a part of Somerset county which has heretofore seen but little change.

It is as it should be when appointments on the local police force are made as the result of physical and mental tests as to the relative abilities of the applicants.

The Park Club bowlers have managed to get at the wrong end of the line in The Daily Press Bowling League.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Cross has introduced in the Senate a bill providing for the protection of birds and their nests and eggs. The bill prohibits anyone from selling or having in possession, living or dead, any wild bird other than a game bird; nor shall anyone buy or sell any such wild bird. No part of the plumage, skin or body of any bird protected by this act shall be sold or exposed for sale. A fine of five dollars is provided for each violation of this act. The State board of game and fish commissioners may issue certificates to any properly accredited person to collect birds, their nests and eggs for strictly scientific purposes only. Senator Cross introduced the bill at the request of the Audubon Society. It is a good bill. Any measure looking to the more perfect protection of our native birds should receive strong support.—Elizabeth Journal.

* * * * * * * *

The re appointment of Hon. Lewis A. Thompson to the office of Clerk in Chancery would be exceedingly gratifying to both Republicans and Democrats in Somerset county. Mr Thompson's term expires next Spring and he is entitled to a re-appointment by virtue of the custom established by the Governor in giving each Republican official a second term.

No State official has given more attention to the duties of his office than Mr. Thompson, and lawyers from all parts of the State have expressed their appreciation of the business methods which he has infused into this office, which has become under Republican methods, such a course of income to the State.

We know that, so far as Somerset is concerned, the Governor can do no more appropriate thing than to reappoint Mr. Thompson. We fully endorse this generous expression from the Somerset Messenger:

"If merit alone were considered, Mr. Thompson would be his own successor, as it is conceded by Democrats, as well as Republicans, that the business of the office was never better conducted than at the present time, and that is saying a great deal."—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Through the courtesy of F. A. Dunham, civil engineer of this city, a copy of the Chattanooga News has been received at this office. The paper contains an article of considerable interest regarding the building of roads in Bradley county, Tenn., where Mr. Dunham and his partner there, Mr Brown, have been supervising the construction. Sixty-three miles have been completed and twenty-one miles more are graded. Twenty-two steel bridges have also been built during the road construction. $100 000 was appropriated for the construction of roads and up to date $98 000 has been expended. The engineers have been highly complimented for the fine work accomplished. The contract for building these roads was awarded to G. O. Mick & Co., of New Jersey, so that this State can boast of having furnished about all, except materials, for the roads.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Opening Spring Wash Goods.

Dainty, Cool, Stylish, The Latest, Bewitching.

Fast Colors, Durable, Reliable, Exclusive, Immense Variety

All Fashion Authorities agree that the coming season will be memorable as a "Wash Goods Season." Anticipating an unusually heavy demand for these goods we have exercized the greatest care in making our selections. Carefully choosing from the numerous lines offered us, only the choicest styles, and rejecting such as did not measure up to the high standard we insist upon. We have succeeded in bringing together an assortment of Wash Fabrics which for variety, reliability and general attractiveness far suspasses the showing of all former years, and which, when carefully inspected, will deeply interest the refined tastes of the cultivated shopping public.

"A. F. C." CORDED NOVELTIES,
27 in wide, in fine styles permanent colors, strong and serviceable.

"RED SEAL ZEPHYRS,"
27-in wide, equally pretty and durable.

"CALENDONIAN ZEPHYRS,"
32-in wide, quite sheer with lace effect, lightly shot through with constrasting color, exceedingly pretty and entirely original.

"ROYAL FABRIC,"
slightly heavier, 32 in wide in corded and Jacquard effects, especially to be commended for hard service.

"EGYPTIAN TISSUES,"
32 in wide quite sheer, as name suggests, but woven in corded effects in such way as to add strength to daintiness. There are 38 perfect styles and we predict a large sale.

"SILK ZEPHYR,"
27-inch wide. A mercerized fabric in wash silk effects, and one of striking beauty.

"SILCOTTE,"
27 in wide, also a mercerized fabric closely resembling silk which it exceeds in beauty and wearing quality and illustrates in remarkable degree the wonderful skill acquired in cotton weaving.

"CISMAROSA DIMITY,"
A wonderfully dainty fabric in the most equisite colors, and marvelous designs, each pattern a dream of beauty

This is a brief sketch outlining the character of our showing. We have not overdrawn the picture. Cold Type cannot do the subject justice. You are cordially invited to attend our "Opening" and if you can't attend—write for samples.

A WHITE GOODS SHOWING.

At the same we shall display our advance styles in new white goods. Everybody will be interested in white goods for they will be generally worn. Lace stripe lawn satin stripe lawns, corded lawns, plisse stripes, plain lawns, piques, nainsooks, Persian lawns, swisses, organdies, etc. New, exclusive and fair priced.

NEW HAMBURG AND LACES.

The new goods are here and on exhibition and a fine exhibit they make. The rigid rule of "only the newest—only the best" is applied to the selection of these goods and the display commends the application of the rule. All overs in cambric, nainsook, lace stripes, all over lace tucked sulesses, hemstitch effects and all the new conceits. Cambric, nainsook and sulisse edges in variety. Dainty edges selected for turn over collars. Point de Venise edgings, insertings and all overs to match. Net top orientals in white, butter and fecille. Point de Paris laces with insertings to match. Italians, valenciennes, platt, vals, torchons, reminaissance, braids, threads, buttons, patterns.

New Market, Jan. 19.—The Raritan Landing School has been closed for the past few days, owing to the illness of the teacher, Miss Birdie Gaskill.

F. O. Nelson has purchased the Isaac Brokaw place which is located od the Stelton road, a short distance from this place.

Howard VanNest, the station agent at West Dunellen, has taken a few days off to visit his parents at Neshanic.

The Misses May and Mary Brower are spending a few days in Brooklyn.

Mrs. David S. Lord is ill with the grip.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 19—A number of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. S. Whitenack's friends from Plainfield and Netherwood tendered them a surprise party at their home Thursday evening. The success of the friends' efforts to surprise Mr and Mrs. Whitenack was all that could be desired, but they proved equal to the occasion and, those who attended the pleasant affair, passed an evening which will remain a pleasant memory to all

Rev. G. M. Shott, who has been a sufferer from a combination of the grip and rheumatism for a week, is able to attend to his pastoral duties again and will occupy his pulpit in the Baptist church tomorrow at both morning and evening services. In the morning his subject for discourse will be: "The Genesis of Missions;" in the evening, "Finding Water."

A regular meeting of the Township Committee was held in the township rooms last evening. Several bills were ordered paid and other routine business transacted.

The annual election of officers of Excelsior H. and L. Co. will be held at the monthly meeting in the company's rooms on Monday evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, January 19.—Jeffrey Heenan, formerly of this place, but now of Long Island, and Miss Anna Lennon, of New York city, were married New Year's at the home of the bride. They will make their home in Great Neck, L. I., where the groom has purchased a new house.

A double wedding of some importance is expected some time in the early spring, which will be a great surprise to the residents, as both young women live in this place.

The subject of the sermon tomorrow morning by Rev. Mr. Cubberley will be: "Why Could Not We Cast Him Out"; in the evening: "Justification Regarded as Just."

The dedicatory exercises in honor of the new school house, will be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the church. A varied programme has been provided.

Thomas Gage has secured the janitorship of the school house. His bid was $12 per month. There were nine other bids handed to the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Poling are spending three or four days out of town. Patrick Heenan is temporary proprietor of the Lehigh Hotel.

Wm. Faulks, who has been confined to the house for over a week with the grip, does not, as yet, show any improvement.

Miss Julia Geary and Miss Julia Heenan have returned home from a visit with relatives in Metuchen.

Mrs. Frank Poling received word Thursday of the death of one of her brothers in New York.

Edward Smith was all smiles yesterday. A young daughter has arrived at his home.

The children are preparing for their entertainment at the new school Monday.

Miss Minnie Quirk, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the guest of John Geary.

Petition Against Polygamy.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, January 19—Senator Sewell has presented to the Senate the petition of a number of residents of Plainfield, asking for an amendment to the constitution to prohibit polygamy in the United States and its possessions. The petition was referred to the committee on the judiciary.

Funeral Held in St. Mary's Church.

The body of Miss Jennie Gilroy, who died at her home in Whitehouse, was brought to this city this morning and taken to St. Mary's church where funeral services were held. Rev. Father J. A. McGeary officiated. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The deceased was formerly a resident of this city.

Famous Speaker Coming.

Prof. I. T. Headland, who will speak in the First M. E. church tomorrow evening, is the author of the celebrated "Mother Goose Rhymes in China." He will talk about affairs in China and, he is a fine speaker, a large congregation should be present to hear him.

Does Not Respect the Clergy.

Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, is confined to his home with the grip, and will not be able to go out before the first of next week. His pulpit will be occupied tomorrow afternoon by Rev. Floyd Appleton, curate of Grace P. E. church.

To Aid Athletics.

The concert to be given at the Y. M. C. A. building Monday evening for the benefit of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association by the New York Musical Club, promises to be very fine. There has been a successful sale of tickets thus far.

But Few Seats Left.

The sale of seats for the performance of "The Private Secretary" at Music Hall on Saturday evening, February 16, is not lagging. There are still a few choice seats left, but an early selection is advisable.

Mrs. Casper in Critical Condition.

It is understood that Mrs. Fred Casper, who was taken to the State Hospital at Trenton several days ago, is in a very critical condition. She refuses all food and is believed to be growing worse.

NEXT WEEK'S AMUSEMENTS.

ATTRACTIONS BOOKED BY MANAGER EDWARDS FOR MUSIC HALL.

Two Big Fires Disarranged Plans of Many Companies, But There Will be Two Good Shows Next Week.

Although good attractions were presented at Music Hall the past week, patronage was not what the merits of the several shows deserved. There has been an apathy and general depression in amusement circles ever since the holidays, and it seems to be prevalent here as elsewhere.

The performance of "Fogg's Ferry" Tuesday night was highly commendable and Miss Betty Woodward as "Chip, the ferry waif," made a decided success. James B Mackie, in his play, "Grimes' Cellar Door," Thursday night, was everything that could be desired, and the specialties of Miss Louise Sanford and the other attractive young women of the company were much applauded.

Two very disastrous and inconvenient fires in Allentown and Norristown, Pa, which burned the theatres in the two cities named, caused quite an upheaval of dates and routes of several companies, and as a consequence Manager Meze Edwards was thrown out of attractions for the coming and following week, but hustling proved effective and he has secured "The Ladder of Life" for presentation on Thursday, and negotiations are pending for something at the end of the week.

Miss Myrtle Edwards and Guy T. Bennette will be seen for the first time in the great sensational comedy drama "The Ladder of Life." This great play comes here direct from the Metropolis Theatre, New York City, with the same cast to a man that was used in the production at that house. The production is surely a scenic production in every respect, the company carrying all the scenery used in the entire play. The fourth act is laid on board the steamship "Colon" at one time plying between Seattle and the gold fields in Alaska. The of the burning of this great ship, when hundreds of people lost their lives and hard earned gold, is the time the author has chosen for the action of the last act of "The Ladder of Life." The set is one of the greatest as well as the most true to life that has ever been attempted by any manager, and all lovers of good wholesome melodrama will be more than pleased with "The Ladder of Life."

On Monday, January 28, the Lebourne Bon Ton Stock Company will inaugurate a season of repertoire plays, and after that will come a host of novelties for month of February: Marie Corelli's play "The Sorrows of Satan;" "The Game Keeper;" Denman Thompson; "The Private Secretary;" the Choral Society; "The Dairy Farm;" the Four Cohans and others each man covered the distance, two being run at a time, they were immediately sent up stairs where their lungs were again tested.

Then they were each put through a number of acrobatic feats, such as drawing themselves up on the parallel bars, raising their bodies from a mat, while holding suspended a pair of seven pound Indian clubs, and raising and lowering the body from a stooping position. All the men showed good percentages, though of course some appeared physically more agile than others.

This examination was also witnessed by Dr. Carman, Chief Kiely and the reporter for the Daily Press. The applicants entered into the spirit of the examinations with much zest. They appeared pleased at the percentages that were given them by Mr. Heywood.

The result of these examinations will be reported to the Police Board but nothing will probably be made public until the February meeting when appointments may be made.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Neustadt. Eine Sitzung des Ausschusses des Vereins für Volksheilstätten in der Pfalz fand hier statt. Aus den Verhandlungen ging hervor, daß die Wasserleitung für die neue Heilstätte beendet, die Wegbauten in der Vollendung begriffen sind und mit dem Bau des dreistöckigen Gebäudes im Frühjahr begonnen wird. Architekt Ichter aus Speier referirte über die Pläne, die genehmigt wurden. Ferner wurde beschlossen, Niederdruckdampfheizung und elektrisches Licht für die Heilstätte zu verwenden. Der Hauptbau wird einen Kostenaufwand von etwa 300,000 Mark erfordern.

Pirmasens. Der vom Schwurgericht wegen Mordes zu 8 Jahren verurtheilte Agent Christian Lorang hat sich in seiner Zelle erhängt.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Obermedizinalrath Dr. v. Sick ist im Alter von 64 Jahren gestorben. Er war der offizielle Vertreter der Homöopathie im königlichen Medizinalkollegium.—Ein Gastwirth aus dem benachbarten Degerloch besuchte seine Eltern in der hiesigen Karlsvorstadt. Er gerieth mit seinem jüngeren Bruder in einen Wortwechsel und schlug ihn. Dieser holte aus seinem Zimmer einen Revolver und erschoß vor den Augen seiner Eltern seinen Bruder und sodann sich selbst.

Balingen. Beim Hinabgehen auf der Treppe kam der in den fünfziger Jahren stehende Metzgermeister Jakob Seeger so unglücklich zu Fall, daß er todt auf dem Platze blieb.

Ludwigsburg. Der Handlungsreisende Fröhner wurde in Augsburg, wohin er nach Veruntreuung einer größeren Geldsumme geflüchtet war, verhaftet; 3600 Mark wurden bei ihm noch vorgefunden.

Ulm. Mit der Niederlegung der Umwallung geht es rasch voran. Daß die Stadt sich rasch ausdehnen wird, nachdem die Festungsmauern gefallen sind, dafür sprechen verschiedene Anzeichen. Auch die Straßenbahn hat neue Projekte geschaffen und eine neue Linie nach Söflingen einerseits und nach der Friedrichsau anderseits in's Auge gefaßt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Der Verein „Frauenbildung-Frauenstudium" hat, veranlaßt durch den sich fortwährend steigernden Besuch des Karlsruher Mädchengymnasiums, ein eigenes Haus für die Zwecke des Internats gekauft.—Neulich ist Oberst Schmidt, der Kommandeur des badischen Gendarmeriekorps, 62 Jahre alt, gestorben.

Heidelberg. Wegen eines körperlichen Leidens hat sich der Cigarrenfabrikant Ritzhaupt, der lange Jahre dem Stadtverordnetenkollegium angehörte, erschossen.

Mannheim. Der Stadtrath theilte in einer Bürgerausschußsitzung mit, daß nunmehr sämmtliche Staatsbehörden die Einleitung der Fäkalien seitens der Stadt in den Rhein genehmigt haben.

Pforzheim. Der flüchtige Gaswerkbuchhalter Otto Räuchle, der aus der ihm anvertrauten Kokeskasse 10,550 Mark unterschlagen, ward, nachdem er sich Mangels Subsistenzmittel in München der Polizei gestellt hatte, hierher eingeliefert.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Die Ausführung des hiesigen Goethe-Denkmals ist dem Berliner Bildhauer Ernst Waegner übertragen worden, der beim Wettbewerb den ersten Preis erhalten hatte.

Diedenhofen. Ein Anarchist, der bereits von der italienischen Behörde signalisirt war und von Frankreich ebenfalls verfolgt wird, Ottelio Cini, ist in Deutschoth festgenommen und in's Gefängniß nach Diedenhofen verbracht worden.

Schlettstadt. Die Riedbahn von Schlettstadt zum Rhein soll nunmehr gebaut werden. Nachdem alle Pläne bisher vergeblich waren, weil sowohl das Reich als die angegangenen Privatgesellschaften das Unternehmen für nicht rentabel erklärten, scheint die Reichseisenbahnverwaltung nunmehr anderer Meinung geworden zu sein. Diese Sinnesänderung wird einer Immediateingabe der Stadt Schlettstadt an den Kaiser bei dessen zweitem Besuch der Hohkönigsburg im letzten Frühjahr zugeschrieben.

RIPANS TABULES

The Tabules are a compact, convenient, accurate form of a prescription universally used by physicians in treating digestive troubles. The exact formula from which Ripans Tabules are made is in daily use in the greatest hospitals in the world, where the highest medical skill recognizes it as the best preparation ever devised for derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. If these organs can be kept healthy and active there is little danger of serious sickness. Almost every illness is traceable directly to indigestion and its accompanying disorders. Ripans Tabules stimulate the stomach, stop fermentation and make digestion easy and rapid. They stir up the liver and help it to perform its functions. They cure constipation and strengthen and invigorate the bowels so that their natural action is restored. One Tabule is a dose. The frequency of the dose is regulated by the apparent need.

WANTED—Victims of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. They give relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 5 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten cents, and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

The Dyspeptic was bored. Business was dull in the office, so he turned for a little conversation with his stenographer.

"Hum-m!" he remarked.

The stenographer jumped nearly a foot from her seat. She was a timid little thing and cherished a reasonable fear of her employer.

"Sir?" she queried meekly.

The Dyspeptic lit his pipe, leaned back in his chair and looked her over. She wore a frivolous silk waist, with a fussy jabot, a crinkled satin belt and a tucked skirt. "Hum!" he remarked disapprovingly.

The stenographer in her excitement struck two notes at once and punched a hole through the type ribbon.

The Dyspeptic opened his mouth once more. "If I had my way," he growled, "women would all wear uniforms."

"Wonder what he's eaten now?" was the stenographer's thought, but out loud she said, "Why, sir?"

"Why?" grunted the Dyspeptic. "So they'd have time to improve their minds. That's why. All the women think of is dress. Makes any decent man tired. It's nothing but new clothes all the time, and the old ones half worn out. Women drive their husbands to ruin with their extravagance and frivolity. Look at yourself, for instance"—

"But I haven't any husband!"

"No, but you ought to have! Spending all you earn in fripperies instead of marrying some honest young fellow and helping him"—

"Earn his living?"

"I didn't mean that!" snapped the Dyspeptic. "You women never have any mind except for lovey dovey stuff and such slush. Can't you see the beauty of my idea?"

The little stenographer drew a long breath and faced her employer. "What would you dress them in?" she inquired.

"Gunny sacks or just plain gray dresses like the Quakers—anything to keep them from thinking of themselves!"

The little stenographer surveyed his rather portly form with rising indignation. Gray was not becoming to her. "How would you like to wear a suit of large plaids?" she remarked spitefully.

But the Dyspeptic was equal to the occasion. "I shouldn't care," he returned, calmly fixing her with his eye. The stenographer remembered with a chill that the day for raising salaries was not far off.

"Don't you think it would take away girls' individuality to dress them all alike?" she asked, with the laudable desire of bringing the conversation into safe channels.

"Hum-m, no! Men don't care what a woman wears. It's a girl's walk, the sparkle of her eye, the way she laughs."

"I didn't think you noticed those things," the stenographer ventured demurely.

The Dyspeptic attentively considered a crack in the ceiling.

"I think it would be a good idea to dress women according to their different professions," suggested the stenographer, who was beginning to enjoy herself.

"How's that?" he inquired suspiciously. "You wouldn't have a ballet girl walking around in her stage dress, I presume?"

"They could have two costumes, a business dress and an evening costume," she went on, calmly ignoring his remark. "The evening dress could be as the fashion dictated, but the day dress should indicate the business and rank of the wearer. Why, there are women who wear uniforms now and who look all the more attractive for it. Look at the hospital nurses, for instance. A uniform improves the looks of a man. It might if well chosen do the same for a woman."

"How would you do it?"

"Well, women of leisure would simply wear plain black costumes. Teachers would appear in the cap and gown of academic purple, and there would be some little peculiarity to distinguish the grades. For instance, the principal of a school would have a gold tassel in her cap. Stenographers, clerks and secretaries would wear cadet blue and white, with pearl gray hats ornamented with a black band, on which their rank would appear in gold letters. Women lawyers would have dark green costumes to match their bags; they would wear black cloaks, and their belts and buttons would be of silver. Women doctors would dress in navy blue. Journalists would wear a combination of gray and red; they would wear black fedoras, and on the wide lapels of their coats the name of their paper might be embroidered in letters of gold. Editors would wear a narrow red band around their hats and managing editors a gold one. As for artists, they would dress in those warm russets so dear to their hearts. They would sport the blouse and the Tam O'Shanter, while the desired spots of color could be obtained by their flowing neckties and bright stockings."

The Dyspeptic closed his eyes with a look of supreme disgust. "Ugh," he grunted, "the woman's view of it! Frivolous, of course!"

MAUD ROBINSON.

A Few Proverbs About Women.

A beautiful woman with the qualities of a noble man is the most perfect thing in nature. We find in her all the merits of both sexes.—La Bruyere.

It is a misfortune for a woman never to be loved, but it is a humiliation to be loved no more.—Montesquieu.

Women like brave men exceedingly, but audacious men still more.—Le Mesle.

There are 24 hours in a day and not a moment in the 24 in which a woman may not change her mind.—De Finod.

A man is in general better pleased when he has a good dinner than when his wife talks Greek.—Johnson.

Life is not long enough for a coquette to play all her tricks in.—Addison.

A man should choose for a wife only such a woman as he would choose for a friend were she a man.—Joubert.

If woman did turn man out of paradise, she has done her best ever since to make it up to him.—Sheldon.

Fancy Collar With Stole Ends.

Here is a stylish neck trimming which can take the place of fur and which is even more dressy. Panne velvet and strips of sable are combined with a jabot and little bows of a delicate shade of taffeta. This would be particularly effective in castor velvet and pale pink or blue accordion plaited chiffon instead of the taffeta. The muff and hat should carry out the same color scheme. These little fancy accessories brighten up a plain tailor made wonderfully, and a clever girl can often make them at home.

GOT 'EM DOWN FINE.

Over the sea the tourist came,
Oh, but I trow the halls were long!
His knees were weak, but with eyes a-flame,
He smote the lyre and sang his song—
"Show me a painting that's old and rusty!
Give me a whack at Jacopo Robusti!
Something of good old John Bellini,
A doubt of Giovanni Contarini;
Face me with Donati Veneziano,
Or try me with Lazzori di Bastiano;
Feed me on Giovanni di Bologna,
Or see if I recognize Rocco Marconi;
Let me explain you a Caro Caliari,
Or show me a genuine A. Veretari;
Set me before an old Fogulino,
Or bring me Boccaccio B. Boccacino;
Try if I know a Pietro Gaspari,
Or fool me a bit on Car Caliari—
For I know everything, I'll bet you a guinea,
In—onti, and etti, and otti, and inni."

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

BOB BURDETTE
Takes a Trip Abroad

He Tells of the Picture Galleries of Europe, and His Adventures in Them

[Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.]

The boast of southern California that it is the only civilized land where one may play golf all winter brings a smile—and such a smile—to the face of the racing tourist who takes daily exercise in the capitals and art centers of Europe. For he has a game, open to all comers and wide open all the year round, that for development of speed, patience, memory, power of endurance and accuracy of the eye in judging distance and direction relegates ordinary nine-hole golf to the deepest shadows of the leafy wood. And as for its general moral unlift and habit of tempered language, the new game is a holiness mission alongside of golf. Moreover, it is no weak imitation of the older game. It has a strange weird nomenclature and vocabulary of its own, deeper, more resonant and certainly more awe-inspiring than the Bushman dialect of stymie, bunker, cleek and brassie. It resembles St. Andrew's golf in one or two characteristics. After a man has played one game of golf you know he becomes an expert; talks as loudly and as incomprehensibly as the woman who has played longer than she wants anybody to remember, and even as the veteran makes his best scores in solitude, always beating bogie when he goes around alone to play "the colonel" and bombarding all the country outside the links with lost balls when he plays in a match. The new game makes you think of that every time you see it played, or take a hand in it yourself.

Playing the Galleries.

I went into the game myself on the advice of my physicians. I have but one, of course, but it always sounds better to put him in the plural. When a man speaks of going to the doctor you know that he consults a medical man and pays for a prescription. But when we read that "he is advised by his physicians" we are pretty tolerably certain that he reads "Dr. Gunn" and dopes his astonished system from a pocket case of vials numbered from 1 to 15. Well, anyhow, I really was advised to take more exercise. As I was walking 15 miles a day with my nose in a guide book, the advice savored of impertinence, and when I asked what exercise to take my adviser told me promptly to "play the picture galleries." I reluctantly did so.

But the game resembles golf in this, also. The man who most reviles it is its most sure victim. He goes into his first contest with scorn in his eye and sarcasm on his lip, and he comes out a dutiful slave and an enthusiastic devotee. And certainly it is fascinating. My first lesson-match was in Paris over the Louvre course. Being a novice who had never before held a catalogue in his hand, I was given a handicap of 4,000 paintings and a quarter of a mile of statuary. That might sound large on an ordinary golf links, but this is no game for children and old men; it takes rank with army corps maneuvers for the ground covered in an amateur match. So this large-sounding handicap, for which in my ignorance I felt so grateful, only brought me to the "Winged Victory," which was hardly enough to make the game interesting to my skillful and experienced opponent. Indeed, when the facts were brought out before the mutual friends he was warned that a persistence in such unfair advantages might disqualify him from playing over that course for three years. I played with the usual overconfidence of beginners in that match, of course, and lost 86 points in the first 500 pictures by admiring some beautiful paintings by obscure artists. After passing the "Winged Victory," where I missed stays and lost a little, I nearly recovered my entire handicap by a bit of an unforeseen misjudgment on the part of my opponent. He mistook a fly-speck on his catalogue for a "star" and clasped his hands in silent ecstasy before a picture so accurately drawn that the college of surgeons couldn't find a flaw in the anatomy of the figures. This cost him 117 points.

However, my elation at scoring against an old player somewhat blinded my own judgment, and about 92 paintings farther on I carelessly walked past the picture of a saint done in whitewash A. D. 354, with no visible face, two joints in one leg and none in the other, playing on a crookneck gourd without strings. I scarcely gave it more than a passing glance. I saw the malignant gleam of triumph light up my adversary's eyes like a balefire as he knelt down before this masterpiece and gazed long and earnestly at it with half-closed eyes, and as he rose and reverently dusted the knees of his trousers I knew the game was lost. I did the best in my power and made gains on the last mile, but I was too far behind to recover. The old players in art-golf lack that chivalrous attitude toward novices and greenhorns in the game that is one of the beautiful features of football and war. They are utterly pitiless, scornful, scathing. They will not make the slightest allowance for ignorance or nervousness or faulty education on the part of a player who has never run through a gallery before. And in this, I am sorry to say, they are not only upheld but encouraged by the judges. The old player who plays with the novice, by the way, is the sole judge of the game, keeping both scores himself, and refusing to permit the beginner to make any protest whatever. Indeed, the usual formula for opening the game is for the old player to lay his hand on the shoulder of the beginner and say:

"Neither you nor anyone else in this world ever did or ever will know one-half as much about art in a thousand years as I forget every fifteen minutes."

How to Say "Loover."

This alone is enough to make a raw player nervous. I saw a most charming young girl put off the Louvre course and warned not to come there any more—just as though it was the Bowery, because in a moment of forgetfulness she called it the "Loover." My ignorance saved me from that. I didn't know how the thing was spelled, so I called it what I heard everybody else call it, "The Loo," and spelled it that way in my diary till the boys saw it and corrected me. I was amazed when they told me. I had seen that thing in print ever since I could remember, but had no idea that was the "Loo." It had been a close squeak for me, but the Lord delivereth the simple.

I played a few practical games in Munich and Milan with a blind man, and beat him twice. You see, I would describe the paintings to him, and he would guess at the artist. He had played "dummy" with Henry James and Ruskin, and beat me the first time. After that I described St. Sebastian to him without any arrows, and St. Lawrence without his gridiron, and he mixed them up. Anything is fair in art criticism, and I was beginning to enter into the rigor of the game. When we reached Venice I had so far progressed as to believe that I could improve on St. Mark's, found fault with the color of the sunset on the lagoon, and the first church I went into I twice flatly contradicted a learned old priest who had been studying its paintings and architecture for 20 years. This qualified me to play in sweepstakes over the Ruskin course. With a handicap, of course, I entered for the long-distance cook-scamper the first day, but was much more disgracefully beaten by a girl 19 years old. She enticed me into the match against the warnings of my best friends, and then paralyzed me by offering me a handicap of seven churches, the Browning palace and a glass factory. I haughtily declined, when she laughed lightly, and pulled out of her handbag a Cook's ticket 5½ yards long, in a handsomely bound volume of 178 pages. She beat me out of sight without catching her breath, and that afternoon said good-by, because she had to finish Vienna, Dresden and Amsterdam, so as to make St. Petersburg the following Saturday. The Ruskin course at Venice is not a very exciting one. It does well enough inside the churches, but in going from one place to another you go by gondola, as the steam launches are too expensive for the average tourist, and the gondola moves rather leisurely and with perfect care. So one cannot rush madly over other people in the scamper from church to church, and this makes the out-of-door part of the game rather tame.

A Hopeless Case.

Here in Florence, which is one of the best "bagdoos" — so-called because when the racing tourist "does" a church, palace or gallery it is then scored, or "put in the bag"—for long or short distances in Europe, I participated in some very interesting free-for-all "golooksees." I was matched to run the Uffizi Gallery "shortdoo"—that's anything under a thousand paintings—against a lame boy who told me he was fond of pictures and was learning to draw. Anybody who talks like that is easy game. I gave the little fellow a start as far as the second American base-burner stove in the first corridor—you know where that is—and couldn't see anything of him when I got through—973 pictures in 62 minutes—how's that for art golf? I went back to look for him and found him just about where he had started nearly an hour before, standing before Botticelli's "Fortitude," resting on his crutch and looking into the face of patient endurance until his own brave young face seemed to be the shadow of it. I told the boy's mother she might as well let him learn to "draw" if he wanted to; he'd certainly never know anything about art.

An Easy "Numberdoo."

That afternoon I played over the "longdoo" in the same gallery against the professor of medieval art in the nineteenth century in the Correspondence university of Hennepin county, United States of America—degrees of Ph. D. in six weeks for $90. We took the corridors, and I thought I had him beat at the start, for in the toss-up for choice I won and took the statues and threw him to the frescoes. Thought I: "Old man, if I don't break your neck with the strain I'll do it by walking you down a stairway." Bless your simple eyes—and mine too—the professor of medieval art in the nineteenth century just opened his Badeker at the right page, buried his nose in it and walked three corridors in 19 minutes without once looking off the book. He gained on me every stride. And he played fair, too; I could see him checking off the frescoes as he read them in the book, faster than I could find my statues. You see, the frescoes are not numbered; they are merely listed in the book, so that you can read the subjects of them and "put them in the bag" with a pencil as you go along without taking the trouble to look at them. But the marbles are numbered and you have to look at them to be sure that the number on the statue corresponds with that on your catalogue. This consumed a great deal of time, and I wrote a little note to the municipality about it, suggesting a more convenient system of cataloguing by which the time of the tourist need not be wasted in looking up from the book to search for the statue or picture.

However, I beat the professor the next morning. It was a "Numberdoo" instead of "distance." We started even, no handicap, and ran for 45 minutes, he using a Murray with a red pencil and I a Badeker with a blue. When "time" was called I had "done" 124 saints against his 87 Madonnas. He was very sulky over his defeat, so I played him a consolation match in the remaining rooms, and allowed him to count all the figures in blue and red as Madonnas if he'd let me count all the Medici family in my pictures as saints. He agreed and came out with a triumphant look and a tremendous score, but I had struck a Medici portrait gallery a mile and a half long, and he was so overwhelmed with humiliation that he leaped into the golden Arno at the deepest point and wet both feet.

Art Without a Master.

This game of art golf is not only excellent exercise—I can "do" my 18 miles a day now without any distress—but it is a beautiful education in art. I have learned how to turn a chromo into an old master in half a day, by hanging it in a chimney to get that soft and hazy shadow-atmosphere of the centuries. And if the soldiers' monument, the pride of your little town and the masterpiece of Mr. Slabs, your old-established and justly-popular stonecutter, with whom it is a pleasure to do business, is only buried in a swamp a few years—a couple of thousand would be about right if it's the same one you showed me when I lectured there last winter—you can resurrect it, speckled and spotted, equal to any old thing in the art gallery of the effete despotisms of decadent Europe.

A Fake Accusation.

As the report may reach America that I was warned for foul driving in one of the "Numberdoos" here, in which I won, it is claimed, by unfair counting, I may say, to clear myself, that if I made a mistake it was honestly made, and it was one in which any person who has been a deep student of high art for only a few months might easily fail. My time was very limited one morning and I was very anxious to "do" a very elaborate church, so I played the course against an English gentleman, who was equally desirous of putting that church into the bag before luncheon. So we paired off; he won the toss and took the saints and I took the cherubs. By thus dividing the looking we could get through. I scored over him easily, three cherubs to a saint. But he accused me of counting clouds for cherubs, and the referee sustained him. But I called in a group of experts, by whom I can prove that there has never been a canvas painted since A. D. 1536 that is not a monstrous heaven-defying daub, and these gentlemen declared that my error did credit to my head, eyes and heart, because I had made the mistake in every instance on Grinderoboni's canvases, and that it was a weakness of his, owing to the dimness of the pigments used and the cloudy uncertainty of his drawing, to put more wings on his clouds than he did on his cherubs. It was, therefore, decided that while I gained on counting winged clouds, I had lost on wingless cherubs. And the match was accorded to me. My opponent, however, was not satisfied, and I understand that he has written to the papers about it.

Any little pointers on art that I can send you, ask for. I have a little system of my own for distinguishing the martyrs in some of the pictures from the gladiators that a man who has been in all the galleries of Europe says he is going to try at Monte Carlo

UNCERTAIN GEOGRAPHY.

What Would Be Likely to Happen If Anyone Reached the Supposed North Pole.

Suppose an explorer actually makes his way to where the north pole ought to be and when he gets there finds that it has moved? This is what would be likely to happen, says London Answers. Then, too, the pole moves in a most mysterious way. There is nothing to show the direction it takes; no trail to follow. And in order to catch up with it the man on the scene must know exactly where the pole was on such and such a date, and where it ought to be on that particular day that he hopes to overtake it. In other words, the pole is not a fixed, but a constantly varying point on the earth's surface.

It has been discovered that the sea level is changing, and even the motion of the moon is affected by the displacement of the earth's axis and the resulting uneven rotation. The longitude and latitude of all points fluctuate. The instability of the pole and the shifting of latitude will disconcert the surveyors, raise legal complications and controversies over deeds and descriptions of land, and may upset national boundaries to some extent, for it is proved that all artificial boundaries are constantly changing.

Determination of longitude will certainly be exceedingly awkward to make if absolute exactness be desired, as the basis of the world's longitude, the meridian of Greenwich, is not spared the uncertainty, as its position is oscillating around the observatory at Greenwich, which is by definition the zero longitude of the world. But the odd circumstance is that points on the earth's surface may at times be east, and at other times west of the town of Greenwich.

SPORTING.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

There will be only four days of this year's Poultry Show, at Madison Square Garden. It will be the twelfth annual exhibition by the New York Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association, and it will open on Wednesday morning, January 23, and close on Saturday night, January 26. From the entries filed, the poultry classes will be filled with the finest birds in the country, and competition will be close. Pigeons will show up nicely, and there will be more incubators and brooders than usual. In the pet stock department, many prize winning cats will be entered, and the rabbits, cavies and Belgian hares will be shown in great numbers. A canary and cage bird section has a distinct place in the show. All the club meetings will be held during the show. The admission will be half a dollar, children twenty-five cents, and the show will be open each day from 9 a. m until 10:30 p. m.

MINOR TOWN HAPPENINGS.

BRIEF ITEMS OF INTEREST TO EVERY DAILY PRESS READER.

Some Of the Doings In City and Borough Told In Concise and Pertinent Paragraphs.

—Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, sang two very acceptable solos at an entertainment given by the Advance Club, of Westfield, last evening.

—The Union Bible class taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns will meet at Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday afternoon, January 22, at 2:30 o'clock.

—Miss A. E. Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, who makes a specialty of floral design work, has been kept busy this week. She has had orders to fill for two or three funerals a day for this city and vicinity.

—Plainfield society people who send out numerous invitations should have their envelopes addressed by Prof. Lewis, the penman. A beautiful engraved invitation and a poor handwriting show bad taste. See his ad.

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

PERSONAL.

Louis VanNest, Jr., of Duer street has been ill at his home for the past week with a severe attack of the grip.

Mrs. W. S Nelson, of West Second street, is suffering with the grip. Dr. Nelson, of New Market, is attending her.

John S. Hope, of East Third street, has improved greatly from an attack of pleurisy under the care of Dr. Jenkins.

Charles B. Anderson, of Monroe, N. Y., returned home this morning after a few days' visit with E. R. Hall, of Crescent avenue.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E Gulick, who is ill at the home of Dr. J. Harvey Buchanan, is considered out of danger and recovering slowly.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, will occupy his pulpit again tomorrow morning after an illness of two weeks with the grip.

Mrs. S. Barron Brewster, of Woodbridge, has been called to Plainfield on account of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Jacob Wagner, of West Fourth street.

John Honan, of West Fourth street, has secured a position with R. H. Hoe and Company, of New York, in the draughting department. He will reside in New York.

Kneisels at Casino Tonight.

The concert by the Kneisel quartette at the Casino this evening promises to be a very enjoyable affair. The Kneisels have a world-wide reputation for the excellence of their chamber music concerts. It is a subscription affair for which the number of tickets is limited. There still remain, however, a few tickets which have not yet been sold and which lovers of good music will undoubtedly be very glad to secure. The concert begins at 8 o'clock. The programme was published in The Daily Press last night.

Death of Miss Baldwin.

The death of Miss Mary Augusta Benjamin occurred this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Martin Lantz, of Arlington avenue. The funeral services will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Interment will be made at Deckerstown, N. J.

MUSIC BY TALENTED ARTISTS

ENJOYABLE MUSICALE GIVEN AT CHURCH OF HEAVENLY REST.

Affair Was Under Auspices of Woman's Friendly Society—Those Who Took Part.

A highly interesting musicale was given last evening in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, under the auspices of the Woman's Friendly Society. An excellent programme was presented, many of the artists coming from New York City. The house was well filled with an appreciative audience.

The concert opened with a piano solo by Miss Dewey, who plays with very good touch and technique. Vernon Hughes has sung here before, and is always well received and proves a big drawing card. He was as popular as ever, giving his selections and encores in a most pleasing manner.

The three young women, Miss Geecheidt and Miss Mulson, of New York, and Miss Phillips, of this city, are pupils of Mr. Hughes and all showed the careful and conscientious training of their teacher. Their selections were well chosen and of a high order, and all kindly responded to encores.

Miss Edith Louise Burt was very successful in her recitations and was well received.

The violinists, who appeared, Joseph Sattels, Maurice Audsley, Arthur Mosher and George Smith, rendered two very fine quartette solos, ably accompanied by V F. Sopel, the whole making two important numbers on the programme.

The whole entertainment passed without a hitch, under the management of a committee which consisted of Mrs. E. E. Brown, Mrs. L. H. Morgan, Miss Jennie Wenzel, Mrs. Fraleigh and Mrs. Benj. R K. Burke.

FRIENDS DIDN'T KNOW.

Robert W. VanNest and Miss Perrine Were Quietly Married New Year's Eve.

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Robert W. VanNest, son of Louis VanNest, of Duer street, to Miss Gertrude E. Perrine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Perrine, of West Fourth street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace M. E. church, and took place New Year's Eve at the parsonage.

It is a surprise to many of the young couple's friends who were anticipating giving them a rousing time when the event came off. The happy couple spent a week in Newark and New York on their honeymoon. They will take up their residence for the present at the home of the groom's parents, on Duer street.

A reception will be held the latter part of this month at the home of the bride's parents.

O'NEIL IN TOWN.

He Is the Man Who Was Supposed to Be Killed and Was Subsequently Arrested as a Deserter.

James O'Neil, of Philadelphia, who was supposed to have been killed on the railroad several months ago, came to Plainfield this morning for the purpose of renewing old acquaintances. A body thought to have been O'Neil's was found at Clinton avenue on the Jersey Central tracks. It was taken to Philadelphia and interred under his name in the family plot.

Several weeks afterward O'Neil was arrested at Germantown on suspicion of being a deserter from the U. S. Army. He proved his innocence and was subsequently released. He had been living in Mt. Carmel, Pa, and read of his supposed death in a newspaper. He was on his way to inform his family of their mistake when arrested. While in this city O'Neil was employed at the Pond Tool Works.

George W. Eddy Dead.

George W. Eddy, a well-known West Ender, died at the hospital this morning, where he was taken several weeks ago for treatment. He was 57 years old and came to this city from Newark in 1889 and opened a meat market on Muhlenberg place. He retired from business about three years ago. The deceased is survived by one brother, Ellis Eddy, of New street, and one sister who resides in Jersey City. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

Died After Long Years of Suffering.

Miss Florence Dunn, youngest daughter of James M. and the late Martha E. Dunn, died last evening at her home, 134 East Fifth street. She had been an invalid for a long time and her death was not unexpected. The funeral services will be held from her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At St. Stephen's Church.

Rev. T. Logan Murphy will preach at the morning service in St. Stephens P. E. church tomorrow morning. Rev. Floyd Appleton will Celebrate and conduct the evening service.

District Session at Paterson.

William Newcorn will hold a district session of Red Men at Paterson Tuesday. A complimentary dinner will be given to him prior to the session.

LINDEN NEARLY WIPED OUT.

BIG FIRE OCCURRED IN VILLAGE EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING.

Caused Damage to the Amount of Over $20,000—Many Buildings Burned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 19—The village of Linden, near this city, had the largest fire in its history at an early hour yesterday morning. A row of wooden buildings, in which were the post office, three stores and two dwelling houses, were burned.

The fire started in the store of John Widman & Co., and spread so rapidly that little was saved. Besides this building, the drug store of David G. Hilliard, the barber shop of John Geiger and the houses of Frederick Miller and Joseph Bartram were destroyed. Linden has no fire department, and the inhabitants formed a bucket brigade to fight the fire. The buildings were three stories high.

Postmaster Hilliard lived in the apartments over his drug store. His family escaped in their night clothes, but he saved all the Government property and most of the mail matter, but lost his stock and household effects and $100 in cash, which his wife had put in a bureau drawer.

John Bartram, a shoemaker, says that he lost more than $100 in cash, which was in a desk in his shop, and also all of his household goods. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary. The total loss will be about $20 000, partly covered by insurance. The buildings were owned by Meeker Wood, of Linden.

DEFENDANTS DIDN'T APPEAR.

Judgment Secured by Erie Railroad Against F. K. Fish, Jr., and H. W. Hopper.

The case of the Erie Railroad Company against F. K. Fish, Jr., and Herbert W. Hopper, co-partners as Fish & Co., commission merchants, doing business at No. 2 Stone street, New York city, was called in the New York City Court last Tuesday, and the railroad company obtained judgment against the defendants for $773 04. The judgment was for freight and advances for freight between New York and Corning, N. Y., and intermediate points. The defendants appeared by S. S. Bowman, of 80 Broadway, N. Y., and denied the indebtedness. The case was tried before Hon. John P. Schuchman, and the defendants not appearing, judgment was given against them.

NOVEL KIND OF SOCIABLE.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PREPARED AN ENTERTAINING EVENING.

"Russian and Greek Social"—Had to Guess Identity of Strange Articles by Sense of Feeling.

One of the most enjoyable sociables, given in the First M. E. church in some time, was that held last evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. It was called a "Russian and Greek social" and was a new departure in affairs of this kind. The fore part of the evening was taken up with a laughable bean bag game in which the players were divided equally into Russians and Greeks. The game occasioned no end of amusement and was greatly enjoyed by the spectators as well as the players.

Following the game all present seated themselves at a table decorated in ancient Greek style. Various articles were then passed from hand to hand beneath the table and each person was instructed to guess what the objects were. There were thirteen articles and the guesses as to their identity were as varied as they were numerous. As the guess was made the name was written on a piece of paper provided for the purpose and at the conclusion of the game corrections were made. Some of the articles were a rabbits foot, a pig's tail, an icicle, a star fish and a wet glove filled with sand, a cold hard boiled egg, and a piece of meat.

The affair concluded with a welsh rarebit supper which was a novelty in church sociables. There were other refreshments, however.

The committee, to whom credit is due for the evening's enjoyment, consisted of Mrs. Tugwell, Miss Gertrude Snodgrass, Miss Elsie Horne and Miss Louella Crowther.

DEATH CAME QUICKLY.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smalley Passed Away at Home of Alonzo Brokaw This Morning.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smalley, wife of William H. Smalley, died about 9 o'clock this morning at the home of Alonzo Brokaw, 32 Grandview avenue, aged about 60 years. Mrs. Smalley has been slightly ill for a few days with a severe cold, but nothing serious was considered. This morning as Mrs. Smalley started downstairs she had a sinking spell She was assisted to her room and Dr. Buchanan summoned.

The latter was unable to respond, owing to illness, and Dr. Dundon was sent to see the patient. By the time Dr. Dundon arrived Mrs. Smalley was dead. The physician pronounced her death the result of heart disease.

Mrs. Smalley has rented a room at Mr. Brokaw's for several months. She did not take her meals with the family. She was a quiet person and had little to say to the members of the Brokaw family. It is understood that Mrs. Smalley has not lived with her husband in some years. The latter and three sons reside west of Dunellen. Undertaker DeMott took charge of the remains. Arrangements have not been made for the funeral.

OFFICERS QUARRELED, TRUST WAS DISSOLVED

One of the Biggest Combinations of the Century Has Been Given Up.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED.

PATROLMAN MYERS WAS PRESENT AND HEARD FINAL DISPUTE.

A Fact That Has Kept Plainfield People Wondering All Winter Is Finally Explained—Will Give Up the Combination Idea.

It must have been after midnight Saturday when Patrolman Myers spied a tall shadowy form hurrying across North avenue in the direction of the railroad station. The 1:17 train from New York had passed through some time before, and the officer wondered who would be out at that hour and at that place. Perhaps it was a tramp, looking for shelter from the bitter cold, he thought, or it might be something more serious. So the officer followed to investigate.

The tall, gaunt, spectral form made its way across the tracks to the shelter of the new station. The officer circled round Watchung avenue and approached under the shelter of the fence surrounding the old Rheaume property.

In the stillness of the night, there come an icy rustling which sent a chill to the very marrow of the policeman's bones. Then he noticed that a large bewhiskered individual stood on the platform beside the other.

"What does this mean?" Myers heard the first comer remark as he shivered and twisted as if with cold. His voice was tremulous and low. "Where are all your promises, Jack Frost? I thought we had decided to begin the new century with an amicable adjustment of all our old troubles. Isn't the whole tendency of the age in the direction of combinations of effort? And just when we had our trust in such good working order and I was gathering my victims in so finely, you broke the contract we made and so much of my labors have gone for nothing. It's too bad. It's too bad." And the gaunt figure moaned and writhed.

"That's all right, La Grippe," roared out Jack Frost, the row of icicles about his chin dancing up and down with the vigor of his speech. "But this has gone far enough. Just because we elected you president of the corporation doesn't mean that everything is coming your way. I'm getting tired sitting up there at the North Pole and hearing the people say that I'm dead or over in New Brunswick while the newspapers are filled with column after column about you. I like notoriety too."

"But your turn was to come next year," whined La Grippe, as he shivered before the icy breath of the frosty giant.

"That doesn't go down," retorted the other. "I'm going to have my turn this year too. I can kill them off, I can freeze them and catch them in my blizzards, but I'm not going to play second fiddle to you any longer.

"Look at the North Wind. I've kept him chained up so long that when I turned him loose yesterday, he entirely forgot how to act. And look at the snow flakes. They were so out of practice that they forgot to keep on falling.

"I tell you combinations don't work. The Leislature is going to pass a law against them anyway. I think we'd better dissolve this corporation now and return to the old way. It's good enough for me." Without further speech, the tall figure suddenly sprang into the air and was gone, while the mercury in the thermometer at the station dropped three degrees in that number of seconds.

Then it was that Patrolman Myers understood what had been the trouble all the winter and returned to his cold and lonely beat while that gaunt spectre, LaGrippe, disappeared in the darkness.

Jack Frost had evidently returned to his old habits in real earnest. Saturday, the first of the genuine winter appeared and a series of miniature blizzards swept over the city. The mercury began to fall and went down at a merry pace Saturday afternoon At sunset, it stood only ten degrees above zero. As the evening progressed, the mercury continued to fall, but the biting north wind disappeared with the daylight. At 10 o'clock, Saturday night, the thermometer marked only a single degree above zero and during the night, it went several degrees be-

SAVED FROM CHILLY DEATH.

POLICE GATHERED IN QUARTETTE OF INTOXICATED MEN.

Might Have Frozen to Death if Police Hadn't Found Them—One One Wanted to Fight.

Four men, whom the police arrested Saturday night, can be very thankful that they were gathered in. They would have surely frozen to death had they not been helped to a warm place.

About 10 o'clock Saturday night the police were telephoned to send an officer to Richmond street, where a man was lying dead-drunk in the street. Sergeant Frederickson responded. He found Hugh Miller in a helpless state. He was taken to the station house in a cab.

At about midnight Chief Kiely had a time with two young men from Garwood, who were found at Watchung and North avenues. One of the men was lying in the centre of the street and had clutched the car fender so tightly that it was with difficulty that his grip was released. His companion was trying to assist him to his feet. Both were helplessly drunk. They were helped to the station house, where they gave the names of Edward A. Thompson and George Francis. They were locked up in a warm cell.

During the night Patrolman Watson found Cooney Dunham on Liberty street, near Fourth street, ugly drunk. Dunham gave the officer considerable trouble. He was locked up. Yesterday morning all the men arrested were arraigned before City Judge Runyon. With the exception of Dunham sentence was suspended. Dunham was sentenced to pay a fine of $3 or ten days in jail. He took the days.

POWER GAVE OUT.

Local Trolley Cars Were Stalled on the Streets Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

To add to the discomfort of traveling about in Saturday evening's intense cold, the service on the local trolley lines was anything but satisfactory. From early in the evening until late at night, the power would give out at intervals bringing cars to a standstill and causing waits of from ten to twenty minutes. One of the longest waits was that occurring from 6:30 until 7 o'clock. At this time one of the cars became stalled on the Front street line at DeKalb avenue. To make matters worse the fire for heating the car refused to burn and when the power returned, several of the passengers were in the last stages of frost-bitten fingers and toes.

The trouble was caused by an accident in the power house of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company which made it necessary to stop the dynamo several times.

Broken Axle Derailed Several Cars.

A westbound coal train came to grief yesterday afternoon between Bound Brook and Somerville. An axle broke on one of the cars near the centre of the train, derailing several cars and blocking two tracks for awhile. The wrecking train was sent for and soon afterward the debris was cleared away. No one was injured.

Invitations Out For Prudential Dinner.

Superintendent Charles E. Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company, has issued invitations to a dinner to be given to the staff of the Plainfield district, on Saturday evening, January 26, at the Hotel Kensington at 8 o'clock. It is expected that several officers of the company from the home office at Newark will be present.

Dr. H. K. Carroll on Missionary Bureau.

At the eighth conference of the Foreign Mission Boards in the United States and Canada, held last week in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church, of New York, Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, was appointed a member of the International Bureau for information regarding foreign missions.

To Jail for Thirty Days.

Joseph Sullivan, who caused a disturbance in the Hotel Plainfield early Saturday morning and afterwards drove Paul Fieldman from the night lunch wagon, has been sent by City Judge Runyon to jail for 30 days. The police say Sullivan has been having a touch of the delirium tremens.

Mrs. Pettil on Editorial Staff.

Students of the Baptist Teacher have been glad to see in the changes made in this periodical with the new year the name of Mrs. Ella Dimock Pettil, of Elizabeth, on the editorial staff. She has taken charge of the Primary Department, adding the "Round Table" feature.

Officiated at Warren Chapel.

Rev. W. L Jones, of Westervelt avenue, occupied the pulpit of Warren chapel yesterday morning and evening, very acceptably.

DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY CAUSED LITTLE BLAZE.

Borough Fire Department Was Called to Residence of Dr. Emerson Saturday Night.

THE DAMAGE WAS SLIGHT.

ALARM FAILED TO WORK PROPERLY—DEPARTMENT DELAYED.

Fire Was Fast Working Its Way Up Partition Walls When Department Arrived—Only Extinguishers Used—Was Discovered by Passerby.

The residence of Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson, at 34 Washington avenue, was damaged slightly by fire shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday night. The fire caught from a defective chimney against which a girder in the cellar rested. The fire was discovered by some young men who were passing the house. They went to the Park Club and notified some of the members. An attempt was made to send in an alarm from box 151, located in front of the clubhouse. The alarm only struck one blow on the fire bell. It was some few moments before it could be made to work properly. The members of Warren Engine Company responded with alacrity when they finalley succeeded in being reached by a telephone call from the Park Clubhouse.

When the firemen reached the house the flames were licking their way up from the cellar, where they had got a good start. It was seen that the fire had caught through a defect in a brick chimney which had been used as a pier to support one of the floor girders.

Fire Chief Debele realized that he could extinguish the blaze without flooding the house with water and he ordered the extinguishers used. In less than half an hour the fire was out. The blaze had eaten its way from the cellar through the partition walls and up into the front hall. Before the fire could be extinguished it had found its way to the parlor, where it did some damage.

The firemen, assisted by citizens, removed nearly all of Dr. Emerson's household effects that were in the lower rooms before the fire reached them.

The loss to the building will not exceed $150, fully covered by insurance.

WHISTLES ON TROLLEYS.

New Warning Signals Placed on Trolley Cars of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company.

Several of the large trolley cars used on the Somerville-Dunellen line of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, have been equipped with shrill, ear-piercing air whistles as a means of warning when approaching crossings. The power is furnished by compressed air supplied by the rotary motion of the wheels. Air brakes are worked by the same method.

This new departure from the hitherto regulation gong, has not as yet become familiar with residents along the line and as each passing car sends out a piercing blast, a general rush is made to windows and doors to learn the cause of the commotion.

Too Cold for Football.

Owing to the cold weather Saturday, the football game between the Plainfield Association team, and the State champions, the Arlingtons, of Newark, did not take place. The game will be played at a later date which has not as yet been definitely decided upon.

Will Make a Hit.

Alfred Young, the coach for "The Private Secretary," says that W. R. Cock, who takes the part of "Mr Cattamole," the rich East Indian, will make one of the decided hits in the play. He says the part is especially fitted for Mr. Cock.

Factory Damaged by Fire.

The factory of the W. A. Clark Wire Company at Elizabeth, of which F. W. Wallace, of West Seventh street, is the superintendent, caught fire Saturday evening and was badly damaged. The blaze originated in the engine room.

Arranged For Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a social in the lecture room of the church Tuesday evening, January 29. The members and friends of the society are cordially invited.

Trolley Men Will Give Ball.

The Union Trolley Employes Benevolent Association, composed of the employes of the local street railway, will give a ball in Saengerbund Hall, Thursday, February 21.

WILL ELECT SEWELL'S SUCCESSOR THIS WEEK.

Choice of a U. S. Senator Will be Only Important Act of Legislature This Week.

WILL BE SEWELL OF COURSE.

SENATOR REED WILL INTRODUCE IMPORTANT BILL TONIGHT.

Will Provide for Repeal of Present Act Which Allows Exemption of Notes in Bank From Taxation—Other Bills.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 21.—The New Jersey Legislature will meet again tonight and further sessions of that body will be held tomorrow and Wednesday. At tonight's session nothing exciting is expected, although a large batch of bills will probably be presented for consideration by the members of both Senate and Assembly.

Most important of these bills, to Plainfield and North Plainfield, at least, will be one introduced by Senator Charles A. Reed in the upper house of the Legislature. It will provide for the repeal of the law which allows taxpayers a discount on notes in banks. The North Plainfield Borough Council has been agitating the repeal of this law and has sent circulars to all the municipalities in the State asking their aid toward the desired end.

The only real business of importance which will be considered this week will be the choice of a U. S. Senator to succeed General Sewell for the next six years. It is a foregone conclusion now that he will be returned to the Senate but, of course, it is necessary to go through the regular forms.

A meeting of the Senate and Assembly will be held tomorrow when a vote will be taken of each house for the Senatorship. The two houses will meet in joint session Wednesday when the action of the two bodies will be ratified and Gen. Sewell declared elected.

Gen. Sewell will receive every Republican vote in both houses and, as the Republicans are way in the majority, he will be overwhelmingly elected. The Democrats will have a candidate, however. There has been no end of talk on account of the decision of Robert Davis to make Hon. Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, the Democratic nominee. But Hudson county holds the balance of power in the Democratic caucus and the orders of the caucus will be obeyed.

Arrangements for Mr. Eddey's Funeral.

The funeral services of the late George W. Eddey will be held this evening at 7 o'clock from the residence of his brother, E. P. Eddey, of 116 New street. The members of Star of Plainfield Lodge, No. 25, Shepherds of Bethlehem, will attend.

Annual Meeting of Board of Trade.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade will be held this evening. There will be election of officers and the reports of the committees will be received. Important business will be considered and a large attendance of members is desired.

Big Time For Red Men.

Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., is making great preparations to receive Arasapha Tribe, of Camden, next Friday evening. The natural adoption will be worked by the visiting tribe and there will be many other features.

Old Ordnance Received.

Eight car loads of steel shells and ordnance, the first of a large consignment purchased at auction from the government, arrived at the Pond Tool Works this morning. They are to be melted and used in castings.

Discharged From Hospital.

Walter Roe, of Manning avenue, who has been at the hospital since September 23, under treatment for a badly sprained ankle, was discharged on Saturday, having fully recovered.

Harvesting Ice at South Plainfield.

McDonough Bros. commenced harvesting their ice at South Plainfield today. The ice is between 8 and 9 inches thick. They advertise for fifty men in today's Press.

Ice Cutting at Watchung.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company commenced harvesting the ice on their large lake at Watchung this morning. The ice is about ten inches thick and very clear.

Will Give a Sociable.

The social committee of the Congregational Christian Endeavor Society is arranging to give a sociable in the church parlors some day next week.

CLASSICAL NUMBERS BY KNEISEL QUARTETTE.

Fine Concert By Famous Musicians Given to Plainfield Music Lovers at Casino.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME.

WONDERFUL UNITY OF TIME AND NOTE BY QUARTETTE.

Gave Selections From Beethoven, Chopin, Schubert and Dvorak—Presented Different Styles of Musical Selections.

Plainfield music lovers were given an evening of thorough enjoyment, on Saturday night, in attending the concert given at the Casino by the Kneisel Quartette.

The instrumentalists were Franz Kneisel, first violin; Karl Ondricek, second violin; Louis Svecenski, viola; and Alwin Schroeder, violoncello. Their programme included compositions by Beethoven, Chopin, Schubert and Dvorak, which gave a pleasant variety while being all selctions of the highest class.

The quartette exhibited that first essential of chamber music playing, perfect homogeneity of tone, with absolute agreement of quality and force. The four players, filled with a common devotion to their art, the sympathy born of long association, and the knowledge of the compositions under consideration which is the result of earnest study, played with finish and great depth of expression.

The opening number was Beethoven's Quartette in A major, Op. 18, No. 5. The master musician's marvellous inventive power, his thorough understanding of musical form, and the classic simplicity of his style, are all shown in this composition, which is written in the four-movement sonata form. The principal theme in the first movement was introduced by the first violin.

Chopin, "the poet of the piano," was the second composer represented. This number was a "Lento," originally written as a piano etude, Op. 25, No. 7, but arranged for violoncello and strings. Mr. Schroeder gave the solo part, full of the composer's richness of imagination, with depth and beauty of tone and ease of execution. In response to the call for an encore, Mr. Schroeder gave a composition for 'cello unaccompanied.

When Franz Schubert died, among his unpublished compositions was the first movement of an unfinished Quartette in C minor. The third number of the evening was this fragment. The theme was like an exquisite song for the first violin, against a background made by second violin and viola, into which after a time the 'cello entered with a harmonious undercurrent.

Dvorak's Quartette in E flat major, Op. 51, another four-movement composition, and one breathing the spirit of Slavic life and feeling, concluded the evening. In spite of being written in the same general form as the Beethoven Quartette, in style and in emotional content nothing could have been more dissimilar. The shadows of the Slavic national life hang over much of the composition, lightened by a vivacious dance movement, and the lively Allegro at the close.

Roll of Honor Badges Presented.

Roll of Honor badges were presented yesterday by Superintendent Squires, of Hope chapel, to the following meritorious pupils of the Sunday-school who have been present every Sunday during the past year: W. W. Hall, Frederick Pearce, Mrs. Fluck, Herbert Fluck, Ruth Kenney, Donald McInness, Mrs. McInness, Gertrude Hunter, Harry Kenney, Morris Hunter, George Lowden, Annie Porter, Lizzie Porter, James Kenney and Ella Condey.

Woodhull & Martin Will Be There.

Woodhull & Martin's furniture buyer, John V. E Vanderhoef, will be in attendance at the Furniture Manufacturers' Exposition, which meets this week at the Grand Central Palace, Lexington avenue and Forty-third street, New York city, at which all the leading manufacturers of the country are represented.

Applicants for Membership.

The regular church business meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church after the prayer-meeting service, at which time several persons will come before the church for membership. They will probably be baptized next Sunday.

WAS ILL BUT TEN DAYS.

WIFE OF BAGGAGEMASTER WAGNER PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING.

Operation Failed to Save Her—Leaves Husband and Five Children—Was an Earnest Christian Woman.

Mrs. Mary Wagner, wife of Jacob Wagner, the well-known baggageman at the North avenue station, died at 4:20 o'clock this morning at her residence, 109 West Fourth street, aged 47 years. Mrs. Wagner had been ill about ten days, a slight attack of the grip having appeared. Friday she complained of a swelling in her neck. Dr. Zeglio, the family physician, at first thought it might be from an abscess. Later, however, he decided that the swelling came from blood poisoning. It was finally decided to have an operation, and one was performed yesterday afternoon by Drs. Zeglio and Clawson.

After the operation Mrs. Wagner appeared to feel easier and hopes of her ultimate recovery were entertained. During the night she grew worse and death followed early this morning.

Mrs. Wagner was the mother of five children, three sons and two daughters, who with her husband survive her. All the children live in this city except Mrs. S. Baron Brewster, Woodbridge, N. J.

Mrs. Wagner was beloved by many friends in this city where she has lived for many years. She was a member of the First M. E. church and took quite an active interest in the affairs of that denomination.

The funeral will be held from her late residence on West Fourth street at 1 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. It will be private. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass will officiate. Interment will be at Hillside.

PRESENTED GIFTS.

Surprise Prepared for Retiring Superintendent of Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-School.

The closing exercises af the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school yesterday afternoon contained a very pleasing feature in the shape of a complete surprise tendered Mrs. D. M. Runyon, who has been the esteemed superintendent of the school for the past four years.

At the close of the lesson, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, assistant superintendent, presented to Mrs. Runyon with appropriate remarks, the following books, a gift from the officers and teachers, who desired to express in this way their appreciation of her loving and efficient service:

The Holy Land, 2 volumes, New Testament Characters, 1 volume, Hours with the Bible, 4 volumes, all by Geikie; also a handsome teacher's Bible.

Mrs. Runyon, though greatly surprised by the gift, responded very gracefully, assuring the school of her thorough appreciation of their kindness, and sincerely thanking them all for their hearty co-operation during her four years' service as their superintendent.

Railroad Evangelist Here.

Miss Jennie Smith, popularly known as the "Railroad Evangelist," was the guest over Sunday of Mrs. Clark, of Myrtle avenue. In the afternoon she attended the 4 o'clock meeting of the W. C. T. U. and was invited to take charge. She did so and the meeting was a particularly interesting one.

Mayor's Case Called For Trial.

The case of William J. Pride against Mayor Newton B. Smalley, which was postponed a week ago on account of the death of Judge McCarter, of Newark, was called today in the latter city for trial. Senator Chas. A. Reed represents Mayor Smalley.

Consolidation Exercises.

At the meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., next Friday evening there will be interesting features in connection with the consolidation of Goodwill Lodge, of Scotch Plains, with Perseverance.

Tell of Work in Assyria.

A returned missionary from Assyria will give a talk concerning her work before the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church next Friday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Tenor Soloist Sings Again.

George W. Smith, tenor soloist at the First Baptist church, was present the services yesterday for the first in several weeks, having been absent on account of an affliction of the throat.

To Meet at Casino Hereafter.

The Monday Afternoon Club, whose meetings have been held in All Soul's church during the past two years, returned to the Casino today where the meetings will be held hereafter.

CONVICTED MURDERER TRIED TO BREAK JAIL.

Thomas Doyle Was Digging Hole Through Wall When Keeper Detected His Act.

AT THE COUNTY JAIL.

SHERIFF HOUSTON TOOK HIM TO STATE PRISON THIS MORNING.

Used a Steel Spring Taken From Sole of His Shoe to Cut Away Mortar Around Bricks, Several of Which Had Been Loosened.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 21.—Thomas Doyle, the convicted slayer of Farmer Baldwin, of Union, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the county jail last evening, where he has been confined since his trial, awaiting transportation to Trenton on a twenty-year sentence. The prisoner was immediately transferred to another part of the jail and a watch placed over him for the remainder of the night. This morning he was taken to Trenton by Sheriff Robert G Houston and Deputy Warden Dyer. His actions in the future will be watched closely.

The attempt, last evening, was detected by one of the keepers at 9 o'clock as he was making the last round for the night. On casting a glance in Doyle's cell he detected a small quantity of mortar lying on the floor. His suspicions were aroused at once and, entering the cell, he made a thorough investigation. Several bricks were found to have been loosened in the wall on the other side of which was a vacant cell. Doyle was searched and an ingeniously constructed knife, made from a steel shoe spring, was found concealed in his clothes. He had also made a handle from a small piece of wood obtained from a bench. Doyle had evidently been surprised by the keeper before the motar could be hidden otherwise the attempt might have been successful.

SOLD ALL THE CAKES.

Successful Cake Sale Held Saturday Afternoon By Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters.

The Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters, of Trinity Reformed church, held a successful cake sale Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Fred MacDonald, corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue. The object for which the sale was held was to raise money to assist in paying the amount pledged by the Circle toward the support of the city nurse. A number of cakes were offered for sale and all were disposed of at good prices.

Mrs. J. Fred MacDonald was in charge of the sale, assisted by Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, Mrs. Fred VanEmburgh, and Mrs. Will F. Williams. They were much pleased with the success attending the sale, for undoubtedly the cold weather kept many away who would have otherwise been present had the day been more pleasant.

DIED AT INDUSTRIAL HOME.

Michael Adams, City's Charge for Three Years, Died This Morning.

Michael Adams, aged 49 years, a native of Ireland, and for the past three years an inmate of the City Industrial Home, died at the Home this morning at 4 o'clock. Death was due to diabetes with which the deceased had suffered for a long time. During the three years he was at the Home he was not able to work much, although at times he did do a little on the streets.

He has a brother living in New York, and Undertaker Geo. Cole, who has charge of the body, went there this morning to see the brother regarding the funeral arrangements.

Educational Conference.

There was a conference of the educational committee of the State Board of Education at the home of S. St. John McCuthen, Myrtle avenue, Friday evening. Among those present was Ex-Judge Francis Scott, of Paterson, who was one of the counsel for the defendants in the Bosschieter murder trial last week. There was nothing of importance transacted at the conference, simply a general discussion of matters pertaining to the work in hand.

Organist Returns to Duty.

Miss Pauline Jenkins, organist at the First Presbyterian church, occupied her position yesterday for the first time since her severe illness with the grip.

Mayor Smalley Out Again.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES FOR ALL CLASSES OF READERS.

Picked Up Here and There and Recorded for the Benefit of Press Patrons.

—Quality and not quantity makes DeWitt's Little Early Risers such valuable little ver pills. L. W. Randolph.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold a regular meeting Friday afternoon in the parlors of the church.

—Such little pills as DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very easily taken, and they are wonderfully effective in cleansing the liver and bowels. L.W. Randolph.

—At the next meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps Friday evening, February 1, several officers, who could not be present at the last meeting, will be installed.

—When threatened by pneumonia or any other lung trouble, prompt relief is necessary, as it is dangerous to delay. We would suggest that One Minute Cough Cure be taken as soon as indications of having taken cold are noticed. It cures quickly and its early use prevents consumption. L. W. Randolph.

—The building on North avenue, in which are the offices of the U. S. Express, is being treated to a coat of paint which will add to its attractiveness.

—Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief for it digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Harry Werner, of East Second street, has been quite ill with the grip.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderhoff, of West Front street, has recovered from a recent severe illness.

Thousands Sent Into Exile.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. Don't be an exile when Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption will cure you at home. It's the most infallible medicine for Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung diseases on earth. The first dose brings relief. Astounding cures result from persistent use. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Miss Myrtle Edwards and Guy T. Bennette will be seen for the first time in this city at Music Hall on Thursday of this week in one of the strongest scenic comedy dramas ever put before an American public, "The Ladder of Life," in which the innocent is made to suffer for awhile but finally comes out victorious and the villain gets his just reward. The story is one of intense interest, telling as it does the privations, pathos, romance and sentiment of those people who are involved in its unfolding; it is moreover replete with thrilling scenes and climaxes, there is no exaggeration in the unravelling of the tangled web, but the action is on more logical lines so that the characters seem to be real instead of imaginery. There are opportunities for elaborate stage pictures which the management gives assurance will be in evidence. The second act is the interior of the Grand Central Depot and shows the arrival and departure of the trains. The third act depicts the burning of the large ship "Cilon." This set alone is one of the greatest pieces of stage work ever attempted by a traveling company. The cast is a large one and the stars are more than clever.

* * * * * * * *

"The Old Homestead," the attraction at Music Hall, Saturday, February 9, will be a great event with Denman Thompson as "Uncle Josh." This is the first appearance of Mr. Thompson in this locality. He comes with his own company, and a fine performance is assured. For the accommodation of his patrons, Manager Maze Edwards will have seats on sale at box office, Monday, January 28.

Miss Swackhamer, of Whitehouse, has been visiting relatives in the city and borough.

Fred E. Smith, of 308 West Fourth street, has recovered from a severe attack of the grip.

Isaac P. Runyon spent yesterday at Pluckamin with his family who are stopping there for a time with Mrs. Runyon's parents.

PREPARATIONS FOR METHODIST CONFERENCE AT CAMDEN.

Abolishment of Time Limit May Result in Number of Changes Being Made in New Jersey.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Camden, Jan. 21.—The sixty-fifth annual session of the New Jersey M. E. Conference will convene in Broadway M. E. church, Wednesday, March 6, with Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu, of Boston, presiding, it being his first visit to the Conference in that capacity. Broadway church is admirably adopted for the purpose, having been rebuilt two years ago, and now is one of the finest and largest church edifices in the Conference.

A meeting of the committee will be held at Broadway church tomorrow to complete the arrangements. There are about 300 persons, members of Conference, probationers, official visitors, etc., to be provided for. This is done largely by the people at the seat of Conference receiving the visitors at their homes. A movement has been on foot for several years by which a plan was to be devised by which the members of Conference were to provide their own entertainment, but for some good reasons it has not yet been put in operation.

There is talk in some quarters that there may be a general shake up in the matter of appointments, growing out of the change made by the last General Conference, in abolishing the time limit, by which the preachers are appointed year by year and can be returned to the same charge for an unlimited period if all things are agreeable.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—There will be an important meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I.O. O. F. this evening.

—The most soothing, healing and antiseptic application ever devised is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It relieves at once and cures piles, sores, eczema and skin diseases. Beware of imitations. L. W. Randolph.

—Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a regular meeting Tuesday evening, January 29

—The red cross degree will be conferred this evening at a conclave of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.

—Mrs. L. J. Denton, the West Front street florist, has a complete stock of all kinds of plants, choice flowers, etc., which she is selling at reasonable prices.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

THE STRONG FAILURE.

Creditors Advised to Accept a Cash Settlement of 40 Cents on a Dollar.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Acceptance of 40 cents on the dollar by the creditors of W. L. Strong & Co. is recommended by the advisory committee appointed to inquire into the affairs of the firm of which the former mayor, who died in last November, was the principal member. The recommendation is made by Smith Thompson, receiver of C. H. & F. H. Stott, intimately associated with the business of Strong & Co., and Edward A. Treat, receiver for the firm of Strong & Co. The first detailed information concerning the failure was made public last night, when this offer to settle with the creditors was given out.

A little more than $300,000 is the difference between the assets and liabilities of W. L. Strong & Co. The book accounts, the cash in bank, the various claims represented by notes, the interest in mills now in operation and an insurance policy on the life of a debtor foot up $781,110.54. The liabilities, which include secured and unsecured creditors, are $781,415.61, which leave an actual deficit of $305.07.

The indorsement of Stott's notes for more than $1,000,000 was the chief cause of the failure of the former mayor's firm.

The statement is addressed to Cornelius N. Bliss, A. D. Juilliard and John Claflin. They in turn have sent out a circular to the creditors, dated Jan. 16, advising them to accept the offer and avoid the loss of time and the waste of assets that litigation would involve. Among other things they say in this circular:

"The Audit company of New York has examined the books of both firms and reports no irregularities or obscurities. The losses aforesaid seem to have been made in the regular course of business and appear to have been due partly to the bad times and partly to the failure of the mills to produce goods that could profitably compete with other goods made by better machinery and under more favorable conditions."

ANOTHER POSTAL THEFT.

Money Order Superintendent at Havana Arrested.

HAVANA, Jan. 21.—John Sheridan, who has been in charge of the money order department of the Havana postoffice, was arrested yesterday and formally accused of the theft of $1,300 sent from the postmaster at Guantanamo Dec. 6, $1,235 in cash and $65 in check. He has confessed his guilt and admits having destroyed the check.

Sheridan was appointed from the Boston postoffice on the organization of the service in Cuba. He was made postmaster at Matanzas. About a year ago he was placed at the head of the money order department in Havana, with a salary of $1,700. He seemed a trustworthy man, and the authorities considered the expediency of appointing him postmaster at the time former Postmaster Thompson was removed. An investment of $800 in stocks in Boston first attracted suspicion to Sheridan. He now offers to refund what he has taken.

A mass meeting of planters, merchants and representatives of the various political parties held in Havana adopted resolutions asking the United States to lower its duty on Cuban products and advocating the suppression of the export tax on tobacco.

General Lee's Inspection Tour.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21.—General Fitz-Hugh Lee, commander of the department of the Missouri, has returned here from a tour of inspection of the barracks at Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley, Kan.; Fort Sill, I. T., Fort Reno, O. T., and Fort Logan Roots, Ark. General Lee reports all the barracks at these points in good condition, but says that if under the new army law it shall be necessary to season the men at these forts before they are sent to the Philippines improvements may have to be made.

Retired Merchant Frozen to Death.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 21.—George W. McGinnes, a wealthy retired merchant of this place, was found frozen to death in the garden of his home Sunday morning. He was 80 years old, and for several years his mind had been deranged. Saturday night he crept out of his bedroom window and after falling ten feet from the roof of the veranda crawled to the rear of the garden, where his body was found. An only son, Walter, survives him.

Well Known Mine Owner Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Hon. John Leisenring, the well known mine owner of Luzerne county and former congressman from the Luzerne district, is dead at the University hospital, this city. Mr. Leisenring had been a sufferer for a long time from heart and kidney trouble and the latter part of December was brought from his home at Upper Lehigh, Luzerne county, to the University hospital here in hope that he could obtain relief.

He Worked For Andrew Jackson.

RICHMOND, Ind., Jan. 21.—There is living in this state a man who was once in the employ of President Andrew Jackson and who has a clear recollection of that great man. He is William H. Owings, who was born in Kentucky in 1798 and who has thus lived in three centuries. Owings is remarkably active, does considerable work and has been addicted to the use of liquor and tobacco all his life. His oldest child is 77.

The President Much Better.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President McKinley is convalescing rapidly from his recent attack of the grip. Yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. McKinley, he went out for a drive, greatly enjoying the cold bracing air which prevailed. Today the president will spend a short time in his office and gradually will increase the period of active work.

Accidentally Shot.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 21.—A special to The Tribune from St. George says that Martin Wright, late Socialist candidate for governor of Utah, who was en route to Los Angeles with his two sons, was instantly killed by the discharge of a revolver which accidentally fell from his pocket while he was preparing dinner at their camp.

Boy Drowned at Middletown, Conn.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Jan. 21.—James McGlennon, 15 years old, the son of William McGlennon, was drowned off Willow island, in the Connecticut river, while trying to save Tim McGerrick, 11 years old. Tim caught the lifeline thrown from the safe ice and then sank in the current. The bodies were not recovered.

HAZING WILL CEASE.

Cadets at West Point Voluntarily Agree to Abstain.

A SURPRISE TO THE COMMITTEE.

Report Will Be Made In About Ten Days and Will Undoubtedly Say That Booz and Breth Did Not Die From Effects of Hazing.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 21.—The congressional committee left here yesterday for Washington after having concluded the mission of investigation at the United States Military academy. Before their departure, however, through a voluntary agreement of the cadets, hazing was abolished. This voluntary agreement was the result of a meeting of the entire corps of cadets held in Grant hall.

This action came as a surprise to the committee, which consisted of General Dick of Ohio, Judge Smith of Iowa, Congressmen Wanger of Pennsylvania and Clayton and Driggs of New York. All the members of the committee were pleased to learn that the cadets had seen fit to anticipate the action of congress in wiping out practices of "calling out" and hazing of fourth class men from the traditions of the institution.

It was nearly midnight Saturday when Colonel A. L. Mills, the superintendent of the academy, handed a copy of the cadets' resolution to General Dick. When the other congressmen learned the nature of it, Mr. Driggs moved that Colonel Mills should read it and afterward it should be added to the record.

Cadets Bettison, Mahaffey, Gray and Atkins, who signed the document on behalf of their respective classes, were called before the committee. The courtroom was filled with army officers and their wives and daughters, and none of them had any idea of what was coming.

As soon as Colonel Mills read the resolution and it was seen that the cadets had taken the advice tendered by General Dick to Cadet Burnett earlier in the day to render the country and the academy a great service by resolving there and then that no such serious charges should ever again be laid at the doors of West Point, General Dick, addressing Colonel Mills and the four cadets, said:

"This action taken by the corps now at the National Military academy will be received by the country with signs of appreciation and approbation. What you did here today will mark an epoch in the history of West Point and perhaps in the history of all educational institutions in this country, for when hazing no longer finds a place at West Point it will certainly not find lodgment in other educational institutions.

"Your voluntary action will be made permanent, congress will make permanent what you have done, but in anticipating the action of congress you have added to the great reputations already achieved here. In dismissing you I hope you will carry to your classes the congratulations of this committee, its well wishes for their future success and its thanks.

"And, Colonel Mills, in leaving I express the opinion of every member of this committee when I return to you for many courtesies our sincere thanks and desire, further, to attest that in our efforts here we have had the full and hearty co-operation of yourself and your associates. You have been very kind in the aid that has been extended to this committee."

Ever since the members of congress came here they have worked nearly 16 hours daily in public and executive sessions.

The committee holds the next meeting in the room of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce at Washington at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

They expect to make their report in about ten days, and it is said on good authority that they will recommend that the number of tactical officers at the West Point academy be increased. It is also reported that they will say that the deaths of former cadets Booz and Breth were not caused by the hazing they received at West Point. In the case of Booz the testimony showed that he was not very strong at any time and that it is said the members of the committee believe that his health had been injured by his treatment at the hands of his fellow cadets in the academy.

Girls Sold at Auction.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Five Chinese slave girls were sold at public auction in Frisco's Chinatown Saturday, as publicly as though they had been in Canton, where such human slavery is a recognized institution. These girls were the property of Gung Gow, an old Chinaman who has kept for years one of the disreputable dens in Chinatown. He wanted to go back to China, so he advertised the furniture and chattels of his establishment at auction. According to Chinese customs creditors of Gong appeared and pasted bills on the door of his place specifying their claims. Every Chinaman who bid at the auction agreed to pay the claims against the girl he fancied. The prices ranged from $1,700 to $2,500 each.

A Niagara Tragedy.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 21.—John Wiser and John Marsh of this city attempted to cross Niagara river above the falls yesterday. They lost control of their boat and were carried into the rapids. Wiser, who was unable to swim, was swept over the falls and drowned. Marsh after a desperate struggle in the icy water was rescued by persons along the shore.

To Abolish Direct Taxation.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Bills to do away with direct taxation for state purposes will be introduced this week. They will be three in number and will, according to present plans, levy a tax of 1 per cent on trust companies, 1 per cent on insurance companies and one-half of 1 per cent on banks. The funds to be taxed are surplus and undivided profits.

Famous Mine to Be Sold For Debt.

DENVER, Jan. 21.—The Geyser mine of Custer county is advertised for sale to satisfy creditors. It has the deepest shaft in the state and has cost the Boston investor more than $1,500,000, but has given small returns, as the ore bodies were few and far between.

Eleven Seamen Drowned.

CHERBOURG, Jan. 21.—The British four masted ship Niel Tryvan has foundered in the channel. Seven out of her crew of 18 were saved. They were picked up while clinging to the keel of one of the ship's boats and were landed here.

VICTORIA IS DYING.

Family Summoned to Her Bedside to Await the End.

GERMAN EMPEROR HAS ARRIVED.

Britain's Queen Has Suffered a Stroke of Paralysis and Lies In a Comatose Condition—Universal Gloom In the Kingdom.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 21, 5:15 a. m.—The members of the royal family are still gathered in a room adjoining the queen's bedchamber. Her majesty is unconscious, and the end is expected at any moment.

An enormous crowd of newspaper representatives and others, with carriages, bicycles and lanterns, has collected at the lodge gates, waiting in intense excitement to convey the news, momentarily expected, that the queen has breathed her last.

A collapse, or what the physicians feared was a collapse, occurred unexpectedly about 10 o'clock last evening. Arrangements were hurriedly made to provide special telephonic and telegraphic facilities.

Details are not obtainable, but it is asserted that her majesty's condition is chiefly due to a severe sinking spell and an increase of the paralytic symptoms.

It is understood that the physicians have resorted to artificial methods to prolong life such as are used only in cases of persons in extremis.

It is said that the paralysis is chiefly evident in the face, one side of which appears to have lost all nerve and muscular power. At last accounts the malady had not reached the vital organs, although it had naturally caused an almost total loss of the power of speech. What was so much feared was that the brain might be attacked.

Keenly sensitive of her affliction and appearance, the queen has resolutely refused to see any one but her nurses and doctors, and it is understood that the Prince of Wales is the only exception to this rule and that his interview with the queen lasted but a few moments. Hence the exact nature of the malady is known only to a very few, and it is the royal wish that the public should not be informed.

Yesterday at Osborne, hedged around with intense secrecy, began with a touching scene. Amid the bright sunshine, in marked contrast to the gloomy skies of Saturday, there drove out from the palance grounds a carriage containing wreaths for the tomb of Prince Henry of Battenberg in the little church at Whippingham, about ten minutes' ride from the royal residence. Then followed carriages containing the Princess of Wales, the Princess of Battenberg, Princess Louise and others, all dressed in the deepest black. The face of the Princess of Wales showed signs of the anxiety she was undergoing.

The annual memorial service for Prince Henry, always a sad occasion, was more than usually sorrowful, for the shadow of a still greater bereavement was uppermost in all minds. The Princess of Wales and the Princess of Battenberg sobbed bitterly, and there was scarcely one of those royal heads bent in prayer that did not shake with a grief which could not be suppressed.

The departure of the Prince of Wales for London shortly after 12 o'clock to meet Emperor William was quietly accomplished. The queen had been informed of the kaiser's coming and had signified her desire that the prince should go to meet him. Rather against his will the man who for the moment was practically the king of England obeyed his mother's wishes.

During the afternoon the long, hilly road to the palace was crowded with people, particularly young men and women arrayed in their Sunday garb, dotting the landscape with vivid patches of color. The local gentry after church service wrote their names in the visitors' book at the lodge, which contains no signatures that would mean anything to the world outside of the isle of Wight.

Inquiries of importance all came by telegram, and these were legion. Hundreds of people, all sorts and conditions of men, clergymen predominating, flooded Cowes with telegrams asking for the latest news. A swarm of country people, among whom correspondents from all quarters of the globe mingled, ceaselessly converged toward the lodge gates. Their inquiries generally took the form of a timid "How is she?" addressed to the policeman who barred all comers, and an inquirer who had been answered would be immediately surrounded by others less old who sought the news.

When night fell, the countryside became deserted, save for the newspaper watchers who waited wearily in the lodge.

WAITING FOR THE END.

Great Anxiety and Suspense In London Over the Queen's Condition.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Throughout the United Kingdom yesterday was a Sunday of anxiety and suspense. No one in England outside the circle of the court knew the real condition of the queen or the nature of her disease. The bulletins threw but little light on the universal question whether death was imminent. The London newspapers had not learned that her majesty had suffered a shock of paralysis. Extra editions of the Sunday papers contained no information beyond the official bulletins, but there were many of them, and they were eagerly bought.

There were small gatherings in the vicinity of Buckingham palace and Marlborough House as well as other centers where the bulletins were posted.

Crowds assembled to witness the arrival of Emperor William. Apart from such incidents, however, the customary quiet of a London Sunday was not disturbed.

The most alarming reports of the day came in the form of telegrams from the princesses at Osborne House. The coming of Emperor William and the news that King Leopold was about starting for London inspired fears that death was at hand. On the other hand, the fact that the Prince of Wales was able to leave Osborne House had an encouraging effect. When the prince arrived from Osborne at Victoria station, London, at 4 o'clock, with Sir Francis Knollys attending, several hundred people were there to greet him. But there was no demonstration beyond a respectful raising of hats. The Earl of Clarendon and the Earl of Pembroke received the prince. When they inquired regarding the queen's condition, he replied, "You see they have let me come away."

The government had arranged to send the fast cruiser Minerva to bring Emperor William, but he embarked on a mail packet for England before he learned of the plans, being accompanied by the Duke of Connaught. The steamer had a rough passage, and on entering Sheerness harbor, she went by the warships without any ceremonies. Admiral Kennedy and Count von Mirbach of the German embassy received the emperor and escorted him to a special waiting room.

Two hours before his majesty's train was due in London people began to gather about Charing Cross station. The crowd included not only the usual hangers on, but many fashionable people and hundreds of Germans, anxious to see the emperor on his first appearance in London for years. The throng became so large that the railroad authorities erected wooden barriers, and a hundred of the tallest police of the metropolitan force, with squads of mounted men, lined up the people on the streets, forming a lane for two blocks to Nelson's monument in Trafalgar square. Through this lane moved a procession of royal carriages, each bearing two footmen in yellow liveries behind. The carriages entered the railway station and drew up near the track.

The Prince of Wales arrived just before the train entered the station, which was at 6:20 p. m. The Duke of York, Prince Christian, Prince Albert of Sleswick-Holstein and Prince Arthur of Connaught completed the group of royal personages.

In churches of all denominations prayers were offered at the morning services, and in most of them the latest bulletin regarding the queen's condition was read. The chief rabbi requested special prayers. The following notice was read in the Roman Catholic procathedral at Kensington:

"The prayers of the congregation are asked for her majesty the queen, the condition of whose health is a cause of anxiety and sorrow to us all. We pray that by God's help her majesty's recovery may be speedy and complete."

The dean of St. George's chapel, Windsor, read the prayer for a sick person when there is little hope of recovery, beginning, "For as much as in all appearance the time of her dissolution draweth near."

Alarm In Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 21.—The news of Queen Victoria's illness caused consternation in Cape Town. Sir Alfred Milner and his staff attended service yesterday morning in the cathedral, where prayers were offered for her majesty's recovery.

WORK BEFORE CONGRESS.

This Week Will Be Largely Devoted to Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The senate is at work on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. There is little in the bill that ordinarily would create debate, but it does not seem improbable that several days may be required to act on it because of the desire on the part of some senators to postpone consideration of the ship subsidy bill as long as possible. The shipping bill will be made the unfinished business whenever in the opinion of the friends of that measure it is wise to give it that place, but in view of the fact that it will be displaced by appropriation bills whenever senators in charge of those measures desire to take them up it is probable that the motion to give the bill the place of vantage will be postponed until after the disposition of the legislative bill.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, probably will report the war revenue reduction bill tomorrow, and he will ask immediate consideration for the measure. The rules of the senate give preference to revenue bills, as they do to appropriation bills, and no order of the senate will be necessary to make a place for that bill. It is not probable that any effort will be made to displace appropriation bills with that measure, but all senators seem united in the opinion that it necessarily must become a law during the session, and if there should be an occasion when it would be necessary to decide between it and some bill other than an appropriation bill the preference almost certainly would be given to the revenue bill. The present impression, however, is that this bill will be soon disposed of.

The house of representatives will devote most of its attention during this week to appropriation bills, a series of them—District of Columbia, fortifications, naval, postoffice and agricultural—being ready for consideration.

Pennsylvania Senator Dies Suddenly.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—State Senator Francis A. Osbourn of the Third Philadelphia district died here last night from pneumonia. Senator Osbourn contracted a heavy cold during the United States senatorial contest at Harrisburg last week, and despite his illness he went to the senate chamber and voted for Senator Quay. He was brought home, and his cold soon developed into pneumonia. Senator Osbourn was in his fifty-sixth year. During the civil war he served in the Twentieth regiment, Indiana volunteers, and in the Sixteenth regiment, veteran reserve corps, with the rank of lieutenant and also brevet captain of United States volunteers. He lost an arm in the Seven Days' battle before Richmond. Mr. Osbourn was a member of the state house of representatives in 1877-8 and served in the state senate continuously from 1884 up to the time of his death.

Judge Haselton a Suicide.

SUNCOOK, N. H., Jan. 21.—The family of Judge John B. Haselton, the presiding justice of the police court at Pembroke, have come to the conclusion that he committed suicide during Monday night by jumping from the steamer Tremont on the way from Boston to Portland. Several of Judge Haselton's effects were found in his stateroom. Judge Haselton went to Boston Jan. 10, promising his wife he would return on the boat on the 12th. It is understood that Judge Haselton was despondent before he left here for Boston because of financial losses sustained through unfortunate investments in western securities.

Cold In Cuba.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Jan. 21.—This section of the island is now suffering from the severest cold known here for years. Much distress has been caused among the natives, who are entirely without protection from the rigor of the climate. A temperature of 60 degrees is quite unprecedented. Many children are without suitable clothing and are very badly off. A telephonic message from the Guamas mine, 40 miles west of Santiago, reports snow on the summit of Mount Torquino, at an altitude of 8,000 feet. Telegraphic reports from the north coast say that a severe norther is raging and that shipping is delayed.

FRENCHMEN FIGHT.

A Feud of Long Standing Settled on the Field of Honor.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The long expected duel between the Count de Lubersac and Baron Robert de Rothschild was fought with swords at 11 o'clock yesterday morning on Baron Edmond de Rothschild's estate at Boulogne-sur-Seine. The carriages with the principals, seconds, doctors and a few friends arrived there from Paris shortly before 11. Count de Lubersac's seconds were M. Sohege and Count de Laborde, and those of Baron de Rothschild were Baron Leonino and Viscount de Bondy. The duel began at 11:10 and lasted ten minutes, when Count de Lubersac received a lunge perforating his arm at the elbow to the armpit. The duel was then stopped. Both the count and the baron fought most determinedly. Neither flinched and neither showed the slightest desire to spare the other. Sixteen engagements took place, all of a desperate character. The combatants attacked each other furiously. The sleeves of their shirts were literally torn to pieces by the points of their swords, as the duelists repeatedly lunged at each other. Several times they came to close quarters, and their seconds were obliged to separate them.

At the sixteenth onslaught Baron de Rothschild lunged at the count, who tried to parry, but failed, and the baron's sword penetrated his arm just above the elbow and issued at the armpit. The spectators hastened around the wounded man, and two well known physicians, Drs. Berger and Poirrier, examined the wound. They declared the count's life was not in danger, but that it was impossible to continue the duel. Count de Lubersac was then driven back to Paris.

Baron de Rothschild is still performing military service with the Fifty-fourth regiment of infantry, in garrison at Compiegne. He only attained his majority yesterday and lost no time in settling his account with Count de Lubersac.

The Rothschild-Lubersac incident, which brought out a remarkable crop of duels, had its origin in a boys' quarrel, dating from the time when Count de Lubersac and Baron Robert de Rothschild were at the same college. They quarreled one day in regard to a tennis court which was occupied by Rothschild and which Count de Lubersac wanted. During the quarrel Lubersac called his adversary "sale Juif" ("dirty Jew").

A CLEVER FRAUD.

Anxious Father Looking For Kidnaped Son Swindled Out of $500.

ATLANTA, Jan. 21.—Mr. N. H. Fraser of Union Springs, Ala., whose son Bass was kidnaped several weeks ago while a student at the Technology school here, has apparently lost $500 by a decoy letter sent him.

Mr. Fraser received a letter stating that if he would place $500 in gold, the amount he offered for his son, in a sack with a peck of potatoes and proceed along the road near the United States prison, several miles from this city, he would be met by a negro who would ask, "Massa, has you got dem potaters?"

He was to deliver the sack and its contents to the negro, and his son would appear at a hotel in this city looking for his father at an early hour Sunday morning.

The letter was signed "Packard," mailed in Atlanta, dated Jan. 16, and the instructions were minute and specific.

Mr. Fraser's son, a brother of the kidnaped boy, carried out the plan of the letter, met the negro as arranged and gave him the money and potatoes Saturday night.

Early yesterday morning he was at the hotel mentioned and has remained there all day, but Bass Fraser has not appeared, and no trace of him or the persons who received the $500 can be found.

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 21.—Marcus Sauer, the man afflicted with dropsy who was revived after apparent dissolution by the injection of a solution of sodium chloride (common salt) into the arteries on Jan. 11, is still alive. Since his resuscitation Sauer has steadily gained in vigor, and the acute symptoms of his dropsical affection are disappearing. Dr. Kummler, the attending physician, does not claim the salt treatment has anything to do with the improvement of the chronic disorder, but there is no doubt that it tided over a crisis in the man's ailment. There is every prospect that Sauer's life will be prolonged for some time.

Lee's Birthday Remembered.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 21.—Wade Hampton chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, held exercises in honor of General Robert E. Lee's birthday. The orator was Professor E. S. In the audience was General Wade Hampton, who modestly refused a seat on the platform. References to Hampton in the speeches evoked great applause and brought tears to the eyes of the venerable warrior and statesman.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—The attention of the state legislature to the necessity of a speedy determination of the canal improvement question is called by John N. # TO KILL AMERICANS.

Startling Revelations of a Bloodthirsty Plot.

GREEK ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

Details of the Scheme to Slay Prominent Men Here Revealed by One Who Balked at Part Intrusted to Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Elias Masuras, a Greek, the complainant in an assault case which came before City Judge Kellogg of Yonkers, N. Y., told a startling tale of a plot of Greek anarchists to kill prominent Americans and would have told more had the court not stopped him and turned him over to the police that they might quietly investigate the case. Several arrests have already been made, and a number more are planned.

Elias Masuras has been living on Clinton street, Yonkers, for a short time. He entered the police station Sunday morning and asked the officers in charge to order the arrest of his assailants. At that time Masuras' face was covered with blood which was still flowing from a wound over the left eye. He was taken before Justice Kellogg, and as a result the justice issued several warrants. During the night James Kipataukas, another Greek living in Yonkers, was arrested. The prisoner was arraigned, and Masuras was called as a witness.

On the stand Masuras said that in Greece he had been a member of an anarchist society. Some time ago it fell to his lot to kill a public man in the United States, and he was ordered to come to this country and place himself under the orders of the American branch of the society. He never heard the name of the man whom he was to murder and understood that, as in other cases, the man who was to be the victim was to be selected after his arrival in this country. After reaching America Masuras, according to his own story, went to Yonkers and affiliated himself with a branch of the organization there as well as one in New York. Finally he became frightened, withdrew and refused to carry out the mission intrusted to him.

From the time he left the organization he claims he was annoyed and threatened by the members of the society. He remained firm in his determination not to obey the orders given him, however, and yesterday six of the men came here and begged him to return. When he still refused, they threatened him. He was still firm, and finally one of the six men—which one he could not say—attempted to drive a knife into his left eye. The blow was aimed too high, however. Masuras was apparently willing to tell more about the society, but Judge Kellogg adjourned the hearing and committed the man to jail pending further examination.

Masuras was examined by the police, and as a result five more warrants were issued. During the day Joseph Kiptaukas, a brother of the first prisoner, and Frank Hestaigus of New York city were arrested by the Yonkers police. One other Yonkers man and two New Yorkers are named in the other warrants, and the police are searching for them. The local police say the Yonkers man has not escaped, that he is in hiding, and they are certain to capture him.

The police assert that they believe the story told by Masuras, and they say that the affair has led to the discovery of an anarchist band of a dangerous character. The injuries of Masuras, while serious, will not prove fatal.

New York Labor Statistics.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—The number of women in labor unions throughout the state has steadily increased during the past year, according to the annual report of Commissioner of Labor Statistics McMackin, which will be transmitted to the legislature tonight. Relating to the eight hour law the report says that 9,667 employees, 2.4 per cent of the aggregate number, were reported in 1899 as working regularly more than 70 hours a week. Of these 2,153 were workmen in paper mills, a large proportion of which have for several years past been operated 24 hours a day or 72 a week. A large proportion of the employees of gas companies also work in two shifts of 12 hours each, and the same may be said of stationary engineers and firemen, who are found in nearly all industries, but are especially numerous in breweries. Finally a considerable number of employees of railway car shops work seven days in the week, thus aggregating 70, 77 or even 84 hours a week.

Colored Methodists.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 21.—The council of the bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church, which has been in session since Tuesday, concluded its work last evening. The bishops, who are five in number, represent over 20,000 ministers, 300 presiding elders, 24 annual conferences and several missionaries in Africa and Cuba. Their meeting has been for the purpose of agreeing upon a plan for the distribution of a twentieth century fund of $25,000. It has been decided to give the money to the churches and institutions both in this country and in Africa and Cuba.

Antisaloon Crusade.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 21.—A crusade against the wide open saloons of this city was started yesterday afternoon by Secretary Merrill S. Louks of the Antisaloon league of New York city. Spotters in the employ of the league visited the principal saloons in the down town district and bought drinks. Afterward they visited police headquarters, where they made affidavits to Chief of Police Wright against the saloon keepers. These documents will be turned over to the district attorney.

Worthy Institutions.

No thinking person can doubt for a moment the usefulness of the Muhlenberg Hospital or any other institution of a like nature. Unless they have some immediate reason, however, to call to mind the needs of such institutions, there are many who forget the entire existence of the hospitals and the fact that they depend largely on the voluntary contributions of the people for their support. The expenses of such institutions go on regularly every day whether they are remembered by the general public or not.

The General Hospital at Elizabeth is an excellent institution and worthy of the strong support of the people of that city. The managers of that institution have, however, had great trouble in securing the necessary funds to maintain it. The annual meeting of that institution was held last week and showed a considerable indebtedness which should be met. While the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital have not had an easy task to meet all obligations of that institution, they have succeeded and the growth of the hospital so that new and enlarged quarters are necessary is the direct result of their careful and economical management.

It is strange that a city like Elizabeth cannot properly support a good hospital when Plainfield is able to maintain one and is now in a fair way to provide new and enlarged quarters for it. But Plainfield has long been noted for the strong support which it gives to all worthy institutions, and now that another appeal is being made to the citizens of this city for funds to build the new hospital, there can be no doubt but that they will respond as freely and generously as they have in the past.

There was some question as to just what the position of the city of Elizabeth was now that Mayor Mack had died. The question was referred to City Attorney Connolly, and he has declared that a new Mayor should be elected at the spring election, and that meanwhile the president of the Council shall act as the city's chief executive officer.

Plainfield's music loving public is not often as fortunate as to have artists of such great ability as the Kneisel Quartette appear in this city. The fact that the Casino was well filled at the concert Saturday evening is strong evidence that the lovers of the highest and best in music are quite numerous in Plainfield.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting this evening. It is possible that the street committee will have something more to say on the subject of the proposed changes at the city's sewage disposal plant.

When the mercury is close to the zero point, it becomes quite unpleasant to wander about the city in search of a street when there isn't a street sign to aid in the search.

If those who desire a new Normal School cannot defer their contention over the probable site for such a State institution, they will fail again in their attempt to secure it.

The lot of a Plainfield policeman cannot be very unpleasant when there are so many intelligent and able-bodied men who are anxious to secure places on the force.

The New Jersey Legislature will meet again this evening. One of the chief events of the week will be the choice of the United States Senator.

The idea of a trolley car equipped with a whistle seems incongruous, but when tested it works satisfactorily after all.

County engineers of New Jersey will organize permanently at the State capital tomorrow.

After several months of mild weather, a touch of real winter is something of a surprise.

Plainfield has thirty-two lawyers, while New Brunswick has thirty-nine or forty. All legal bones are polished as wolfishly in both places as the limit of the law will permit, yet everything is not as rosy is that profession as it appears on the surface. The income of the regular trolley men in many instances surpasses the earnings of a number of the legal lights in both these cities. The mill is still grinding out full fledged barristers to make the game more interesting, though.—Bound Brook State Centre.

Assemblyman Meeker, of Union, very modestly says that his measure for setting up the State in the life insurance, building and loan and burial fund business is far from perfect, and he invites the public to help him to bring it to perfection by sending in suggestions.

If Mr. Meeker would only give the public some definite idea of just exactly what his plan is no doubt the public would take pleasure in complying with his request.

Meanwhile, we will suggest one amendment which will be certain to improve it. It is the striking out of the enacting clause.—Jersey City News.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Since the trial and conviction of the young men implicated in the death of Jennie Boeschieter at Paterson, it has been interesting to listen to the various opinions of people regarding the guilt of the accused. The average man and woman expressed the opinion that the men should have been convicted of murder in the first degree. The more conservative element, however, held to the opinion that the jury was right in arriving at the decision that it did. Sensational newspapers — papers familiarly called "yellow"—have been the means of prejudicing the minds of many persons, who failed to look at the real facts in the case as brought out by the evidence. Generally speaking, the verdict was received in this city with approval. Many expressed themselves as being well pleased with the able charge of Judge Dixon, who presided at the trial. All lawyers agree that in Judge Dixon's resume the evidence was impartially presented to the jury. It is the opinion of all classes that Messrs. McAllister, Death and Campbell had a fair trial.

OBJECTS TO DOGS.

Borough Resident Complains That Canines Disturb Evening's Quiet.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Will you permit me to use your columns in regard to the question of dogs on the borough side, in the vicinity of Prospect place and Grove street. Some of the residents keep one or two dogs, turning them loose nights to bark, howl and make nights hideous, destroying all chances of sleep for the aged, sick or those entitled to their rest.

Should these dogs get some "rough on rats" their owers will throw up their hands in holy horror. If these people think so much of their dogs, they better care for them, especially at night, when there is so much sickness. No one has a right to maintain a nuisance of this kind and they will find people will not tolerate it.

Dear Sirs.—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

ALTERATION SALE.

Ours is a business of change. We are never satisfied with past attainments, but are always ready to take advantage of every opportunity to improve our facilities for handling our ever growing business, and making our store one of constantly increasing popularity. For a year our Dress Goods Department has been clamoring for more room to meet the accentuated demands made upon it. In order to meet this growing need we shall devote the space formerly occupied by the Millinery to Dress Goods and Silks. This necessitates the remodeling of the entire rear of the store. In order to facilitate these changes we inaugurate on Tuesday, Jan. 22, an IMPORTANT ALTERATION SALE in order to quickly shrink stock. Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits to be closed out. We shall not handle Ladies' Suits after this season and every suit we have will be sold without consulting the cost of same. It is not a question of how much we may lose but of how quickly we may dispose of these goods All our Jackets, Capes, Wraps, etc., to be as fearfully sacrificed. This means a great deal to the purchasing community when the fact is considered that they are all stylish, desirable Tailor-made garments. Those who call earliest will naturally get the best things. Winter Dress Goods, Golf Suitings, etc., will also be sold at reduced prices in order to make room for Spring Goods, which will arrive on Feb. 1st. 10 large coat racks (on castors) will be sold at a low figure. Desirable winter goods in fair variety still on sale at closing out prices. If interested in blankets, comfortables, underwear, gloves, mittens, toques, etc., you will be able to secure some exceptional values during our Alteration Sale.

The Fourth Week of the January FURNITURE SALE,

and it's just as interesting as the first. With each week has come brighter and better bargains. This week will be better than last for the reason that we have just finished stock-taking and all the odds and ends, as well as styles that we wish to discontinue, will be placed on sale. These with the big sale of Bed Outfits will make our Furniture Department a very interesting as well as profitable place to visit.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM PLAINFIELD'S SUBURBAN TOWNS.

Daily Budget Of News Gathered By The Daily Press' Corps of Special Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, January 21.—The candy sale held by the pupils of Mr. Bodine's class in the Presbyterian church Saturday, proved very successful. All the sweetmeats were disposed of shortly after 3 o'clock. As a result, a neat sum will be added to the missionary fund. The pupils who conducted the affair were Nettie Baldwin, Kathie Sampson and Sadie Stelle.

Nathaniel Hill, of the borough, who was injured on the Newark bay drawbridge Friday, was brought home Saturday. His injuries consist mostly of bruises about the head, where he was struck with a broken cant hook. He was at first taken to the Elizabeth hospital, but on learning the extent of his injuries, decided to return to the borough.

Mrs. W. H. Smalley, who died at her home in North Plainfield Saturday, was the mother of Melvin and Goldson Smalley, of the borough, and Winfield Smalley, of Lincoln. A nephew, Frank Smalley, also resides in the borough.

The Literary Society met at the home of Miss Flora Wilgus, Saturday evening and in addition to the usual literary study, enjoyed a social hour.

Mrs. John Goff, of Plainfield, who was formerly Miss Gypey Earl, of the borough, is recovering rapidly from a severe illness.

Miss Lillie Warden has entirely recovered from her recent illness and will leave for St. Simons, Ga. next Friday.

George Staples is one of the boroughites to be taken with grip and is now confined to the house.

The Building and Loan Association will meet in the Council chambers this evening.

Miss Clara Beidleman has been spending a few days with her parents at Trenton.

R. S. Fisher entertained relatives from Hopewell and Lebanon yesterday.

The half year examinations will begin in the borough schools today.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, Jan. 21.—The present cold snap has again frozen the pond over and there is now a prospect of the ice houses being filled with excellent ice. It will require several days more of the present cold weather before the ice will be of sufficient thickness to cut.

Mrs. M. W. Casterline has recovered sufficiently from her recent severe illness to stand the fatigue of a journey and will leave Wednesday for Philadelphia to remain a month with relatives.

Miss Cora Dayton has been confined to her home for the past few days suffering with a severely bruised arm, the result of a fall on a slippery pavement in New York.

The G. E. Club will meet this evening at the home of Miss Emma Nelson.

Miss Daisy Roantree has been visiting Newark friends.

Daniel Moody is suffering with the grip.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, January 21.—The regular monthly meeting of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company will be held in the company's rooms this evening. A large turnout of the members is desired as the annual election of officers will be held and other important business transacted.

Owing to the extremely cold weather yesterday it was found impossible to heat the auditorium of the Baptist church so as to make the place comfortable. So the evening service was held in the lecture room of the building.

Miss Annie Parse, who has been spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Stites M. Parse, returned to her home in Springfield Saurday.

The blacksmiths in town have been doing a rushing business during the past few days. This is the first harvest they have enjoyed this season.

C. W. Bettman led an interesting meeting of the B. Y. P. M. in the Baptist church last evening, subject—"Abiding Influence."

Mrs. John Archibald, of Washington Valley, who has been dangerously ill for a few weeks is reported as improving nicely.

Mrs. L. G. Henry, of Plainfield, was the guest yesterday of her sister, Mrs. George A. Clark.

Robert Walpole has returned from a pleasant visit of a week with relatives in Brooklyn.

Judge Clark has been detained at home with illness for several days.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, January 21.—Mrs. William H. Manning and Fred W. Manning were called to Jersey City Saturday, on account of the death of Mrs. Manning's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward TenEyck spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph.

Isaac Smith will run the Coulter farm for a few months. He has already taken possession.

Chas. Soper spent Sunday at the home of his parents.

Mrs. David Lord is ill with the grip.

low.

Yesterday morning came in clear and cold. At 8 o'clock, the mercury was only two degrees above zero. The sun warmed things up a trifle during the day but it was real winter weather and the crowd of church goers were wrapped up as they had not been before this winter. Ears and noses tingled and those who had to ride in the open air found sundry other portions of the body getting woefully chilly.

There was a preceptible abatement of the cold as the day progressed and the temperature during the evening was quite bearable, the thermometer registering twenty-three degrees above zero at 10 o'clock.

A brilliant crimson sunrise this morning seemed to foretell a storm not far away. The mercury stood at twenty-six degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, and the air had a chilliness which seemed to portend snow. The street have just enough snow and ice on them at present to make an excellent bottom for sleighing should another snow storm arrive soon.

According to the Government weather forecaster, the weather today will be cloudy and warmer followed by rain or snow. The storm will continue during the night and there will be clearing and colder conditions tomorrow.

IN DEFENCE OF CHINESE.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES BY PROF. HOAGLAND, OF PEKIN UNIVERSITY.

Spoke at Grace M. E. Church in the Morning and Afternoon and at First M. E. in Evening.

Prof. Isaac T. Hoagland, A. M., of the University of Pekin, China, preached at the morning service in Grace M. E church yesterday. In the afternoon the Professor gave the children of the Sunday school a short talk upon the characteristics of the Chinese children, in which he took occasion to recite a few of his celebrated nursery rhymes.

Last evening, at the First M. E. church, Prof. Headland gave an entertaining address to a small congregation. He referred more especially to the educational advancement of Chinese and told of their great love of literature. He said they were known as great thinkers and philosophers. Many of the things that the English speaking countries were using had been originated by the Chinese and been used by them for many years.

In comparison with the Japanese, Prof. Headland claimed that the Chinese were superior to the Japanese in originating ideas but not as good in adopting them.

Prof. Headland said that the efforts to advance education is being felt among the Chinese. He claims that education is doing more than anything else to Christianize them. The Chinese Government has seen the value of education and was causing educational institutions to be built all over the country. To show that the Chinese had no hatred for the citizens of this country, Prof. Headland stated that an American was at the head of everyone of these institutions of learning.

The speaker attributed the recent Boxer uprising not so much to the Chinese hatred of the foreign missionaries as it was a retaliation by them for attempts of European countries to obtain control of their industries.

Before closing Prof. Headland took occasion to pay a high compliment to Li Hung Chang, whom he considered the greatest stateseman that China has ever known.

PERSONAL.

Theodore Smith, of Allen place, is confined to his home with a severe attack of grip and rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, are stopping for a time at Lakewood, N. J.

Miss Adele Kirby, sister of Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, of Grandview avenue, who has been seriously ill, is slightly better today.

Miss Jackson, a member of the Art League, of New York, has been visiting her friend, Miss Alice Rushmore, of Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Titsworth, of West Seventh street, returned home Saturday evening from Atlantic City, where they have been stopping for a time.

George W. Saums, of West Front street, is able to be out again after an illness of two weeks with quinsy sore throat and the grip. Mrs. Saums, who has also been quite ill, is improving, although she is still confined to the house.

Held Evangelistic Services.

Rev. W. L Jones, of Westervelt avenue, returned home Saturday evening from Altoona, Pa., where he had been preaching several days, last week, in two of the Baptist churches of that city. Mr. Jones also spent nearly two weeks at Ebbensburg and Vintondale, Cambria county, holding successful evangelistic services in several churches.

Big Sick List at the Industrial Home.

Most of the inmates of the City Industrial Home are on the sick list, and Mr. and Mrs. TenEyck are experiencing a little difficulty in getting along. Fortunately the latter keep well, though they are short of help. The city physician is kept rather busy making frequent calls at the Home. None of the patients are seriously ill.

APE IS BRITISH HERO.

Gen. Snyman II., Trained to Sound Alarm at Siege of Mafeking, Acted Well His Part.

Two Gen. Snymans were conspicuous during the famous siege of Mafeking. One was a wily Boer commander and the other was an intelligent ape. The job of the flesh and blood Gen. Snyman was to force the gallant Baden-Powell to surrender the town and his sorely harassed garrison, that of his missing-link namesake was to keep the town advised of the beginning of the daily bombardment. The original Gen. Snyman failed to accomplish his task, the counterfeit did. For this reason, "Gen. Snyman," the ape, or, as some jocularly dubbed him, "Gen. Snyman II.," is now a British hero.

Every day for over three months Gen. Snyman, the Boer, trained his guns on the little town of Mafeking. Sometimes the bombardment began at daylight, sometimes the opening shot was held back until after breakfast. But the hour mattered not to the faithful ape, who had been trained to protect the garrison and the handful of inhabitants. He was ever on the alert. The instant smoke was seen to arise from the Boer batteries the ape from an elevated scaffolding or tower saw and knew that huge shells were about to pour into the town. And sometimes before the report of the cannon was heard the alarm was sounded. This consisted of a schoolhouse bell removed from its accustomed home and erected close by the ape's lookout.

The townspeople and the garrison alike were ever on the qui vive for the sound of this bell. They placed their fate entirely in the hands of this sagacious animal. Before the tinkling sounds were heard Mafeking looked much the same as any other town surounded by earthworks. Its shops were open, its people were strolling about as quietly and unconcernedly as if on a holiday. The ringing of the bell changed all this. Beneath the town, under the streets and under the houses, were subterranean tunnels of all shapes and sizes. In Kansas they would be termed "cyclone cellars." They were quickly prepared places of refuge. The bell was the signal for everyone to seek one of these covers. The ape gave the alarm and everyone scampered.

Many lives were undoubtedly saved through the watchfulness of this hoary "Gen. Snyman," and when the siege was raised he was the recipient of many honors. Later he was brought to London, where he was shown to admiring crowds from the windows of a New Oxford street animal dealer. This life was not agreeable to him, however, and he was bought by E. H. Bostock for $200 and given a good home in the Scottish zoo at Glasgow. There he now holds daily receptions and seems to appreciate his honors as keenly as a human being.

The stories of "Gen. Snyman's" exploits were doubted in some quarters at first, but later all skepticism was removed by the statements of several residents of Mafeking during the siege and by assurances from South African travelers that apes are frequently trained in that country to do all sorts of manual labor. One case is cited where an ape operates the signals on a railroad.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Der österreichische Frauenverein hat in einer außerordentlichen Generalversammlung die Errichtung einer für Frauen bestimmten Lesehalle in Wien beschlossen. Die Räumlichkeiten sollen lediglich Bildungszwecken dienen, weshalb Spiel- und Eßzimmer nicht errichtet werden.—Dem Pensionsverein des Wiener Burgtheaters wurde vom Kaiser Franz Josef eine jährliche Subvention von 16,000 Kronen für die Dauer von 25 Jahren bewilligt. Der Pensionsfonds des Hofoperntheaters erfreut sich schon seit langer Zeit einer kaiserlichen Subvention.—Der Vize-Sekond-Wachtmeister in der Trabanten-Leibgarde, Mathias Czada, Besitzer der silbernen Tapferkeitsmedaille und anderer in- und ausländischer Auszeichnungen, vollendete neulich eine ununterbrochene 40jährige aktive Militärdienstzeit.

Budapest. Der Oberlieutenant Martesit, der an den Studenten Jonas der Bataillonskasse defraudirte Gelder verlor, forderte von diesem das Geld zurück und verletzte Jonas, der die Rückgabe verweigerte, durch drei Revolverschüsse tödtlich. Er erschoß sich dann selbst.

Eger. Die Direktion der böhmischen Staatsbahnen hat verfügt, daß das reisende Publikum an jedes Stück Handgepäck eine Visitenkarte oder ein Karton-Anhängschild mit genauer Adresse zu befestigen hat, damit dem Bahnpersonale die Möglichkeit gegeben ist, Verlustgegenstände nach deren Auffindung an den Eigenthümer absenden zu können.

Lemberg. Der Professor der Philosophie an der Jagellonischen Universität, Dr. Lutoslawski, wurde wegen eines Vortrages, den er bei einer polnisch-patriotischen Feier trotz des polizeilichen Verbotes und gegen den Wunsch des Professorenkollegiums gehalten hatte, seiner Lehrstelle enthoben.

Marburg. In einer Gemeinderathssitzung wurden die Gemeinderathswahlen des dritten Wahlkörpers, bei welchen sämmtliche zehn Kandidaten der sozialdemokratischen Partei gewählt worden waren, annullirt, da 59 Wahlmißbräuche konstatirt wurden. Für den dritten Wahlkörper ward eine Neuwahl ausgeschrieben.

Reichenberg. Der 14jährige Bäckerlehrling Franz Dytrych in Albrechtsdorf, der, um aus der Lehre treten zu können, das Haus seines Meisters anzündete, wobei die Frau des Bäckermeisters und deren Sohn verbrannten, wurde kürzlich vom Schwurgericht zu acht Jahren schweren Kerkers verurtheilt.

Schlan. In einer Nacht ist die Spinnerei der Firma Honore de Liser vollständig niedergebrannt. Der Gesammtschaden wird auf 1,000,000 Kronen geschätzt. Durch den Brand sind 320 Arbeiter erwerbslos geworden.

Triest. Anhier hat sich der beim 97. Infanterie-Regiment als Einjährig-Freiwilliger dienende 20jährige Rechtshörer Marcus Lubliner aus Lemberg durch einen Schuß aus seinem Dienstgewehr entleibt. Der Grund des Selbstmordes ist unbekannt.

Schweiz.

Bern. Die 38 Nationalräthe, welche einen Appell an das englische Parlament für die schiedsgerichtliche Erledigung der südafrikanischen Angelegenheit beantragt hatten, haben Angesichts der Opposition der Bundesregierung den Antrag fallen lassen.—In Bleienbach fiel der 21jährige Alfred Lüthi in das zufällig offene Jaucheloch, in welchem er kurze Zeit nachher von seinem jüngsten Bruder entdeckt wurde. Auf des Letzteren Geschrei zog man ihn heraus, leider nur als Leiche.

Zürich. Dr. phil. Alfred Swaine von Hüttensteinach (Sachsen-Meiningen), der sich aus der Kuranstalt Mammern entfernte und vermißt wurde, und auf dessen Auffindung eine Belohnung von 1000 Mark ausgesetzt war, ist jüngst in der Nähe von Mammern im dichten Gehölz als Leiche aufgefunden worden.

Freiburg. In Sachen des Rechtes zum Heirathen der freiburgischen Landjäger hat der Staatsrath der Auskunft verlangenden Staatswirthschaftskommission geantwortet, daß Anno 1897 als Regel aufgestellt wurde, daß ein Landjäger sich verpflichte, die ersten vier Jahre sich nicht zu verheirathen. Da nun die Bestrafung solcher, welche dann trotzdem zur Verheirathung schritten, im Lande herum Entrüstung erregte, so wird von nun an die Bestrafung fortfallen und man sich einzig mit der Entlassung begnügen.

Solothurn. Die unlängst stattgefundene Volkszählung ergab für den Kanton Solothurn eine Wohnbevölkerung von 100,826, gegen 85,621 im Jahre 1888, und eine ortsanwesende Bevölkerung von 100,954, gegen 85,709.

Appenzell. Mit dem Bau einer Bahn ab Gais über Appenzell zum Seealpsee und weiter auf den Säntis wird es jetzt ernst. Bis Appenzell soll die Bahn nach demselben System wie die Bahn St. Gallen-Gais gebaut werden. Für die Strecken Appenzell-Seealpsee und Seealpsee-Säntis ist elektrischer Betrieb in Aussicht genommen.

Pan-American Outlook.

The Big Exposition Promises to Exceed All Expectations.

Exhibits From All the States and Countries of the Western Hemisphere—More Than a Score of Great Buildings to Shelter the Displays.

The Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo during the summer of 1901 will be not only big, but beautiful. In many ways it will excel every similar enterprise in the history of the world, and chief among its merits will be the fact that everything can be easily seen and comprehended. System and originality are conspicuous in every detail. The revised plan shows a plot comprising 350 acres. From north to south the grounds are about a mile and a quarter and from east to west half a mile. The grounds are situated in the northern part of Buffalo and are easily reached either direct or by transfer ticket by all the electric car lines constituting the city's perfect street railway system. On the northern side are the tracks of the New York Central Belt Line, to which the 26 steam railways entering Buffalo will have access during the Exposition. The southern portion of the grounds is a part of Delaware Park and contains a lake of irregular shape more than half a mile long, indicated by letter B on the ground plan. This part of the Exposition plot is already very beautiful, the city of Buffalo having spent many thousands of dollars in planting shrubs and trees of many rare species and in producing landscape effects that give to the eye a beautiful vista from every point of view.

The main southern entrance of the Exposition is on Lincoln Parkway, indicated by the letter A. At the left as you enter will be the beautiful Albright Art Gallery, built of white marble and costing upward of $350,000. This is the gift of a citizen of Buffalo, Mr. J. J. Albright, and will be a permanent fireproof building for public uses devoted to art. On the right is the beautiful new boathouse and shelter erected by the city of Buffalo. Crossing the bridge between the lake and the North Bay, the New York State building may be seen on the north bank of the bay. This also is of white marble, fireproof and a permanent structure. It will be devoted, after the Exposition, to the uses of the Buffalo Historical Society.

Continuing up the slight grade across the bridge, we now come to the "Approach" (D), where we get the first broad view of the wonderful group of buildings devoted to the various exhibit divisions of the Exposition.

It will be noted by reference to the ground plan that the buildings are grouped around a system of courts which have been aptly described as in the form of an inverted letter T. The transverse court, corresponding to the cross of the T, is the Esplanade, capable of accommodating 250,000 people. North of this, corresponding with the perpendicular of the T, are the Court of Fountains and the Plaza, which reach almost to the northern limits of the grounds. On either side of the Court of Fountains are the subordinate courts known as the Court of Cypresses and Court of Lilies. These several courts have a combined area of 33 acres, which is far more extensive than the courts of any former exposition, and, on account of the unusual area, greater opportunity is given for elaborate and beautiful decoration.

In all the courts are to be large pools into which beautiful cascades and wonderful fountains will throw their crystal streams. To the water features will be added the garden effects. These will comprise large sunken gardens, with formal beds of rare and beautiful flowers, and many plants of a highly decorative character will be displayed throughout the courts. The grounds outside the main group of buildings are also to be richly adorned with horticultural and floral features. The horticultural exhibits, to which about seven acres are devoted in the southern part of the grounds, will contribute much to the decorative effect. In this exhibit will be over 500 beds, many of them containing hundreds of plants of a single variety of flowers.

The exterior walls of all the buildings of the Exposition are to be of staff. All cornices, corners, window openings and entrances are receiving very elaborate adornment in modeled plastic work. This ornamentation is of a far more elaborate and intricate character than heretofore used on any exposition. The roofs of all the buildings are to be of red tile, and the outer walls are to be painted in harmonious colors, giving a most pleasing effect to the eye.

This Exposition will stand pre-eminent in point of original sculpture. There will be more than 125 groups of magnificent original works by some 30 or more American sculptors of note. This grand scheme is under the personal direction of Karl Bitter, who was in charge of a similar work at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago.

Owing to the nearness of Niagara Falls, with its unlimited power, the large area of the courts and the arrangement of the buildings about these courts, it has been made possible to present an electrical display far more elaborate and grand than any before conceived. Some 5,000 horsepower and more than 200,000 incandescent electric lamps will be employed in this wonderful illumination. The centerpiece of this display will be the Electric Tower, a structure of superlative beauty standing between the Plaza and the Court of Fountains. This glorious work, designed by John Galen Howard, is 375 feet high. In its southern face is a beautiful cascade, 30 feet wide and 70 feet high, falling upon a terraced base. This cascade and all the fountains of all the courts will be richly illuminated at night in a great variety of colors, giving an effect of fantastic and enchanting beauty.

Standing in the Fore Court (E) and looking north, immediately in front, is the Triumphal Bridge (G). This bridge will be one of the most beautiful works of the Exposition, having four great piers surrounded and surmounted by sculptured groups modeled by Mr. Bitter and others. Crossing the bridge, we may see on the extreme right the three great buildings erected by the national government for the shelter of its extensive exhibits gathered from all departments. On the extreme left are the Forestry and Mines, Horticulture and Graphic Arts buildings. At the northeast corner of the Esplanade and Court of Fountains is the Ethnology building, and on the opposite corner is the Temple of Music. Next north, on the right, is the Manufactures and Liberal Arts building and on the left the Machinery and Transportation building. North of the Mall, on the right, is the Agriculture building and on the left the Electricity building. In the center is the Electric Tower. In the northeast corner of the grounds is the Stadium, with its large entrance building (Z). Opposite, on the west side of the Plaza, is the large entrance to the Midway. On the north is the Propylæa, or monumental entrance, and beyond this the great building but recently found to be necessary for transportation exhibits and, forming a part of this, the splendid railway station. Two new buildings, one devoted to dairy products and the other to agricultural machinery, are being erected, but not shown in the plan. The live stock display is east of the Manufactures and Liberal Arts building. In the southeastern part of the grounds are the State and Foreign buildings, the Six Nations Indian exhibit, the Philippines, Ordnance and Forestry exhibits.

The exhibits to be made at the Pan-American Exposition embrace every line of human effort. They have been classified as follows: Electrical Machinery and Appliances; Fine Arts: Painting, Sculpture and Decoration; Graphic Arts: Typography, Lithography, Drawing, Engraving and Bookbinding; Liberal Arts: Education, Engineering, Public Works, Hygiene and Sanitation, Constructive Architecture, Music and the Drama; Ethnology, Archæology; Agriculture, Foods and Accessories, Agricultural Machinery and Implements, Dairy Products and Appliances; Horticulture, Viticulture, Floriculture; Live Stock: Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry and Pet Stock; Forestry and Forest Products; Fisheries, Fish Products and Apparatus; Mines and Metallurgy; Machinery, Manufactures, Railways, Vessels, Vehicles, Ordnance; exhibits from states and countries of the western hemisphere.

One of the chief architectural features at the Pan-American Exposition will be the splendid Temple of Music. This will be the center for musical interests at the great All-American Exposition. Music lovers will naturally wend their way to this building very soon after arrival upon the grounds, and both here and from the band stands in the great Esplanade and in the Plaza they will always find some entertainment in progress which will appeal to their love of musical art. The Music Temple is well along toward completion. Its architecture is a free treatment of the Spanish Renaissance, it being octagonal in form, with pavilions at the corners. The grand entrance is at the corner of the Esplanade and Court of Fountains, the spacious courts upon which most of the principal buildings of the Exposition have their frontage. The cornice and balustrade are of elaborate composition, the latter bearing names familiar to the musical world. The interior of the temple will be particularly fine in its sculptural and color decorations. The exterior of the building will be ornate in architectural features and groups of sculpture designed to illustrate the purpose and character of the building. A dome whose crown is 136 feet above grade and whose interior is brilliant with golden tints and other rich hues gives an imposing finish to the structure. Star shaped windows in the drum of the dome admit abundant light to the large auditorium. This will seat 1,200 persons, and with the additional seating capacity afforded in the balconies fully 2,000 persons can be accommodated. The decorations of the interior will illustrate such subjects as the grand divisions of Music, Oratorio, Grand Opera, Symphonic Music, etc. The sculptor will typify such subjects as religious music, lyric music, gay music, heroic music, etc.

The great organ for the Temple of Music, which is to cost $10,000, is under construction by Emmons Howard & Son, and already there is much eagerness among the leading organists of the United States to have the privilege of playing upon it during the Exposition. Two recitals by prominent exponents of this branch of musical art will be given each day. Concerts by the leading instrumental organizations of America and Europe will be given every day during the progress of the Exposition in the Music Temple and from the band stands in the Plaza, Esplanade and other parts of the grounds. In connection with the subject of music at the Pan-American Exposition mention should be made of the notable attractions to music lovers to be provided at the great Saengerfest of the North American Saengerbund, which will open in Buffalo on Monday evening, June 24, 1901.

No feature of the Pan-American Exposition will be of more importance than the exhibit of mines and metallurgy. The building to be devoted to these exhibits is one of a group of three magnificent structures, arranged in the form of a horseshoe, at the western boundary of the Esplanade. The Mines building is the southernmost of the group and is connected with the Horticultural building by one of the conservatories which flank the Horticultural building on the north and south. It is 150 feet square, and at each of the four corners it has a square tower 90 feet high. The eastern facade, looking upon the Esplanade, shows three high recessed arches between the towers, forming an open loggia elaborately and beautifully ornamented with plastic detail and decorated in brilliant colors. From this loggia are the main entrances to the building. There are also entrances in the corner towers. The ornamental detail is very picturesque and interesting. The design is by Peabody & Stearns of Boston.

Never was the science of metallurgy or skill in mining more highly developed than in the present day. The golden decorations of King Solomon's Temple are estimated to have cost $250,000,000. Ever since the account in the book of Genesis of finding gold along the river Pison, a stream which flows from the Garden of Eden, the seeking for and mining of gold have been among the most fascinating industries. The production of gold throughout the world during the present century has steadily increased. The production in the United States in 1899 amounted to $72,500,000, while that of the whole world is given at $315,000,000, thus giving the United States the first position in production of gold of any country. In the matter of copper the United States produces 223,000 tons annually, or more than one-half of the world's output. The United States and Mexico are the two greatest silver producing countries. In other mining productions, the commercial value of which is considerably greater than that of the precious metals, the countries of Pan-America also lead the world. During the last year the coal output of the United States reached the enormous amount of 225,000,000 tons. This, as compared with Great Britain's output of about 200,000,000 tons and Germany's 100,000,000 tons, makes the question of the future production of coal, considering the rapid increase in America and the fact that European production has reached its limit and is already declining, especially noteworthy at this time. The Canadian output of coal and iron is an item of great importance. The near proximity of iron and coking coal and the proper fluxes gives Canada a great advantage in the manufacture of iron and steel. The advancement of these industries in North America during the past decade has been phenomenal, the total production of the United States last year amounting in value to $413,758,414 and of nonmetallic substances to a total of $601,872,631.

Nearly $3,000,000 will be required to construct and equip the wonderful Midway at the Pan-American Exposition. The greatest care has been taken to prevent any approach toward the "fake" show, and the visitor may rest assured that he will not be subjected to fraud or extortion so long as he remains upon the Exposition grounds. It is difficult to single out any attraction in this section as more prominent or worthy than another, for all have their special merit and novelty.

The subject of the accompanying illustration, the Beautiful Orient, will represent life as it existed in the East before the advent of the modern tourist. Gaston Akoun, director of this concession, is arranging to have native representative characters to convey proper impressions of oriental customs and manners of living. He will have plenty of room in which to display the different salient features that would appeal in the strongest terms to people accustomed to our western civilization. A holy Mecca will be the meeting place of tired and worn pilgrims who will constantly arrive, make their offerings in the various mosques or religious temples and disperse. Eight streets will diverge from this objective point, each representing a distinctive local section of the orient. A street in Constantinople will be thoroughly Turkish, even to the vagabond dogs. Morocco will be represented by a street which will illustrate the life and habits of the Moors. Algerian life will receive attention, and a street will be borrowed from Algiers for the purpose. Typical illustrations in a like manner will be taken from Egypt, Tunis, Persia, Tripoli and Turkey in Asia. While looking through these sections visitors could easily imagine themselves in the midst of the ancient city, the counterpart of which they are visiting.

A Bedouin Arab encampment will lend variety, and Sahara desert nomads will live in their interesting characteristic way. Natives from all countries will live on the grounds with their camels and different domestic oriental animals, cabins, tents and huts. Restaurants, teahouses, shops and fruit stands for the sale of oriental goods of great variety will be provided. The Beautiful Orient is under the same management as the Streets of Cairo, which was so popular at the World's fair, though it will be three times as large. About 300 orientals will be employed in different ways with this attraction, a conglomerate eastern city with distinct local features—a history in a nutshell.

Within 500 miles of Buffalo are the homes of more than 40,000,000 people, which is more than the entire population of the country at the time of the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia. It is about twice the number living within the same distance of Chicago. The great Falls of Niagara constitute an important attraction to tourists who expect to visit the Exposition, as they are only half an hour's ride from the Exposition grounds, and excellent railway accommodations are provided between the cities of Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Near at hand also is the great summer school in the grove on Lake Chautauqua's shores, known as the Chautauqua Assembly.

Buffalo has a population of nearly 400,000, and this is the first great Exposition held in the east since the Centennial, 25 years ago. For the several reasons here noted it is expected that the attendance to the Pan-American Exposition will be very large and that the results will be very gratifying in the promotion of trade among all the states and nations of the western hemisphere and in the establishment of more cordial relations among all the people of the western world.

FASHION NOTES.

Items Concerning the Wardrobe of the Period.

The fashion of wide corselet belts has returned, and in many cases they are of gold or silver tissue or are embroidered with tiny spangles. Corselets of this kind are of course only worn with an elaborate bodice.

Redingote costumes of great richness are adapted for ceremonious occasions and are particularly suited to middle aged and elderly women. The redingote forms the train and opens widely in front to show the skirt, the tablier of which is usually much decorated. The same idea is used for tailor made gowns, but greatly simplified.

EVENING CORSAGE.

The empire styles, which inspire so many of the present gowns and mantles, are yet by no means exactly reproduced. Their characteristics are modified to suit modern taste, the individual and the occasion, and the suggestion rather than the actuality of the past period is retained.

Today's picture shows a novel and attractive bodice for a ball gown. It is of old blue panne, plainly fitting at the back and forming a slight blouse in front. The plastron of white satin embroidered and spangled is pointed at the top. A drapery of wide lace encircles the decolletage, caught in place by jeweled pins, and at the left side is a garland of chrysanthemums of an old gold shade. The belt is of white satin, and there are no sleeves.

BODICES.

Those Differing From the Skirt Still In Vogue.

Bodices differing from the skirt have made good their standing and seem to have come to stay. While no longer admitted for the fullest and most formal dress they are nevertheless much used for demitoilet, the house and general everyday wear, and if there is a loss of elegance in their adoption there is a great gain of convenience and economy.

French flannel, plain or printed, is usually chosen for ordinary use, and there is now a great variety obtainable. Formerly but a few plain colors were to be found, but now there are all shades in solid colors and an immense diversity of designs. Printed stripes, dots, plaids, checks and fancy motifs, embroidered spots, fleurs-de-luce, palm leaves and similar patterns vie with each other and are an inexhaustible resource.

VELVET BODICE.

Where flannel is not warm enough corduroy and velveteen are adopted, and these also show many colors and varieties, particularly velveteen, which is plain or has printed, embroidered or even woven designs. The decoration is very simple and consists usually of a few plaits and buttons.

The illustration shows a theater bodice of black velvet. It has a plain back and is slightly full in front and has a guimpe of white mousseline de soie. White galloon embroidered with gold forms the collar and is carried around the top of the bodice, which closes at the left side under a fringed scarf of white mousseline de soie. The high corselet belt is of embroidered galloon. The pagoda sleeves of black velvet are bordered with galloon, and beneath them are full sleeves of white mousseline de soie gathered in at the wrist.

WERE QUIETLY MARRIED.

MISS LAURA AYERS AND JOHN YOUNG WEDDED SATURDAY NIGHT.

Ceremony Took Place at Bride's Home—Young Couple Will Reside In This City.

In a very quiet manner, Miss Laura Ayers, daughter of Mrs. A. T. Ayers, of Grant avenue, and John Young were united in wedlock Saturday evening at the home of the bride. Rev. G. K. Newell, pastor of Hope chapel, performed the ceremony which was was witnessed only by the members of the immediate families. Miss Mabel Ayers, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Edward D. Young, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests partook of a repast after which the happy couple departed for Hoboken where they will make a brief stay. Upon their return they will make their home with the groom's parents until spring when it is their intention to start housekeeping.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Young are well known and popular among a large circle of acquaintances. For a number of years, both have been identified with Hope chapel, taking an active part in all its social affairs and in many ways interesting themselves in its work.

MRS. DEITRICH PASSED AWAY.

Died at Her Home on Arlington Place After a Long Illness.

Mrs. John Deitrich passed away at her home on Arlington place yesterday after an illness lasting for the past five months. Death was caused by senile debility.

Mrs. Deitrich was in her seventy-ninth year and had been a resident of this city since 1880. For many years she had been an active member of the W. C. T. U., being one of its vice-presidents. She was also a member of the Society of Friends on Watchung avenue.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BLAZE THREATENED HOUSE.

STARTED FROM OPEN FIRE IN THE DINING ROOM.

Small Conflagration at House of A. E. Faber, Jr., of Mercer Avenue Yesterday Afternoon.

The residence of A. E. Faber, Jr, at 92 Mercer avenue, had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. A fire had been started in a fire place in the dining room. Owing to defective brick work about the fire place, the flames ignited the woodwork about the mantel. Before the members of the family realized it, there was a blaze.

Without waiting to send in an alarm the telephone was used to summon the fire department. It is due to the promptness of the firemen that the fire did not get a start. The members of Warren Engine Company were quickly on hand. The extinguishers were used to good advantage and the fire was kept from spreading to other rooms.

There was, however, considerable damage to the room before the fire was completely extinguished. A mantel was destroyed and the fire burned a portion of the partition. The damage will amount to about $75.

COATS STOLEN.

One Coat and a Phonograph Found on a Porch to a Chatham Street House—No Clues.

Thieves walked off with personal property in the Crescent Hotel, kept by Rudolph Spiegel at Somerset and Chatham streets, Saturday. Two coats owned by one of the boarders and a coat belonging to Mr. Spiegel were stolen.

Last night Marshal Emmons found one of the coats on a porch on Chatham street. The garment was wrapped about a small phonograph. Marshal Emmons took the property to the station house. Then he made inquiries and discovered that the phonograph had been stolen from the Crescent Hotel. Mr. Spiegel did not know that the instrument had been stolen. He had not missed it and was surprised when the officer returned it to him. There is no clue to the other coats.

PERSONAL.

Philip Kirch is confined to his home on Craig place with the grip.

George Morton, of West Front street, is out after a week's illness with bronchitis.

Dr. Leonard, a prominent physician of Melrose, Mass., was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

Fred Dixon, of West Front street, has returned from South Amboy after a week's visit with relatives.

Miss Edith Roseberry, of West Front street, has recovered from a two weeks' illness with grip.

Mrs. Cantwell, of Oneida, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, of East Front street.

John Gill, of St. Mary's avenue, who has been confined to his home for the past two weeks with an injured foot, was out yesterday for the first time.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, who has been confined to his home on Duer street with the grip for several days, has recovered sufficiently to attend his patients.

Horace J. Martin, Jr., who is at present living in Philadelphia, arrived home Saturday evening for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Martin, of Jackson avenue. Mr. Martin was accompanied home by Miss Caroline Livezey, of the Quaker city, who will also visit at Mr. Martin's.

In Honor of Newly Wedded Couple.

Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, gave a reception Saturday afternoon to a number of friends in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Vail, who were recently married. Miss Raybert was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Maurice McGrath, of New Brunswick. Chocolate was poured from 4 until 6 o'clock. A novel part of the reception was the bringing of some kind of kitchen utensil by each of the guests, the result being enough to stock a kitchen throughout.

To Aid in Securing Speedway.

A general and cordial invitation is extended to all horsemen and any others who are interested in the establishment of a speedway in this city, to meet at the office of S. D. Drake, 175 North avenue, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Dance at Casino.

The second of the series of dances for the young married society set will be held at the Casino Wednesday evening.

It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Delightful Luncheon.

Miss Laura Worthington, of New York, formerly of this city, gave a very delightful luncheon Saturday at the Murray Hill Hotel, New York. The decorations were pink roses and smilax. Covers were laid for twelve. Several young women of local society circles were invited.

Wrecked Lives in Paris.

An American art student in Paris says: "There are more wrecks of young lives and young ambitions in Montmartre than in any other quarter of the globe. Fellows who fancy they are destined to become great artists have the illusion knocked out of them, but they refuse to leave. They are there from all parts of the world, stranded, hopeless beggars. One case in particular caught my attention—that of an Englishman. His father is an evangelist, who came over to America several years ago. This fellow associates with nobody, and his only companion is a little black dog. He will live for days on bread and milk in order that he may buy meat for his dog. One night I was with a crowd of other students, and we passed him in the street. He turned, glared at us and hissed: 'I hate them! I hate them!' Then he sat down on the curb, with his dog in his arms, and buried his face in its shaggy coat!"—N. Y. Times.

When Arab Widows Remarry.

The widow of an Arab who intends to take to herself a second spouse naturally thinks that her late lamented husband would not approve, so the night before the wedding she goes to pay him a visit at his grave. There she humbly kneels and prays him not to be jealous or offended. Probably she believes that he will be both and that she must make a definite act to appease his wrath. Accordingly she takes with her an ass bearing two goats' skins of water. When her prayers are ended she takes the water skins and proceeds to saturate her husband's grave. Whether a plentiful libation of cold water has a soothing effect on the spirit of th departed or not may be a matter of conjecture, but, having made it, the widow feels that she has done all that can be required of her and enters wedlock again without misgiving.—N. Y. Times.

Family Living Three Centuries Old.

It is not very often one hears of a case in which a country living has been held by the same family without a break in three successive centuries. Yet in a few months' time there will be at any rate one case of the kind in England. A Butler officiated at the ancient church of Inkpen, in Berkshire, in the last decade or two of the eighteenth century; there has been a Butler officiating there during the whole of the present century, and, happily, there is no reason to apprehend that a Butler will not be found still filling the living at the beginning of the twentieth century. That is a record of which a family has a right, indeed ought, to be thoroughly proud.—London Express.

Election Practices in India.

Revelations made recently regarding Bombay municipal elections show that Hindoo election agents can excel the wildest achievements in Europe or America. It is discovered to be a common practice to dress up lads to impersonate female ratepayers who are either dead or are reluctant to vote. In many other cases women are hired to represent such voters. Personation by men of male voters who are dead or traveling is too common to excite remark. The most amazing discovery is that there is now a class of men who call themselves "professional vote brokers" and openly undertake to secure votes at a fixed price per head.—Bombay Letter.

Coffee Growing in Africa.

The coffee-growing industry in tropical Africa is developing tremendously. The seed was introduced into the country about five years ago by some English missionaries with the object of ascertaining whether the resources of the country were favorable to the culture of the article. The ground appears peculiarly adapted to the industry, since last year 100 tons of coffee were exported from Uganda alone, and the result of this year's production will be even greater. —N. Y. Sun.

Street Needlewomen.

If it is a novelty, it must sometimes be a convenience to be able to have one's garments mended on the street while one waits. In nearly all the principal cities of China native sewing-women are to be seen seated on low stools, or perhaps on the sidewalk, mending articles of masculine wearing apparel The accomplishments of these street seamstresses are somewhat limited their efforts with the needle being confined, as a rule, to "running." Other branches of needlework are practically unknown to them. As a consequence their efforts are better appreciated by natives than by American or English travelers. They are never short of patrons among the Chinese tradesmen for these are often natives of other districts, and having come to the city to engage in business, have no one to mend a rent for them. Their wives being left at home, they are glad to employ the street needlewomen. For this class of customers the skill of the itinerant sewing-woman answers every purpose.—Youth's Companion.

Poland a Manufacturing Country.

Warsaw has a population of 675,000. In ten years this will be doubled. Besides being a distributing point for what Asia wants to send to Europe, it is a manufacturing city. It makes sugar, leather, cotton, wool, iron, gold and silverware, and shoes for the rest of the continent. It sends more than a third of a million dollars' worth of beet sugar alone in a year to America. Warsaw's outlying neighboring city, Lodz, known as the Polish Manchester, is fast gaining on its English rival. Its thousands of spindles turn out cotton for the world. The industrial and commercial impulse that has characterized Russia of the present generation is nowhere more strikingly evident than in what was the old kingdom of Poland, and particularly in its ancient capital, Warsaw.—Cosmopolitan.

Japanese Brides.

The Japanese bride, dressed in a long white silk kimono and white veil, sits upon the floor facing her future husband. Two tables stand near, and upon one are two cups, a bottle of saki and a kettle with two spouts. Upon the other side a miniature plum tree, typifying the beauty of the bride; a miniature fir tree, which signifies the strength of the bridegroom, and a stork standing upon a tortoise, representing long life and happiness. The two-spouted kettle is put to the mouth of the bride and bridegroom alternately, signifying that they are to share each other's joys and sorrows. The bride keeps her veil and it is used as a shroud when she dies. —Chicago Chronicle.

At the Other End.

A certain naval officer was very pompous and conceited when on duty.

One day, when he was officer of the watch, and he could not, as usual, find anything of consequence to grumble about, he attempted to vent his spite on one of the stokers of the vessel, who was in the engine-room, on duty.

Going to the speaking tube, the officer yelled:

"Is there a blithering idiot at the end of this tube?"

The reply came quick and startling: "Not at this end, sir!"

The feelings of the officer, as he turned away with a black frown, can be better imagined than described.—London Spare Moments.

Chinese Students.

There are 1,100 Chinese pupils in Queens college, Hong-Kong. They vary in age from nine up to 23, and many of them have family cares in the shape of a wife and children at home. Each year sees a decrease in the proportion of married schoolboys, and the average age is gradually becoming less. In its early history boys of all ages were to be found in the school, and it was quite possible to find father and son engaged in competition for intellectual honors.—London Mail.

ANOTHER YEAR BEGUN BY BOARD OF TRADE

Annual Meeting Was Held Last Night and Season's Work Reviewed in Reports.

WORKING FOR NEW TROLLEY

WILL HOLD PUBLIC CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS THE EXTENSION.

Prominent Merchants Want Madison Avenue Widened From Front Street to the Railroad—Election of Officers Was Held.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Board of Trade last night was attended by many members and there was much interest manifested in the proceedings. The Board appears to have taken on renewed life.

The second annual report of Harry O Runyon, secretary of the Board, showed that there are at present forty-nine members as against sixty-three last year. During the past year there have been seven meetings held with an average attendance of eleven.

Five monthly meetings were not held owing to a lack of quorum. During the year three members have died, nine suspended, seven resigned and five members elected.

There have been $101 in dues collected and $50 disbursed for rent. The report also stated that the Board had been instrumental in having the trolley road extended to Hillside cemetery. The report stated that the Board had also succeeded in pushing to a fair degree of success the extension of the trolleys in several directions, all connecting with the business centres of the city.

The report of Eugene M. Laing, treasurer of the Board, showed that last year there was a balance of $45 46. There has been received this year $286 46 and $185 01 had been disbursed, leaving a balance on hand of $101 45.

Under the head of communications two were received from outside sources with references to advertising the city. One was from W. W. Church, of 101 Court street, Newark; the other from L. M. Cooper & Co., of New York. Both parties were anxious to submit samples of books and pamphlets showing what they had done towards booming various cities. The communications were laid upon the table until it had been ascertained by the Common Council whether the city had authority by law to spend money for advertising purposes.

A communication was also received from C. A. Adams, of Boston, Mass., who asked regarding the advantages of Plainfield with reference to the establishment of a box factory. The secretary was authorized to write to Mr. Adams and inform him that in the opinion of the Board it was not thought advisable for him to establish his business in this city as it was not considered near enough to the markets he wished to reach with the output of his factory.

J. T. Vail, chairman of the committee from the Board with reference to the extension of the trolley to Watchung, reported progress. Mr. Vail told of the meeting with the Township Committee and Col. Hine. He said he did not think the Committee had received quite the courteous treatment that had been expected from the citizens of the valley. In the committee's opinion the people appeared to think that the railroad was anxious to build the road for the company's benefit. He thought they lost sight of the fact that it was more for the benefit of the people living in Watchung than any one else. With regard to Mr. Wilson, Secretary Runyon was to have a conference with him and see if some definite arrangement could not be arrived at with respect to his consent in the matter.

Following this report came a discussion with reference to the proposed line to South Plainfield. Secretary Runyon said that many consents had already been obtained and that it was but a question of time when all the necessary rights would be secured.

A petition signed by Woodhull & Martin, E. H. Bird, J. W. Gavett, S.C. Peck, Doane & Edsall, O. M. Dunham, V. L. Frazee, L. W. Randolph, J. W. Rushmore, J. W. Johnson, J. A. Smith, W. M. Stillman, J. A. Hubbard, E. H. Holmes and R. M. Stelle, was presented to the Board asking for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the railroad. Also asking the Common Council to pass ordinances with reference to the establishment of building lines on all cross streets. It is understood that since Duer street has been opened

PLAY IN STATE WHIST LEAGUE.

REVISED SCHEDULE FOR TOURNAMENT FOR TEAMS OF EIGHT.

Park Club Four Will Contest as Part of Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club Team.

In the schedule for the teams of eight in the New Jersey Whist League tournament, published several days ago, the entire schedule is moved forward one week, and as stated, all games between the Park Club and the Passaic Whist Club, are cancelled, for the reason that the Park Club cannot get a team of eight players to play and the Passaic Club does not care to travel. It will be noticed by the schedule that follows that the Park Club does not appear, neither does the Passaic Club. The Park "four" has united with the Elizabeth Club and will play under the name of the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club. Below is the scheduled as revised:

January 28—Forest Hill, at New Jersey Whist; Elizabeth, at Westfield.
February 4—Forest Hill, at Orange; Jersey City, at Westfield.
February 11—Orange, at New Jersey Whist; Elizabeth, at Jersey City.
February 18—New Jersey Whist, at Forest Hill; Westfield, at Elizabeth.
February 25—New Jersey Whist, at Elizabeth; Forest Hill, at Westfield.
March 4—Jersey City, at Orange; Westfield, at New Jersey Whist.
March 11—Orange, at Westfield; Forest Hill, at Elizabeth; New Jersey Whist, at Jersey City.
March 18 — Westfield, at Orange; Elizabeth, at Forest Hill.
April 8—Orange, at Elizabeth; Forest Hill, at Jersey City.
April 15—Elizabeth, at New Jersey Whist; Jersey City, at Forest Hill.
April 22—Orange, at Jersey City; New Jersey Whist, at Westfield.
April 29—Elizabeth, at Orange; Jersey City, at New Jersey Whist.

GOOD PROGRAMME PLEASED.

SUCCESS OF ENTERTAINMENT OF NORTH PLAINFIELD H. S. A. A.

Programme Was Given by the New York Musical Club, an Organization of Professional Entertainers.

A fair-sized audience assembled in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening and was entertained for two hours with an excellent programme of recitations, vocal and instrumental selections furnished by the New York Musical Club, a company of professional entertainers. The affair was given under the auspices of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association.

The artists composing the club were Miss Elyth Hirschmann, soprano; Miss Loretta Tappen Greene, reciter; and Messrs. Willard and Bartlett, instrumentalists. Judging from the applause, Miss Hirschmann was the favorite, her sweet soprano solos being particularly enjoyed. She gave several selections, to all of which she was forced to respond with an encore.

As an elocutionist, Miss Greene scored a decided success. Of three numbers given, her "Mary Elizabeth" was by far the best. Miss Greene's voice, capable of easily expressing pathos or humor, told the pathetic little story in a pleasing manner.

The remaining numbers on the programme were furnished by Messrs. Harry Willard and Clarence Bartlett, who gave selections on the banjo, mandolin, violin and harp guitar. They showed themselves to be masters of the various instruments by the excellence with which every number was rendered.

EXTENDING BLOCK SIGNALS.

Jersey Central Will Continue Them From Bound Brook Through to White Haven.

Among the improvements contemplated by the Jersey Central Railroad is the establishment of an electric automatic block signal system along its line from Bound Brook to White Haven. The distance is about 225 miles. When this improvement is completed the Central will operate the longest and most complete electric block signal system in this country.

But the above is not all the improvements the Central has under consideration. The company anticipates in the near future to eliminate many of the grade crossings in Bayonne and Newark. The contracts have already been let for the work at Bayonne. Contracts have also been let for large additions to the equipment and rolling stock of the road, which are to be delivered this year. The increase to the rolling stock will consist of 1,000 box cars, 1,000 steel cars, 200 gondola cars, fifteen passenger coaches, eight switching engines, five combination and five baggage cars, besides two ferry boats.

OLD RESIDENT GONE.

John H. Koch, of Washingtonville, Died Last Evening, Aged 63—Funeral Tomorrow.

John H. Koch, aged 63 years, one of the best known citizens residing at Washingtonville, died last evening at his home, the result of a third stroke of paralysis which he sustained on Sunday. He was born in Germany and came to this country when a young man. For many years he conducted a retail grocery business in New York with much success. About twenty years ago he took up his residence at Washingtonville and lived there continuously until his death. It was through his efforts that the German Lutheran church was built and in many ways he assisted the cause of religion of this church.

He was highly esteemed not only as a Christian, but as an upright business man. He was married about ten years ago and a wife survives him. The funeral services will be held from the late home on the Warrenville road tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

MAYOR SMALLEY LOST SUIT.

TRIED YESTERDAY BEFORE JUDGE SWAYZE, AT NEWARK.

William J. Pride Gets a Verdict for $25 in His Suit Against the Borough's Chief Executive.

A suit to recover $2,000 damages brought in the Circuit Court at Newark before Judge Swayze and a jury by William J. Pride against Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, was tried yesterday. The plaintiff was rpresented by J. Henry Roezel, and Senator Charles A. Reed represented the defendant. It required the entire day to try the case and the jury finally brought in a verdict for $25 for the plaintiff.

William J. Pride was a barber at 94 Somerset street, and his landlord was Mayor Smalley. It was alleged that on January 4, 1900, the defendant forced an entrance to the barber shop and ejected Pride; that he broke a door and window, and threatened to kill the barber, and that he seized the fixtures in the place and used terrifying words. The barber was to pay $16 a month rent.

The accusations were denied by the defendant, who stated that Pride had failed to pay rent for six weeks. He also stated that he did not enter the premises until after a legal notice was served.

It appears that a bicycle belonging to Pride was taken from the shop and this was also made a bone of contention, which apparently had much weight with the jury in rendering a verdict. A few months ago Mayor Smalley obtained a judgment for $25 in his favor against Pride in Justice Smalley's court, and it is claimed that this verdict will offset the one obtained yesterday by Pride. Mayor Smalley has not yet decided whether he will appeal the case or not.

KEARNS UP AGAIN.

City Judge Runyon Sentenced Him This Morning to Ten Days in the County Jail.

"Well, Mr. Kearns, I see that you're here again" said City Judge Runyon this morning to Patrick Kearns, one of the employes of the street cleaning department, who had been arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Vanderweg, who found him asleep in a hallway of the Elkwood building.

"How many times does this make?" asked the magistrate eyeing the unfortunate quizically.

"Three times, soir, if me memory serves right," and Pat fumbled his hat nervously. Then the old man looked up and by way of apology said: "But, your honor, you've always been a gentleman and I thank you, soir."

"Yes," replied the Judge, "But I'm going to send you to jail for ten days and give you a chance to get the rum out of you. It's ten days, Mr. Kearns, at the county jail."

Injured at Bound Brook.

Herman Ernest, aged thirty-five years, employed in the Chemical Works at Bound Brook, fell a distance of ten feet yesterday afternoon and sustained a severe injury to his back. He was fixing some belting where he was employed and slipped from the place on which he was standing. The man was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. He will recover. Ernest was born in Germany and is unmarried. His home is at Bound Brook.

Very Ill With Pneumonia.

Word has been received in this city of the severe illness of John LaMaire, of Garwood, who formerly resided on Jackson avenue. He is very low with pneumonia and his relatives in this city have been summoned to his bedside in anticipation of the worst.

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION.

LITTLE DONE LAST NIGHT EXCEPT THE INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Senator Reed Introduced Bill Regarding Exemption of Notes in Bank From Taxation—Senate Considered Nominations in Executive Session.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 22—At the opening of last night's session of the Legislature Rev. Edwin C. Mason, of Newark, prayed fervently in the House for the restoration of health of Queen Victoria.

The business of the evening consisted mainly of the introduction of bills, of which forty-seven made their appearance in the House and fourteen in the Senate. At the conclusion of the session last night a joint Democratic caucus was held to determine who should receive the minority vote today for United States Senator. The caucus adjourned until this morning, on account of the absence of Senator Cornish and others. The opposition to ex-Congressman Alvah A. Clark is pronounced in some quarters. General Richard A. Donnelly, of this city, is being urged by the anti Clark faction.

It was suggested last night to vote for Congressman Allan L. McDermott, of Jersey City. The reason for this was to force the Hudson county members, who are in favor of Mr. Clark, to support another man, the supposition being that they could not consistently vote against a man from their own county. Such a move as this seems to be the only way to protect Mr. Clark from getting the minority vote, as he is clearly in the lead at present.

The Senate in executive session reported the several nominations received from the Governor last week, with the exception of the nominees for membership on the State Board of Education, which were returned at the Governor's request, as the terms of the appointees had not been designated.

Among the Senate bills introduced were:

By Mr. Stokes—Providing for the establishment of the State Normal School of Southern New Jersey at Millville, Cumberland county, at a cost not to exceed $250,000 for grounds buildings and equipment; appropriating $22,740, or so much as necessary, out of the income of the State School fund for the payment of the salaries of county school superintendents for 1901. No provision was made for their salaries in this year's appropriation.

By Mr. Reed—Permitting the deduction from tax bills of the amount owing by the taxpayer to a National or State bank.

By Mr Francis—Two bills amending the crimes act, making it a high misdemeanor, punishable by $1,000 fine or twelve years' imprisonment, to marry a woman contrary to her will, and making any such marriage void; making principals and spectator at a prizefight guilty of a misdemeanor and jointly liable to indictment and the same punishment as is provided in cases of assault and battery.

Among the bills introduced in the House were:

By Mr. Fallon—Making it illegal to blacklist discharged employes.

By Mr. Fallon—Making eight hours a legal day's work.

By Mr. Marks — Appropriating $300,000 for the the erection of a Normal School at Jersey City.

By Mr. Cummings—Providing for the abolition of grade crossings at the intersection of country roads and railroads.

By Mr. Lord—Restricting the city of Orange to an expenditure of $75,000 for a new City Hall.

By Mr. Waite—Prohibiting hazing in schools and colleges and imposing a fine of $1,000 or one year's imprisonment when any injury results to the person hazed.

By Mr. Lord—Granting to soldiers and sailors who served in the Spanish-American War the same tax exemptions as are enjoyed by veterans of the Civil War.

The Democratic members of the House of Assembly this morning voted unanimously for Alvah A. Clark for United States Senator.

Thomas Marsh, of New York, and Miss Kittie Brennan, of Boston, spent Sunday at the home of Edward Smith, of Somerset street.

THIEVES CONVICTED.

Ryan and Murray, on Trial for Reedy Robbery at Lincoln, Declared to Be Guilty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Jan. 22—James Ryan and James Murray were convicted yesterday of breaking and entering the home of Lawrence W. Reedy, at Lincoln, November 10. The trial was a long one and finally dwindled down to a case of identity.

An attempt was made to break into Mr. Reedy's house and Mrs. Reedy saw two men running away from the place. She only saw their backs. It was moonlight and the men were about eighteen feet away when she saw them. Thus her identification was confined to height, dress and shape, but she told the jury she was sure that the prisoners were the men. Her testimony undoubtedly convicted them. There are a couple of other indictments against the men. Ex Judge Cowenhoven defended the men. The jury took an hour to reach the verdict.

STOCKING STATE STREAMS.

GAME WARDEN MILLER HAS TAKEN 6,000 FISH FROM RARITAN CANAL.

Fifteen Hundred Were Put in the Raritan River—Some Sent to Long Branch and Lake Hopatcong.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 22.—Game Warden Miller has taken 6,000 bass, pickerel, etc., from the Delaware and Raritan Canal, at Millstone, the past week, and is distributing them in the different streams and lakes throughout the State. Fifteen hundred were put in the Raritan river at the mouth of the Millstone; a bunch will be placed in the same river above the dam between Raritan and North Branch, this week; 700 were placed in Lake Hopatcong, 700 in Greenwood Lake and 400 were sent to Long Branch yesterday morning. A number have also been placed in streams at Millstone and Rocky Hill. The largest bass taken from the canal weighed seven pounds.

Friday last Warden Miller went to Lake Hopatcong with seven cans of fish to place in the lake. After he had moved the cans out on the ice and was preparing to cut a hole in the ice, the ice gave way and Warden Miller and the cans were dumped into the lake. The Warden was fished from his icy bath and afterwards the cans were fished out. The fish had disappeared, disposing of themselves.

Warden Miller will place 1,500 dozen quail in Somerset county about March 1. The birds have been ordered from Michigan.

HACKMEN IN COURT.

Pleaded Guilty to Soliciting Customers Outside of the Prescribed Limits.

Charles Barry, John Lynch, Peter Seader and Wm. Callahan, hackmen, were before the court this morning charged with violating the city ordinances with reference to soliciting fares outside of the prescribed line. The quartette pleaded guilty. The violation took place last Sunday. City Judge Runyon said he would impose a fine of $5 each, but that he would suspend sentence if the hackmen would stop the practice of soliciting fares on the station platform. Judge Runyon suggested that the hackmen comply with the law in respect to soliciting.

BROKE FRUCHT'S SHOWCASE.

STARTED TO RUN AWAY, BUT WAS FINALLY CAPTURED.

Sutphen, Under the Influence of Liquor, Deliberately Smashed Glass—Fined $8 or Thirty Days.

A young man with unsteady legs staggered down Park avenue yesterday afternoon. When opposite the store of Mrs. Rose Frucht the inebriate drew back his hand and deliberately smashed a large glass in a show case that stood near the front entrance to the store. The crash of glass brought a crowd and awoke the drunken man to the importance of making his escape. He make a dash down the street, closely pursued by Sigmund Frucht and a crowd of boys and young men. The fellow was captured beneath the railroad bridge.

During a struggle he managed to escape and made a run for East Fourth street. He was followed by Frucht and the crowd which grew in numbers until there were several dozen men and boys chasing the fugitive and crying "stop thief."

Mr. Frucht proved to be a better sprinter than the half drunken glass smasher and soon overhauled him. Patrolman Vanderweg, who had been notified of the fellow's malicious injury to property, also started in pursuit of the fleeing man. By the time the officer reached the crowd, where Mr. Frucht was holding his captive, the fellow had been subdued. He was placed in a wagon and taken to the station house.

This morning the young man was arraigned before City Judge Runyon, charged with being drunk and disorderly and injury to property. The accused gave his name as Joseph Sutphen. He did not remember anything about his escapade. A sentence of $8 or thirty days was imposed.

CONCERNING THE CAMPAIGN.

GOSSIP ABOUT THE GUBERNATORIAL POSSIBILITIES IN NEW JERSEY.

Trenton Correspondent of the Philadelphia Record Talks Regarding the Chances of Murphy and Pitney.

Although the Republican State convention, at which the Gubernatorial candidate will be chosen, is months away, the politicians are busy gossiping about the probable nominee. Concerning this subject the Trenton correspondent of the Philadelphia Record says:

"That there will be a sharp contest for the Gubernatorial nomination on the Republican side next fall is now believed by most politicians of the party in power. The leading candidates, of course, are Franklin Murphy and Senator Pitney. Should the delegates to the convention from Hudson and Essex unite in favor of Mr. Murphy, then he would stand the best chance for the nomination. Mr. Pitney has a large following in the other counties of the State, but without a combined effort on their part in his favor it is difficult to see how he could vanquish the candidate from Essex.

"Some wiseacres predict that when the convention assembles there will be but one candidate in the field, and he will be Mr. Murphy. They intimate that Mr. Pitney will be cared for in another way, and for the sake of sweet harmony he will be willing to retire in favor of Mr. Murphy. The dictator of Essex county, Major Lentz, has not yet committed himself in favor of either candidate, and until he does no one can tell who the delegates of that county will be for. It is true that Supreme Court Clerk William Riker is supporting Mr. Murphy, but he cannot cut much of a swath without the consent of the Major. The candidate favored by Mr. Riker is always opposed by the Essex leader.

"A few weeks ago the Major gave expression to the belief that the coming Gubernatorial battle would be hotly contested, and admonished the Republicans of Essex to be on the alert, so that a popular candidate for Governor should be nominated and the county maintain the prestige it had achived in former contests. The Major sees signs of rejuvenation in the Democratic party, and he believes that it will make an earnest effort to elect its candidate for Governor next November."

CLAIMS CITY'S PLANS ARE INFRINGEMENTS.

Threatens Appeal to Courts But Council Adopts Plans and Advertise for Bids.

SEWER BEDS ALTERATIONS.

EXPERT OSGOOD TOLD COUNCIL IT WAS ALL A BLUFF.

J. M. McClintock's Letter Read to Council Stating Proposed Changes of Disposal System are Infringements on Patents Held by His Company.

Hints of another possible law suit against the city came in the nature of a surprise at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last evening. The trouble is over the alleged infringement of certain patents providing for a special manner of sewage disposal. The proposed alterations to the Plainfield sewage disposal system, according to the plans and specifications prepared by Joseph O. Osgood, the engineering expert who resides in North Plainfield, are claimed to be partially covered by these patents.

The contestant in the case is John N. McClintock, A. M., C. E., president and manager of the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston.

In a letter written to Street Commissioner Gavett he stated that he noticed by the Engineering News that Plainfield had adopted "our" system of sewage disposal covered by patents Nos. 258 744, 559 and 522. He claimed that the system of the septic tank and filtration was discovered and patented by A. S. Glover. He also claimed that Plainfield is not in ignorance in the matter for he wrote the officials concerning the action. He declared that the courts would do justice.

The letter from Mr. McClintock was read at the suggestion of Mr. Tolles, chairman of the street and sewer committee, and this was followed by the reading of another letter written by Mr. Osgood in reply thereto. Mr. Osgood's letter stated that there was nothing in Plainfield's proposed plans of improvements that can be construed to be an infringement of the Boston system. Both letters were referred to the corporation counsel for consideration.

Another letter was read from the State Sewage Commission in which Plainfield's plans for the improvement of the sewage beds were approved. This letter was filed.

Mr. Osgood, who was present, made a statement regarding the alleged infringements. He said that he had carefully examined the patents referred to by Mr. McClintock and found that, in his plans for Plainfield's beds, there is no infringement. The claims made by the Boston man refer to patents issued in 1882, regarding a series of septic tanks, apparatus for sewage disposal and the construction of buildings for the carrying on of sewage disposal. This patent expired in 1898. The second claim is for infringement of a patent issued in 1896 for apparatus for sewage disposal beds, septic tanks and process for treatment of sewage.

Mr. Osgood stated that in no way could he see where Plainfield's proposed plans were infringements on the Boston scheme, and he considered that Mr. McClintock was merely making a "bluff" to get what he could. He said that the idea of the septic tank was only carrying out the idea of a cesspool on a better plan, and that no patent could be secured on a general septic tank.

Mr. Osgood further stated that the State Sewage Commission had expressed satisfaction with the plans as prepared by him, and the president had expressed himself as being well pleased.

The Councilmen seemed satisfied with Mr. Osgood's remarks by the way of explanation. They accordingly, in a resolution offered by Mr. Tolles, approved and adopted the plans, maps, profiles, etc., regarding the proposed improvements. Another resolution offered by the same member provided for the advertising of bids for carrying out the plans. The advertisement will be inserted in the local papers and the Engineering News. The Council will meet Monday evening, February 18, to receive sealed proposals for the proposed improvements according to the specifications drafted.

A communication was received from the Plainfield Sanitary Company, signed by J. B. Coward, as chairman, in which the company stated that, at a recent meeting, it was decided to ask the Council to appoint a committee to meet with the company for the

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Careto Witness.

Miss Myrtle Edwards and Guy T. Bennette, in the great scenic comedy drama, "The Ladder of Life," will be the attraction at Music Hall on Thursday night. The play and stars have met with the very best support from both press and public so far this season. "The Ladder of Life" was first produced at the Metropolis Theatre, New York city, and made a decided hit in the best theatres throughout the east. The production is equipped with the finest scenery that money could procure, the company carrying everything used in the presentation of the play, which includes the great train scene in the second act, laid at the Grand Central Depot, New York, and shows the arrival and departure of trains. The hero, Jack Ellsworth, boarding the Chicago Limited just as it pulls out of the depot and just in time to see the gates closed on the villain who is trying to arrest Jack for a murder that he himself committed. The next act is laid on the deck of the big ship "Colon" which plys between Seattle and the gold fields of Alaska The time of the action of this act is the night that the great ship caught fire causing hundred of lives to be lost. Here the villain, in sight of almost death, confesses that he killed the man, in hopes to get his money The play is most interesting from start to finish, and the climaxes are strong.

. . . . . .

Last night began the farewell week of Whitney and Knowle's "Quo Vadis" at the Academy of Music, New York. The engagement will rank as one of the most prosperous that playhouse has seen this season. Since the opening night uniformly large audiences have applauded the intense play made by Stanislaus Stange, and the remarkable acting of the great cast of New York's favorites. "Quo Vadis" has never had a more elaborate presentation in this country than is the Academy production, and this is the first opportunity the public has had to see Whitney and Knowles' presentation of the play at popular prices. The play that Stanislaus Stange has made from the great Sienkiewicz novel is filled with interest and stirring incident. From rise to fall of curtain it holds breathless the attention of the auditors The great scenes of the burning of Rome, the palace of Nero, the Mamertine prison, and the immense Roman circus are spectacular and brilliant and give a greater idea of vastness than is often shown upon the stage. For this last week the original creator of the role of Nero, Edmund D Lyons will play the part. Wilton Lackeye will play Patronius; Elita Proctor Otis, Poppæa; Aubrey Boucicault, Vinicius; Bijou Fernandez, Lygia; Frank Mordaunt, Glaucus; and the balance of the great cast will remain the same.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will meet this evening and consider some important business.

—Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief for it digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

Geo. Weida and family, of West Front street, have taken up their residence in Elizabeth.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—Lucetta Council, No. 28, Daughters of Liberty, will meet in regular session tomorrow evening.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

—Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication this evening.

—Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24 R. A. M., will hold a regular communication Thursday evening.

—Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, will meet this evening and every member is urged to attend.

—Attention is called to the next entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course as advertised in another column.

SO DECEPTIVE.

Many Plainfield People Fall to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive.

It comes and goes—keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause—then cure it.

Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Cure every kidney ill from back troubles to diabetes.

Here's a Plainfield case to prove it.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H McCullough's Sash and Door Mfg Co., says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

HARLAN ACCEPTED.

President's Nominee For Attorney General of Porto Rico Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The senate in executive session yesterday confirmed the nomination of James S. Harlan to be attorney general of Porto Rico. The final vote was reached after a discussion of more than two hours' duration and when announced stood 43 to 21 in favor of confirmation. All the Republicans cast their votes in the affirmative, and two or three Democrats voted with them. The session was characterized by a spirited colloquy between Senators Chandler and Hawley, in which bitter personal language was used.

No business of special importance was transacted by the senate in open session. An executive session of more than two hours' duration was held, and 66 pages of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill were completed before adjournment.

The house after devoting some time to District of Columbia business passed a number of bills under suspension of the rules.

Another Benham Trial.

LYONS, N. Y., Jan. 22.—The trial of the case of Howard Sidney Benham, an infant, by Mary A. Farant, his guardian ad litem, against Howard C. Benham will be commenced here before Justice W. Dunwell and a Wayne county jury Feb. 4. Benham was convicted of murdering his wife at Batavia, N. Y., by a Genesee county jury and sentenced to be electrocuted. He got a new trial and was acquitted after a change of venue by an Ontario county jury in Canandaigua last year. Under the will of his wife Howard C. Benham is the sole devisee. This action is to recover the estate for his son on the ground that Benham killed his wife and should not inherit under her will. Virtually Benham is to be tried again for murdering his wife. The trial will be held here, the expense to be borne by Genesee county.

Mrs. Lease Wants a Divorce.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 22.—Mary E. Lease has filed suit for divorce from Charles Lease in the district court of Sedgwick county. An affidavit as to the correctness of the allegations set forth in the petition was made by Mrs. Lease in New York. The petition charges the defendant with "being guilty of gross neglect of duty in that the defendant has failed in neglect for more than 12 years past to support the plaintiff and her family and to support them with the ordinary and necessary conveniences of life, such as the defendant, as an able-bodied man, was competent and capable of supplying and furnishing." Accompanying the petition is a waiver signed by Mr. Lease signifying his intention of not contesting it. They were married at Osage Mission, Kan., Jan. 30, 1873, and there are four children.

More Chinamen Arrested.

MALONE, N. Y., Jan. 22.—The Chinese puzzle in which some of the government and local officials in Malone are taking a hand is still unsolved. Saturday 16 Chinamen arrived on the border, and George Wilson, a constable, arrested them. Chinese Inspector Ketcham demanded the custody of the prisoners, which was refused. They were brought to Malone and lodged in jail. Yesterday Mr. Wilson took the Chinamen before Commissioner Paddock, who remanded them to jail for examination. It is understood this will be made a test case regarding the rights of the government to take the Chinamen who are arrested before other commissioners.

Salt Companies Sued.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22.—The big packing companies are endeavoring to force the salt trust to live up to alleged contracts for the delivery of salt to them. Several days ago the Omaha Packing company began suit against the United Salt company (the trust) for $30,000 damages, and a similar suit has been instituted by Nelson Morris & Co. of Chicago, damages being placed at $90,000. It is claimed that the salt company entered into a contract to furnish salt for a year at a certain price, and it is alleged that the terms of the contract have been violated. These actions were instituted in the United States court.

Jeffries in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 22.—James J. Jeffries, who is matched to fight Gus Ruhlin at Convention hall Feb. 15, has arrived from New York and repaired to his training grounds. Accompanying him were his trainer, Billy Delaney; his brother, Jack Jeffries; his sparring partner, Bob Armstrong, and his secretary, J. P. Egan. The opponents of the fight, while not disclosing their plans, still declare their belief that the fight will not occur.

Colonel Harrison Calls.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Among the visitors at the White House yesterday was Colonel Russell Harrison, son of the former president, whose exit from the army has been widely commented upon. He called to pay his respects to Secretary Cortelyou and his old friends in the executive mansion.

Aged Politician Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Asa Howell, one of the original signers of the call for the formation of the Republican party, is dead at his home, Florida, Orange county, aged 77 years. He was active in politics up to the time of his death.

TAXATION REFORMS.

Three Notable Bills Before the New York Legislature.

REPORT ON CHARTER REVISION.

Tax Measures Contemplate the Taxation of Corporations, Insurance Companies and Savings Banks. Governor's Ideas Embodied.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—The feature of the legislative session last night was the introduction of Governor Odell's three tax reform measures and also the message of the executive transmitted in conjunction with the report of the New York charter revision commission. The tax bills caused no end of comment, and as their provisions were read it was generally declared that it would be hard work to dodge the exhaustive and technical definitions regarding corporations subject to the new tax scheme.

Before the governor's message in the report on the charter revision was received copies were brought into the assembly chamber in huge bundles and deposited on the desks of the members. Most of them took the bulky volumes up, gave them a cursory glance and then put them down hurriedly.

A number of legislators expected that bills embodying the views of the charter revision commission would be introduced and were surprised to learn that merely the report and the governor's message covered the entire matter. It is expected that bills of some kind, however, incorporating some of the views expressed not opposed by the governor will be introduced shortly.

The tax reform bills above mentioned are as follows:

First.—A bill taxing corporations generally at the rate of 1¼ per cent annually on maximum of capital stock employed and further taxing all except corporations doing a manufacturing business wholly in this state on every dividend over 5 per cent at the rate of one-quarter of a mill on every 1 per cent over 5 per cent. Banks, trust companies and insurance companies are exempt.

Second.—A bill taxing insurance companies of all kinds 1 per cent on all capital surplus or reserve fund in addition to the tax now imposed of five-tenths of 1 per cent on the gross amount of premiums.

Third.—A bill taxing savings banks 1 per cent on their surplus.

The most important bill, the corporation tax bill, declares a tax of 1¼ per cent annually on the maximum capital stock of all corporations and further provides that "every corporation, joint stock company or association incorporated under the law in this state shall pay to the state treasurer annually a tax to be computed upon the basis of the maximum amount of its capital stock at par, authorized on Oct. 31 preceding, and upon each dollar of such amount at the rate of 1¼ mills. If any such corporation, except a corporation wholly engaged in carrying on manufacturing in this state, shall in any year declare a dividend or dividends amounting to more than 5 per cent on the par value of its capital stock, it shall pay an additional tax, to be computed upon the basis of the capital stock at par upon which such dividend has been made or declared at the rate of one-quarter of a mill for each 1 per cent of dividend in excess of 5 per cent made or declared during each year ending with the 31st day of October.

Lieutenant Governor Woodruff has had a second attack of grip, and in his absence President Pro Tem. Ellsworth called the senate to order and presided over its deliberations. In the course of his opening prayer Rev. E. H. Brown of the First Methodist Episcopal church prayed for Queen Victoria.

Shot Sweetheart, Killed Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Clara Nicholas, aged 26 years, a waitress employed in a lunch cafe on Chestnut street, was shot and wounded by Ralph Helms, a kitchen helper, aged 23 years, who afterward committed suicide by shooting. The girl has been employed at the place about seven years, and Helms, who came there about a year ago, became enamored of her. She accepted his attentions until recently, when he offended her, and she discouraged his attentions thereafter. Helms laid in wait in a small street back of the cafe. As the girl came out a few minutes later he fired two shots, one of which took effect in her shoulder. He then shot himself through the heart, dying instantly. The woman was removed to a hospital. Her condition is not serious.

G. A. R. Encampment.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 22.—A vote was taken yesterday afternoon, and Cleveland was selected as the place in which to hold the next annual G. A. R. encampment. The vote stood: Cleveland, 5; Denver, 2; Pittsburg, 1. Denver could not meet all the requirements, and Cleveland was selected because satisfactory guarantees of that city's ability to care for the encampment were furnished to the committee. The date set for the encampment is Sept. 9.

England's Naval Needs.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—In the course of a very strong editorial appeal this morning for strengthening the navy of Great Britain and placing it on an adequate war footing The Times says, "Our fleet should be of sufficient size, force, equipment and readiness for war as shall leave no reasonable doubt as to the result of a naval conflict between Great Britain and any other two naval powers."

Chemical Works Burned.

HONESDALE, Pa., Jan. 22.—The large chemical works at Milansville, this county, have been destroyed by fire. The factory was owned by W. S. Brandt & Co. of Binghamton, N. Y. The loss is estimated at $30,000. The factory was erected about a year ago.

Smallpox Scare at Union College.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 22.—There was a lively scare among the Union college students yesterday because of a case that was suspected to be smallpox. The health officer, however, pronounced it to be grip, with complications.

Plague Among British Troops.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 22.—According to the Petit Bleu, bubonic plague is raging among the British troops in Cape Colony, and many deaths that are attributed to enteric fever and dysentery are really due to the plague.

AWAITING THE END.

Queen Victoria Lives, but Case Is Hopeless.

SHORT PERIOD OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

Second Night's Vigil by the Royal Bedside Passes Without Incident. Condition at Latest Reports Unchanged.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 22.—Another day in the Victorian era, now so rapidly drawing to a close, passed without any great change in the condition of Queen Victoria. The slight improvement so frequently mentioned in the official bulletins merely indicates a postponement of the inevitable. The end may be a matter of days or only of hours, but the members of the royal family who are now dragging out a weary visit at Osborne House know that the death of her majesty is merely a question of a short time.

The most noticeable feature of yesterday was the satisfactory portion the queen spent in consciousness, which she regained early in the afternoon and still retained at 10 p. m. At that hour she had not seen Emperor William, local rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. Royalty at Osborne thus had a chance to recuperate from the terrible ordeal undergone during the early hours of Monday. It is said that the members of the royal family were called to a room adjoining the queen's bedchamber no less than four times yesterday morning and were kept in momentary expectation of being summoned to witness the end up to half past 5. Her majesty's physicians then had only a vestige of hope that they would be able to keep the queen's feeble life in existence until the Prince of Wales arrived.

To secure this result they resorted to the frequent use of brandy and champagne. These stimulants, used to an extent which only the greatest emergency justified, worked their process, and when the Prince of Wales and Emperor William entered the castle grounds at 11:30 a. m. they found the queen a trifle better than had been expected.

The desperate remedies employed Monday morning to enable her majesty to live until her eldest son's arrival will not be used again to the same extent, for the doctors are fearful that the remedy might be almost worse than the disease. They trust to prolong her life by a moderate application of stimulants, combined with as much nourishment as can be assimilated. Such expedients as were employed during Sunday evening and Monday morning are not considered justifiable.

The queen's rally astonished no one more than her physicians, and when at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon they heard her ask for chicken broth their amazement almost equaled their delight. Privately, however, they build no false hopes upon these fading signs of what has been one of the strongest constitutions with which a woman was ever endowed.

Despite the favorable afternoon the doctors dreaded greatly the period between 6 o'clock and midnight. When that was safely passed, they seemed hopeful of her majesty living at least through another day, although the memory of the previous night's relapse kept their anxiety at high tension.

The news of the death, when it occurs, is likely to be publicly announced in London before it is announced here, as, according to present arrangements, the first telegram is to be sent to the lord mayor of London.

There is an enormous telegraphic staff in Cowes, and additional facilities were installed yesterday at Osborne.

Already the villagers are bewailing the fate that is likely to befall Cowes, for it is known that the Prince of Wales will probably never make Osborne House a place of residence.

THE WORLD'S SYMPATHY.

London Press Especially Comments on American Interest.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The principal pages of all the newspapers are naturally occupied with matters relating to the queen's illness, additional and fullest details that can be obtained from Osborne House and movements of the royal family. Many columns are filled with messages of sympathy from provincial towns in the United Kingdom and from foreign cities and the colonies. There does not seem to be a place in the civilized world where the event is not causing sympathetic interest. The editorials express appreciation of the kindly references of public bodies, individuals and newspapers abroad. Special prominence is given to quotations from American newspapers and other records of American sympathy. The invocation of the Rev. Mr. Milburn, chaplain of the American senate, elicits warm acknowledgment.

The Standard, referring to the interest in the United States, says: "Queen Victoria's name has long been accepted there as part of that heritage of race which the two Anglo-Saxon peoples share in common, and we do not feel surprise that the bulletins are awaited as eagerly in New York as in London."

The Telegraph alludes with grateful pleasure to the prayer of the Rev. Mr. Milburn, and The Daily News refers to it with similar appreciation.

The Chronicle says that the strain of common blood flowing in British and American veins has rarely been more manifest or more warmly recognized.

Celluloid Comb Exploded.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 22.—Miss Mary Doyle, employed in Morton's phonograph gallery, met with severe injuries at her home here by the explosion of a celluloid comb in her hair. She fell asleep in a chair in front of a blazing fire, when the comb became heated and burst into flames. The explosion awoke the young woman, but her hair was in a blaze in a moment. Her screams attracted her mother, who attempted to pull the burning comb from the hair, receiving painful injuries. Miss Doyle ran to a barrel of water and extinguished the flame. She has no hair now and is painfully burned.

Measles Attacks Royalty.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—In consequence of attending the obsequies of the late Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar a number of persons of high rank contracted the measles in the infected Schloss. The Duke Regent of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and the duchess, who is a daughter of the late grand duke, are down with the disease, as is also the young Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar himself.

SING SING CONDEMNED.

Prison Declared Unfit For Habitation and Out of Date.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—President Lewis of the state board of health has made a thorough examination of the state prison at Sing Sing. He said the buildings were out of date, the cells were too small, no sunlight ever entered most of them and the whole prison was full of sewer gas and unhealthy.

The visit of President Lewis followed a visit made on Saturday by other members of the board and Charles F. Wingate, the board's sanitary engineer. The latter pronounced the sewer system of the prison very bad. The floors of the buildings are but four or five feet above tide water. The sewers empty into the river at normal low water mark. When the tide rises, there is a cessation of discharge, and the tide backs into the pipes and also forces back the gases generated in the pipes. The rising tide forces these gases through the traps. These gases are blamed for the recent outbreak of typhoid in the prison. The engineer said there could be no remedy for the existing state of affairs until the prison was located on higher ground.

It is expected both the engineer and the president of the board will advocate the building of an entire new set of buildings at another location.

Bryan's Paper Begins Life.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 22.—Mr. Bryan handed in the last of his copy for the first issue of The Commoner yesterday and spent the rest of the day investigating the mysteries of making up the forms. He seems as well pleased with his new work as a boy with a new toy. He had his old manager, R. L. Metcalfe of The World-Herald, under whom he took his first lessons in newspaper making, come from Omaha to go over the forms and suggest the proper kind of a make up. Mr. Bryan's plan of making the precinct committeemen in every state his subscription agents has worked well, and last week 11,000 subscribers were added to the long list. Letters are still coming in at the rate of 1,500 to 2,000 a day. Invitations were issued to the general public to come out today and see the new editor acting as his own pressman. A flashlight photograph will be taken.

Deadlock Continues In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 22.—The fusion minority of the legislature will take advantage of the apparent Republican deadlock to elect two senators of their own political faith if the opportunity shall present itself. This determination was emphasized last night when a fusion caucus was held to outline a plan for future action and if necessary do away with the plan of pairing. This, together with the many absentees on the majority side at yesterday's balloting, gave the Republicans a sufficient scare to call for counter action, and a meeting was held at which a committee was appointed whose duty it will be to see that no ballot is allowed to be taken unless the Republicans have a clear majority on the floor. There were few changes in yesterday's vote for senators, and the deadlock is apparently as tight as ever.

Stolen Letter and Contents Found.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The chief inspector of the postoffice department has received a dispatch from Chicago stating that John Hansen, a railroad baggageman, has been arrested, charged with larceny of a registered letter containing $2,000. The loss of this letter was reported by an Iowa railroad postal clerk Jan. 14. The dispatch says that the letter was found buried in Hansen's cellar at Hampton, Ia., and all the money was recovered.

Ships For the Ocean Trade.

DULUTH, Jan. 22.—The American Shipbuilding company has taken the contract for two steel ships to be built for the ocean trade. This is in line with the plans of the company announced a month ago. The ships will be 450 feet long, 43 feet beam and 35 feet deep. Each will carry 7,000 tons and cost $450,000. As these ships are too long to go to the ocean each will be built in two parts and put together on the lower St. Lawrance.

Verdi's Condition Serious.

MILAN, Jan. 22.—Various accounts are given of the illness from which Signor Giuseppe Verdi, the celebrated Italian composer, is suffering. The Secolo of this city says the malady is congestion of the brain. It asserts that at 9 o'clock Monday morning he had been unconscious six hours. A bulletin issued at 9 o'clock last evening says, "Acute troubles in the lobes of the brain have deadened sensibility, and his condition is serious."

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Delaware—Brownsville, J. A. Billings. New York—Hampton, F. C. Warren; Lithgow, E. A. Burch; Millers, Maggie Kelly; Nelliston, D. E. R. Dillenback; Otego, A. D. Annable; Pine Lake, Sylvester Leavenworth. Rhode Island—Hamilton, C. A. Bicknell. Pennsylvania—Barnum, M. J. Shibley; Park Gate, J. P. Moody; Rohrerstown, A. B. Baer.

Sympathy For Boers and Filipinos.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 22.—The house spent an hour yesterday discussing a resolution extending sympathy to the Filipinos in their "heroic struggle for freedom." The resolution was amended so as to include the Boers by a vote of 53 to 39 and was then adopted amid cheers.

Retires In Favor of His Father.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Governor Odell has retired from the board of directors of the Central Hudson Steamboat company, and his father, ex-Mayor Odell, was chosen in his place. The elder Odell will succeed the governor as treasurer of the company.

England Will Accept Treaty.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Washington correspondent of The Daily Mail says he understands it is practically certain that Great Britain will accept the amendments of the United States senate to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Schoolboy Drowned.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 22.—Walter E. Bayles, aged 17, of the Princeton preparatory school, while crossing the Millstone creek near Kingston, broke through the ice and was drowned.

Two Drowned While Skating.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Benjamin Post, 18 years old, and Charles Walters, 17, were drowned in Dundee lake while skating. Their bodies have not been recovered.

CONSTITUTION REPORTED.

Document Contains Some Modifications From Original Draft.

HAVANA, Jan. 22.—The central committee of the Cuban constitutional convention reported at the public session of the convention yesterday the proposed constitution. The document contains some modifications of the original draft. After it had been read the convention adjourned until Thursday.

It is understood that the members of the central committee are not unanimous with reference to several features of the scheme and that there is likely to be considerable discussion before final acceptance.

The proposed constitution does not contain any provisions regarding the future relations between the United States and Cuba.

In the project submitted there is a clause, in addition to the original draft, providing that 90 days after the adoption of the electoral law the constitution shall go into effect.

The electoral law will be drawn up as soon as the constitution is completed.

The administrative council has referred the question of the Dady contract for the paving and sewering of Havana to the municipality to determine the equitable rights of Mr. Dady.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The miners of C. Pardee & Co. at Lattimer, Pa., went on a strike.

King Oscar of Sweden and Norway has resumed the reins of government.

Harvard has decided to send an expedition to visit Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

Venezuela is said to have demanded $1,000,000 from the Bermudez Asphalt company.

The Philippine commission has passed an act establishing a department of public instruction.

Fourteen milk dealers were arraigned in New York special sessions, charged with selling adulterated milk. The fines imposed ranged from $10 to $50.

Many Thousands For Charity.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 22.—The will of the late Joseph Ricker, filed in the probate court here, provides for the distribution of about $300,000 among charitable, religious and educational societies. Among the bequests are the following: Preachers' Aid society, eastern Maine conference, $15,000; High Street church, Portland, $15,000; trustees of the M. E. society, $15,000; Maine Missionary society, $15,000; Bowdoin college (to be known as the Freeman Alonzo Ricker fund), $20,000; Maine General hospital, $20,000; Bangor Theological seminary, $25,000; Maine Wesleyan society, $25,000; Maine Congregational Charitable society, $30,000; Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute of Alabama, $2,500; American Missionary association of New York, $5,000; Congregational Church Building society of New York, $5,000; president and trustees of Bates college, Lewiston, Me., $10,000; American board of commissioners for foreign missions of Boston, $10,000.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, Jan. 22.—Last night's session of both houses of the legislature was given over entirely to the introduction of bills. There were more than 50 bills presented in the two houses. After the adjournment the Democratic senators and assemblymen met in joint caucus for the purpose of deciding upon a candidate to be placed in nomination at today's election for United States senator to succeed William J. Sewell. Senator Robert Hudspeth of Hudson county was made chairman of the caucus. Owing to the absence of Senator Cornish and one or two others no vote was taken, and adjournment was had until today. The voting for United States senator will take place in the two houses today, and tomorrow a joint session will be held. The Republicans of course will vote for General Sewell, who will be elected to succeed himself.

New York's Taxable Property.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—The total valuation of real and personal property in this state subject to taxation during the fiscal year to commence Oct. 1, 1901, is $5,752,512,015 as compared with $5,562,204,198 for the current fiscal year. The total valuation of real property is $5,076,460,797 as compared with $4,813,779,260 for the current fiscal year, and the valuation of the personal property is $676,051,218 as compared with $748,424,938 for the current fiscal year. There has therefore been an increase in the valuation of real property and a decrease in the valuation of personal property. The net increase, however, has been $190,307,817.

Condition of Dowager Empress.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The following statement as to the condition of the Dowager Empress Frederick appears in The Daily Chronicle: "It is with sincere regret that we announce that the Empress Frederick's condition has become materially worse. There has been a serious development of the disease from which she is suffering, and her physical pain is intense. All idea of any journey in pursuit of health has been definitely abandoned, and it is in the highest degree improbable that she will ever leave Kronberg."

Boy Torn to Pieces In a Sawmill.

CORNING, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Olney Oslager, aged 14, met a horrible death in a sawmill at Caton, seven miles from here. His father, who was in charge of the circular saw, noticed him alongside the machine. He turned away for a moment, and as he looked up the boy was whirled up with the belt and torn to pieces in the shafts and pulleys.

Yale's Oldest Graduate Dying.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Benjamin D. Silliman, the oldest living graduate of Yale university and a prominent lawyer of Brooklyn, is seriously ill with pneumonia at his home in Brooklyn. Mr. Silliman, who celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday on Sept. 14, received at that time a congratulatory telegram from the faculty of Yale.

The Montana Deadlock.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 22.—There was no decisive change in the joint ballot for senator yesterday. Conread received 16 votes, a gain of eight. His gain came from Duer, who received 11 votes Saturday. There were no other changes of votes.

Priori Must Die.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Governor Odell has decided not to interfere in the case of Lorenzo Priori, the convicted murderer of Vincenzo Garguso, and the convicted man must die.

FIERCE MRS. NATION

She Returns to Wichita and Wrecks Two Saloons.

ARRESTED, RELEASED AND RETAKEN.

Infuriated Woman Attacked the Sheriff and Nearly Overpowered Him—Three Members of the W. C. T. U. Joined In the Raid.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Carrie Nation came back to Wichita yesterday after her recent incarceration under a smallpox quarantine, and the net result of ten minutes of work by her yesterday afternoon are two wrecked saloons, the pieces of which are being sold for souvenirs. Mrs. Nation was assisted by Mrs. Julia Evans, Mrs. Lucy Wilhoit and Mrs. Lydia Muntz, all of the local W. C. T. U. organization. With hatchets concealed under their cloaks they entered the saloon of James Burns on Douglas avenue and did not leave a complete piece of glass or a working slot machine in the place. All showcases, both for liquors and cigars, as well as the plate glass windows and doors, were broken into smithereens. Next they went to John Herrig's saloon and had everything in the front of the room, including the plate glass windows, broken when he appeared with a revolver, placed it at Mrs. Nation's head and said that he would blow out her brains if she did not desist. She yielded before the pointed revolver and with her companions went to the Carey hotel bar, where she made her first attack on the saloons of Wichita three weeks ago. There three policemen met her, and she struck at Detective Sutton with a poker. He shoved her aside, and a youth struck him in the face. A policeman struck the youth and knocked him down. The police then overpowered Mrs. Nation and her friends and took them to the city prison, followed by 2,000 persons.

Chief of Police Cudbon discharged the prisoners after they reached the jail and is heartily condemned by the citizens. The women made him a promise not to wreck any more saloons before noon today.

After leaving the city building Mrs. Nation in the coolest manner began a street lecture to the immediate crowd that had surrounded the city building, saying that she expected to begin saloon wrecking again at noon today, when her truce with the chief of police expires.

Shaking her fist at the crowd, she said, "Men of Wichita, this is the right arm of God, and I am destined to wreck every saloon in your city!"

The women procured a wagon and rode through the streets singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and other hymns. They halted in front of the saloons they had smashed and held prayer meetings. The damage done by the four women is estimate at between $1,500 and $2,000.

Mrs. Nation caused a new sensation last night by slapping Sheriff Simmons on the face, taking hold of his ears and giving him a rough handling generally. Mrs. Nation was at the Union station in the act of buying a ticket to a neighboring town when the sheriff pulled at her sleeve, saying, "You are my prisoner, madam." Mrs. Nation turned her face about and, seeing Sheriff Simmons, gave him a violent slap across the face. She followed this up by taking hold of his ears with both her hands and wringing them viciously. The station was full of women, who began screaming, and tremendous excitement followed as the sheriff, who is a very small man, struggled with his powerful antagonist. A policeman came to his rescue, and with the aid of some bystanders they succeeded in picking up the woman in their arms and placing her in a cab, which was driven rapidly to the county jail. She insisted on being placed in the private room for women, but Sheriff Simmons put her in a cell in the steel rotary, where she began to pray and sing hymns.

A Notable Career Ended.

QUINCY, Ills., Jan. 22.—Rev. Charles E. Conrad, M. D., is dead, aged 81. He was born in Siberia and educated for the church and medicine at Berlin, went to British India in 1848 and, as the missionary who could heal, was sought after by thousands of the natives. He established asylums for lepers and epileptics at Lohordagga, was in Calcutta during the sepoy outbreak and in 1858 came to America, settling in Quincy. He established four flourishing evangelical churches in this section and retired about three years ago.

Murdered His Wife.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—John Toomey, aged 42 years, last night shot and killed his wife Annie, aged 39 years. The couple lived in the northwestern section of the city and were married in Newark, N. J., about three months ago. The woman's maiden name was McCann. Toomey is believed to have become suddenly insane. For four years he was an inmate of the State Insane asylum at Norristown, Pa., and was discharged as cured about two years ago.

Torpedo Boat Bailey Unfortunate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The torpedo boat Bailey has come to grief again. The accident which disabled her in this case was peculiar. While lying at Newport, about to undertake a trial trip on the following day, the intense cold froze the water in her boilers, bursting a number of the tubes. The boat has been sent back to New York for repairs, and the trial board has been ordered home. It is probable that she cannot be made ready for another trial before spring.

White Teachers Barred.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 22.—The bill introduced by Senator Peak to prohibit the employment of white teachers in negro schools, colleges and universities was withdrawn by unanimous consent, and its author introduced another making the inhibition applicable only to the public schools of the state.

Exempt City Property.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Property to the value of $723,444,382 is exempted from taxation in the cities of the state, according to a report submitted to the legislature last night by Comptroller Knight.

Extremes of Weather.

LITTLETON, N. H., Jan. 22.—The mercury Sunday noon at points in northern New Hampshire stood at 40 degrees below zero. At noon yesterday it was 40 above, with a drizzling rain.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; colder; fresh to brisk west to northwest winds.

Action is Not Final.

A mistaken idea seems to prevail regarding the action of the Common Council last evening on the subject of the proposed alterations to the city's disposal beds. The Council, at the request of the committee on streets and sewers, approved and adopted plans and specifications providing for the changes at the beds and also instructed the City Clerk to advertise for bids for making these changes according to the plans and specifications This action does not bind the Council to make the proposed changes, either after this method or in any other way.

At a previous meeting of the Council Mr. Tolles introduced a resolution providing for the approval and adoption of the plans and specifications, but finally withdrew it at the strong opposition of several of the Councilmen. They thought that such action would bind the city to make the changes, and they were not prepared to decide definitely on the question at that time.

There are many who seemed to have taken the same mistaken view of the situation. Mr. Tolles has explained that there is nothing binding in the mere adoption of the plans and specifications. It is desirable to find out the cost of the proposed changes before any definite steps are taken. In order to find out the actual cost, it is necessary to secure bids. But in order to secure bids, it is requisite that the bidders shall have plans and specifications on which to base their calculations. So the Council has adopted the plans and specifications prepared by Expert Osgood and Street Commissioner Gavett and bids will be advertised for immediately.

Situated as Plainfield is with so many enthusiastic horsemen numbered among its citizens, it seems but right and proper that these horsemen should have some place where they can speed their trotters and pacers without disturbing those who do not care for that kind of sport. A gathering of those interested in the project to make a speedway in this city will be held this evening. If located in the proper place, such a speedway would undoubtedly be advantageous to the city and tend to attract to this city many who desire to reside in a pretty suburban city and spend their spare time handling the ribbons.

In the many periodicals, remarks the Philadelphia Record, which are devoted to the advertising business, the difficulty of making an advertisement effective is exaggerated. Any merchant or other business man who knows all about his establishment has only to talk to the public about his stock exactly as he would talk to a single prospective customer of intelligence. The chief benefit of newspaper advertising is in the fact that it enables the business man to tell his story to thousands at once.

One of the most interesting reports which will be presented to the State Legislature this winter will be that of John I Budd, State Commissioner of Roads. It will be particularly interesting to Plainfield from the fact that Robert A. Meeker, of this city, is one of the Supervisors of Roads and has materially aided in preparing the report.

The experiences of James O'Neil are not those which fall to the lot of every man. He saw an account in a newspaper that his body was in this city awaiting burial and so he came east to identify himself. On his way here, he was arrested for being a deserter from the United States Army and had great trouble in proving his identity.

There has been no end of talk about bolting the choice of Robert Davis for the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator and voting against Hon. Alvah A. Clark, but it is quite certain that Mr. Clark will receive the vote of all the Democratic members of the Legislature present tomorrow.

The grip has found its way into the State prison at Trenton and many of the convicts are suffering from it. For some reason, however, the bacteria of that disease has steered clear of the State Hospital for the Insane.

Today the Legislators at Trenton will formally cast their ballots for New Jersey's next United States Senator and tomorrow will meet in joint session to ratify the action of the two houses.

The abolishment of hazing at West Point may result in a similar course being taken at some of the colleges of the country.

Sharp-shod horses have played havoc with the macadam streets of the city.

With the U. S. Senator elected, the Legislature should settle down to work.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The bill introduced in the New Jersey Legislature by Senator Cross, of Union county, providing for the protection of song and plumage birds in that State, is sure to be so unanimously approved by the people of the State that it ought to be unanimously passed.—New York Tribune.

* * * * *

Since the success of the Kean Republican faction in this county by defeating the re-election of county committee chairman Codding, ex Mayor John C. Rakin, of Elizabeth, has made the announcement that he is out of politics. Previously it was given out that he was slated for the Senatorial nomination to succeed Senator Cross. —Rahway Union Democrat.

* * * * *

The proposed constitutional amendment, introduced in the House by Assemblyman Meeker to provide for the office of Lieutenant Governor, has much to commend it to the approval of the citizens of the State. Such an officer who would preside over the Senate and act as chairman of the various State boards would be an improvement, in many respects, over existing conditions. He would also always be ready to act in place of the Governor in case of the death or inability of the executive to discharge the duties of his office, without having the title passed about, rather promiscuous like, as was the case several years ago.—Orange Journal.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A trolley car which had come to a sudden stop on Somerset street Sunday afternoon attracted some attention from people passing. To the inquisitive who asked questions the motorman said the power was off Then the motorman and conductor went inside, sat down and waited. After the car had been stalled for about five minutes a citizen before whose house the car stood noticed that the trolley pole had flopped from the overhead wire. The citizen walked to his front door and suggested to the conductor that if he would connect the pole and the wire perhaps the act might secure enough power to propel the car. The conductor took in the situation at a glance and then made the connection, while a crestfallen look overspread his face. Then he said things to the motorman.

ALTERATION SALE.

Ours is a business of change. We are never satisfied with past attainments, but are always ready to take advantage of every opportunity to improve our facilities for handling our ever growing business, and making our store one of constantly increasing popularity. For a year our Dress Goods Department has been clamoring for more room to meet the accentuated demands made upon it. In order to meet this growing need we shall devote the space formerly occupied by the Millinery to Dress Goods and Silks. This necessitates the remodeling of the entire rear of the store. In order to facilitate these changes we inaugurate on Tuesday. Jan. 22, an IMPORTANT ALTERATION SALE in order to quickly shrink stock. Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits to be closed out. We shall not handle Ladies' Suits after this season and every suit we have will be sold without consulting the cost of same. It is not a question of how much we may lose but of how quickly we may dispose of these goods All our Jackets, Capes, Wraps, etc., to be as fearfully sacrificed. This means a great deal to the purchasing community when the fact is considered that they are all stylish, desirable Tailor made garments. Those who call earliest will naturally get the best things. Winter Dress Goods, Golf Suitings, etc., will also be sold at reduced prices in order to make room for Spring Goods, which will arrive on Feb. 1st. 10 large coat racks (on castors) will be sold at a low figure. Desirable winter goods in fair variety still on sale at closing out prices. If interested in blankets, comfortables, underwear, gloves, mittens, toques, etc., you will be able to secure some exceptional values during our Alteration Sale.

The Fourth Week of the January FURNITURE SALE,

and it's just as interesting as the first. With each week has come brighter and better bargains. This week will be better than last for the reason that we have just finished stock-taking and all the odds and ends, as well as styles that we wish to discontinue, will be placed on sale. These with the big sale of Bed Outfits will make our Furniture Department a very interesting as well as profitable place to visit.

Mrs. Norman Dunn, who has been quite ill for a week with the grip, is improving very nicely.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 22.—The dedication of the South Plainfield school house took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, before an audience of two or three hundred persons. The exercises were held in the church. The programme began with a flag presentation. A large and handsome flag was given by the local camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, to the School Board. The speech of presentation and welcome was made by Rev J. A. Cubberley, and as soon as the flag had been raised and amidst the singing of the children, the congregation adjourned to the church where the welcoming address was continued.

Joseph Taylor, of Bound Brook, discoursed upon the "Glories of Our Flag," and the children sang "The Red, White and Blue." Dr. Whitford, of Dunellen, president of the Board of Education, made an address in which he thanked the P. O S. of A. for their gift of the flag. The grammar school children gave a flag exercise. Charles J. Baxter, the State superintendent of schools, was introduced and addressed the meeting.

The recitation of "The Blue and the Grey" was followed by the singing of a song of the same name. Ralph Eckart then declaimed "The Old Man's School."

The county superintendent, Mr. Willis, spoke on the topic, 'Our Times." He then called upon every member of the Board of Education for a speech. Dr. Whitford made several recommendations as to the location of schools, and expressed his idea of the needs of education in the township. The other members of the Board to respond were W. Randolph, Frank Nelson, Mr. Morris, W. H. Manning, Mr. Sebring, Daniel Whitlock and Mr. Meeker. The teachers, to show their interest in the programme, rendered a trio, "The Moon's Shining on the Lake." This was followed later by a solo from Mr. Cathers, "Asleep in the Deep." A recitation, "The Sixth Birthday," by four little boys from the primary department, secured much applause.

Leslie Molineaux presented a Webster's unabridged dictionary to the school and also gave an old headquarter's flag which had been through the Civil War. Pupils from the intermediate department went through an exercise and May Gage recited "Like Washington." Much laughter was caused by a humorous recitation called "Santa Claus' Mistake" recited by Andrew McDonough. A vote of thanks was then extended to the church for the use of their building and the services closed with a benediction by Rev. J. A. Cubberley.

The water pipes at the depot have caused considerable annoyance because of their continual freezing up. This has been so particularly in the last few days.

W. R. Wellsford is confined at home by the grip. His place as battery maintainer on the Lehigh Valley road is being filled by A. C. Moss.

Miss Eleanore Dennis, of Tarrytown, will spend a week visiting her sister, Mrs. Amy Brantingham.

W. H Manning and family attended the funeral of a near relative in Jersey City last night.

Miss Gunther, of Metuchen, is making a visit with friends in town.

ANOTHER YEAR BEGUN BY BOARD OF TRADE.

Madison avenue was being used more than ever. Upon motion of C. W. Runyon, the petition was referred to the street committee of the Common Council.

After some discussion regarding the necessity of street signs, came the election of Charles M. Wilson, a carpenter, to membership, and then the Board proceeded to the annual election of officers. The old officers were re-elected, as follows:

President, L. B. Woolston; first vice-president, F. C Lounsbury; second vice-president, J. C. Pope; treasurer, Eugene M. Laing; secretary, Harry C. Runyon; counsel, W. R Codington. The trustees will be elected at the next meeting when the president will also appoint the various standing committees.

Then the members of the Board fell to discussing the needs of the city and the fact that so few of the business men appeared to take an interest in the organization, which had already demonstrated its usefulness to the citizens of Plainfield. It was the consensus of opinion that it would be advisable to hold a special meeting, have some sort of entertainment in the way of light refreshments in the rear room, and to invite the members of the North Plainfield Township Committee, Col. Hine and as many of the business men as would take an interest in the organization. It was decided to hold this entertainment Monday evening, February 18. The president appointed F C. Lounsbury, J. D. Loizeaux, J. T. Vail, C. W. Runyon and W. A. Woodruff a committee on entertainment.

Before the Board adjourned the members started a discussion of the practicability of the city owning the water works and electric light system.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

and says she cannot imagine how these stories were started. The great American philanthropist is now 70 years old, and the wonder is how she has been able to travel about and work so persistently for so long a time. She was born in Massachusetts, and was drawn into her life work by her adoption of the nursing profession at the outbreak of the civil war. At that time she was a clerk in the post office in Washington. At the beginning of the Franco-German war she was of great assistance to the grand duchess of Baden in preparing military hospitals, and was decorated with the golden cross of Baden and the iron cross of Germany. She has been president of the American Red Cross society since its organization in 1881.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Der Jahresabschluß der Verwaltung der städtischen Kanalisationswerke und Rieselfelder für das Etatsjahr 1899 ergab, gegenüber dem Vorjahre, eine Mehreinnahme von 616,030 Mark und eine Minderausgabe von 85,856 Mark. Der aus der Stadthauptkasse zum Ordinarium zu gewährende Zuschuß betrug daher statt 2,059,194 Mark, wie im Etat vorgesehen, nur 1,357,308 Mark.—Der Ver. Staaten-Botschafter am Berliner Hof, Andrew D. White, ist zum Mitglied der Berliner Akademie der Wissenschaften erwählt worden. — Während der zweite Bürgermeister von Berlin, Brinkmann, im Tattersall einen Spazierritt machte, wurde er von einem Herzschlag getroffen; er verschied nach wenigen Minuten. Brinkmann bekleidete den erwähnten Posten erst seit kurzer Zeit. — Der Hausbesitzer Hermann Peters, der sich in Amerika als Schneider ein Vermögen erwarb, und seine Haushälterin Namens Tretlin sind zu neun Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt worden, weil sie den Nachlaß der Wittwe Bertha Groß beraubten, was von dem Sohn der Wittwe, dem Amerikaner Reinhold Groß, vor Gericht nachgewiesen wurde.

Oranienburg. Gegen vier Uhr Morgens brach in einem Arbeiterwohnhause in Hohenbruch ein Feuer aus, das mit solcher Geschwindigkeit um sich griff, daß der in dem Hause wohnende Arbeiter Polinsky, sowie dessen Mutter und sein ein Jahr altes Kind den Flammentod erlitten und die Wittwe Schulz, sowie deren 14jähriger Sohn schwere Verletzungen davontrugen.

Spandau. Zur ferneren Verpachtung der Jagd in der Spandauer Stadtforst an das Hofjagdamt hat die Stadtverordneten-Versammlung ihre Zustimmung ertheilt. Das Hofjagdamt hat den jährlichen Pachtpreis, 5500 Mark gegen 5000 Mark in den früheren Jahren, bewilligt, aber die Bedingung gestellt, daß der Vertrag gleich auf zwölf Jahre abgeschlossen werde, während er bisher immer nur auf sechs Jahre lautete. Diese Jagd wird in der Regel vom Kronprinzen ein halbes Dutzend Male im Jahre benutzt.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Hannover zählt jetzt 234,986 Einwohner, gegen 209,535 im Jahre 1895. Die Vorstadt Linden zählt 50,704 Einwohner.

Emden. Von der Einrichtung Emdens zum Freihafen und dem Ausbau desselben als Hafen erwartet man eine große Hebung des Handels mit amerikanischem Holz. Westfälische Firmen haben bereits 10,000 Tonnen „Pitch Pine" zur Verschiffung auf dem Dortmund-Ems-Kanal bestellt. Eine große Holzfirma hat sich in Emden etablirt, um amerikanische Hölzer in großem Maßstabe zu importiren.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Frankfurt. Im September v. J. waren vom Landgerichte Frankfurt der Kaufmann Moritz Cassel zu drei Monaten Gefängniß und 500 Mark Geldstrafe, der 19jährige Mitangeklagte Heinrich Cassel zu einem Monat Gefängniß verurtheilt worden, weil sie beim Rennen Wettaufträge angenommen und nur einen geringn Theil am Totalisator angelegt hatten. Die Revision der Angeklagten wurde jüngst vom Reichsgerichte verworfen.

Hanau. Die Stadtverordneten beschlossen die Errichtung eines Neubaues für die beiden Mittelschulen, der eine Bausumme von etwa 500,000 Mark erfordert.

Wiesbaden. Seitens der Stadtverordneten wurde neulich die Errichtung von vorerst etwa 60 Arbeiterwohnhäusern, sowie die Abgabe eines größeren Quantums Kohlen zum Einkaufspreise an die städtischen Arbeiter beschlossen.

Hohenzollern.

Sigmaringen. Unsere Stadt zählt nach dem Ergebniß der jüngsthin stattgefundenen Volkszählung 4595 Einwohner. Im Jahre 1895 wurden 4341 Personen gezählt.

Provinz Pommern.

Stettin. Zwischen den Arbeitern Robert Schmidt und August Gerler hatte sich in einem Schanklokale ein Streit entsponnen, der sich draußen fortsetzte. Gerler schlug mit einem Holzkloben seinen Gegner auf den Kopf. Schmidt erlitt eine so schwere Verletzung, daß er in seiner Wohnung starb. Gerler wurde verhaftet.

Leba. Von der bei Leba gestrandeten norwegischen Bark „Stanley," von Riga nach Boneß bestimmt, wurden zwölf Personen durch das Rettungsboot der Station gerettet.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. In einer Versammlung von Landwirthen, die hier abgehalten wurde, beschloß man, eine Stärkefabrik mit mindestens 500,000 Centner Kartoffelverarbeitung in der Nähe von Posen auf genossenschaftlicher Grundlage zu errichten.

Bromberg. Für die Errichtung einer Bismarcksäule in dem nahen Dorfe Myslencinnek hat der Rittergutsbesitzer Strübing den Grund und Boden, die Materialien für das Fundament und ein Geschenk von 1000 Mark hergegeben.

My mother's headaches were of the sort that people call sick headache. They always were in some way the result of a disturbed stomach. She would have them sometimes more than once a week, and then she might go several weeks without having one. Generally an attack would only spoil one day, but sometimes she would be sick for two or three days. When she learned about Ripans Tabules, she found that they always relieved her decidedly, and her attacks are now much less frequent than they used to be. She continues to make use of the Tabules when occasion arises, but she says that now one or two will not produce the effect they did in the beginning. She keeps a supply of them in the house all the time, and I believe if she would take them according to directions, they would cure her entirely. You know her life is that of a farmer's wife. I suppose her experience is that of thousands of others who stay pretty closely at home and depend for food mainly upon those things which the farm produces. Under such conditions the stomach will get upset now and then unless precautions are taken to avoid it. Ripans Tabules are precautions.

WANTED: A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. They are the best. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, one gross, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 25 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

AMERICAN GIRL STUDENTS IN PARIS.

Their Ambitions and Mode of Life. What Eventually Becomes of Them.

Of the thousands of young women who for the past 25 years have sailed across the sea to become students in Paris how many have been heard from? A dozen, perhaps 20, in music, vocal and instrumental. Where are the renowned actresses, the gifted lady sculptors, painters and draftswomen whom their friends expected to return hither and plant the seed of artistic development in this crude young country and waft us into the prestige of a high art nation? In painting and sculpture there are not six women of all those studying in Paris whose names are generally known throughout the United States. Even of successful women drawing teachers, of whom fortunately we have many, only the fewest number have taken a course of instruction in Paris.

The majority of these alleged students who went to Paris were poor young women. Their families skimped and saved to pay their expenses, their brothers and fathers toiled, their sisters taught school, their mothers did without clothes and dentists' teeth and economized on the housekeeping to send these supposed geniuses money for living and tuition. If they ever had any return for their labor it was in most cases only that which arises in one's own breast from the consciousness that he has sacrificed himself for another. That is a poor sort of pay, particularly since 90 times out of 100 the one for whom the sacrifice is made is not worth it.

Whose fault is it that the girl students for whom so much self denial was practiced never gave account of themselves? It was not the fault of Paris, certainly—Paris, the world's center of art instruction.

The fault lies with the girls themselves. The same conditions that have existed among the young women art students in Paris for a generation prevail today, only more so, by reason of greater numbers. Of those who troop to the French capital certainly half have no particular gift or calling for the art they pretend to take up. Restlessness, a wish for change, a desire to see Paris, comprise the sum total of the artistic aspiration of 50 per cent of the American girl art students in Paris. These are simply rather dull, ordinary girls who want to get away from home.

The 50 per cent remaining probably have some talent for the branch of art in which they have chosen to exploit themselves, but most of them are without one spark of that splendid aspiration, that tremendous earnestness, which makes a Rachel, a Sarah Bernhardt, a Rosa Bonheur. They have no conception of the pluck, the heroic toil and perseverance which will make even moderate talent give good account of itself. It is the rule that no pictures shall be accepted in the great art gallery of the Louvre till the artist who painted them has been dead ten years. When the required decade following the death of Rosa Bonheur shall have passed the French government will buy at fabulous prices every picture of hers it can lay hands on. They will be worth almost their weight in gold, for this woman was the greatest animal painter of her own or of any age. Yet to three-quarters of the American girl art students in Paris Rosa Bonheur, the little peasant woman, with her short white hair and boy's rough clothing, would have been only a scarecrow. So she would have been to dull, feeble mediocrity everywhere.

Of the young American women art students whom I met in Paris there were just two who seemed to me to give promise of rendering a reasonable account of themselves. Both these were western girls, one studying music, the other painting. I noticed both these had very quick, alert eyes that took in all about them and mouths which shut with a snap. They lived quietly, worked hard and took care of their health.

The students in vocal music are perhaps the greatest disappointment to their friends, and perhaps these young women are not altogether to blame. Paris numbers among its pretended voice trainers some of the most conscienceless scamps that breathe. They understand their business—yea, understand it too well. More than half the girls who study singing in Paris have the ambition to be high sopranos, dramatic sopranos, the real ear splitting, soul piercing, knife edged kind. A young woman's voice may be an exquisite mezzo soprano—but, no, that won't do. She wants to be a screeching dramatic soprano. The teacher gauges her vanity and her pocket and feeds the one while she empties the other. A woman who is a world celebrity as an operatic trainer has amassed an immense fortune by ruining contralto and mezzo soprano voices—largely, sad to say, American ones. In the day of judgment perhaps these strained voices will get even by rising up and singing to her. An American girl with a voice need not journey to Paris to ascertain its range and compass. There are honest singing teachers at home who will tell her exactly what she can expect from her voice and what she can do with it. Having ascertained this, if she can afford instruction Italy is the native home of music, the mother of the natural method of voice training. Besides, living is cheaper than in Paris. Then let no vaulting ambition tempt her to monkey with the high screech unless she climbs to it naturally. It will be her undoing. The rich, melodious mezzo soprano appears to be the voice belonging most naturally to American singers. Finally, after the voice has been sweetened, molded and developed in Italy, Paris is the spot of all the earth to acquire what musicians call style and finish. Dramatic expression is the natural gift of the French nation. They will impart it artificially to the sons and daughters of other races for a sufficient consideration.

A FAILURE.

Let us say 5 out of the 50 girl students who have some talent prepare themselves for at least an average successful professional career. What becomes of the rest? They fail. Why? Simply because they have not the grit and the industry to succeed. They have no go in them; no more fire flashing earnestness than a turnip. They go out in darkness.

Thus 5 in 100 aspirants are successful. Fifty have no talent; the rest are lazy. But what becomes of them all? The answer to this is the sad part of the story. Many of them dawdle through two, three, half a dozen years in Paris and go home, dead failures and knowing it. They have not even learned the French language correctly. What they do thereafter is not a matter of the slightest consequence to anybody outside their homes. If they tread the ordinary rut of marriage, reproduction and the dull, domestic grind, or if they fade out in colorless spinsterhood, it is all one. Let us bury them and leave them.

Four hundred dollars is the least sum on which a girl can live in Paris a year and pay for tuition, clothes and all other expenses. To do that she will have to deny herself most of the things which make life to a girl worth living. Hundreds cross to Paris with no more than half that sum for annual expenses. They beg, they borrow, they suffer. A number of wealthy American ladies living in France have established a charity fund to aid these forlorn girl students, but it does not half go round. The American Girls' club is a cheap and excellent boarding home in the Latin quarter, but it cannot accommodate more than a third of its applicants.

Another phase of Paris girl student life, the darkest. Paris is the most beautiful city of the earth. For all except young French girls it is also the freest city so far as individual action is concerned. People live as they please and go as they please, so long as they do not come under the open condemnation of the law. The population sleep at home and live elsewhere, in the streets, in the brilliant cafes, amid ravishing song, the wine drinking, the dance and merry shows. More than half the night they are out. There is a glamour over the life that takes away the sober senses of more experienced persons than a young girl left all to herself in the gay capital. She is caught in the swim of this wild, free life; she goes—sometimes, God pity her—she goes to the bad. The great Babylon swallows her up. She is seen no more in the little home over the sea.

There is a fallacy among students that it is necessary to "see life" in order to become a complete artist. By seeing life they invariably mean seeing that which is vilest and malodorous. It is not strange that girl students sometimes share the notion, only the girl always gets the worst of this sort of seeing life. Perhaps one may walk through mire upon a footplank without necessarily slipping and being drowned in it.

Nevertheless, girls, if you are sure you have artistic talent and would rather live on bread and water and make the most of it than to stay at home and live comfortably and bury it; if you are prepared to work and be disappointed and be disappointed and work again; if you can keep your head level and be guided by the instincts of a true, pure woman from start to finish, go to Paris by all means and learn. Paris is the most glorious art school in the world. Beauty of form, of color, of sound and of action lies all about and above you. Here of all spots beneath the sun you can get the tools, the knowledge and the experience which you will bring home for use in cultivating the splendid young art of the future in America. Keep to the training your mother gave you, and you can live happily and independently in Paris.

Go, and good luck attend you!

BEATRICE CHURCHILL.

THE STYLISH WINTER GIRL.

Her Fancy Runs to Chinchilla, and Her Waists Are Numberless.

If there was anything on the earth or in the ocean or air that would tend to make femininity more attractive than it is now, it would somehow be discovered, and in a little while it would be seen wherever women congregate. In summer we look at the dear creatures in their filmy garments and think they could not be half so pretty in any other dress, and yet when winter comes we are accustomed to think that the winter girl is far lovelier. The rosy faces snuggle down into the soft furs with the most charming effect. Chinchilla has been the favorite fur for nearly all sorts of trimmings, and one sees it so often that though so pretty a fur it begins to grow wearisome. Still it is very becoming and has its natural place as revers and short capes and muffs. The small cape in the illustration is all that one could desire. The dainty muff to match is small and has lace ornamentation at one end. This is but one style of muff, but there are many prettier ones and many much larger. A few are made to remind us of the olden monstrosities in vogue some three or four generations ago. They are large and flabby and are expected to hang down to the knees. They have no ornamentation save the quality of the fur of which they are made. Some of the handsome muffs are made with a double ruffle at the ends, and on the back of the muff a portemonnaie is fastened, while in the front there is a vicious looking little animal's head, with a place in which to tuck a dainty handkerchief. This is a general utility muff, and yet it is the handsomest of the lot. One can have any kind of muff one wants this season and be right in the swim.

In the illustration may be seen one of the newest of the hats for right cold weather. This is of velvet in the English walking shape, with a crushed bow in front and a rich metal buckle. Around the brim is a band of fur to match that in the cape, and at the left side is a large panache of gray shaded ostrich plumes. The velvet in the hat should always match the color of the dress and jacket or blouse, whichever is worn. In this special instance the costume is a light bluish gray cloth, and the bodice is a tailor waist, with a sash belt and some braiding to match that on the skirt.

UMBRELLA FOR WHEELMEN.

An Ohio Man's Invention Which Is Unique Enough to Attract General Attention.

Here is an umbrella holder which will protect the cycler while walking beside the wheel, as well as when mounted. It is the invention of Henry H. Kessler, Jr., of Cleveland, O., and is adapted to fit any make of wheel. The support is formed of a tube, which is secured to the frame by adjustable clamps, which allow it to be adjusted at any desired angle, with a gripping device at the top to securely hold a telescoping rod in a raised or lowered position. The umbrella is attached to this rod by a screw clamp, which makes it easy to adjust the shield either directly overhead or in an oblique position, to protect the rider against a vertical or slanting rain. The shape of the support is such that it can be readily attached to a lady's bicycle without interfering with the rider in mounting or dismounting, and when the umbrella is not needed the rod can be dropped into the tube and the shield folded up and secured to the frame in any convenient position.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

LAMPS AND THE LAW.

No Court of Record Has Ever Upheld the Constitutionality of City Lantern Ordinances.

Several centuries ago there were no such things as street lamps, and the streets were not lighted by any public means. At that time in Paris there was a law requiring all persons who went on the streets after dark to carry lanterns, and if they failed to do so the presumption was that they were on the streets for some unlawful purpose, and were liable to arrest. Since that time modern cities have adopted the practice of lighting the streets at public expense, and the practice of requiring private citizens to carry lanterns appears to have passed away entirely until the introduction of the bicycle, when the old Parisian law was revived in many cities of the United States, and bicycle riders are required to carry lanterns. There have no doubt been decisions of the police courts sustaining such ordinances, but the only case I have found in the official reports is a case in England, decided in 1880, in which a man was summoned before a police court for riding a bicycle between sunset and sunrise, without a lamp. The only defense interposed in that case appears to have been that he was riding a velocipede, and not a bicycle, so that the validity of the law was not questioned. There are arguments of some weight both for and against the requirement that persons riding bicycles shall carry lanterns, but if a street is reasonably lighted it would seem that a lamp carried by a private individual would be unnecessary. One of the most serious objections aganst the lamp ordinance is that arrests for violation are made at night time, when an arrest is most inconvenient and objectionable, especially for an offense which is a mere misdemeanor. The principal argument in favor of requiring bicycle riders to carry lanterns is that the wheel is so quiet that some means is necessary to notify pedestrians of its approach. Of course this argument would have no weight if the street is properly lighted.—L. A. W. Magazine.

What the Bicycle Does.

Bicycling develops the muscles, expands the lungs, trains the eye and the hand, and cultivates alertness and self-assurance. It combines pleasure with duty, the neglect of which brings down in the end heavy penalties upon the delinquent. But exercise taken in excess is an evil at the other extreme, and should be carefully guarded against. It is better to walk a steep hill than to ride it if the riding overtaxes the bodily powers. It is better to fall behind one's companions than to keep pace with them and overheat the blood or impose undue labor upon the heart or lungs. The wisest course for one to pursue is that of moderation, to the end that he may conserve his vitality, improve his health and prolong his days of usefulness.—Golden Days.

Replacing Chain on Sprockets.

It is easy enough to replace a chain on the sprockets if you know how. Place the middle of the chain on the rear sprocket and then bring the ends together on the front sprocket and the teeth will hold the chain in place while the chain bolt is being replaced. Do not screw up the nuts on the rear axle too tight, as the cones may be injured at the first revolution of the wheel, and before it can be loosened again.

Simple Price Reasoning.

A dentist's office expenses are the same whether he serves few or many patients. If he serves few he wastes time and must charge higher prices to make good the waste. If he serves many he can divide a fair profit above expenses into much lower prices for all. That's what my practice enables me to do, and that's why my prices are so little for work that's best—GUARANTEED BEST.

Joe Hooker's Gossip of the American Turf and Turfmen

NO MAN in the United States has exerted a greater influence on turf matters this year than President James Howard, of the American Turf congress and secretary of the Washington Park club. It may be said that it was his tact, his straight-from-the-shoulder diplomacy, that saved the turf congress early this year. But for Mr. Howard there would have been no representative turf-controlling body in the west. Two alleged congresses would have been formed and race control would have degenerated into a matter of locality.

Yet those who follow turf matters would not say that President Howard saved the turf congress from dissolution to continue himself in office. He thinks about as much of the glory of holding office as a schoolboy does of a hard lesson. He is the trusted racing authority of the greatest jockey club in the United States, not even excepting the big clubs of the Metropolitan district. His club probably cares as much for the turf congress and its continued existence as an elephant does for an ant. The turf congress might die, and all its rules and regulatins might be scattered to the four winds and the Washington Park club would continue to offer many thousands of dollars in stakes and purses, and maintain the high standard of racing that has characterized its American Derby races since 1884.

Nothing that the turf congress might do would be of especial interest to this big jockey club. The congress, in short, was recognized by the club, but with a manner that plainly said: "We are able to give the biggest race meeting in the country without a particle of help from the congress." It is doubtful whether President Howard said more than 20 words in favor of the congress, although he was the executive.

When the southern confederacy that temporarily dominated the legislation of the congress sought to deal a blow to the race tracks of Chicago and St. Louis, by restricting racing dates, President Howard did not fly into a passion. His club was the most powerful of the Chicago racing associations, but it cared nothing for the restrictions of dates. By common consent the Washington Park club each year selected 25 days for its Derby meeting, beginning about June 22—always on Saturday on which day the Derby was run—and no turf organization ever dreamed of shortening or lengthening this meeting. There never could be a clash of dates with Washington Park club any more than there could be a conflict between a mouse and a hippopotamus. Did a southern track desire to race while Washington Park was conducting its meet, it raced, and suffered the humiliation of having but the cheapest horses for contenders and the poorest jockeys for riders.

How, then, did President Howard exert such a palpable influence on the turf world? He hurried to Memphis just previous to the special January meeting of the turf congress and there met the representatives of the big tracks that had delegates in the congress. Some wild and fishy tales had come from some of the jockey clubs about a split in the turf congress, and it was said that Secretary Howard, of the Washington Park club, had whispered to himself as president of the turf congress that it would be quite the thing to threaten the delegates of the southern tracks with an independent organization unless the restrictions on racing were removed. But every time that President Howard was approached for an interview he said that until the congress had decided otherwise the legislation it had passed would be obeyed.

He made no threat of joining with the Harlem, Hawthorne and St. Louis representatives in a campaign of retaliation. He simply told the delegates at that Memphis conference that there must be harmony in the turf congress or its life would be terminated. His firmness frightened the confederacy that thought it could do as it pleased. The way was cleared for conservative action at the next meeting of the congress. By the narrow margin of one vote the congress voted to rescind its restriction of racing dates and President Howard invited all of the delegates to a big dinner given in their honor.

It was a clear case of a number of men being whipped into line to vote on a proposition that was not favored by them. Who whipped them into line they could not say. Certainly the president of the turf congress did not do it. Yet all concerned seemed to think that Mr. Howard had exerted the influence that had kept the turf body intact. Louisville, Latonia, Newport, Little Rock and Highland Park racing association delegates are certain that there will be too much racing for the good of the sport, at the Chicago and St. Louis tracks. But the conviction is forced that their opinions are based on the best horses, and the best jockeys will be drawn away from their tracks by the offers of more money at the Chicago and St. Louis tracks. The situation, in brief, in the turf congress to-day is harmonious on the surface only. However, as the eastern Jockey club will not form an alliance with the western body and will not agree to extend its jurisdiction over the territory now controlled by the American turf congress, President Howard will be relied upon to pilot the turf body through a season full of tribulations.

Three starters, two of them veterans, will wave the red flag at the big tracks this year. Now and then some less important flag wielder will do some creditable work, but the bulk of the responsibility for dispatching the big fields in rich stakes, important handicaps and purse events, will fall upon C. J. Fitzgerald, Richard Dwyer and J. J. Holtman. The former is the "prince of starters" of to-day. He has been engaged for all of the big meetings under the supervision of the Eastern Jockey club. No other starter in America will get such a salary as Mr. Fitzgerald. There is nothing pyrotechnical about the dispatching of fields by Fitzgerald. His work is not like that of Caldwell when the latter was the $125 a day flag wielder at eastern courses. Neither is there anything in his work like that of C. H. Pettingill when the latter was able to command the discipline necessary to dispatch big fields. Fitzgerald talks less to the jockeys and fines them more when they show tricks at the post than any other starter. During Fitzgerald's absence recently at the New Orleans meeting, where he works after the Jockey club season is ended, "Jake" Holtman wielded the little red flag in such a dexterous manner that the turf critics were inclined to cast a cloud on Fitzgerald's work. But the eastern starter returned, and, instead of showing pique, he praised Holtman for his work and predicted a great future for him. Holtman at Hawthorne and at the Kentucky tracks gained the confidence of the patrons of racing by his earnestness and his evident desire to show no favor to any stable representatives. Holtman will have plenty of starting scheduled for himself this year.

J. J. HOLTMAN.

The other starter whose work will be much in evidence in three states this year is Richard Dwyer. The Chicago tracks have a contract with Dwyer, but St. Louis is now after him for the entire season. It is scarcely possible for Dwyer to go everywhere, but he will wield the flag at the Indiana track, at Harlem and at St. Louis alternately.

Daily Press Bowling League.

| | Won. | Lost. |
|---|---|---|
| Westfield Club | 7 | 2 |
| Cranford Casino | 7 | 5 |
| Roselle Casino | 5 | 4 |
| Park Club | 2 | 10 |

There seems no doubt now but that the Park Club is firmly anchored in last place in The Daily Press Bowling League. Out of the twelve games they have rolled so far they have won but two, and even the most brilliant brace they could make would hardly save the day now. They have a chance, however, of getting out of last place if they can win out in the series of games remaining. Westfield leads and, strange to say, Cranford has managed to creep up to second place. The last of the play in the League is likely to see some close work as the Roselle bowlers are not going to allow their chances of a second win for the trophy to slip away so easily. It is possible that some of Roselle's veteran bowlers made be induced to return to the alleys and take part in tournament games. The players of the Westfield Club are delighted at the way things are going this year, and they will make a strong effort to hold their place at the head of the column.

The next game to be rolled in The Daily Press Bowling League will be at Roselle Thursday night when the teams from the Roselle Casino and the Westfield Club will meet. It will be remembered that when the clubs met at Westfield in the first series of games in the league, Westfield won two out of three. The meeting at Roselle will undoubtedly see the hottest games of the season. Both teams are particularly anxious to win the series, and both would be extremely happy to take three straight games.

A "mixed doubles" bowling tournament will take place at the Park Club tomorrow evening. All young members and their friends are invited.

purpose of considering plans whereby the city would purchase or lease the plant owned by the company. The communication stated that as a private enterprise the plant was not a success, but the members believed that, if the city take hold of the plant, it can be made a success. The communication was referred to the street and sewer committee.

Another communication was received from Mayor Smalley, of the borough, in which he asked the co-operation of the city in securing the enactment of a law that will prohibit persons from securing deduction in taxes on notes in the bank. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. vanHerwerden reported on the petition of Susan M. Dunham, who, at a previous meeting, asked for a remittance of certain taxes on her property amounting to $14 05. The claimant stated that the taxes had been paid, and after an investigation by the finance committee, it was learned that the claim was a just one. It was therefore agreed that the claimant should receive the money due her.

PROPOSED SPEEDWAY.

Meeting Tonight at Office of Reed & Coddington.

All horsemen and others interested in the proposed speedway are invited to be present at the meeting to be held this evening in the office of Reed & Coddington. The meeting was announced to take place in the office of S. D. Drake, but has since been changed. All intending to be present make note of this in order to avoid confusion. Active measures will be taken at once to have the scheme pushed to completion, and have the speedway in condition as soon as possible.

Engineer Frank Hubbard will be present and exhibit a plan of the proposed speedway.

The death of Maria Wyckoff, wife of Wm. Wyckoff, occurred at her home on Madison avenue this morning, after a six weeks' illness. She was in her thirty-first year and was well known in this city, where she has resided for a long time. The funeral services will be held from her late residence Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and from the Mount Olive Baptist church at 3. Interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

Fair Committees to Meet.

The various committees in charge of the fair soon to be held by the borough firemen will meet this evening at the rooms of the Warren Engine Company. The firemen have had considerable encouragement from the citizens in the way of donations. The success of the fair is already assured.

A Chimney Caved In.

A chimney on the residence of Eugene Hatch, of West Eighth street, caved in shortly before noon today. The noise alarmed Mrs. Hatch and on rushing out she mistook the dust rising from the debris for smoke. The fire department was notified, but their services were not required.

Settled Out of Court.

The contract cases of the Naylor Paint Company against Hensey, same against Grannett, which were to have been tried before Justice Mosher this morning, have been settled out of court.

POOL TOURNAMENT.

Best Game Played Last Night Was Between Greader and McLaughlin, in Which the Latter Won.

Increased interest and much closer games marked the opening of the second week in Krewson's pool tourney. Three games were played last evening between six of the best men entered. Fully 100 enthusiasts watched the progress of the games with intense interest.

The best of the trio, although all were good, was the one played between Greader and McLaughlin, in which the former was defeated by one point His defeat was a great surprise to the spectators as was also the excellent showing made by McLaughlin. It was impossible to pick the winner as the game progressed as the men played remarkably close throughout. The final score was Greader, 74; McLaughlin, 40, the latter being a forty class man.

Ammons and Dowd were the competitors in the second game which was also very close. Ammons won from his opponent, 55 to 57. In the last game Coombs defeated Smith 55 to 45.

During this week, if possible, three games will be played each evening, some of which will be between the best players entered.

ACCIDENT AT WHITEHOUSE.

Eugene Chamberlain, in Trying to Catch Train, Fell Through Bridge and Fractured His Leg.

Eugene Chamberlain, aged 28 years, sustained a bad fracture of the leg last evening, the result of an accident at Whitehouse. Chamberlain had gone from High Bridge to the former place on a freight train and then tried to catch a passenger train for Jersey City, where he was going to look for work. He was running along the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad, when he fell through a bridge over a road. He fell a distance of about twenty five feet. Chamberlain was found sometime later by two boys. He was unconscious and the railroad officials were notified concerning the accident.

The injured man was taken to the Whitehouse station and brought to Muhlenberg Hospital on the train which reaches this city at 9:34 o'clock in the evening. He regained consciousness soon after reaching this city and after an examination by the doctors it was learned that the injury is not a serious one.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neagle Entertained Friends and Relatives at Their Home Last Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neagle, of Madison avenue, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding at their home last evening. The affair was a very pleasant one. Relatives and friends to the number of 125 were present from this city, South Plainfield, New Market, Scotch Plains and Alton.

The evening was passed with instrumental and vocal music, games, etc., after which refreshments were served. It was late when the guests departed for their homes, all joining in wishing the genial host and hostess many happy returns of the occasion and the wish that they would live to celebrate their golden wedding.

FUNERAL OF GEO. W. EDDEY.

Held at Residence of His Brother on New Street Last Evening.

The funeral services of the late George W. Eddey, were held from the residence of his brother, Ellis Eddey, of New street, last evening. They were conducted by Rev. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church. Two solos, "Saved by Grace" and "Jesus is Mine," were sung very impressively by Mrs. John Manley. Among the numerous floral tributes were a large wreath from Star of Plainfield Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem and a handsome pillow from the Mission Workers of the First Baptist church, with the words "faithful." The Shepherds of Bethlehem, of which Mr. Eddey was a highly respected member, was represented at the service by Mrs. William J. Ford, supreme representative, and Mrs. Howard, vice commander.

The remains were taken to Perth Amboy this morning for interment.

Evangelist From Tien Tsin.

Rev. Horace W. Houlding, an evangelist recently from Tien Tsin, China, will conduct a parlor meeting at the residence of F. W. Morse, at Garwood, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

To Visit Elizabeth.

Past Master Thomas Harris, of Camden, accompanied by Grand Overseer V. W. Nash, of this city, will pay an official visit to Elizabeth Lodge, No. 29, A. O. U. W., at Elizabeth, Friday evening.

Traded Property.

Mrs. Alfred Giddis, of Codington avenue, has traded her Philadelphia property with L. M. Codington, of Somerville, for the house occupied by them on Codington avenue in the borough.

EXAMINATION OF PUPILS.

Borough Schools Taxed to Accommodate the Increasing Attendance.

Examinations will be held at the borough public schools on Friday for the purpose of making promotions and the forming of new classes. It is expected that there will be a large number of promotions among the higher classes. What is to be done to make room for the new classes that will be formed is puzzling Superintendent Wightman and the teachers. The schools are already overcrowded. It is possible that at the next meeting of the Board of Education the question of more room will be discussed, and some provision will be made to remedy the existing condition of affairs at the Somerset street school.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid perparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

WORKING TO SECURE SPEEDWAY IN TOWN

Meeting in the Interest of That Project Was Held Last Evening.

THEY WILL ORGANIZE LATER.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CONFER WITH PROPERTY OWNERS.

Many Reasons Advanced Why Speedway Would Be of Great Value to the City—Would Not Be a Racecourse in Any Sense of the Word.

A number of men, who are interested in establishing a speedway in Plainfield, met at the law offices of Reed & Coddington last evening for the purpose of discussing the matter. There were present N. B. Smalley, Mayor of the borough, Former Judge William A. Coddington, Charles H. Hand, David D. Smalley, Edward M. VanBuren, A. I. Smalley, P. S. Dayton and several others.

Previous to the meeting F. J. Hubbard, a civil engineer, exhibited a map which he had drawn of a proposed route for a speedway which is considered one of the best locations for the purpose. This location is on what is now known as Union street, and extends directly south from Randolph road to Rahway road, a distance of about three-fourths of a mile. A portion of this road is sixty feet and some of it eighty feet in width. There is a small part of the proposed route that has never been opened as a street, the distance from the Randolph road being a trifle less than 1,200 feet.

A portion of this street lies outside of the city limits in the county of Middlesex, being in Piscataway township. The soil is said to be peculiarly adapted to the laying out of a suitable driveway such as it is proposed to establish. As yet the consents of the property owners have not been secured for this location, it being necessary to obtain the permission of the owners of property along the street for the purpose of obtaining sufficient width to make the proposed speedway at least 125 or 130 feet wide.

But that location is by no means the only one those interested in the project have in view for a speedway. Many owners of property on Woodland avenue are anxious to have the speedway established on that thoroughfare. They are so much interested in the enterprise that they have already given their consents to donating sufficient amount of land to make the speedway the desired width. James E. Martine has offered to donate along the entire length of his property as much land as will be necessary for the driveway.

The Plainfielders, interested in the enterprise, do not wish the public to be mislead into the belief that the proposed speedway is to be a race-track in any sense. There are many lovers and owners of fine horses in this city who enjoy driving at a much faster speed than the city ordinances permit in the city limits. To avail themselves of this pleasure it is necessary to have a suitable place to enjoy this privilege.

It is the opinion of many well known citizens that the establishment of a speedway would be the means of inducing many people to locate in this city who are, at present, living in New York and other cities where taxes are high and privileges for enjoying life considerably curtailed owing to restrictions with regard to fast driving, etc. Then again it is the belief that the building of a speedway would be the means of improving the property along the route where the driveway is built.

There was no attempt last night to perfect an organization. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Smalley of North Plainfield, who stated the object of the meeting. William A. Coddington was made chairman and P. S. Dayton secretary. After some discussion with regard to the possibility of securing the consents of the owners of property on Union street, it was decided to appoint a committee of five to confer with the owners and to report at a meeting to be held at the office of Reed & Coddington next Tuesday evening, when a permanent organization may be perfected. The chair appointed as such committee N. B. Smalley, chairman; Elston M. French, Charles H. Hand, Edward M. VanBuren and Fred Valentine. The meeting then adjourned.

Cleaning Streets Of Mud.

Street Commissioner Gavett's men were busy yesterday on Park avenue and Front street, cleaning up the surplus mud that has collected during the past few days.

SETTLEMENT NOW PENDING.

SO TRIAL ON INDICTMENTS OF CENTRAL RAILROAD WAS DELAYED.

Railroad Officials and Somerville Men Will Try to Make Agreement Concerning Flagmen and Gates.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 23.—The indictment against the Central Railroad of New Jersey for not maintaining gates or flagmen at the Middagh and Hamilton streets crossings was called yesterday morning. Hon. Alvah A. Clark, counsel for the railroad, was present, and stated that a conference between the railroad officials and the president of the Board of Commissioners would be held in a few days concerning this matter and there was a possibility of a remedy being provided by the company. Prosecutor Griggs stated that in view of this, and if a satisfactory adjustment was made between the town and railroad, it would not be necessary to try the case.

A jury was impanelled, however, to try the case if no satisfactory arrangements were made, and the date of trial was set down for Tuesday, February 26.

The jury appeals were called and only one found ready.

The case of Russell J. Bishop against Charles Jensen was called, but Francis J. Blatz, of the law firm of Murphy & Blatz, of Plainfield, attorney for Jensen, was ill and unable to appear. Wm. Angleman, counsel for Bishop, refused to consent to an adjournment, as he said Mr. Blatz's partner could have tried the case. The parties retired to the judge's room and endeavored to effect a settlement, but failed. The case then went to the bottom of the list.

The case of Carrie L. Schorb against Azariah M. Beekman was the first case taken up. This was a suit for a note of $45 and interest. The defense was that the note was an accommodation note and not to pay a debt.

The jury returned a verdict for Beekman for full amount and interest.

SERVED THEIR PARTY WELL.

SO THE U. S. GRANT GLEE CLUB WILL BE SENT TO WASHINGTON.

Organization of Borough Republicans Makes Plans for the Future—Change in Vocal Instructor.

The U. S. Grant Glee Club, which now has fourteen members, has recently been organized. For some time the club has had the benefits of Prof. William H. Miller's ability as an instructor. The vocalists have shown much progress in their studies and have evinced considerable interest in bringing themseves up to a degree of efficiency that is gratifying to the members.

At a recent meeting of the club it was decided to dispense with Prof. Miller's services for the present. This move has been made necessary to save expense and not from any dissatisfaction with Prof. Miller, whose efforts to assist the club have been greatly appreciated by all. Hereafter Horace J. Martin will be the vocal instructor of the club and Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan will be the accompanist. The club has frequent meetings and much interest is being taken in the work.

The club is making preparations to attend the inauguration of President McKinley at Washington, D. C., on the 4th of March. It is expected that a number of the friends of the club will join the singers and make up a party to the Capital City.

The members of the U. S. Grant Glee Club did good service during the last campaign. As a reward for their efforts many Republicans have subscribed towards a fund to send the singers to the inauguration ceremonies. It must not be understood that it is the intention of the club to participate in the inaugural ceremonies or that the members intend giving public exhibitions of their vocal powers. The members will simply enjoy the trip and take in the sights of Washington and its environs.

It is understood that a number of citizens of the borough—staunch Republicans—have given the members of the club to understand that if sufficient money has not already been subscribed they will be only too happy to make up any deficiency that may exist. The club will probably be gone three days. The 4th of March falls on Monday. The club will possibly leave Plainfield Sunday afternoon and return Tuesday night, giving all the members two full days in the beautiful city of Washington.

Hockey This Afternoon.

The hockey teams of the Plainfield High School and Leal's School will meet on Holly's pond this afternoon. The knock-off will be made at 3:30.

LOCAL LIGHT COMPANY MAY JOIN COMBINE.

New Jersey is Being Divided Among Few Big Electric Light Corporations.

POWER PLANT PROGRESSING

SOMETHING ABOUT POWER HOUSE BEING ERECTED AT METUCHEN.

Will Supply Light and Power Current For All This Section of New Jersey—H. G. Runkle Related to Prominent Directors.

If the consolidation of gas and electric light companies continue in the future as they have in the past, it will not be a great while before New Jersey will be illuminated from one end to the other by one vast concern. Recent events have brought this proposition nearer an accomplished fact than some people are willing to admit, but the fact remains.

What is known as the People's Company takes charge of northern New Jersey, the Central Company, of central New Jersey, and the South Jersey Company, of south Jersey. Men interested in the central and south Jersey companies deny that they are interested in the new consolidation including the electric light and power companies at New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Raritan, Perth Amboy, Dunellen, Rahway and the Middlesex Electric Company, which was made by the United Electric Company, but the principal men in both companies are associated with the United Company people.

The recent consolidation of the above-named companies was one of most important in recent years in New Jersey. A mammoth power plant is now being erected at Metuchen and from that place all the places mentioned in the deal will be illuminated. Rapid progress is being made on the new plant and it is expected that everything will be ready in the spring. The work of stringing wires between towns will not be difficult, as there is already a great deal of wire up, and in each town the wiring is general, so that no delay will be occasioned in this respect.

The new power house will be three stories high, built of brick. Each floor will be 89x90 feet. The plant will be equipped with every modern appliance known to the electrical world. Three boilers, capable of 600 horse power each, will supply the steam for two large engines. The plant is estimated to be capable of 1,200 horse power.

The power house will be located at Perth Junction along the Lehigh Valley Railroad within the limits of Metuchen. From this plant large feed wires will carry the current to Perth Amboy, New Brunswick, Rahway, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Woodbridge, Sewaren and all the intervening towns and villages. It is estimated that the Central Electric Company will supply a territory with a population of 100,000.

It is not altogether impossible that the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company may ultimately join the new consolidation. H. G. Runkle, one of the principal owners of the Plainfield company, and Philip N. Jackson, the president of the Central Electric Company, are related by marriage.

COMPANY SETTLED.

Two Men Injured in Trolley Accident Have Received Checks for $75 Each From Traction Company.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Westfield, Jan. 23—Frank Settlemeyer and John Swanson, of this town, who were passengers on the trolley car which was wrecked at Garwood on Wednesday night of last week, have received checks for $75 each from the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Traction Company, in settlement of a claim against the company. The men were slightly injured.

Elmer Miller, who was the worst hurt of any of the passengers, is still confined to his home on Elmer street suffering from the shock and it will be some time before he will be able to attend to his business.

No New Licenses Probable.

At the February meeting of the Common Council the liquor license applications will be received and they will be considered at the adjourned meeting to be held on Monday evening, February 18. It is not at all likely that there will be any additional applications granted for this year, as the committee feel sure the present number is sufficient.

PLAINFIELD TO HAVE MILITARY COMPANY.

Colonel Collins is Detailed to Visit This City and Perfect Organization.

WILL BE HERE TOMORROW.

NO DOUBT FIRST-CLASS COMPANY WILL BE RESULT.

Several Good Citizens Have Been Mentioned as Suitable to Take the Lead—At Hotel Kensington Tomorrow Evening.

The Daily Press is in receipt of a letter from Lieut. Col. D. F. Collins, of the Second Regiment, N. G., N. J., in which he asks that the greatest prominence be given to the announcement that the proper military authorities have decided to locate the new military company for the Second Regiment at Plainfield. Col. Collins states that he has been detailed to visit this city and perfect the preliminary organization.

He will be at the Hotel Kensington tomorrow evening about 8 o'clock and he extends a most cordial invitation to the city officials and citizens in general to meet with him and discuss matters pertaining to the proposed organization.

Just what has brought about a change in the minds of the military authorities on this point is not clear. Plainfield tried hard to have a company located here, but after much effort and work it was decided that Montclair should have the company. It may be that another company is desired and in this way Plainfield is looked upon with favor. There is no doubt if the matter is properly handled a first-class company can be organized in this city, for there is good material here for such an organization.

It has been suggested by a person competent to speak on the subject that the right way to proceed would be to select such persons for the officers who have standing and influence and then let the members of the company be selected on a basis of competency. If the men for the company are selected first there is sure to be dissatisfaction regarding the selection of officers, for some will want certain men while others will have another choice.

It is earnestly hoped that some of the leading citizens of influence and standing will make it a point to see Col. Collins tomorrow evening and do all in their power to have the matter start right from the first. Several good citizens have been mentioned as suitable ones to take the lead and it is hoped that they may be induced to lend their interest and support to the project. Plainfield with its population, influence and wealth should have no trouble in organizing a first-class company of fifty or sixty men that would be a credit to the city.

SOCIABILITY A FEATURE.

Well-Attended Dime Social at the Residence of Mrs. J. B. Higgins Under Auspices of Ladies' Aid Society.

Sociability and a pleasant time were the features of a well-attended dime social given at the residence of Mrs. J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel. The committee in charge had prepared an excellent programme for the occasion, which consisted of pleasing solos by Elmer Cutting, who was obliged to respond to encores; mirth provoking recitations by Mrs. Wm. Firstbrook, and piano selections by Miss Bessie Ruckman and Miss Edith Hulbert. Refreshments were served to all about 10:30, bringing the affair to a close.

Those who assisted Mrs. Higgins in making the affair a success were Mrs. Ruckman, Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. Radford.

Annual Turkey Supper.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold the annual turkey supper in the lecture room of the church tomorrow and Friday evenings. A musical programme will be presented each evening by an orchestra.

Monster Contract.

Andrew Onderonk, formerly of Plainfield, but now a prominent contractor of New York, recently secured a large contract to dredge the channel in New York harbor. The contract price runs up to several million dollars.

Resigned as Organist.

Miss Pauline Jennings, organist at the First Presbyterian church, has tendered her resignation, to take effect May 1. She will teach music in New York.

GEN. SEWELL CHOSEN AS JERSEY'S SENATOR.

Both Houses Balloted Yesterday Morning and Action was Jointly Ratified Today.

WAS A VERY QUIET ELECTION

HON. ALVAH A. CLARK'S NAME PRESENTED BY THE DEMOCRATS.

Received the Votes of All the Democrats Present—Senator Reed Nominated Gen Sewell in Senate—Joint Session Held.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 23.—General Wm. J. Sewell, of Camden, was re-elected by the Legislature yesterday morning for a third term as United States Senator from New Jersey. The Senate and Assembly voted in separate sessions upon the election, and the joint result of the vote in both houses was sixty two votes for General Sewell and seventeen for former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerset, the Democratic caucus nominee. Benjamin S. Gratz, the Burlington man, who was the self-selected candidate of the "Universal Liberty party," did not receive a vote, but found consolation in the fact that he was as nearly elected as was Mr. Clark.

Immediately after the vote for United States Senator both houses adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning, when, after organizing separately, the Senate and Assembly met in joint session at noon, with Senator Pitney, president of the Senate, in the chair. The minutes of both houses were read, showing the vote upon the Senatorial election, and Senator Pitney then declared General Sewell to have received a majority in both branches of the Legislature and declared him elected to represent the State in the United States Senate for six years.

The overwhelming Republican majority in both houses, and the fact that General Sewell's re-election was practically decided months ago by the election of candidates pledged to him at the Republican county nominating conventions, dulled popular interest in the election, and there was but a small attendance of spectators both days. The galleries were empty, an uncommon occurrence at the election of a United States Senator.

The entire proceedings in connection with the election occupied less than fifteen minutes. Assemblyman Ephraim Gill, of Camden, nominated General Sewell in the house, and the nomination was seconded by Assemblyman George A. Waite, from the same county.

Without eulogy and in an entirely perfunctory manner, Assemblyman Marks offered the name of ex Congressman Alvah A. Clark as the Democratic nominee. The nomination was not seconded. The ballot showed 45 votes for Sewell and 13 for Clark—two Democrats, J. B. Smith and Brock, being absent.

There was no speechmaking attendant upon the vote in the Senate. Gen. Sewell was nominated by Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset, and Senator Hudspeth, of Hudson, named ex Congressman Clark, who is Senator Reed's father-in-law. The Somerset man, however, did not allow relationship to influence his politics, and the vote was a strict party one—16 for Sewell and 4 for Clark. Senator Johnson, of Camden, was absent at the time the vote was taken, but arrived later, and at his request was allowed to have his vote recorded for General Sewell. Senator Cornish, of Warren, who was not at the Democratic caucus, voted in the Senate for the Democratic caucus nominee.

To Pass Examination For Promotion.

Among the officers of the United States troops ordered to report before the examining board appointed to meet at Fort Riley for examination for promotion is Second Lieutenant Samuel B. Pearson, Ninth Cavalry, stationed at Fort DuChesne, Utah. Lieutenant Pearson was married last spring to Miss Margaret W. Vermeule, of Watchung avenue, and many friends of both parties will be glad to learn of the young officer's chances for promotion.

Quotations From Longfellow.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Parliamentary Club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Quotations from Longfellow will be discussed.

Mrs. Charles A. Reed has been detained by illness at her home on Myrtle avenue.

FIRST BILL IN LEGISLATURE.

TO PROTECT OYSTER BEDS IN THE DELAWARE.

Senate, in Executive Session, Confirmed Appointments Sent in by Governor Voorhees Last Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 23—The first bill passed in either house at the present session of the Legislature is Senator Stokes's measure to protect the oyster beds in the Delaware River and bay, which was reported favorably by the Game and Fisheries Committee in the Senate yesterday morning, given its second and third readings and sent to the House for consideration.

Eight new bills were introduced in each house yesterday. Assemblyman Leon Abbett offered a resolution instructing the clerk of the House to ask Governor Voorhees to forward to the House at once the report of the Assembly committee which last year investigated the State Industrial School for Girls.

Mr. Meeker, of Union, who was a member of the investigating committee, moved the adoption of Mr. Abbett's resolution, and his motion was carried with only a few scattered negative votes.

In executive session yesterday the Senate confirmed the batch of appointments sent in by the Governor last week. The appointments confirmed include those of Chief Justice David A. Depue for a full term of seven years; Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort, and Alfred F. Skinner as presiding judge of the Essex County Court of Common Pleas.

After an interview with the Governor yesterday morning, Senator McCarter, of Essex, announced that the nomination of Judge Charles B. Storrs for a second term as Judge of the Orange District Court would be sent to the Senate by the executive today.

Other nominations the Governor sent to the Senate today were those of Major Lentz and Charles C. Black for reappointment as members of the State Board of Taxation.

WILL TURN DOWN THOMPSON

LITTLE DOUBT BUT THAT HE WILL LOSE CHANCERY CLERKSHIP.

Senator Edward C. Stokes is Almost Certain to be the Choice of Governor Voorhees.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 23—There seems to be no room for doubt that Gov. Voorhees will nominate Senator Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, to succeed ex-Senator Lewis A. Thompson as Clerk in Chancery of New Jersey.

It is said of ex-Senator Thompson that he has not, either personally or by proxy, urged his desire for a reappointment, although it is known that a number of his friends have earnestly advocated his selection for a second term, not directly to Governor Voorhees, perhaps, but by individual expression and through a part of the newspaper press in Somerset county. It is quite probable that the well-known and intimate friendly relations between the Governor and Mr. Stokes has had great influence in the selection of the Cumberland Senator, and that the appointment will be, in a controlling sense, a personal one. The fitness of Mr. Stokes for the place goes without saying.

Senator Stokes, who has just turned his fortieth year, has been an active Republican in public life since 1891, when he was elected to the House of Assembly. He left the Assembly to enter the Senate in 1893, where he is now serving a third term, which will expire this year. For a time he was the chief clerk in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court at Trenton, in which city he subsequently became the president of a bank, a place which he still holds. He was the President of the Senate in 1895.

New Show Window.

A large show window is to be put in the Watchung avenue side of the store occupied by Edward Randolph, corner of Watchung and North avenues. It will be 10 feet 3 inches by 7 feet 6 inches. Sylvester Randolph has the contract for the work. R. H. McCollough will furnish the plate glass. The iron girder has been ordered and as soon as it arrives the window will be put in.

Too Much Liquor.

Edward Stevens, a young man who was arrested by patrolman Vanderweg yesterday afternoon at the North Avenue station for being drunk, pleaded guilty and was sentenced this morning in police court by City Judge Runyon to pay a fine of $5 or spend twenty days in the county jail.

PERFECTING PLANS FOR EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

Ministers and Laymen Held Meeting Last Evening at Y. M. C. A. Parlors.

WAS A LARGE ATTENDANCE

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC MEETINGS.

All Evening Meetings Are to Be Held in the First Baptist Church—Factory Meetings if Possible—Instruction Service.

The Ministers' Association and one layman from each church met last evening in the parlor of the Y. M. C. A. There was a large attendance and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. John McMurray, pastor of Monroe Avenue church. Dr. Main was elected president pro tem awaiting the arrival of Dr. Snodgrass, the duly elected president, who was unavoidably detained for a short time. Rev. C. L. Goodrich was chosen secretary of the meeting, and upon Dr. Snodgrass' arrival, Dr. Main vacated the chair for him. The most important business before the meeting was the report of the committee on public meetings, of which Dr. Richards was chairman. The report was adopted section by section, unanimously.

The evangelistic meetings under Mr. Hall will begin with a union service Sunday evening, March 3, at 7:30, and continue every evening, except Saturday, until and including Wednesday, March 13.

All the meetings are to be held in the First Baptist church.

At the same time every week-day, except Monday and Saturday afternoon, services by Rev. Mr. Henderson in the Crescent Avenue church at 3:30, preceded by a half-hour service of prayer in charge of a Plainfield pastor.

Factory noon meetings of twenty minutes, to be arranged if possible on days between March 3 and 10, under Messrs. Henderson and Jacobs, the latter gentleman having charge of the singing.

The services Sunday, March 10, will be as follows: 10:30 a. m., a union "ticket" meeting for men in Hope chapel; 3:30 p. m., union Sunday-school rally in First Baptist church; 4:45 p. m., Mr. Hall at the Y. M. C. A.; 7:30 p. m., Mr. Hall to men only in the First Baptist church; a Plainfield pastor, assisted by two others, will hold a service for women only in the Methodist church at the same hour.

Union meetings during the week preceding March 3 may be arranged by the committee, as in their judgment they think best.

A public service for instruction will be held in the First Methodist church on the evening of February 12. This meeting will probably be addressed by Dr. Chapman, and is intended especially for pastors, Sunday-school teachers, Christian workers, etc.

Stephen Cahoone, chairman of the finance committee, stated that he had added two persons to his committee to assist him in his labors, viz: John Valiant and Edwin Bonny. All other committees reported progress. The meeting closed with a fervent prayer by Dr. Yerkes for God's blessing on the churches of Plainfield and the meetings to be held by Mr. Hall.

EVENING ON ALLEYS.

Young People of Park Club Will Enjoy Another Series of Matches Between Teams of Two.

One of the most enjoyable features of the winter life at the Park Club house for the younger set has been the series of bowling evenings which have been conducted under the charge of the bowling committee. The committee has announced another of these successful gatherings for this evening to which all the younger members of the club and their friends have been invited.

The young people are divided into teams of two, each composed of a young woman and a young man. To the team making the highest score prizes were awarded. At first partners were allotted by lot but some of the teams thus formed were very unequal and this evening the committee expects to allow the players to pair off as they desire and then handicap the teams according to their relative abilities.

Big Advance Sale.

It is very encouraging to the managers for "The Private Secretary" that the seats for the performance to be given February 16, are selling so rapidly. It is one of the best advance sales ever had.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care Into Witness.

The very interesting and really good play entitled "The Ladder of Life" will be the attraction at Music Hall tomorrow night, and all who delight in good solid dramatic entertainment should see this performance. It will be presented by a good company, headed by Miss Myrtle Edwards, a beautiful woman, and one of the best leading actresses ever seen here, whose work is highly praised wherever she has appeared. The stage settings are beautiful, the company carrying all scenery used, viz: Four complete acts, this includes a ship scene in the fourth act, which is made of asbestos to prevent the sceneries catching fire when in the last act the boat is on fire, making one of the greatest stage effects ever attempted by any theatrical company.

* * * * * * *

Charles Leyburne's Bon Ton Stock Company will be seen for the first time in this city for a week's season of repertoire at Music Hall, beginning Monday. This company has an unexcelled reputation, and in presenting it to his patrons Manager Maze Edwards desires to assure them they will witness "Dollar Shows" at popular prices. The company is headed by Mr. Leyburne, a very clever artist, assisted by Miss Emma Bunting, a comedienne of great ability. The opening play will be a beautiful story of southern life, entitled "The Princess of Patches." Specialties will be introduced between the acts, making the show continuous. There will also be presented on the moving picture machine Monday night, "Cinderella," in two acts. Ladies' tickets and fifteen cents will secure the best seat in the the house Monday night, and there will be matinees daily beginning Tuesday.

—Pepsin preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of food, that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief for it digests what you eat. L. W. Randolph.

LITERARY.

Readers of The Smart Set will doubtless agree that the February number is the brightest issue yet of this remarkably original periodical The leading story is a novelette entitled "Rumors and a Runaway," by Caroline Duer. This is Miss Duer's first long story. Other features of the number are "The King's Chamber," by Theodosia Garrison, the poem that won the $250 prize in the magazine's recent competition; "The English View of Our Society," by Mrs. Sherwood, a bright article, showing how deep rooted is Old World prejudice against New York's social pretensions; "Lady Star's Apotheosis," by Julien Gordon (Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger) a story of an American woman who fought her way to social sovereignty in England. In addition to the prize poem there are verses by Charles G. D. Roberts, Samuel Minturn Peck Clinton Scollard, W. J. Lampton and many others. In this issue are announced the winners of the various prizes, amounting to $5 000, offered by the magazine last year for poems and stories.

Miss May VanFleet, of East Third street, has been visiting friends at Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dufford, of West Second street, have been entertaining relatives from German Valley.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mrs. H. W. Angleman, of East Fourth street, has returned from a visit with her daughter in Brooklyn

Mrs. George Everitt, of Lambertville, has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. E. E. Hann, of Somerset place.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Charles Thompson and daughter Helen, of Park avenue, are slowly recovering from an attack of the grip.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, is ill with the grip, at his home on West Front street.

IN CONGRESS.

Senate Ratifies Treaty With Spain. Queen's Death Announced.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The announcement of the death of Queen Victoria, conveyed unofficially to the senate, was recognized by that body in the adoption of an appropriate resolution, which was ordered to be engrossed and forwarded to the prime minister of Great Britain.

During the sitting of the senate in open session the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was completed, so far as the committee amendments were concerned. It is now subject to amendment by individual senators. Little other business of importance was transacted.

The senate in executive session ratified the treaty with Spain for the acquisition of the islands of Siburu and Cagayan of the Philippine group at a cost of $100,000. There was no vote to spare, a two-thirds vote being needed and the vote standing 38 to 19. In the debate preceding the ratification a number of senators manifested a disposition to oppose the further acquisition of oriental territory.

The house adopted a resolution expressing profound regret and sympathy for the English people on account of the death of Queen Victoria. The president was requested to communicate the expression to the British government, and as a further mark of respect to the memory of the queen the house immediately adjourned. The action of the house was particularly impressive in that the resolution was adopted without a word of dissent or debate. The resolution followed the precedents and was in almost the identical language of the resolutions adopted upon the deaths of the president of France and the czar of Russia.

Before the announcement of the death of the queen the house passed the bills to send to the court of claims the claims of Cramp & Sons, amounting to something over $1,300,000, for alleged damages due the company on account of the failure of the government to promptly furnish armor plate and other material used in the construction of the New York, Columbia, Massachusetts and Indiana.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The Bulgarian cabinet has resigned.

Ex-President Kruger has gone to Utrecht.

Rutgers students egged a New Brunswick editor.

Maurice Thompson, the author, is reported very low.

Senator Sewell was re-elected by the New Jersey legislature.

One thousand Filipinos swore allegiance at Vigan and 400 at Malabon.

Thieves attempted to wreck the Union Pacific overland express near Kearney, Neb.

More outrages by insurrectionary Creeks are reported from the Indian Territory.

The torrential rains continue to do great damage to the banana fields in Jamaica.

Senator Knute Nelson was re-elected at St. Paul. Moses E. Clapp was chosen for the short term.

Life Imprisonment For Kidnaping.

HARTFORD, Jan. 23.—At yesterday's session of the legislature a bill was introduced in the senate making imprisonment for life the penalty for kidnaping. In the house a measure was presented for changing the mode of capital punishment from hanging to electrocution, while another bill also introduced today provides that for murder by willfully placing obstructions on a railroad the penalty shall be life imprisonment, one day in each week in solitary confinement.

Hurricane In Norway.

CHRISTIANIA, Jan. 23.—A terrific hurricane ravaged the Norwegian coast Monday night from Tromso to Christiansand. It was accompanied by snow, lightning, thunder and a spring tide. Great damage was done to ports, shipping, houses and thoroughfares as well as telephone and telegraph wires. All incoming steamers are delayed, and it is feared that many persons have been killed.

Ice Cutting Begun.

HUDSON, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The ice companies in the vicinity of this city in the Hudson all started to cut this morning. Within a radius of five miles the machinery of 12 houses will be in operation, giving employment to about 2,500 men. The ice is ten inches thick and all clear water, the finest in years. The season is late, and the greatest trouble in the harvesting will be the lack of help.

Fire at Spring Lake.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Jan. 23.—Fire at this place destroyed the Sussex hotel and two other buildings owned by Mrs. S. E. Urie of Philadelphia. From the fact that earlier in the day fire was discovered and overcome in one of the surf cottages opposite the hotel it is believed incendiaries started the flames.

Three Burned In a House.

NORFOLK, Jan. 23.—Early Sunday morning the house of Isaiah Old, colored, who lives near St. Bride Postoffice, Norfolk county, burned, and his three sons, aged 13, 15 and 17 years, who were sleeping in the loft, were burned to death. His three daughters, who were sleeping down stairs, were saved.

Cannot Sell Their Time.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Orders have been issued on the Erie railroad forbidding any employee from selling his time. All employees detected in assigning their time will be discharged.

Not to Parade at the Inauguration.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 23.—The university will not send a body of students to Washington to represent it at the inaugural exercises on March 4. At a meeting of the faculty it was unanimously decided to decline.

Smallpox Stamped Out.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Smallpox in this city has been virtually stamped out, no new cases appearing for several days. Business is again assuming normal conditions.

Dropped Dead While Dressing.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Ellen Boothe dropped dead at her home in South Schenectady while dressing. Heart failure caused her death.

Texas Elects a Senator.

AUSTIN, Jan. 23.—The two houses in separate session yesterday elected J. W. Bailey of Gainesville United States senator to succeed Horace Chilton.

Edward the Seventh Takes Oath Today.

HE IS NOW SIXTY YEARS OLD.

In Early Life He Was Somewhat Indiscreet, but His Popularity Has Grown With Added Years—Education, Travels and Career.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, will take the oath as Edward VII today.

Edward VII, king of Great Britain and Ireland, emperor of India, K. G., K. T., K. P., a field marshal in the English and German armies, a colonel many times over and a lot of other things besides, has been popular in his own country for a number of years past. At one time the contrary was the case. It was known that he was not an ideal family man. But as he gradually approached the age of 60 people began to realize that he was settling down. His earlier indiscretions were condoned. And as he always appeared in public with the Princess of Wales it was realized that the proprieties were observed, at least in a formal way.

The new king was born at Buckingham palace Nov. 9, 1841. He was christened Albert Edward and created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester "by patent," also Earl of Dublin. He held by birth a number of Scottish titles, including those of lord of the isles and great steward. He went to college for a session at Edinburgh, then proceeded to Christchurch, Oxford, where he studied for a year, and afterward took four terms at Cambridge. After leaving the university he visited Canada and the United States. He made an excellent impression. New York's reception of the heir to the English throne was of a very enthusiastic sort, and the prince showed a keen appreciation of the fact.

KING EDWARD VII.

He was made a brevet colonel in the army in 1858 and went through a period of training at the Curragh camp, Kildare, Ireland, in 1861. He became a general in 1862 and a field marshal in 1875.

The prince, accompanied by the famous Dean Stanley as tutor, visited Germany, Italy, Egypt, Syria and the Holy Land in 1862. On his return he became a member of the privy council and took his seat in the house of lords as Duke of Cornwall. He was married on March 10, 1863, at St. George's chapel, Windsor, to the beautiful Princess Alexandra, eldest daughter of the present king of Denmark. Parliament voted him an income of £40,000 per annum. From the duchy of Cornwall he drew an additional £100,000 a year. The prince renounced the right of succession to the duchy of Saxe-Coburg Gotha in favor of his younger brother, Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, who died last year, afterward succeeding to that throne.

For a number of years the prince's formal duties, in the shape of opening exhibitions and laying foundation stones, were broken by frequent visits to the continent. In the winter of 1871 he was taken with typhoid fever and came near dying. He was able to attend the celebrated thanksgiving service at St. Paul's cathedral on Feb. 27, 1872. The same year he became grand master of the Freemasons of England and in 1875 first principal of the Royal Arch Freemasons. The same year he visited India.

In company with the princess and his eldest son, the Duke of Clarence, he visited Ireland. The Irish people, always ready to forgive and forget, were as cordial as if he had been a regular caller.

The prince became a grandfather in 1891 by the birth of the daughter of the Duchess of Fife. In the summers of 1893 and 1894 he raced his yacht, the Britannia, and in 1894, after many racing successes, he captured the blue ribbon of the turf, his horse Persimmon winning the Derby. On the occasion of the jubilee of 1897 the prince appealed to the public with success to support the hospital fund.

In 1898 he slipped on the stairs while on a visit to Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild at Wedderdon manor and fractured his kneecap. On the advice of Sir William MacCormac, the Irish surgeon, no operation was performed, and there was a complete recovery. A boy of the name of Sipido, a Belgian, tried to shoot the prince at the Brussels railroad station on April 4, 1900.

China's Requests Considered.

PEKING, Jan. 23.—Yesterday the foreign envoys discussed the requests of the Chinese plenipotentiaries, especially in the matter of punishments, and exempted Tsi Lien and Tui Wing as being less guilty than the others. The reply to the Chinese note will be delivered tomorrow. It will emphasize the point that the signing of the agreement will be without value unless good faith is shown by acts and that it will be absolutely useless to expect the removal of troops or concessions on the part of the allies until China has conclusively proved her good intentions.

Important Tax Decision.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 23.—Judge Henry of the circuit court handed down a case of national importance yesterday when he in a written opinion decided that the state of Missouri, represented by the state board of equalization, had no right to tax the franchise of the Western Union Telegraph company.

DEATH OF VICTORIA.

Britain's Queen Passes Peacefully Away.

SINCERE AND UNIVERSAL MOURNING.

The Expected End Came Last Evening at Osborne House—Children and Grandchildren at the Bedside.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Silence, gloom and darkness characterized London last night. From Whitechapel to Mayfair streets usually gay with nightly festivity were dark, deserted and desolate, and this depression of the public mind is likely to continue for many days to come.

Everywhere, in vehicles and on the streets, the one topic of conversation was what would happen under the new reign rather than the life and death of Victoria. Much interest was evinced in the way in which the enormous fortune of the dead queen would be distributed, the general notion being that Osborne House would go to Princess Beatrice and that she and Princess Christian would come into a considerable portion of Victoria's wealth.

Not until Queen Victoria has been laid to rest beside the prince consort at Frogmore will the theaters or music halls reopen. Moreover, business will come to a practical standstill. The music in all the hotels and public places ceased last evening. Fashionable resorts were empty, and very few of the nightly habitues were in evidence. The St. James', Prince's and other prominent restaurants had already discarded alluring colors for somber black.

Americans who have passed through great national calamities may recall the crape draped buildings and the national hush, but they can ill conceive, since the death of Lincoln, any such expression of gloom as has already fallen on the United Kingdom. Marlborough House, so long the home of the new monarch; Buckingham palace, where Queen Victoria made her last stay in London, and St. James' palace, the residence of so many former monarchs, are tonight all black and deserted. Sentries in black overcoats keep silent vigil before the closed gates and bolted doors.

Early in the evening from St. Paul's, Westminster abbey and other churches bells were solemnly tolling or ringing muffled peals. In some cases the shops were already exhibiting signs of mourning. Beyond these things, however, and the boys crying extra editions in every direction there was little that would outwardly indicate the passing of the country through an experience novel to almost the whole of the present generation. The population, therefore, slowly dispersed as the night wore on.

Shortly before midnight an official announcement was issued calling parliament to assemble at 4 o'clock this afternoon to enable members of the house of lords and house of commons to take the oath of allegiance to King Edward VII.

Telegrams arriving from all parts of the country re-echo the deep feeling of sorrow pervading all classes. These show that everywhere bells have been tolled and public performances and private functions suspended.

In Dublin the expressions of regret were universal. The bells of St. Patrick's cathedral were tolled. Earl Cadogan, the lord lieutenant, was absent from Dublin yesterday, but it is expected that he will return immediately to preside at a meeting of the Irish privy council to proclaim the new king.

The shops closed as soon as the bells began to toll, and the blinds of Mansion House were drawn down as soon as the message from the Prince of Wales announcing the queen's death was received by the lord mayor.

The bell tolled at St. Paul's cathedral was the gift of William III and is used only on occasions of the death of royal personages, archbishops of Canterbury, lord mayors of London and bishops of London. The tolling continued for two hours yesterday at intervals of a minute and could be heard for miles in the direction of the wind.

Some hundreds of people stood in front of the cathedral around the spot where Queen Victoria prayed on the sixtieth anniversary of her accession to the throne.

IN THE DEATH CHAMBER.

Last Moments of England's Beloved Queen at Osborne House.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 23.—Queen Victoria is dead and Edward VII reigns. The greatest event in the memory of this generation, the most stupendous change in existing conditions that could possibly be imagined, has taken place quietly, almost gently, upon the anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria's father, the Duke of Kent.

The end of this career, never equaled by any woman in the world's history, came in a simply furnished room in Osborne House. This most respected of all women, living or dead, lay in a great four posted bed and made a shrunken atom whose aged face and figure were a cruel mockery of the fair girl who in 1837 began to rule over England.

Around her were gathered almost every descendant of her line. Well within view of her dying eyes there hung a portrait of the prince consort. It was he who designed the room and every part of the castle. In scarcely audible words the white haired bishop of Winchester prayed beside her as he had often prayed with his sovereign, for he was her chaplain at Windsor. With bowed heads the imperious ruler of the German empire and the man who is now king of England, the woman who has succeeded to the title of queen, the princes and princesses and those of less than royal designation listened to the bishop's ceaseless prayer.

Six o'clock passed. One of the younger children asked a question in shrill, child ish treble and was immediately silenced. The women of this royal family sobbed faintly, and the men shuffled uneasily.

At exactly half past 6 Sir James Reid held up his hand, and the people in the room knew that England had lost her queen. The bishop pronounced the benediction.

The queen passed away quite peacefully. She suffered no pain. Those who were now mourners went to their rooms.

NEW YORK MOURNS.

Trinity's Bell Tolled—Flags at Half Mast—General Sympathy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The first apparent effect in New York city of the cablegram from England announcing the death of Queen Victoria was in the almost instant lowering of flags at half mast. That of the British consulate went down at 2:40 o'clock, and announcement was immediately made at the consulate that the office would be closed for the time being for all but most urgent business.

As the news of the death quickly spread flags all over the city began to be lowered. This was particularly true with regard to the financial district, where every business house or building has its bunting ready. Wall street and its adjacent thoroughfares were soon giving silent intimation that one of the world's most notable personages had passed away. Trinity church, at the head of Wall street, took note of the event by the tolling of its bell, and possibly the first of the United States officials to take cognizance of the passing of England's monarch was the subtreasurer of the United States, who as soon as he received notice lowered the flag of the subtreasury building.

In no part of the city was respect for the memory of Queen Victoria more quickly shown than in the waters of the port of New York. Steamers and sailing vessels flying the British flag were not alone in their manifestations of honor to the memory of the dead queen. United States flags over ferry houses, schooners and tugs in the East and North rivers and lying at docks over on the Jersey shore all brought the emblem down.

THE PRESIDENT CONDOLES.

Unusual Tribute at Washington to the Memory of the Dead Queen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Four days of anxiety had in a large measure prepared official Washington for the news which was flashed across the cable of the death of the queen of England. So it happened that all things that could be decently done in anticiaption of the sad end had been disposed of and all was in readiness for the execution of the formalities which are indispensable to such events. When the end came, it found appropriate measures of condolence framed and even orders ready for execution looking to the half masting of the flags over the executive departments and the carrying out of the usual formalities. The half masting of the national ensign was an unusual tribute to the memory of the deceased sovereign. It is said that this has been done rarely on the occasion of the funeral of some great world's ruler, but never before in the case of the death of a monarch.

President McKinley has sent the following message of condolence to King Edward VII: "I have received with profound sorrow the lamentable tidings of the death of her majesty the queen. Allow me, sir, to offer my sincere sympathy and that of the American people in your personal bereavement and in the loss Great Britain has suffered in the death of its venerable and illustrious sovereign, whose noble life and beneficent influence have promoted the peace and won the affection of the world."

Mourning In Canada.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—The bulletin officially announcing the death of her majesty turned the city of Montreal in the twinkling of an eye into a city of mourning. No sooner was the fact announced than the fire bells began to ring out at minute intervals, and mingled with them came the tolling of the big cathedral bells of both the English and Catholic churches. Scores of flags appeared at half mast everywhere, and the crowds on the streets and at the bulletin boards of the various papers, their heads in most cases bared, reverently read the announcement and anxiously waited for more. All entertainments of a social nature have been declared off.

Germany Mourns.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The news of the death of Queen Victoria had been hourly expected in Berlin, and on its arrival special editions of the newspapers were issued, the announcement being read witn silent and respectful sympathy. The fact that Empress Augusta Victoria started yesterday for Homburg to be near Dowager Empress Frederick added to the sad circumstances of the occasion. The German nation fully shares in the feelings of the British people toward the venerable and illustrious sovereign who has just breathed her last.

The News In Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—When the news of the queen's death was received, a number of business houses displayed flags at half mast. Many of the vessels in the harbor also displayed colors, running up their ensign, streamers and bunting half way on their staffs fore and aft. The steamers of the Leyland, Allan, Dominion, Warren and Cunard lines were among the number. Immediately on receiving word of the death of the queen Mayor Hart instructed the city messenger to have the flag on the city hall placed at half mast.

The News In Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The news of the death of Queen Victoria was known in Paris at 8 o'clock last evening through special editions of the evening papers, which newsboys carried throughout the city. Great sympathy was expressed on all sides. As soon as definite information reached parliament the president of the chamber announced that the next session would be adjourned as a sign of mourning.

Mourning at The Hague.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 23.—The Dutch press printed the news of the death of Queen Victoria with mourning borders. The court will go into mourning, but it is probable that there will be no change in the arrangements for the marriage of Queen Wilhelmina.

Verdi's Condition Hopeless.

ROME, Jan. 23.—In the Italian senate the president announced that Verdi's condition was practically hopeless. The house voted to convey to him its best wishes for his recovery.

INDIAN UPRISING.

Federal Troops Asked For to Quell Snake Bands.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 23.—Washington authorities have been requested to send federal troops into the Creek country to quell the uprising of full bloods known as the Snake bands, who are creating depredations west of Eufala and threatening the lives of both the whites and the neutral Indians. The Indians threaten to enter the towns and burn and kill, and Chief Mekko has sent a message of defiance to President McKinley. The whites are arming, and serious bloodshed is feared.

United States Marshal Bennett sent 20 deputies and 10 Indian police to the scene, but they were met by so fierce a fusillade that they were compelled to retire. One of the posse named McNac was captured by the Indians, and it is feared that they will take his life. Marshal Bennett and Indian Agent Shoenfeldt sent a message to the Washington officials requesting that federal troops to the number of 500 be sent them. They stated that it would be sure death for the deputies and police to attempt to interfere again.

As soon as word is received from Washington Marshal Bennett and Agent Shoenfeldt will join the troops, invade the Indian camps and endeavor to put the leaders under arrest.

The Creeks threaten that after they have cleaned out all the whites in the interior they will visit the various towns in the Creek Nation, destroy them by fire and kill the inhabitants. They have threatened to kill Chief Pleasant Porter and any of the members of the Dawes commission that attempt to interfere with them. Great fear is felt for some of the commission, who are surveying and allotting lands in that section.

Chief Porter is now in Washington and has been wired the condition of affairs.

The Arbuckle-Woolson Fight.

TOLEDO, Jan. 23.—The determined fight being waged between the sugar and coffee trusts has shifted to the supreme court. Yesterday at 2 o'clock Clarence Brown, for the Arbuckles, made a demand to see the books of the Woolson Spice company. The demand was refused, and the answer given was that the case would be taken to the supreme court and an application made for a suspension of the circuit court's appeal. In order to pave the way for a speedy entrance into the highest tribunal of the state Attorneys Doyle and Lewis telephoned the county clerks to collect the pleadings of the case, as they wanted a bill of exceptions prepared to take to the supreme court.

A Menace to Miles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The signing of the army reorganization bill in its present form would deprive General Miles of the rank and pay of a lieutenant general should the president care to appoint some one else to the position of lieutenant general which the bill creates. When General Miles was given the rank of lieutenant general by the act of June 6 last no new office was created. The act was passed solely to permit General Miles to enjoy the higher rank. The new bill revives the office of lieutenant general and leaves the appointment within the option of the president.

Lawson Boat Will Race.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Whether the Lawson boat succeeds in beating her American rivals for cup defender honors or not she will be in the racing the coming season, and there is a prospect of her having a series of brushes with the Lipton challenger after the cup races have been sailed. A member of the advisory board that is to manage the Lawson boat has given out the statement that if Sir Thomas Lipton will give Captain Sycamore permission that skipper will be accommodated with as many races as he wants, either off Marblehead or off Newport.

South African Hospitals.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The report of the South African hospitals commission, published last evening, says: "The evils are serious and ought not to be minimized; but, reviewing the campaign as a whole, it cannot be said that the medical and hospital arrangements have broken down. There has been nothing in the nature of a scandal in the care of the sick and wounded, nor any widespread neglect of patients, nor an indifference to suffering. In no other campaign have the sick and wounded been so well taken care of."

Resigns to Go to India.

MONSON, Mass., Jan. 23.—Rev. Franklin S. Hatch, pastor of the Congregational church of Monson, on retiring from the pastorate was given a purse of $300. Feb. 12 he will sail for India, where he is to be secretary of all the Christian Endeavor societies of India, Burma and Ceylon, a position created for him. For two years he has been president of the State Christian Endeavor society.

Lost In a Mine.

OPERA HOUSE RUINED

E. H. Sothern Company Burned Out In Cincinnati.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE OF AUDIENCE.

Fire Discovered Beneath the Stage. Crowded House to Witness Performance of "Hamlet"—Hard Work For Firefighters.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—A fire which started at a quarter after 8 o'clock last night in the Grand Opera House destroyed that and half a dozen adjoining buildings. A lighted cigar thrown by a careless engineer or fireman alighted against a leaky oil can, and within 15 minutes the engine room under the stage was ablaze.

The E. H. Sothern company was playing "Hamlet," and the curtain had barely been rung up when the fire alarm was given. The audience was quickly told of the danger, and with the assistance of the police all present were safely got out, a panic being averted by the coolness and vigilance of the policemen.

Actors and attaches of the company were forced to flee in the costumes donned for the first act, and few saved anything beyond the clothes they wore.

After most of the company had left the building it was reported that six chorus girls were still inside, but it was found later that they were safe.

Within half an hour after the first alarm the Butler building adjoining the opera house caught fire. It was a five story stone structure of 75 feet frontage. Three small buildings on the west of the opera house were also burned. They were occupied by two concert halls and a Chinese restaurant.

The Volksfreund newspaper building, across the street from the Grand Opera House, caught fire several times and was saved with great difficulty. Adjoining this building is the central fire station, and the efforts made to save it were effectual. Both buildings were severely damaged.

Half a dozen firemen were injured, but not severely, by falling roofs and walls. Spectators on the first floor and balcony of the theater got out without much trouble, though often minus parts of their clothing. Those in the gallery had more trouble in reaching the outside, as there was only one narrow exit to the main hallway.

The loss on the Grand Opera House building is $200,000, with practically no insurance. The Cincinnati gymnasium, which had quarters in the building, sustained $10,000 loss, with insurance of $5,000. The Butler block, adjoining, the third and second stories of which were practically gutted, sustained a loss of $100,000, with about $40,000 insurance. Three small buildings adjoining were valued at $50,000 and insured at $20,000.

When the announcement of the fire was made from the stage, Mrs. Sothern (Virginia Harned) walked to the footlights and begged the audience to be calm and go out quietly, as there was no immediate danger. She was greeted with cheers, but a moment after a violent puff of smoke, followed by an explosion of chemicals, almost caused a stampede.

The police quickly quieted the crowd, and all were got out in safety.

Tore Up Twenty Dollar Bills.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 23.—Powell Christ, who has a wife and two children living in St. Louis, was found wandering about the Charlotte depot tearing up $20 bills and scattering them on the platform. When approached by the station agent, Christ exclaimed in great agitation: "I won't stand it any longer. They are chasing me, and if I go on they will throw me over the falls." Christ was brought to the city and is held till his relatives can be communicated with. He is a traveling man and was on his way home from New York city.

Arrested For Passing Bad Bills.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 23.—United States treasury officials have arrested Walter A. Hill of Lestershire, this county, for alleged complicity in the passing of counterfeit $10 bills in this city. In a partial confession made by H. P. Holland, one of the men arrested last week, Hill was implicated in the affair. The police of this city believe they are on the track of the counterfeiters. The bogus bills are of the Tompkins County bank at Ithaca.

Senator Sewell Re-elected.

TRENTON, Jan. 23.—General W. J. Sewell of Camden was re-elected to the United States senate by a full party vote for his third term. The senator was the unanimous choice of the party, and no other name was even suggested. Alvah Clark was named by the Democratic members of both houses and received the full party vote.

Syracuse Hotel Sold.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 23.—E. M. French of New York bid in the Vanderbilt hotel furnishings, equipment and lease at mortgage foreclosure sale in this city for about $12,000. He will conduct the hotel. It is said that he will buy the Butterfield House at Utica, which was run by the management of the Vanderbilt.

Boer Raids.

PRETORIA, Jan. 23.—Eighty Boers raided Brak Pan. They put a guard over the employees of the electric power works while they damaged the dynamos and other machinery. The works belong to a German company and supply the suburbs of Johannesburg and the mines with light and power.

Head Torn From His Body.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Horace D. Tupper, a prominent ice dealer of the town of Colonc, was caught in a revolving shaft at his icehouse on the Mohawk river, near Cohoes, about 11 o'clock yesterday morning and his head and one arm torn from his body.

Alabama May Go Thursday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The repairs to the damaged engine of the battleship Alabama, now lying at Tompkinsville, will be completed so as to enable her to sail for the tropics some time on Thursday.

Simmons to Succeed Butler.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 23.—F. M. Simmons, chairman of the state Democratic committee, has been elected United States senator to succeed Marion Butler.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; rising temperature; northeasterly winds, becoming southerly.

State Aid for Roads.

Senator Hutchinson's bill, the first to be introduced into the State Senate, has been the means of starting a general discussion on the advisability of increasing the State appropriation for road building. Under the present law, the State yearly devotes $150,000 to aiding the various counties in road construction. The State contributes one-third of the cost while the county pays the other two-thirds. Senator Hutchinson wants to increase the State appropriation to $300,000, and to have the State stand two-thirds of the cost of the road construction.

The general feeling in Trenton seems to be in favor of an increase of the road appropriation, but under the old terms whereby the counties meet two thirds of the cost. Either Senator Hutchinson's bill will be amended or else an entirely new bill will be introduced in the Legislature. Those who are in touch with the Republican leaders in Trenton make the statement that such a measure has excellent chances of passing both Houses.

If the road appropriation is doubled for 1901, the work of good roads in New Jersey will go forward with renewed energy. Even at the present time New Jersey is noted for having some of the finest stretches of macadam roads in the country. If the milage annually added to the present system is doubled during the coming year, the news of the progress of the "good roads" movement in the State will be spread abroad. All classes have now come to recognize the many advantages to the community which result from properly constructed roads and the increase of the State aid within reasonable limits will undoubtedly be hailed with general satisfaction.

If the claims made by John M. McClintock, president and general manager of the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, should prove to be true, they might seriously trouble the Common Council in its proposed alterations at the sewage disposal plant. But Expert Osgood, who is looked upon as an authority on such matters, declares that it is all a "bluff" on the part of the Boston man. It is a question which is likely to trouble a layman but the city has employed expert advice in this question of the changes at the sewer beds and surely they ought to know what they are talking about.

The re-election of L. B. Woolston as president of the Board of Trade was a good thing for that organization. Mr. Woolston is a local business man who is thoroughly filled with the desire to advance the interests and welfare of the city. He is an energetic worker in whatever he undertakes as can be seen by the success of the well-known firm of which he is the senior member. He has labored faithfully in the interests of the Board already and will undoubtedly attend to his duties during the coming year with equal success.

The manager of the Glen Island resort on Long Island Sound says that the place is so well-known and the excursions are so popular that no advertising is needed to attract as many visitors as the island can hold, relates the Philadelphia Record. Still he advertises in all the New York newspapers "to keep the name before the public and prove that the management is alive and enterprising."

If Senator Stokes receives the appointment as Clerk of the Court of Chancery in the place of L. A. Thompson, of Somerville, there will be no question as to who is recognized as Republican leader of Somerset county by the powers that be.

While the proper regulation of the city's sewage disposal plant is very needful, the members of the Common Council should not forget that there is hardly a street sign in the whole city. Immediate action should be taken on the subject.

The Democrats in the State Legislature succumbed to the inevitable, which in this case happened to be Robert Davis, and voted for Hon. Alvah A. Clark as the minority candidate for United States Senator.

Municipal ownership has long been discussed in Plainfield but with the Borough Council and the Board of Trade both agitating the subject, something really ought to happen soon.

The bill which Senator Cross introduced at the request of the Audobon Society to protect the birds is bringing out a wonderful variety of comment.

The possibilities which the coming gubernatorial contest in the Republican party offer furnish countless columns to the political writers of the State.

The Board of Trade is starting on its third year, but no one knows what has become of the old Plainfield Advancement Association.

More activity is being shown this season by the State Fish and Game Commission than has been noticed in many years.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Cross, of New Jersey, has introduced a bill to protect wild birds from the hunters. If somebody doesn't hustle around with a bill to protect the wild beasts of Colorado that place will be a howling wilderness directly.—New York Evening Telegram.

When ex-Mayor John C. Rankin, of Elizabeth, was quoted, a few days ago, as saying that he was "out of politics," there was something like a suspicion aroused that he was not so far out that he might not be induced to get in again. Be that as it may, it now appears that Mr. Rankin is said to have been slated by Governor Voorhees for membership in the State Board of Assessors, and that his nomination will be sent to the Senate for confirmation within a short time. It was said at Elizabeth Monday that there were politicians there who were looking for trouble, and that, from present indications, the supply would be equal to the demand.—New York Tribune.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Expressions of universal sorrow have been heard on all sides over the death of Queen Victoria, which occurred yesterday afternoon. All classes of citizens have spoken of the venerable woman in endearing terms. Her long reign and the general love in which she was held by the subjects of Great Britain were freely commented upon in this city. She was a good woman and her death is regretted by the citizens of this country as much as those of England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales and every portion of Europe. The Queen is dead—long live the King.

ALTERATION SALE.

Ours is a business of change. We are never satisfied with past attainments, but are always ready to take advantage of every opportunity to improve our facilities for handling our ever growing business, and making our store one of constantly increasing popularity. For a year our Dress Goods Department has been clamoring for more room to meet the accentuated demands made upon it. In order to meet this growing need we shall devote the space formerly occupied by the Millinery to Dress Goods and Silks. This necessitates the remodeling of the entire rear of the store. In order to facilitate these changes we inaugurate on Tuesday, Jan. 22, an IMPORTANT ALTERATION SALE in order to quickly shrink stock. Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits to be closed out. We shall not handle Ladies' Suits after this season and every suit we have will be sold without consulting the cost of same. It is not a question of how much we may lose but of how quickly we may dispose of these goods All our Jackets, Capes, Wraps, etc., to be as fearfully sacrificed. This means a great deal to the purchasing community when the fact is considered that they are all stylish, desirable Tailor-made garments. Those who call earliest will naturally get the best things. Winter Dress Goods, Golf Suitings, etc., will also be sold at reduced prices in order to make room for Spring Goods, which will arrive on Feb. 1st. 10 large coat racks (on castors) will be sold at a low figure. Desirable winter goods in fair variety still on sale at closing out prices. If interested in blankets, comfortables, underwear, gloves, mittens, toques, etc., you will be able to secure some exceptional values during our Alteration Sale.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, January 23.—Miss Cora Burt, of the Whittier School, gave a pleasant party to a number of friends at her home Monday evening. Progressive euchre was the feature of the evening and several hours were spent in playing. Parlor games were also played and in a guessing contest Miss Irene Day received first prize. Refreshments were served at 11:30. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross, Miss Irene Day, Harry Pittinger, H. C. Cathers and Clarence Harrison, of the borough, and Charles Smith, of Hoboken.

Sometime during Monday night the barn of Charles Tharp, the butcher, was opened by some unknown person, allowing the horse to stray out. The trick was not discovered until Walter Brokaw went to feed the animal at 6:30 yesterday morning. It was thought at first the horse had been stolen. The news spread rapidly and in a short time a large number of citizens were in search of the missing animal or the supposed thieves. The former was discovered about 9 o'clock in the yard of Robert Lowrie, where it had wandered early in the morning. Mr. Tharp is at a loss as to who could have opened the barn, as he was unaware that he had an enemy in the borough.

At the oyster supper which is to be given in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, supper will be served from 6:30 o'clock. The affair will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

There are letters remaining in the post office uncalled for addressed to Harry Scribner and Miss M. Lou Karner.

No improvement has been noticed in the condition of Mrs. Fred Wilcox who has been ill for some time past.

Asa Huff, of Somerville, was the guest of his uncle, George Huff, yesterday.

Mrs. Bernard Sirisky has gone to Somerville for a few days' visit with relatives.

Miss Emma Stelle is confined to her home with an attack of the grip.

Miss Mamie Fritts, of Dover, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vail.

William H. Terry was the guest of Westfield relatives yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, January 23.—Misses May and Mary Brouwer, who have been visiting in Brooklyn, have returned home.

The Friendship Dancing Class held its regular meeting last night. Quite a number were present.

Mrs. M. W. Casterline left today for Philadelphia where she will spend a month with relatives.

Abner S. Coriell, who has been on the sick list for the past few days, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Lena Danz has been confined to her home by illness for the past few days.

Miss Hazel Lord is able to attend to her studies after an illness of one week.

Miss Fannie Jenner is spending the day with friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. Bertha Moody seems to be slightly improved.

Mrs. Daniel Lienan is in Plainfield on business today.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 23—Fanwood Council, R. A., held a large and interesting meeting in their rooms last evening. S. D. G. R. Messick, of Cranford, was present to install the newly-elected officers. During the good of the order several interesting speeches were enjoyed while the members lingered over their cigars. The newly-installed officers for the year are: Regent, T. R. Collins, vice regent, James Nickols; orator, F. R. Allen; guide, Wm. Stansbury; treasurer, John Bornmann; collector, J. H. Parks; secretary, Norman Dunn; warden, John Cook; sentry, George D. Kyte; trustee, Wm. Cory.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaloway, who have been spending a few days with Mrs. Kaloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis B Coddington, on Terrell road, have left for New Market where they will start housekeeping.

The gang of men who have been repairing the Western Union Telegraph Company line that runs through Washington Valley finished their work yesterday and left for Bound Brook.

The success of the recent dance given by the young people in the Fanwood fire house was so encouraging that it has been decided to hold another in the near future.

The Young People's Literary Society connected with the Methodist church will hold their weekly reading and study in the class rooms of the church this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh, last evening.

Miss Nancy Wilcox, who has been quite ill for several weeks at her home, is reported as improving slowly.

Charles Layton is confined to his home suffering from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 23—Yesterday witnessed the passing of the teachers and scholars from the old school building to the new. The old one is soon to be removed, and one or two large and fine elm trees will be chopped down to allow the movers space to operate.

The rural delivery method of distributing mails will be of advantage to some of the residents of Piscataway who have been in the habit of getting their mail from the local postoffice.

There will be business of importance at the meeting of the P. O S. of A. tomorrow. It is expected that the State and district officers will bepresent to install officers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will hold a poverty social some time during the second week in February.

Mrs. W. H. Manning returned yesterday from Jersey City, where she has been making a few days' stay.

An important meeting of the Foresters was held last Monday night, all of the new officers being installed.

Mrs. George Ryno is improved from a severe illness which has kept her at home.

EGGS FOR EDITOR.

Rutgers Students Pay a Late Visit to Mr. Boyd's Home.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick Jan. 23.—The New Brunswick Home News said Monday night that Clarence Kipp, of Paterson, a Rutgers freshman, had tried to flirt with a soubrette at Shortridge's Theatre and been turned down.

Kipp asked a denial and was refused. Late Monday night about thirty boys in rough clothes and slouch hats surrounded the residence of Arthur Boyd, city editor of The Home News.

A messenger asked to see him. As Boyd appeared in the doorway he was greeted with a volley of eggs. The front of the house was spattered and it is said he was struck.

The crowd dispersed after firing the eggs. Mr. Boyd says he will take no proceedings against the students.

INSTALLED AND SMOKED.

LOCAL BRANCH OF ST. PATRICK'S ALLIANCE GAVE ENTERTAINMENT.

Acting Mayor Ryan, of Elizabeth, Was Among Prominent Guests Present—Enjoyable Programme.

The members of St. Patrick's Alliance of America, Branch No. 7, District No. 2, gave a most enjoyable entertainment and smoker to their friends last evening, to fittingly celebrate the occasion of a visit from District Deputy Fallon and staff, of Elizabeth. Several other visitors were present, among the most notable being Acting Mayor of Elizabeth P. J. Ryan, who come in response to a promise made some time ago.

The installation of officers was also performed during the early part of the evening, preceding the smoker, the work being done under the direction of President Daly, of Elizabeth. Those who were installed were as follows: Past president, John F. Casey; president, James Sloyan; senior vice president, Thomas Coulter; junior vice-president, Thomas Cotter; recording secretary, Wm. O'Connor; financial secretary, Martin Reagan; treasurer, Patrick Harrington; conductor, John Simpson; sergeant at arms, Luke McCauley; trustees, James Ennis, Patrick Breen and Luke McCauley.

Following the work of installation the entertainment part of the programme was given under the direction of John F. Casey, who filled the position of master of ceremonies in an able manner. It was opened by James Harkins, who gave a pleasing vocal selection, after which District Deputy Fallon was introduced.

In a few well chosen words Mr. Fallon explained the object and benefits of the order mainly for the benefit of those present who were not members. His remarks, however, were of interest to the members also. Two tenor solos by William Lavan, of Elizabeth, followed his address and after an encore, Mr. Ryan consented to speak. His remarks were very brief owing to the gloom cast upon himself and associates by the sudden demise of Elizabeth's chief executive. He echoed the sentiments expressed by Mr. Fallon and complimented the members of the order on their excellent showing and large attendance.

William O'Connor gave a well rendered vocal solo. He took for his selection, the favorite, "Wearing of the Green." The remainder of the programme consisted of flute duets by Messrs. Honan and Reagan and vocal solos by James Ennis, James Sloyan and others. Cigars and refreshments were passed between selections. The smoker was one of the most successful yet given under the auspices of St. Patrick's Alliance.

ANNUAL INSPECTION.

Co. M., Second Regiment, of Somerville, Was Visited Last Night by Col. Gilmore and Majors Gilkerson and Coward.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 23—The annual inspection of Co. M., Second Regiment, took place at the armory last night, which was completely filled with interested spectators. The inspecting officers were Col. Gilmore and Majors Gilkerson and Coward. Captain Dungan had every man out but three, and they were out of the State. The boys presented a fine appearance and were highly complimented.

The markemens' badges were presented. Wm. F. Clark received the honorary membership badge, A. G. Spencer was awarded the first badge for the best shot among the active members, and Harry Seals the second prize.

Afterwards an informal dance was held, which lasted until until after midnight.

PERSONAL.

Great Sachem Newcorn will attend a rally of Red Men to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall at Paterson this evening. A banquet will follow.

Superintendent Charles E Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company, attended a district banquet given by the company at Elizabeth last evening.

Ethel, the interesting daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Campbell, of Somerset street, is seriously ill with the croup. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan is in attendance.

Hand Severely Scalded.

Dr. J. H. Cooley, of Westervelt avenue, is carrying his hand about in a sling, the result of a painful accident which occurred Monday. He was engaged at work at his sanitarium on Somerset street, where he is having Turkish baths installed. A hot-water pipe burst and Dr. Cooley's hand was severely scalded. Prompt attention no doubt prevented further complications.

The Modest Scot.

Love of country is so fine a virtue that it seems difficult to carry it to excess. A resident from a small village in the north of Scotland paid a business visit to London the other day. He happened to call on a merchant who (unknown to him) had once made a stay in his native place. In the course of conversation the visitor made use of an expression that led the other to exclaim: "Surely, you came from Glen McLuskie?" The assertion, however, was denied. Presently, to the merchant's surprise, another Glen McLuskie expression was heard. "My dear Mr. MacTavish, I feel convinced that you are a Glen McLuskie man after all," insisted the merchant.

"Weel," returned the other, "I'll no deny it any longer."

"Then why didn't you say so at first?" demanded the Englishman.

"Weel," was the calm response, "I dicna like to boast o' it in London."—London Chronicle.

Growth of Our Nails.

Finger nails and toe nails, being merely flattened growths of the same kind of cells that the hairs are made of, increase in about the same way, though their rate of progress has not been so carefully studied. Some say that the finger nails grow at the rate of one-thirtieth of an inch a week. Bean estimates that it takes 20 weeks to restore a thumb nail, and 96 weeks to restore a toe nail. I don't believe that. Once when I was about 16, and had less sense than most boys of that age, I bought a pair of boots too short for me. I wore them, though they hurt me like sixty, and the first thing I knew the nails of my great toes came off. Well, I know that it didn't take any 96 weeks to make them good as new. Why, 96 weeks is two years, lacking not quite two months. Don't tell me.—Harvey Sutherland, in Ainslee's.

Struggle of the Cities.

The census of 1900 shows that only two classes of American cities have made especial progress—those on the inland lakes and those possessing great and diversified manufacturing enterprises. The river cities are growing more slowly; the coast cities south of Norfolk are making little progress; but between that point and Portland, Me., they are scattering large populations. The railroad cities, especially those of comparatively high altitudes, are also making considerable progress. The United States has more cities of 1,000,000 population and upward than any other nation in the world. It has three cities of over 1,000,000: New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Our growth in wealth is equally rapid.—"Success."

Electric Lights for Trains.

Electric train lighting has now passed the experimental stage and bids fair to displace other systems for the illumination of passenger trains, on account of its cheapness and safety. It is the only absolutely safe method, since, in case of wreck, there is no inflammable material, such as gas or oil, to cause fire in the wreckage. At the same time, electric lighting from batteries fed by dynamos driven by the car axle has proved itself so cheap that in Austria, where the system has been worked out very fully, it is found that electric lighting is cheaper than oil, gas or candles.—N. Y. Sun.

Marriage in Hindoostan.

Marriages in Hindoostan are very simple and are usually arranged by the parents of the principals. When an alliance is agreed upon the bride and groom are brought together and perhaps see each other for the first time. The bride playfully skips toward him and seats herself beside him. The priest ties a corner of the bride's veil to the groom's shawl and this simple proceeding makes them man and wife.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Cause of It.

Tess—May Winsum is quite ill, I believe.

Jess—Yes; she's developing chronic hysteria.

"What's the cause of it, do you know?"

"Somebody foolishly told her that she looked beautiful when she laughed."—Philadelphia Press.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Lötzen. Neulich traf hier die Nachricht ein, daß durch Ministerialerlaß der Beschluß der städtischen Körperschaften, aus unserem städtischen Progymnasium eine Vollanstalt zu errichten, genehmigt ist. Damit wird einem lange fühlbar gewordenen Bedürfniß entsprochen.

Ortelsburg. In einem Gefechte in China gefallen ist der aus Klein-Jerutten stammende Seesoldat Michael Sisla.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Marienwerder. Der katholische Pfarrer Baranowski in Tiefenau hat sein geistliches Amt, welches er über 70 Jahre verwaltete, kürzlich niedergelegt. Baranowski ist bereits 98 Jahre alt, doch noch ziemlich rüstig. Die Pfarrei Tiefenau verwaltete er über 60 Jahre.

Lobsens. Im Auftrage des Kaiserpaares wurde auch vergangenes Weihnachten wieder den Beamten, Angestellten und Arbeitern der kaiserlichen Gutsherrschaft Kadinen, sowie den Bewohnern von Rominten eine Feier mit Bescheerung zu Theil. In Kadinen sind es rund 220, in Rominten 100 bis 120 Personen. Vom Gutsinspektor bis zum jüngsten Viehhirten erhielt Jeder unter dem im Kerzenglanz erstrahlenden Tannenbaum sein Weihnachtspräsent, bestehend aus den verschiedensten Luxus- und Gebrauchsgegenständen. Die Christstollen wurden von Berlin aus geliefert.

Rheinprovinz.

Aachen. Vor dem Schwurgericht stand der 19jährige Artist Josef Semertier aus Paris unter der Anklage, falsche Zweimarkstücke aus dem Auslande eingeführt und in den Verkehr gebracht zu haben. Bei seiner Festnahme fanden sich bei Semertier noch 48 Falschstücke vor. Der Angeklagte wurde zu zwei Jahren Gefängniß, fünf Jahren Ehrverlust und Stellung unter Polizei-Aufsicht verurtheilt.

Düren. Vor Kurzem wurde hier eine städtische Volksbibliothek eröffnet.

Essen. „Kanonenkönig" Krupp hat zu der Summe von 500,000 Mark, welche er vor einiger Zeit dem Invaliden-Fonds seiner Arbeiter überwies, letzthin 1,000,000 Mark je zur Hälfte dem Beamten-Pensions-Fonds und dem Fonds zur Erbauung von Arbeiter-Wohnungen geschenkt.

Süchteln. Am Fuße der Süchtelner Höhen ist ein großes Gelände zur Errichtung einer Provinzial-Heil- und Pflegeanstalt zum Preise von 300,000 Mark angekauft worden.

Provinz Sachsen.

Heiligenstadt. Die jüngste Volkszählung hat den Beweis erbracht, daß die meisten Ortschaften des Eichsfeldes in ihrer Einwohnerzahl zurückgegangen sind. Selbst das so verkehrsreiche Dorf Leinefelde hat abgenommen. Nur Heiligenstadt hat eine im Verhältniß starke Zunahme zu verzeichnen: die Einwohnerzahl ist seit 1895 um 632 gestiegen und beträgt jetzt 7349.

Langensalza. Das Hotel „Kaiserhof" ist total niedergebrannt. Unter dem Verdachte der Brandstiftung wurde der Besitzer des Hotels, Spangenberg, verhaftet.

Zeitz. Der verstorbene Rentier Schäde vermachte der Stadt ein Kapital von 450,000 Mark zur Gründung von Wohlfahrtseinrichtungen.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Die Stadtverordneten-Versammlung beschloß die Einrichtung von „Schrebergärten" (Schulen für Zimmergymnastik) nach Leipziger Muster. Zu diesem Zweck wurden 24,000 Mark bewilligt.

Bunzlau. Einer der hervorragendsten Industriellen Niederschlesiens, Baurath Friedrich Hoffmann, starb im Alter von 83 Jahren in Groß-Raschen. Der Verewigte ist der Erfinder der in der Thon- und Porzellanindustrie zur Unentbehrlichkeit gewordenen Ringöfen, hat die in unserem Kreise gelegenen Siegersdorfer Werke, eins der größten Etablissements seiner Art, gegründet und zu ungeahnter Höhe gebracht.

Grünberg. Zur Hebung des hiesigen Weinbaues soll heuer an unserem Orte ein staatlicher Muster- und Versuchsgarten angelegt werden.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Schleswig. Der frühere Landtagsabgeordnete, Landrath v. Bornstedt, seit Oktober Hilfsarbeiter im hiesigen Oberpräsidium, ist gestorben.

Kiel. Das Oberkriegsgericht der Ostseestation verurtheilte den Exerzieroffizier Bohde von der Werftdivision wegen Unterschlagung anvertrauter Gelder von Rekruten zu drei Monaten Gefängniß und Degradation.

Provinz Westfalen.

Herford. Hier hat sich ein Komite zur Errichtung eines Kaiser Friedrich-Denkmals gebildet. Auf dem Luttenberge, in nächster Nähe des herrlichen Naturparkes Schützenhof, soll das Denkmal seinen Stand erhalten.

Rheine. Ueber das Vermögen des preußischen Herrenhausmitgliedes Fürst Arthur zu Rheina-Wolbeck ist der Konkurs eröffnet worden.

How Women Lawyers Have Sprung Into Existence Within the Last Ten Years

When the world at large first heard the term "woman lawyer," it shuddered. Before the eyes of conservative womanhood there arose the vision of an unsexed and masculine being with blatant voice and "sassy" ways, a woman who could take her place in a courtroom opposite a man lawyer and give him as good billingsgate as he gave her. There was nothing attractive about this creature as her own sex viewed her. She was sure to be old, soured and homely, with slipshod attire, in which the green bag and an enormous pair of spectacles played an important part. Worst of all, nice men would have nothing to do with her. They would stand aloof and look down upon her with the bitterest contempt!

MISS EDITH J. GRISWOLD.

The point of view of the men was somewhat different, but they were equally disgusted. They saw in their mind's eye a frivolous creature in an extravagant costume tripping into the courtroom and airing her ignorance there. She would make eyes at the judge, at the jury and more than probably at the opposing counsel; but, as for logic or anything of that sort—dear me, who had ever heard of a woman who could argue except in a circle? If the opposing lawyer treated her as he would a man and politely intimated that she was a liar, she would immediately burst into tears or give him to understand that he was speaking to a lady, and she would trouble him to remember it, etc. Altogether men thought this would be the best way to squelch the woman lawyer—treat her like a man, give her a few extra hard raps and then let her go home to have a good cry and give it all up for good and all.

The world received the surprise of its life. The woman lawyer arrived on the scene and she proved to be neither old, homely nor soured. In fact she was quite young. She had a nice, fresh looking face—a face that told of a healthy mind in a healthy body—and she had a pair of very sharp, clear eyes which looked unflinchingly at the world and at everything in it. There was a little determined look about her chin, too, as if she meant business. The world stared at her, but that didn't annoy her in the least. She was very quiet and did not make any fuss at all. She took an office and hung out her sign, "Miss Woman, Attorney and Counselor at Law." Then she waited for clients. She didn't have to wait very long either. First people came out of curiosity and then they staid for better reasons. That was ten years ago and now there are women lawyers all over the United States, and they don't show any signs of being crowded out of the business either.

Why, in New York city alone there are enough women to form a club. There are 15 members and most of them have more business than they can attend to. There is Miss Edith Griswold, who is acknowledged to be an authority on patent law, trademarks and copyright matters. Miss Rosalie Loew is attorney for the Legal Aid society, which assists the poor who have trouble with their landlords. I may add in passing that last year Miss Loew dealt with 5,692 cases. Miss Fanny Hallock Carpenter has for her law partner her husband, Philip Carpenter. Miss Edith Augusta Reiffert began her law studies while serving as a stenographer for a firm of bankers and is so successful that she has hardly a moment to herself. Miss Helen L. Blondel, whose specialty is real estate law, is one of the three New York women who have studied in an office without following a regular university law course. It is only lack of space which prevents my telling of the good work done by the others.

But says the woman who reads this: "You haven't said anything about what one must do to become a lawyer. I'd like to hear a little about that."

Well, there are two ways. One is to take a three years' law course at some university. After the student graduates she receives her diploma and the degree of LL. D. Then she must appear before the law commissioners or committee on examinations appointed by the law to pass the regular bar examination. This is extremely rigorous, and when it is passed safely she has yet to appear before a judge of the supreme court to take her oath of office and of allegiance to her state and country and to file her admission under oath with the clerk of the court of appeals. When all this has been complied with, she becomes a regular lawyer, with the right to practice in the courts of the state. The requirements are more or less similar in all the states, but in Illinois, so I understand, the graduate of a regular law school is admitted to the bar without further examination.

The other way of doing is to enter a lawyer's office in some useful capacity and study under him. There are several advantages in this. This would be lawyer has practical experience from almost the very first, and then, too, there is the opportunity of making acquaintances which may bring clients during the period of waiting which inevitably follows admittance to the bar.

"There is a great future for women lawyers," said Miss Griswold as we sat talking over the matter in her office. "In the first place, they have convinced men of their business ability and shrewdness, and they are respected by their brother lawyers. Then, too, the woman attorney is thoroughly honest, and the proverbially helpless widows and orphans need not fear to put their interests in her hands. As for this talk about feminine lawyers being new women, it is all nonsense. They have large hearts and strong common sense, and there isn't a single one among them who wouldn't marry tomorrow if she found a man worthy of her."

Miss Griswold's own appearance is anything but mannish. She is a dainty, charming woman, with a soft, low voice and eyes which, though they could be very sharp and compelling on occasion, yet display, as a rule, only the kindliest expression.

"You ask me if I have suffered from lack of courtesy on the part of the male lawyers." She said: "No. On the whole I find that I have been treated with the greatest politeness. In law, you know, as in everything else, much depends on the bearing of the woman. Of course now and then rarely I meet a man who acts in a childish manner, who sulks or tries to ignore the woman lawyer with whom he has business relations. We always feel sorry for such a man," she added, with her little laugh, "because we realize how awfully behind the times he is. He generally realizes it in the end himself, and is usually very much ashamed of the figure he has cut in the eyes of his fellow practitioners."

ROBITAILLE DE LA BAUME.

QUEEN IS NOT LIKED.

The Consort of the New King of Italy Has But Little Popularity with His People.

It is extremely doubtful whether Queen Helen, in spite of her undeniable beauty, will ever become so popular as her mother-in-law, the now widowed Queen Margherita. Cold and undemonstrative, reserved and taciturn rather than effusive, her qualities are calculated to appeal rather to the Piedmontese—highlanders like herself—than to the population of the rest of Italy. There is no doubt that the disappointment freely and unkindly expressed by the newspapers of the peninsula regarding her failure to fulfill national expectations in the presentation to the kindom of an heir to the throne has had the effect of raising a sort of barrier of antagonism between herself and the people of her adopted country. She seems to feel that they resent her childlessness, while they, on the other hand, do not hesitate to express freely the disappointment of the dynastic hope which they had based upon the marriage.

Queen Margherita's popularity was a source of strength to her husband as ruler. Even at the moment when, owing to the mistakes, domestic and foreign, of his ministers, he was most unpopular and reviled as "the Austrian colonel," she always remained an object of so much affection on the part of the people of every shade of political opinion that the field daisy was chosen in her honor as the emblem of a number of political societies, some of them, such as the Italia Irredenta, being hostile alike to the government and to the king. But for a queen to be popular in Italy it is necessary that be of Italian birth and of Italian disposition, and neither the Montenegrin born Queen Helen nor yet the French born Duchess Helen of Aosta, who as wife of the heir apparent of the crown may eventually succeed her as queen, is ever likely to give the same amount of political support to her husband as Queen Margherita was able to furnish to the late King Humbert. Nor is it probable that she will ever share to the same degree as her mother-in-law the duties of her husband as ruler. Humbert was notoriously influenced in many matters by his consort, especially in connection with the triple alliance, which she induced him to join. But Queen Helen is completely dominated by her diminutive husband, who, like so many small men, is far too autocratic to accept any advice or to brook any interference, even on the part of his wife, in his duties as ruler.—N. Y. Tribune.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Many Useful Lessons May Be Learned from an Actress' Experience, Here Detailed.

One of the most admired of American actresses, both for her grace and comeliness, has been divulging some of the secrets by means of which she has preserved her beauty. "Vigilance," she says, "is the first requisite. I am ever on the alert and when I discover traces of fatigue or any other beauty destroying symptoms in my face or figure I set about remedying it at once. I don't attempt to be anything but a professional woman during the theatrical season. I don t receive and don't go to other people's houses. I simply haven't time and I don't make it. My mode of life is very simple. I sleep nine or ten hours as a rule—never less than eight. I eat regularly and heartily and avoid everything that would be apt to give me indigestion. Indigestion is a powerful foe to beauty, a greater foe than age, as great even as worry. I walk every day, rain or shine, and I wear a corded corset waist and stout flat-heeled boots. I try not to worry no matter what happens and I never tire myself unnecessarily. My method is so very simple few women would care to try it. It has no balms or diets, and I don't even go in for fancy baths. A warm bath at night and a cold bath in the morning are good enough for me. On Sundays I don't have to go to the theater, but I don't devote it to lolling or receiving visitors. I have my usual amount of exercise and then devote most of the day to manicure and hairdresser. When one's hair is five feet long and very thick it is not an easy task to have it shampooed. How do I keep the same weight all the time? Why, by vigilance and determination. If I gain a pound I immediately stop drinking water at meals and give up sugar for awhile. If the bones in my neck begin to show I eat bananas and cream and put an extra spoonful of oil in my salad. It's so simple, but, of course, it precludes much pleasure."—Chicago Chronicle.

White summer shawls made of soft wools may be cleaned by rubbing them in several changes of magnesia and flour mixed.

WILLIE'S PET OWL.

Bird of Wisdom Is Directly Responsible for His Walking with a Tired Feeling Now.

"Hoo, hoo, hoo!" rang through the house at two a. m.

"Great governor! What is that?" and the head of the house, says the Detroit Free Press, sat up in bed and blinked at an electric light shining through the window.

"John, stay right where you are; I'll not let you go downstairs to be killed. Did you ever hear such a noise?"

"Mamma, what is it?" came in an agitated whisper from the next room.

"DID YOU HEAR MY OWL?"

and then the daughter rushed wildly into the parental bedchamber.

"Keep cool, now. Don't go into no highstrikes. I'm going down to see what that is," and he dug up an old muzzle-loading pistol he had carried in the civil war and that has been loaded since 1873. "I'll show 'em. Every man's house is his own cast—"

"Hoo, hoo, hoo!"

The father dropped the gun, and it blew a whole corner off the bureau. The daughter dived under the bed and the mother yelled "Murder!" at the top of her lungs.

"Shut up!" ordered the veteran, as he reached for his artillery. "Stay right where you are. I'll fight my way to the telephone and get the police. If they get to shooting down there, don't show a light. I know the house, and they don't."

"Hoo, hoo, hoo!" just as the old gentleman reached the top of the stairs. He went down like a cartwheel and shot a hole in the ceiling as big as the bottom of a tub.

"Did you hear my owl?" shouted Willie, as he dashed from the third story. "Got him in the country yesterday and hung him in the dining-room when I got home last night. Hain't he a dandy?"

Poor Willie! He walks like a boy with inflammatory rheumatism, and the last he saw of the owl it was flying over the barn toward Redfield.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

New Congressman from Alabama Was Condemned to Be Hanged During the War.

A rare distinction is that enjoyed by Judge William Richardson, who has recently been chosen to succeed Gen. Joe Wheeler in congress from the state of Alabama. During the civil war, when a mere boy, he was under sentence of death and narrowly escaped the gallows. He had enlisted in the confederate army, been captured in his first battle and taken to Indiana as a prisoner of war. He escaped and, falling in with a confederate spy, tried to make his way back through the federal lines to the south. The spy, known to the outside world only as "Mr. Paul," was captured, and with him young Richardson. The boy was condemned to be hanged, as well as the older spy, when the confederate general, Forrest, attacked the union forces under Crittenden at Murfreesboro just in time to liberate the two condemned men. Richardson went back to Alabama, studied law after the war, became probate and county judge and now occupies Joe Wheeler's seat in congress. He is said not to be at all ashamed of having been under the shadow of the gallows.

Practical Joker at Work.

Mischievous persons visited the dairy farm of John Anschutz, a Stowe township (Pa.) farmer, and adjusted a pair of red spectacles over the eyes of his cross white bull Dexter. When this animal saw the whole world done in crimson he made a wild charge to annihilate it. The side of the barn was knocked in, several lengths of fence prostrated and a milkmaid barely escaped with her life. The bull is now laid up for repairs and Mr. Anschutz is offering a reward of five dollars for the arrest of the guilty parties.

The Gowns and Bargain Sales in New York City

January is the Month of Beautiful Linens and Charming Toilettes

Gowns and Coats That Are Fashionable Just Now

BLACK is still popular for evening gowns, and some beautiful specimens are being shown at the round of social affairs with which the fashionables are now busy. Of the black materials that are being used in evening gowns lace and net are seemingly the most popular, though black mousseline de soie and liberty satin are often seen.

One of the most charming black evening gowns of the season is of fine

net delicately painted with white water lilies and their spreading leaves, with the lilies resting on a background of very fine spangles. I know that this gown has been worn on at least three different occasions this winter, but a different effect has been produced each time by changing the color of the slip over which it is worn. One time it was worn over white, another time over mauve, and a third time over a pale green. To my mind the last was the prettiest.

To go from evening gowns to street coats there is nothing that is enjoying quite so much popularity at the present time as the recent importation from London in the shape of the new "cavalier" coat. They are made in different shapes, yet all have the same general effect. The one shown in the illustration is of the long basque variety. It is of a light tan cloth, trimmed with both sable and a lace applique. Another variety that is popular shows a bolero effect.

Many charming tea gowns are being turned out by the modistes in anticipation of the coming of the Lenten season. One that I saw a day or two ago and admired very much was of ivory cashmere lined with silk, and having a Marie Antoinette fichu of silk muslin. The gown is caught up on the right shoulder by an old double silver buckle, and falls away to show an underdress of plaited silk muslin. The fastening is connected under the drapery on the left side. A double frill of silk muslin, with a narrow satin ribbon, edges the fichu and the dress, as well as the sleeves, which are rather full, and form a narrow cuff at the wrist.

Many Pretty Things in Linen are Being Shown

JANUARY is the month of linens. All over the country the stores advertise bargain sales and display their choicest selections in table linens, handkerchiefs, cushion covers, afternoon tea cloths, toilet mats, tray cloths, sideboard covers, doilies and a wealth of other things in linen.

Of these the handkerchief display leads, as a rule, and this year the variety shown in these dainty accessories is greater than has ever been known before. They are, of course, of the finest linen and are shown with duchess lace, French embroidery and valenciennes lace. They are also shown in the finest of Irish lawns, and one of this material has two rows of open work and lace insertion and edged with the finest of real lace.

Very pretty handkerchiefs of fine linen have hand-embroidered initials in the corner. And, by the way, the fad for initials promises to be a popular one this season. Other varieties show a variety of fine drawn thread work and hemstitching.

Table linens are always a staple commodity, but the styles in them change quite as decidedly as in gowns or coats, and this season offers many new varieties in the way of decoration. Floral designs in orchids, ferns, wild flowers, tulips, roses, and the Grecian scroll designs. The more expensive varieties are edged with duchess, renaissance or Battenberg lace. Drawn thread work with hemstitching is also in vogue. The tray cloths, sideboard covers and tea cloths conform closely in design and decoration to the table linen.

Cushion covers are shown in both linen and lawn and made to slip over colored cushions. Some of them are prettily embroidered in shamrock designs, and others in basket pattern, with trails of flowers wandering over the cover.

Empire Sequin-Embroidered Gowns are Popular

SEQUIN-EMBROIDERED dresses are a prominent feature of the season's fashion. As a rule, the embroideries are really executed on a foundation of net, but it may be so fine as to be hardly perceptible when worn, the satin appearing to be embroidered upon direct.

A favorite method of making up these beautiful works of the needle is to have a satin dress covered with just one layer of tulle, plain net, or chiffon of the same color as the satin, and on that place the net heavy with its embroideries; a little needful support is thus given to the fragile embroidered fabric, and yet the satin is sufficiently in evidence also.

A charming new notion is to have a lining of a network of gold, or some of the gold tissues that are to be had abundantly, laid over a satin foundation, and then covered with a drapery of tulle or Luxeuil lace. The gold shimmers through the delicate white covering with a charming effect. This notion is particularly effective when a dress is made in the empire design. A slender young married woman can be recommended to have her new evening gown built in this very becoming fashion.

The empire gowns of to-day are, of course, belted under the bust by a broad band of some very handsome trimming, but the waistline is more fully indicated than it was, judging from pictures, in the first Napoleon's days. In fact, a firmly-fitting princess dress of satin up to the bust covered with a lace robe that is only slightly shaped into the figure, then a belt under the bust, and a short bodice above, with little puffed sleeves, gives the best effect; and it is a very graceful style for a suitable figure. The skirt portion of such gown can be trimmed with trailing embroideries, which should be repeated on the small bodice that is just seen to exist above the deep belt that is laid beneath the bust.

Painted satin is used as empire evening gown ornamentation, too; and sets of artificial flowers are in keep-

Quaking of the Aspen.

It is well known that the vibratory motion of the leaf of the aspen and other poplar trees is caused by a flattening of the petiole at its junction with the lamina. The lower part of the leaf stalk is elongated and rigid, thus forming a basis upon which the flattened portion of the stalk can, in virtue of its elasticity, move to and fro as the wind acts upon the leaves of the tree. There have been several theories offered by botanists, none of them very satisfactory, however, to explain the origin of this curious structure and the purpose served by the "trembling" of the leaf. H. J. Colbourn, in a recent letter to Nature, suggests a new explanation. He thinks the vibration may be an adaptation for rapidly throwing off the excess of condensed moisture, which is liable to form on the foliage of trees in marshy situations.—N. Y. Times.

BASKET BALL.

The next basket ball game of importance scheduled to be played in this city will be on the evening of Monday, February 4, when the Fanwood Athletic Club will play a return game with the Business Men's team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. at the latter's gymnasium. It will be remembered that the Fanwood team won from the Business Men when the teams met at Fanwood, but that the Plainfielders were somewhat handicapped by the peculiar arrangement of the goals there. The Business Men expect to give their Fanwood rivals a lively match here and considerable interest is taken in the contest.

The basket ball team from Company M., N. J. N. G., of Somerville, will come to Plainfield some evening next month and play the Business Men's team of the Y. M. C. A. on the latter's gymnasium.

A number of important games are being arranged by Manager Walter L. Long, of the Fanwood A. C., for the basket ball team of that club.

ENJOYABLE TIME.

Party Given Last Evening by Miss Estella Brooks in Honor of Her Guest, Miss Bessie Ross.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed at the home of Miss Estella Brooks, of Duer street, last evening, when she gave a party to a number of her young friends, in honor of her guest, Miss Bessie Ross, of Bound Brook.

The evening was pleasantly passed in playing games and general hospitality. At a late hour refreshments were served, with which good humor and jokes were allowed full sway.

After thanking the hostess for the good time she had given them the guests departed for home, each one hoping that a similar time might be had in the near future.

Held on Manslaughter Charge.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, January 23.—Thomas Davis, who is accused of assaulting John Wellands, who died in St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, last Friday, was taken to New Brunswick yesterday. Word was received from Prosecutor Voorhees that the prisoner would be held on the charge of manslaughter. His attorney, Joseph Stricker, says he will endeavor to have Davis brought back to this city for a hearing before Justice Pickersgill.

Grip Among College Men.

Owen Fleming, of Park avenue, a student at Princeton University, and Edward Waring, of Park avenue, a student at Yale University, were sent to their homes in this city last week on account of illness. Both suffered from the grip. Fleming is now able to be out again, but Waring is still confined to the house. They hope to return to their studies in a week or two.

INTOXICANTS TO BLAME.

George R. Leland's Guests Became Hillarious at North Avenue Station and Were Arrested—Sentence Suspended.

There was a family gathering at the home of George R. Leland, on West Second street, yesterday. Mr. Leland had as his guests his brother, Henry C., from Brooklyn, and another brother from Massachusetts. The hospitality which George extended was of such a cordial nature that all hands became hillarious by the time the brothers started for home.

At the North Avenue station Henry C., who is over seventy years old, and his brother, George R., just past sixty-nine, became so talkative as to create a disturbance. The old men finally became so demonstrative that Patrolman Lunger was compelled to ask them to make less noise. Then there was trouble. The officer was given to understand that he must mind his own business. Both men gave the bluecoat a piece of their minds. The result was that they were arrested.

This morning in police court Henry Leland explained to City Judge Runyon that it was all a mistake. Lawyer William DeMeza was present to vouch for the previous good character of George R., whom he said had lived in Plainfield for nearly forty years. Henry Leland said that the younger brother was in a measure responsible for their drinking too much intoxicants.

In consideration of a promise from Henry Leland that he would write to his brother in Massachusetts and tell him of the trouble they got into after he left town, the magistrate said he would suspend sentence.

WILLIAM GARDNER PRESIDENT.

Newly-Elected Officers of Saengerbund Society Installed Last Evening.

The newly-elected officers of the Saengerbund Society were installed last evening at their hall on Somerset street in the borough. The officers are: President, William Gardner; vice-president, Henry Meyer; treasurer, Henry Haurand; financial secretary, Henry Bergen; recording secretary, Powell Posteler. After the installation ceremonies the members and their lady friends enjoyed a dance. During the evening plenty of refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed.

Still in Borough Lockup.

The name of the man arrested Monday afternoon by Marshal Emmons, charged with being drunk, is Patrick Fay, of Metuchen. He has been employed by T. M. Ingraham, a scavenger, of this city, who claims that Fay was taken ill and that he took a couple of drinks of whiskey which caused him to go all to pieces. For some reason Fay has been allowed to remain in the borough lockup since his arrest. He was still there at 11 o'clock this morning.

Stepped Off Porch and Broke Leg.

Christopher Keochlein, a well-known farmer living at Springdale, stepped off a porch at Bound Brook last Saturday and fractured his ankle. He was taken to Dr. Fisher's office where proper treatment was given. He was then sent home in Dr. Fisher's carriage. The injured man will be laid up for several weeks.

Attended Meeting at Paterson.

Great Sachem William Newcorn and William Westphal, of this city, attended a district meeting of Red Men at Paterson last evening, and they were both guests at a private dinner given early in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ragan, of that place.

Press Want Ad Result.

Mrs. Margaret A. Meeker, of East Front street, corner of Watchung avenue, lost a breastpin yesterday and advertised for it in The Press. It was found by John Hermann, of Whitewood avenue, and returned this morning. It pays to advertise in The Press.

David Harum Pictured.

To read the story of David Harum, the shrewd old Yankee, is an entertainment of itself. To have it brought home in the clever manner in which it is presented by Mr. Putnam is most delightful. See Y. M. C. A. ad in another column.

Supper at Parish House.

A supper, under the auspices of the social and sales committee of the Church of the Holy Cross, will be given in the parish house, Mercer avenue, tomorrow evening, from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Knights Of Columbus Met.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, held a regular meeting last evening, at which time all accounts to date were settled and several propositions for membership were received.

TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

GEO. L. VAN EMBURGH, ONE OF PLAINFELD'S OLDEST MERCHANTS.

Entire Stock Will be Disposed of by April 1st—Low Prices Will Prevail.

The host of friends of George L. VanEmburgh will learn with deep regret that he has decided to retire from business, after being numbered for many years among Plainfield's best merchants. He has been closely identified always with the best interests of the city, and his honorable and fair dealings with all has won for him a warm place in the hearts of all who know him. It is certainly to be regretted that he has decided to retire.

Mr. VanEmburgh is one of Plainfield's oldest business men. He came here in 1879 in the interest of Edsall & Price, of Newark, and for seven years he conducted a store for that firm on Front street. At the end of that time he went to Westfield and opened a dry goods store, remaining at that place four years. He then returned to Plainfield and formed a co partnership with Edward White, under the firm name of VanEmburgh & White. This firm continued for five years, after which Mr. VanEmburgh withdrew and formed a partnership with his son, F. M. VanEmburgh. In all Mr. VanEmburgh has been a merchant in Plainfield for twenty-one years, and during that time he held the highest respect and admiration of everyone.

Now that Mr. VanEmburgh has decided to retire from business, he will offer his entire stock of dry goods, notions, etc., at such prices that will assure a speedy sale. All goods must be sold between the present time and April 1, at which time his store lease expires. The store is located at 135 East Front street.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Flemington hams, at Rockfellow's.

—The Saengerbund Society will give a grand ball at their hall on Somerset street next Monday night.

—There will be a very interesting meeting at the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

—Rev. John MacMurray will be the speaker tomorrow evening at the special revival services being held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Westfield this week.

—Don't neglect your eyes or they may cause you great trouble in the future. Consult Stiles & Co., eye specialist, at 107 East Front street, tomorrow. Hours, 11:15 to 4:30.

—Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. L. W. Randolph.

Funeral of Mrs. Wagner.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Jacob Wagner were held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the home on West Fourth street. Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

There was a large and beautiful display of floral tributes, including a set piece from the K. of P. The interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

New Machinery for Laundry.

Hillier & Co. have just added new machinery to their laundry establishment which will enable them to give better service than ever. They are now making a specialty of the popular domestic finish.

Borough Victims Improving.

There is a marked improvement in the condition of the citizens of the borough who have been ill with grip. The cool weather is proving beneficial.

To Tell of Her Work.

Mrs. M. Hhair Allah, of Jerusalem, will address a meeting at the First Baptist church Friday evening, telling something of her work.

The Chameleon Fish.

There is a quaint little fish which haunts the weed tracts of the gulf stream and there builds its nests and lays its eggs like a bird rather than a fish. This animal—the antennarius—imitates in color the weed it lives in, and, like the chameleon, constantly changes its color.—Science.

Chinese as Gamblers.

The national vice of the Chinaman is gambling. Beggars in rags bet their last scrap of clothing. Certain fanatics stake their wives and children, and men have been known to wager their finger joints.—London Mail.

FOUR BROKEN RIBS.

Richard O'Neill, of New Street, Confined to His Home, the Result of a Fall Down Stairs.

Richard O'Neill, a machinist employed at the Aluminum Plate and Press Works, lies at his home on New street with severe injuries, the result of a fall last Friday evening.

Mr. O'Neill was descending the stairs at his home and when but a few steps from the top, he tripped suddenly and fell all the way to the bottom with great force. The members of the family rushed to his assistance and after making him as comfortable as possible Dr. Van Horne was summoned.

On examination, the latter found Mr. O'Neill's injuries to consist of four broken ribs, a badly sprained arm and sundry severe bruises. While no serious results are anticipated, the injuries are very painful and will confine the patient to his home for many weeks.

LARGE PLANER DAMAGED.

Shipped by Pond Tool Works Short Time Ago to Pittsfield, Mass.—Returned With Bed Cracked in Half.

A large planer, twenty eight feet in length and fifty inches across, shipped by the Pond Tool Works to a firm in Pittsfield, Mass., a short time ago, was returned to the local firm yesterday in a badly damaged condition. The bed of the planer was cracked in half, rendering the machine practically worthless. It is not at all unlikely that it will have to be entirely rebuilt which entails a heavy cost.

The railroad will probably be held responsible, as when the car reached its destination the machine had been driven two feet out of position, no doubt caused by heavy jarring in transportation.

"ELIJAH" REHEARSALS.

Special Rehearsals Will Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Very satisfactory work is being done by the chorus which will render the oratorio "Elijah" at Music Hall next month. At the regular rehearsal held Monday evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, the chorus showed a decided improvement in its work. The next rehearsal will be held tomorrow. The sopranos and altos will meet at the Y. M. C. A Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, while the tenors and basses will meet at the same place at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. The rehearsal next Monday evening will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

SURPRISERS SURPRISED.

Miss May Teller Had House Decorated and Was Waiting When Guests Arrived.

It was the intention of about twenty five friends of Miss May Teller, of Lafayette place, to give her a surprise last evening, but in some manner the secret leaked out. On arriving at her home, the intending surprisers were in turn surprised themselves to find the house prettily decorated with cut flowers and red and white streamers, and Miss Teller awaiting their coming.

The occasion was none the less enjoyable, however, and the evening passed all too quickly. Cards and dancing were the features, and a supper served at midnight terminated the festivities. The guests departed vowing Miss Teller an excellent hostess.

DRIVER THROWN OVER.

Exciting Runaway On Grandview Avenue This Morning—Otto Doodlestock Injured.

Otto Doodlestock, a produce dealer living in Washington Valley, was thrown out of his wagon and seriously injured in a runaway on Grandview avenue this morning. A dog rushed out at his horse and frightened the animal so that it ran away. Doodlestock was thrown out on his side while the wagon was entirely wrecked.

The horse ran down Watchung avenue and was caught near the bridge. The animal was badly cut. The contents of the wagon, which included eggs and butter, was scattered all over the street.

The Pool Tournament.

Three more good games were played in the pool tourney last evening, all of which were watched by a large crowd. The results were as follows: Melvin defeated Pope 60 to 42; McCann defeated Beekman 45 to 57; Ammons defeated Matthews 55 to 28. All of the games were close and some excellent plays were made by the contestants.

Bruised by Fall From Ladder.

Neal Head, of Prescott place, fell from a ladder while at work in the Pond Tool Works this morning. He was badly shaken up and had to be assisted to his home. A doctor was summoned, but his injuries were found to exist only of severe bruises.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Clara B. Scull, of Central avenue, to Fred H. Firstbrook, a popular young West End business man. The ceremony will probably take place during March.

FURTHER TALK ABOUT MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Subject Was Discussed at Length at Meeting of the Board of Trade.

THE CITY PAYS TOO MUCH.

MR. LOUNSBURY TOLD HOW CITY PAID $6,000 A YEAR FOR WATER.

Members of Board Thought City Could Carry on Such a Plant and Make It Self Supporting—Buy Present Plant or Buy a New One.

The Plainfield Board of Trade, like the Borough Common Council, has awakened to the idea that the city should own its electric light plant and water system. This matter has been agitated for a number of years, but no definite action has ever been taken and the subject has been allowed to end in talk.

When it is understood that this city pays nearly $6 000 for the privilege of using water that is pumped from the bowels of the earth, almost directly beneath its streets, it appears almost absurd and sets people to thinking.

At the close of Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade the cost of supplying the city with water came up incidentally. Mr. Lounsbury, who is secretary of the Board of Education, astonished the members of the Board of Trade by stating that the city was compelled to pay to the Plainfield Water and Supply Company the enormous sum of about $1,000 for supplying the public schools of the city with water. Besides this city has to pay $15 a year for each fire hydrant. There are 292 fire hydrants, which at $15 each, makes the sum of $4 380. To this add $1,000 for school purposes and it will be seen that the city is compelled to pay more than $5,000 to the Plainfield Water Supply Company each year for fire purposes and schools. Of course this is not all the city has to pay in the way of water.

Many of the citizens are anxious to do something in the way of having control of the water supply. Various opinions were advanced by the members. Mr. Lounsbury expressed the opinion that the city should at once take steps toward either building and operating its own plant or purchasing the present system. Mr. Lounsbury stated that the matter had been called to the attention of the Common Council but that nothing had ever been done about it. There was a time he said when the city had the privilege of buying the plant of the Plainfield Water Supply Company but that that time had been allowed to slip by.

Mr. Lounsbury said that if the citizens would wake up and give the water company to understand that they intended to operate a plant the company would be glad to sell at a reasonable figure. If it was found necessary to establish a new plant and relay pipes he believed it could be done without entailing much inconvenience to the public. The saving to the taxpayers, Mr. Loundsbury said, would in a few years pay for the cost of the new plant. He believed the water company was getting a handsome income from the city for the use of its water.

Mr. Loizeaux suggested that the city should have pumps, run by wind mills, established at each school when the city could pump its own water at a very small cost. These pumps and other apparatus cost about $100 and can be run daily for an expense of less than $25 a year. They are reliable and where they are used are considered very satisfactory.

C. W Runyon expressed the opinion that the matter ought to be taken up by the Board of Trade and presented to the Common Council in a proper manner. He thought that if the newspapers would agitate the matter it might awaken the citizens to the importance of owning a water system of its own.

President Woolston questioned whether the Common Council was in a position to do anything in the premises. He thought it a question that would have to be submitted to the voters. Perhaps if the subject was kept before the public until the next municipal election the people would understand it sufficiently to take some cognizance of its importance.

Mr. Laing also spoke in favor of the city owning the water system. He said that he realized that the tax payers were taxed heavily for water for city purposes. He believed that it was possible for the city to either buy the present plant or to establish a new

BIG BARN BURNED.

Four Horses, Eighteen Cows and Seventeen Hogs Perished in Fire At Flemington.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Flemington, Jan. 24—The large barn belonging to Arthur M. Hamblen, on the outskirts of this village, was totally destroyed by fire, together with its contents, including machinery and several hundred bushels of grain, early yesterday morning. Four horses, eighteen cows and seventeen hogs perished in the flames. The building was the largest in this county. The loss will reach $10 000, which is covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ABOUT MILITIA COMPANY.

PLAINFIELD'S ORGANIZATION WILL BE COMPANY K, SECOND REGIMENT.

Was Generally Supposed That Trenton Would Get That Company, But Authorities Assigned It Here.

Much interest has been shown by the young men of this city in the announcement made in yesterday's Daily Press that a militia company would be located in this city after all. The meeting at the Hotel Kensington this evening, at which Lieutenant Colonel Collins will be present and formulate the organization of the company, will doubtless be largely attended by those who are interested in the formation of the company.

A wrong impression prevails concerning the company which has been assigned to Plainfield. The general idea was that the company of Second Regiment of the New Jersey National Guard, which was supposed to go to Montclair, was assigned to Plainfield. It will be remembered that sometime ago Plainfield and Montclair were both after the company, but that it was given out that Montclair should receive it as that city already posessed an armory.

Plainfield militia company will be part of the Second Regiment but it will be Company K, which it was generally understood, was to be located in Trenton. The movement has even gone so far that a company had been recruited at the State capital. For some reason, the military authorities of the State decided that it would be better to give the company to Plainfield instead of having another in Trenton and so the change was made.

PETITIONS CIRCULATED.

Local Workmen Ask Congress to Pass The Ship Subsidy Bill—Said Fowler Favors It.

Senator Hanna's bill, which purposes subsidizing American shipping lines has met with strong opposition. When the bill was first introduced, it was generally thought that it would pass with a rush. Unexpected obstacles, however, have cropped out in Senator Hanna's own ranks and consequently the measure halts.

In order to aid the measure petitions are in circulation urging the passage of the bill. Recently a petition was circulated in this city and it is being signed by the employes of the Pond Machine Tool Company, the Potter Press Works and in various other shops, praying that Congress will pass the measure. It is understood that Congressman Fowler, of this district, is in favor of the measure and that he is the author of the petition in this vicinity.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER WEDDED.

T. E. Warman Married to Miss Watts in New York Last Monday.

Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Thomas E. Warman, formerly a resident on Grove street, in the borough, to Miss Fanny J. Watts, daughter of the late C L. Watts, of New York The event occurred Monday afternoon at the home of the bride on Twenty-eighth street, and Rev. Stephen G. Holmes, a rector in the Episcopal church, officiated. The bride formerly lived on Grove street, and both she and her husband have many friends in this city and the borough. They will reside in New York after a short wedding trip.

Jubilee Singers Will be There.

FINAL STEP TAKEN IN SEWELL'S ELECTION

Joint Session of Legislature Held Yesterday and Election Was Formally Announced.

IN ASSEMBLY CHAMBER.

CHAIRMAN PITNEY READ RECORD OF BOTH HOUSES SHOWING VOTE.

Few Visitors Were Present at Ceremonies, But Audience Showed Wild Enthusiasm When Result Was Announced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 24.—William J. Sewell, of Camden, was formally declared re-elected to a third term of six years as United States Senator from New Jersey at a joint session of the State Legislature, held in the assembly chamber at noon yesterday. Excepting for the presence of a large number of State officials and politicians, who lined up behind the railing several deep, there was little more interest displayed in the proceedings than at the preceding day's election. A fringe of spectators filled the front seats in the gallery, and the announce- of General Sewell's election, made by Senator Mahlon Pitney, who presided at the joint session, was greeted with wild applause.

The hands of the big clock over the speaker's desk pointed exactly to the meridian as the twenty one Senators entered the Assembly Chamber, escorted by House Sergeant-at Arms Frank Tantum, and marched down the aisle in pairs, while the House members stood in respectful silence. When the Senators had all entered the Assembly Chamber, Speaker Bradley rapped for order and the members seated themselves, the Senators occupying chairs placed before the speaker's desk.

On motion of Senator Reed, of Somerset, Senator Pitney, the president of the Senate, was named as chairman, and Senate Secretary Edge and House Clerk Parker were made clerks of the joint session.

Secretary Edge read the record of the Senate election yesterday, showing General Sewell to have received 17 votes in that body to 4 for Alvah A Clark, and the record of the House election showing the vote to have been 45 for Sewell and 13 for Clark. After the reading of the journal Senator Pitney said:

"The journals of the Senate and House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey show that a majority of the votes of the members of this Legislature having been recorded for Gen. William J. Sewell, I now declare him to be elected to be Senator from New Jersey in the Congress of the United States for the term beginning March 4, 1901."

For State director of joint companies, Senator McCarter nominated Charles Bradley, of Essex, and Senator Hudspeth, for the Democrats, named Patrick Doyle, of Hudson. Bradley was elected by a party vote. This office, which pays no salary, is simply honorary.

On motion of Senator Reed the joint session adjourned at once until Tuesday, February 5, when it will convene to elect commissioners of deeds.

Woodhull & Martin Making Improvements.

Woodhull & Martin, the popular dry goods firm, are making some extensive alterations at their store, so that they may have more needed room. Miss Gassner, the milliner, will leave the place February 1, and the room now occupied by her department will be devoted to a suit department. The firm has had great demands for ladies' suits and they have decided to put in a complete line of them. This they can do with the increased room. The firm will not conduct a millinery department.

Flooded Cory Building.

A few nights ago the water pipes in the Cory building on Park avenue burst and the building was deluged with water. It was impossible to get into the building and the floors and walls were thoroughly soaked before the water could be shut off. At present the place is not occupied, that is the first floor, and the damage was not so great.

Both Doing Well.

Eugene Chamberlain, of Whitehouse, and Herman Ernest, of Bound Brook, the two men who were injured in accidents last Monday, and now at the hospital, are both doing well. It is expected that Ernest will be discharged in a short time.

MUCH MILK SOLD HERE IS WATERED.

Borough Board of Health Made Tests of Borough's Milk Supply and Isn't Satisfied.

STATE INSPECTOR IS HERE.

CLAIM SKIM MILK IS SOLD FOR PURE AND MEASURE IS SHORT.

Many Samples Secured By State Dairy Inspector This Morning—Will Be Sent to State Chemist to Be Tested.

The efforts which the North Plainfield Board of Health has been making for several months to ascertain the quality of milk that is being sold in the borough appear to be succeeding. For several weeks William E. Honeyman, secretary of the Board, assisted by Health Inspector Pangborn, has been making an inspection of milk that is being sold among the citizens. In all seventy tests have been made by the aid of the lactometer and creamometer.

These tests have satisfied the Board that they were working in the right direction. The Board was satisfied of three things. First, that much of the milk was watered. Second, they were positive that milk, which had been partially skimmed, was being sold as pure; and third that some of the pint bottles in which the milk was placed held but nine-tenths of a pint when completely filled. A pint of milk should weigh 16 fluid ounces by law.

With these suspicions and facts in view the local Board decided to have the milk question looked into more carefully than they were able to do. At the request of Secretary Honeyman, State Dairy Inspector S S. Vandruff, of Dickertown, came to Plainfield. This morning he started out with Health Inspector Pangborn. They succeeded in getting thirty samples of milk from various dealers. The milk was placed in small bottles and has been shipped by Mr. Vandruff to Shippen Wallace, the State chemist at Trenton, who will make an analysis of the entire quantity.

There are about eighty peddlers and dealers who sell milk in this city and the borough. The Borough Board of Health has by no means finished its labors in the direction of inspecting milk sold hereabouts. There are yet several other dealers whose milk will be carefully inspected.

It is the purpose of the Board of Health to follow this matter up persistently. Where it is found that dealers are violating the law they will be prosecuted.

LOST VALUABLE HORSE.

Former Sheriff Wm. T. Kirk Compelled to Kill Equine Which Was Injured Last November.

Former Sheriff William T. Kirk, of West Seventh street, was compelled to shoot a valuable mare yesterday. The animal, which was quite a speedy one, was injured early last November. In turning around on East Fourth street in front of Mr. Kirk's office, the horse slipped on the car rails and fell. Both knees were cut open and the bones injured. Mr. Kirk made every possible effort to save the horse but the animal's legs stiffened out so that it was unable to walk. Its condition grew worse and worse until death came to end its sufferings.

Celebrated Sixth Birthday.

Walter Glaentzer celebrated his sixth birthday yesterday by entertaining a number of his young friends at his home on New street. The afternoon passed very pleasantly with games and the serving of refreshments. Those present were Olive Hedden, Ruth Wean, Marion Wean, Ethel Mehl, Alice Mehl, Mildred Preimer, Frances Mosher, Edward Glaentzer, Edith Glaentzer, Leslie Satterly, Arthur Compton, Greta Trembly and Cecil Rockfeller.

Wouldn't Adjourn Case.

The cases of Mayor N. B. Smalley and J. W. VanSickle against Vail were dismissed in Justice Nash's court yesterday afternoon. The plaintiffs had already had one adjournment and the Justice would not grant another one, hence the dismissal of the cases. J. P. D. Kirch represented the plaintiffs.

Red Men's Big Time.

Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., will meet this evening and entertain Arasapha Tribe, of Atlantic City. The latter tribe will work the adoption in the natural form, and there will be many features. A great many visiting Red Men are expected and a banquet will follow.

ORGANIZER DAVIS IS FINALLY HEARD FROM

Appeared in Paterson and Explained Why He Left So Suddenly.

CALLED TO OTHER FIELDS.

SAYS THE FUNDS WERE FORWARDED TO CHICAGO.

Resigned His Place as Leader of Newark Branch, As He Was Ordered to Pennsylvania—Newark Members Feel Better Now.

After worrying the members of the Newark Branch of the University Association by his sudden disappearance, Clarence Davis, State organizer of that association. He was present and conducted the first study session of the Paterson Branch Tuesday evening. It will be remembered that Mr. Davis was the organizer of the Plainfield Branch nearly a year ago.

To Paterson reporters Mr. Davis made explanation of his resignation from the work in Newark. There was a general misunderstanding, he said, and that bad made him the victim of unwelcome notoriety. Mr. Davis said:

"My work in a town or city ends when I have organized a centre there and have helped it to start along sufficiently for it to be able to run itself. I am not called upon to deliver lectures or conduct class meetings and when I do I receive no pay for it whatever. When I organized the Newark centre the members asked me if I would not conduct the classes. I said I would as long as it was possible for me to do so, and this I have done ever since, with two exceptions, receiving, as I said before, not a cent of compensation.

"The money I collect does not go to me. I send it to Chicago. I don't see how my letters to Newark parties could have been so misunderstood. I was directed from the home office to leave New Jersey as a field and seek other likely places for the establishment of centres. I went to Easton and Allentown, Pa., and I found that I could not take care of the Newark classes any longer and so gave them up. I was not successful in my quest and may now go to Maryland or elsewhere. I shall attend the meeting of the classes in Newark and at the next meeting of the Paterson centre I shall be present if possible. If I cannot be there some one else able to lead you will do so."

The members of the Newark branch are feeling somewhat better about the absence of Mr. Davis and a letter received from the head officials of the association has tended to put them more at their ease. It is now decided that the Newark branch will continue its meetings as usual.

DANCED AT CASINO.

Young Married Set Gave Second of Series of Successful Dances Last Evening.

The second of the series of four dances given by the young married set of the city took place last evening at the Casino, and the attendance was larger than the first, there being over one hundred couples present. As on the previous occasion everyone had a thoroughly enjoyable time. There were no special decorations, but the pretty women and their fashionable gowns lent a peculiar charm that is generally noticeable at such affairs.

The cotillion was led by Lewis G. Timpson and Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, after which the regular programme of dances was given. The excellent music was a feature and assisted very much in making the event one of great success. The third dance will be given in February.

Masonic Grand Lodge Meeting.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 24.—The Grand Lodge of New Jersey, Free and Accepted Masons, met in annual session at Masonic Temple yesterday. There was a large representation present, among the honorary guests being the Grand Masters from New York, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The principal business of yesterday's session was the hearing of the reports of Past Grand Master Josiah E. Ewan, of Mount Holly, and the address of Grand Master Joseph E. Moore, of Jersey City.

SENTENCE PASSED.

Thirty Days in Jail for Stealing Brasses—James Downes Pleaded Guilty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, January 24—In the Union County Court yesterday Frank Rothline, of Newark, who was arrested for stealing brass valves from the New Jersey Central Railroad cars, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Vail to thirty days in the county jail. Rothline has spent over a month in prison since his arrest. He is 21 years old.

James Downes, of Westfield, pleaded guilty to atrocious assault and was remanded one week for sentence.

HIGH SCHOOL WON AT HOCKEY

DEFEATED LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM BY SCORE OF 1 TO 0.

Leal's Boys Had Superior Team Work—Long Run by Arthur Denton Ended in the Only Goal.

By good individual work the Plainfield High School hockey team defeated the Leal's School team on Holly's pond yesterday by a score of 1 to 0. Not having practiced to any extent the High School boys were lacking in team work, while in this the Leal team excelled. The former team was able to cope with them, however, and the first half ended without either side securing a goal.

In the second half the playing on both sides was excellent and for some time it looked as if the game would end in a tie. In a lucky moment Arthur Denton, of the High School team, secured the ball and running nearly the entire length of the course, made the one goal which won the game.

Following is the line up:

| HIGH SCHOOL. | | LEAL'S. |
|---|---|---|
| Meeker | goal | Mellick |
| Robert | point | H. Rogers |
| Pond | cover point | Abbott |
| Miller | forwards | R. Schoonmaker |

SCHOOLS ARE CROWDED.

Promotions in Borough School Will Make Re-Arrangement Necessary With Present Accommodations.

The crowded condition of the schools of the borough is becoming a serious matter with Superintendent Wightman and the teachers. The promotions that are about to be made at the Somerset street building will necessitate changes among the pupils who will have to be taken care of.

The satisfactory work that has been done by many of the pupils is very gratifying to the teachers. Some of the pupils have attained high percentages in their studies and they must now be promoted to other grades, thereby causing a general change and entirely new arrangements in providing for them.

The question of more room is one of the important matters which the Board of Education will have to look into in the near future.

CRASHED IN POLE.

Exciting Runaway at Freight Station Yesterday Afternoon.

A team of horses belonging to Frank Rickert and attached to a heavy truck, were standing at the freight house yesterday afternoon when they became frightened at a passing locomotive. The animals dashed out of the freight yard, pulling the heavy truck over two tracks, and brought up with a crash against a telephone pole on North avenue.

Both horses freed themselves from the harness but were caught before going any distance. The truck was badly damaged in front, but the team escaped injury.

Great Fire Sale.

C. E. Gulick & Co., the Park grocers, Duer street and Lincoln place, will sell the stock that was damaged by water and smoke at their fire. Everything will be sold regardless of cost. These goods are first class and are only slightly damaged by smoke and water. Sale commences tomorrow morning.

Mayor Will Probably Appeal.

Mayor Smalley, of the borough, will decide today or tomorrow whether he will take an appeal from the decision given in the case of W. J. Pride against himself. The chances are strongly in favor of appeal.

Special Endeavor Service.

The service at Trinity Reformed church next Sunday evening will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. F. H. Andrews will speak and Horace J. Martin will be in charge of the music.

Gave Handsome Wreath.

The employes of the North Avenue station and those at the freight office presented a handsome wreath composed of smilax and roses to the late Mrs. Jacob Wagner.

IMPORTANT POST FOR AN ANTI-KEAN MAN.

Appointment of Former Mayor Rankin to State Board of Assessors Was Significant.

VOORHEES SCORED POINT.

SENATE CONFIRMED APPOINTMENT OF S. ST. JOHN M'CUTCHEN.

Was Named by Governor For Another Term on State Board of Education—Other Appointments Were Approved by the Senate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 24—Previous to the joint session of the Legislature, brief business sessions were held by both the house and Senate yesterday morning, and both houses adjourned for the week.

Several nominations were sent to Senate by Governor Voorhees, including that of ex-Mayor John O. Rankin, of Elizabeth, to succeed Amos Gibbs, of Burlington, as a member of the State Board of Assessors. This appointment has been expected for a week or more, and is regarded as a move of the Executive to score a point against the forces led by United States Senator Kean, by whom the Union county faction, headed by Charles N. Codding, Governor Voorhees and the ex Mayor, recently suffered defeat in the organization of the Union County Republican Committee.

The full list of the other nominations sent in yesterday is as follows:

Members of State Board of Taxation—Major Carl Lentz and Charles C. Black, re appointed.

Judge of Orange District Court—Charles Bigelow Storrs, re-appointed.

Prosecutor of the Pleas for Warren County — George A. Angle, re-appointed.

Members of State Board of Education—Otto Crouse, Seventh district, four years; Francis Scott, Fifth district, four years; James L. Hays, Sixth district, five years; Samuel St. John McCutchen, Third district, five years.

Public Library Commissioners—Moses Taylor Pyne, five years; William C. Kimball, four years; Everett T. Tomlinson, three years; Frank P. Hill, two years; Ernest C. Richardson, one year.

In accordance with Senate precedence, the appointment of State School Commissioner Hays, who is an ex-Senator, was confirmed at once, the others being referred to committees.

Half a dozen Assembly bills were reported favorably by committees in the sessions yesterday morning. Assemblyman Bacheller's bill adjusting the salaries of the District Court Judges was reported with an amendment changing the basis of population grading salaries.

Among the other bills reported favorably was Mr. Bacheller's act enabling Newark to borrow money on temporary loans in anticipation of taxes to relieve the financial embarrassment of the Board of Education.

A bill intended to allow the Pennsylvania Railroad to replace its present bridge across the Delaware, at Trenton, with a four-track bridge, was introduced by Senator Hutchinson. The company is to pay damages to the State riparian commissioner for any State lands used in extending its tracks or bridge. As the New Jersey Legislature has jurisdiction only to the middle of the river, a similar law will have to be passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature before the new bridge can be built.

Senator Reed presented a proposed revision of the Epileptic Village law, which provides for the commitment of all epileptics in the various asylums in the State to the epileptic village in Somerset county, the State to pay for their maintenance at the village in the same proportion now paid.

All Is Ready Now.

The annual turkey supper will be given at Trinity Reformed church this and tomorrow evenings under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. Every preparation has been made for a good time and an excellent programme of music will be given each evening.

Living Near Denver.

Word has been received concerning John Dalziel and family, who formerly resided on Plainfield avenue. They are living near Denver, Col., and it is not improbable that they may come east next spring.

McCollough's Mill Shut Down.

R. H. McCollough's mill, on Steiner place, shut down today and will remain so for a few days so that repairs can be made to the boiler.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

"The Ladder of Life," a first class dramatic presentation, will be the attraction at Music Hall tonight and from all accounts, will be well worth seeing. It comes to this city direct from the Metropolis Theatre, New York city, where it met with the most unstinted praise from both press and public. The play was such a rare treat in the way of a good, wholesome melo-drama that the papers devoted more than the usual space to its synopsis and the excellent company presenting it. The cast is a large one and is made up of people well known in the profession, including Miss Myrtle Edwards, Guy T. Bennette, Mamie Lincoln, P. C. Foy, Dave Rivers, Jas J. Connors, Chas. Manton, Ira T. Moore and many others equally as well known. All the scenery used is carried by the company and is said to be the best that money can buy. The play is intensely interesting, and the climaxes are strong. It has none of the usual exaggerated lines so familiar in melo-dramas, but it is true to nature. The cast alone should guarantee a good night's entertainment. The play will have another New York production early in the spring.

* * * * * * *

Charles Leyburne and his big Bon Ton Stock Company will open a week's engagement at Music Hall, commencing Monday night next. "The Princess of Patches" will be the opening bill. This is a story of life in the south, and is from the pen of that well-known playwright, Mark E. Swan. Mr. Leyburne will be seen as "Waggles," a part in which will be found plenty to amuse the audience. That very petite soubrette, Miss Emma Bunting, will assume the role of "Nettles, the Princess of Patches." Specialties will be introduced between acts. Professor Saunders will present on Monday night, the pantomime of "Cinderella," in two acts, with the moving picture machine. Illustrated songs will be sung and numerous other features introduced. Ladies' tickets and 15 cents will secure the best seat in the house Monday night.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Paterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

George Conover, of South Second street, is confined to his home with scarlet fever.

The Misses Bessie and Bettie Trottner, of Yonkers, will come to Plainfield this week to visit relatives.

A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, who has been ill with the grip, has gone to Lakewood to recuperate.

—The Borough Board of Health will meet in regular session Monday evening.

—The regular meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held Monday evening at the Public Library.

—An evening of music and merriment is in store for those who attend the entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. star course Monday evening.

—This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. L. W. Randolph.

Rev. George H. Whitney, of First place, has been a sufferer with the grip.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, of Central avenue, is confined to his home by illness.

Mifford Giles, of LaGrande avenue, is improving from an attack of appendicitis.

Edward Wrage, who has been living in Texas for some time past, has returned to Plainfield.

Cure every kidney ill from back troubles to diabetes.

Here's a Plainfield case to prove it.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

AT ALBANY.

Dr. Mary Walker Before the Ways and Means Committee.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—Dr. Mary Walker, in masculine attire, was the center of attraction yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the ways and means committee. In a forcible argument she endeavored to convince the committee that it would be a great salvation to the state if instead of purchasing a costly site for the erection of a state hospital for consumptives they would appropriate $50,000 for the erection of a consumptive school sanitarium on her property in Oswego county. This sanitarium, she claimed, would be self supporting.

In closing the doctor warned the members of the committee to be careful and not take cold, because the bulk of consumptives contracted the disease in that manner. Chairman Allds attempted to shift responsibility by jokingly informing the doctor that Assemblyman Costello of Oswego would draw a bill embodying her suggestions. This put an end to the hearing, and the doctor gracefully retired after thanking the members for their undivided attention.

The annual report of the court of claims transmitted to the legislature shows that there have been in the past two years 878 claims against the state filed with the court for damages growing out of the $9,000,000 canal improvement work. The aggregate amount claimed was $2,399,393. The court during the past year disposed of 528 claims. The aggregate amount claimed by the claimants who filed these claims was $1,023,000 and the aggregate of the awards by the court was $490,000.

WRECKS ANOTHER SALOON.

Mrs. Nation Demolished the Furnishings With Rocks and Hatchet.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Carrie Nation wrecked the fourth saloon yesterday at Enterprise, a small town near here. She left Wichita late last night to prevent being hurt by a mob which pursued her around town and threatened to lynch her. From Wichita she went to Newton, and later went to Enterprise, arriving there early yesterday. As soon as she arrived in town she went to W. C. T. U. headquarters and held a consultation with women of that order, who advised her to smash the Shilling saloon, one of the finest in town. The meeting was secret, and few of the townspeople knew that she was there.

About 4 o'clock she armed herself with hatchet and rocks and proceeded down the main street. She kept the weapons under her black silk cape. When she arrived in front of John Shilling's place, she opened fire with rocks and smashed the large plate glass windows. She then went inside and proceeded to ruin the fixtures. A large mirror behind the bar, several pictures of women, a large refrigerator, eight cases of wine and many bottles of whisky were spoiled. The bartender drew a revolver and threatened to kill her, but she laughed at him and dared him to shoot. She even chased him, hatchet in hand, and he fled, as did all the other men in the place, leaving her to have things her own way. Twenty women of the town stood in front of the saloon while she demolished the interior.

After the wreckage was complete the women went down the street singing, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

CHINA MUST COMPLY

Troops Will Remain Until Demands Are Satisfied.

EMPRESS DOWAGER'S LATEST PLEA.

Ministers Decide That China Must at Once Issue Orders and Carry Out Penalties Called For In the Joint Note.

PEKING, Jan. 24.—At a meeting of the foreign ministers held at the residence of Sir Ernest Satow, the British representative, yesterday the Chinese reply to the preliminary demand note was considered.

The ministers are unanimously of opinion that China has misconstrued article 12 of the note, as the memorandum of the Chinese envoys says:

"Inasmuch as China has complied with and signed the treaty presented by the foreign representatives to the satisfaction of the powers the forces at present occupying Peking and the province of Chi-li should, in accordance with the terms of the note, be withdrawn."

The ministers decided that as this misapprehension existed in the minds of the Chinese plenipotentiaries steps should be taken at once to impress upon them the necessity of reading the article in question to mean that the troops would not be withdrawn until all the articles in the note had been complied with to the satisfaction of the powers.

The ministers were unanimously of the opinion that China must proceed at once to issue the edicts demanded in the note and inflict the punishments called for. Several of the ministers have received instructions that they must insist on the death penalties being carried out. Others, like Mr. Conger, the American minister, have not been instructed on this point.

Much of the talk at the meeting of the ministers was in regard to this same matter of punishments, and there was a decided difference of opinion as to the necessity of inflicting the death penalty in the case of some of the princes.

Right here it is interesting to call attention to an edict issued by the empress dowager which was received by Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching today and which says:

"I cannot punish Tung Fu Hsian any further than I have already decreed."

This general is now in the province of Kansu, surrounded by a strong army. Prince Tuan is also in that province, where he is staying with his father-in-law, and many Mongol princes are gathered there to see what is going to be done.

Even if Tuan is cornered, Tung Fu Hsian will certainly protect him. The Mohammedan revolt in that province, which has been mentioned in these dispatches before, complicates matters in regard to these two particular offenders.

The ministers have agreed to present lists of those persons whose punishment will be demanded at their next meeting. All these lists will then be combined in one general list. Then they will be ready to meet the Chinese commissioners.

The discussion of other matters and questions in the Chinese note was not finished—that is, no decision was reached.

Prince Ching says he considers the Chinese requests reasonable and feels sure that the United States will agree to them, as well as most of the other nations.

Russia and Germany have reached an agreement as to the terms on which the railroad is to be transferred to the latter. The Germans will assume absolute control tomorrow, but they will shortly transfer the line to the British.

Creeks Still In Arms.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 24.—The Creek trouble continues. The full bloods are still in arms, terrorizing the whites, and are posting notices threatening lives. Two full blood members of the Snake party were arrested yesterday afternoon at Checotah and brought to Muskogee. The Snake party sent word to Marshal Bennett that if the men arrested were not released in 24 hours they would burn Checotah. The citizens fear an attack and are armed. Alex Evans and Eugene Newton were captured and taken away by the Snake band. It is feared that if relief does not come from federal troops bloodshed will soon follow. Marshal Bennett says he will lead a band of 50 deputies against the Snake party if troops are not sent soon.

The Magyars to Leave Connecticut.

NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 24.—A band of 31 Magyars who since their arrival in this country several weeks ago have been camping near Danielson and Norwich, constituting by their apparent poverty a problem for the authorities, will leave the state Saturday night, going by steamer from New London to New York on their way to Alabama, which they say is their destination. The state agent of the Connecticut Humane society who visited their camp found evidences of great suffering from exposure among the children of the party. Two men and a woman were taken into custody, but were afterward released on promising to leave the state Saturday with the rest of the party, selling what effects they possess to pay their traveling expenses.

Irish Mayors Elected.

DUBLIN, Jan. 24.—The lord mayors of the Irish cities were chosen yesterday. In Dublin Sir Thomas D. Pile, who was last year's successful candidate, withdrew, and Mr. Timothy Charles Harrington, member of parliament for the Harbour division of Dublin, was elected without opposition. In Cork Alderman Fitzgerald was chosen over Sir Eugene Crean, member of parliament for the Southeast division of Cork, who was last year's successful candidate.

Can Prove an Alibi.

RUMFORD CENTER, Me., Jan. 24.—From information gathered here since the arrest of John McLain in Skowhegan yesterday on suspicion of being connected with the murder of Clifford Mosher at Gorham on the night of Jan. 12 it is believed that the police all the time have been looking for the wrong man. It has been learned that McLain's movements can be accounted for in this vicinity fully enough to establish an alibi.

Objected to Edward's Rule.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 24.—Patrick Kelly, 28, a native of Ireland, is probably the first British subject in the United States to renounce allegiance to King Edward VII. Kelly was granted final naturalization papers in central district court at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning, and when asked whether he did not want to try the new king a while replied, "Not a minute."

OATH TAKEN BY KING

England's New Sovereign at St. James'.

PARLIAMENT SWEARS ALLEGIANCE.

Crowds Cheer Edward VII in London—Dead Queen Lies at Osborne House—Plans For the Funeral.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Empires take no cognizance of grief or of monarchs that are gone. The whole machinery of the state was employed yesterday in installing the new sovereign and acclaiming him as king.

No one now lives who took part or was present at the functions which were last performed 63 years ago. Therefore the actors were guided only by tradition. This in itself was inadequate, for the progress of human knowledge and the growth of the empire have compelled certain modifications of the ancient ceremonies. It was appropriate enough before the days of telegraphs and railroads that mounted couriers should ride from town to town and heralds with trumpets should announce the accession of Queen Victoria.

A portion of the quaint ceremony will be preserved. Heralds proclaimed Edward VII as king this morning in all parts of the empire, but electric wires will enable its being done at practically the same moment throughout the realm.

The privy council met at St. James' palace at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The lord mayor, the recorder and the sheriffs arrived first, fully robed and in levee dress. Then came a long string of civic carriages, the coachmen and footmen wearing black gloves and black bands on their left arms. The cloth of gold hammer cloths of the coaches were partly covered by large triangles of crape fastened in large crape rosettes.

Then came the king, escorted by a detachment of the Life guards.

Not until the approaches to St. James' palace were reached did the dense crowds raise their voices in cheers for the new king. Before that they bowed their heads and silently raised their hats.

The king at first was in a separate room from the privy councilors. The Duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council, formally announced the death of the queen. The royal dukes and some lords of the council then repaired to the king's presence and acquainted him with the duke's announcement.

Then the king entered the council and spoke briefly. The lord chancellor administered the oath to the king, and the members of the council took the oath of allegiance.

The following is the full text of his majesty's accession speech:

"Your royal highnesses, my lords and gentlemen, this is the most painful occasion on which I shall ever be called upon to address you. My first and melancholy duty is to announce to you the death of my beloved mother, the queen, and I know how deeply you and the whole nation and, I think I may say, the whole world sympathize with me in the irreparable loss we have all sustained.

"I need hardly say that my constant endeavor will be always to walk in her footsteps. In undertaking the heavy load which now devolves upon me I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word and so long as there is breath in my body to work for the good and amelioration of my people.

"I have resolved to be known by the name of Edward, which has been borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert, which I inherit from my ever to be lamented great and wise father, who by universal consent is, I think deservedly, known by the name of Albert the Good, and I desire that his name should stand alone.

"In conclusion, I trust to parliament and the nation to support me in the arduous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance and to which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remainder of my life."

During the ceremony attending the accession of the king all the royal dukes were present, as well as the members of the cabinet, the archbishop of Canterbury, the judges, the lord mayor and the aldermen and sheriffs of the city of London, the latter being there by traditional privilege. A few gentlemen in plain clothes were also there to represent the fact that the public have a nominal right to be present on such occasions.

The king wore a field marshal's uniform, with the ribbon of the Order of the Garter. He spoke without notes for seven or eight minutes. The general feeling was that his speech was admirable in its tone and touching in its dignity and pathos.

Immediately after the ceremony the royal dukes came forward, took the oath of allegiance and kissed the king's hand. They were followed by the archbishop of Canterbury, who went through the same ceremony. Then came the members of the cabinet, who were sworn in a body, each kissing the king's hand in succession. The members of the privy council were also sworn in a body, but the homage paid by them subsequently was individual. The meeting of the privy council lasted an hour.

Plans for the funeral of the dead queen were discussed at a meeting of the authorities of the royal household at Buckingham palace last evening. At the college of arms it was said that the date of the funeral could not be settled until it was known when the European royalties or their representatives could arrive, but that the function would be held at the earliest possible date for the convenience of Emperor William, whose stay in England might be unavoidably limited.

Buckingham palace is being made ready for the royal persons who are arriving in London. Representatives of all the royal families of Europe will probably be present at the funeral, including the kings of Italy, Belgium and Greece, the crown princes of Germany and Sweden and Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria. All the European courts will go into mourning for various periods.

PARLIAMENT MEETS.

The houses of parliament assembled yesterday afternoon.

In the house of commons there was a full attendance, except where the Irish Nationalists usually sit. Speaker William Court Gully entered at 4 o'clock. He reminded the members of the house that in consequence of the decease of the deeply lamented queen it was now their duty to take the oath of allegiance to her successor, his majesty King Edward VII. He read the form of oath standing and then signed the roll.

In the house of lords the lord chancellor, attired in the black robes of a law officer of the crown, entered about 4 o'clock. About 100 peers were present and a number of peeresses dressed in mourning occupied seats in the galleries.

The lord chancellor took the oath of allegiance and signed the roll. He was followed by Prime Minister Salisbury, Earl Roberts, commander in chief of the forces; the Duke of York and the Duke of Connaught.

The house of commons rose at 6:50 o'clock. Not a word had been spoken by any one beyond the taking of the oath of allegiance.

It is stated unofficially that the sitting of parliament will terminate on Friday. It is also stated that the king has decided to open parliament in person.

Among the innumerable telegrams of sympathy that continue pouring in from abroad President McKinley's gives the greatest pleasure. The Daily Chronicle remarks:

"It is believed that President McKinley's dispatch was the first to reach the Prince of Wales under his new title, and as Frederick the Great was the first European sovereign to recognize the independence of the United States so now the president of the great republic has been the first to acknowledge the kingship of the great-grandson of the monarch against whose authority the American colonists successfully rebelled.

"This is very touching when one remembers the visit of the Prince of Wales to Washington's tomb. Probably it was some remembrance of that incident which made President McKinley hasten to be the first to salute the Prince of Wales as king, and the compliment, we are told, was most keenly appreciated."

A SERVICE FOR THE DEAD.

Additional Details of Queen Victoria's Death.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 24.—At 11 o'clock this morning the members of the royal family gathered around the body of the late queen, which lies in a simple coffin in the Chapelle Ardente, festooned with red and white hangings. The bishop of Winchester, standing before an altar removed for the occasion from the private chapel, read a portion of the service for the dead.

The coffin rests upon a specially erected platform draped with royal purple, the feet lying to the east. The head faces the simple altar. Over the features is a thin veil.

For a few hours after the conclusion of this service the public were admitted to the room and allowed to view the remains of the sovereign who so long reigned over them. The body will rest there until Sunday, and it is probable that no removal will occur for ten days.

Details of the dying hours were not obtainable until late last evening. It appears that the queen was moved on Sunday from her big bed into a small cot specially built with springs, which was surrounded by a screen. This was to enable the doctors to reach the patient easily on both sides, which was impossible when she lay in a bed six feet wide. In this small bed she passed away.

On Tuesday afternoon all the members of the family were in readiness for the end. At 4 the Prince of Wales was summoned. Half an hour later he was joined by the other members of the family. At 5 o'clock the Duchess of York arrived, and the queen kissed her, saying, "I am glad you have come."

The bishop of Winchester began to pray. The queen slowly sank into unconsciousness. At 6:15 p. m. the end was thought to have come. The Prince of Wales and several others walked out of the room.

But the vitality of the queen once more won the day. For another 15 minutes, with only the Princess of Wales and a few others present, the feeble spark of life was maintained. At 6:30, with Emperor William, the Prince of Wales and the others absent, death actually came.

Death has softened the beautiful face, and the thin veil conceals no terrible defects. The hand of the mighty leveler dealt with her lovingly, and as the last visitation of nature has been mercifully mitigated so also have been the pomp and glory which accompany the succession of the king. Tuesday night neither he nor his wife would allow their entourage to address them by their correct titles.

Messages of condolence do not cease to pour in from all quarters of the world. President McKinley's early cablegram created a most favorable impression. It was handed around among the royal personages at breakfast yesterday morning, with the general comment that American sympathy was fitly the first to be received.

Woman Suffragists Resolve.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—Miss Alice Stone Blackwell presided over the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage association, which was held here. Several resolutions were adopted, among them being the following: "Whereas, More can be accomplished by men and women in co-operation than by either sex alone; therefore, Resolved, That we will continue to work for equal suffrage; that we rejoice in the re-election to the United States senate of that tried friend of equal rights for women, Hon. George F. Hoar; that the widespread regret for Queen Victoria shows the value of women in politics; that the laws of Massachusetts be amended to require that six men and six women be impaneled when the defendant in the case is a minor."

Manufacturers' Association Banquet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Manufacturers' association of New York held its eighth annual banquet at the Union League clubhouse in Brooklyn last night. At the guests' table were Ludwig Nissen, president of the association; Dr. William L. Felter, ex-Congressman Charles G. Bennett, Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton, Dr. Truman J. Backus, president of the Packer institute; Dr. St. Clair McKelway, ex-Governor Frank S. Black, the principal speaker of the evening; John B. Weber, Job E. Hedges, Charles A. Schieren, Rev. Dr. S. D. McConnell, J. Hampden Dougherty and John Hill Morgan.

A Stampede From Nome.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 24.—Arrivals from Cottage City report another big strike at the head of the Kuskokwin, causing a big stampede from Nome. Frank Swope and J. Levi were killed by a mine collapsing while they were at work at Hunter creek. The Yukon council will memorialize the government at Ottawa to have transportation rates lowered.

Kearns Elected In Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 24.—Thomas Kearns was elected United States senator, receiving the full Republican vote, 27, on joint ballot. The 26 Democrats voted for W. McCune.

IN CONGRESS.

Shipping Bill Discussed—Rawlins of Utah Stirs Up Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Consideration of the shipping bill was resumed yesterday afternoon by the senate. At the instance of Mr. Frye of Maine, who relinquished the chair temporarily to take charge of the measure on the floor, it was made the unfinished business of the senate, thus restoring it to its privileged position. Mr. Vest of Missouri took the floor immediately in a characteristically brilliant, forceful and interesting speech lasting nearly three hours. He advocated free ships and vigorously attacked the navigation laws of the United States, holding that they were responsible for the decadence of the merchant marine of America. He was accorded close attention by his colleagues on both sides of the chamber.

Early in the session Mr. Rawlins (Dem., Utah) precipitated a lively colloquy by charging that a deal had been entered into between the Republican members of the Utah legislature and certain railroad interests and the officials of the Mormon church to secure the election of Thomas L. Kearns to the senate from that state. He aroused Mr. Hale of Maine and Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire, who contended that the statements of Mr. Rawlins ought not to be made in the senate at this stage of the proceedings in Utah, as the senate could not consider the question in any phase in advance of action.

The conferees on the army reorganization bill reached a final agreement late yesterday, but the measure is so complicated and the amendments so numerous that the measure will probably not be reported before Saturday. The senate receded from its amendment providing for a regimental rather than a corps organization of the artillery arm of the service.

Bringing Troops Home.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The war department is doing what it can to expedite the home coming of the 9,000 volunteers in the Philippines whom General MacArthur reported could be spared at once without impairing the efficiency of his army. There has been some delay in the movement of these troops owing to the difficulty of getting them to Manila, the point of debarkation, and at the same time getting other troops to the garrisons thus vacated. General MacArthur has reported that he needs at least 60,000 for the numerous garrisons at various points in the archipelago, and the 9,000 troops ordered home are in excess of that number. The army has been increased to the extent of the troops transferred from China. The arrival of these fresh troops permitted the return to the United States of an equal number of volunteers whose terms of service have nearly expired.

Trying to Trap De Wet.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 24.—General Kitchener is disposing great forces semi-circularly, his extreme left resting on the sea, to circumvent the Boers. The columns move simultaneously in touch with each other. The greatest danger of the situation is the possibility of General De Wet's appearance in Cape Colony. It is believed that none of the Dutch would resist his personal call to arms. They think the fame of Napoleon and Wellington pales in the presence of his military genius. Among other captured letters is one from General Hertzog to President Steyn asking for 1,000 unmarried young men to enter Cape Colony and beat up recruits.

Steamer Encounters Terrific Gales.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The steamer Max, just arrived from Newfurwasser and Helsingborg, reports that on Jan. 11, about 550 miles east of Newfoundland, the vessel experienced a terrific hurricane, with mountain seas, which carried away part of the bridge, three boats and washed the tarpaulin off the hatches, stove in cabin doors, and all provisions were destroyed. At 9 p. m. the steering gear was broken, and the vessel lay disabled until 2 p. m. Jan. 13, when the storm abated and the crew were able to repair damages. The vessel then proceeded on her way and arrived without further mishap.

Troops Ordered Out.

OMAHA, Jan. 24.—General Fitz-Hugh Lee, commanding the department of Missouri, last evening sent telegraphic orders to First Lieutenant Dixon, commanding Troop A of the Eighth cavalry at Fort Reno, O. T., to proceed at once to the scene of the Indian trouble at Muskogee, I. T. General Lee said that beyond the press dispatches he had no information as to the extent of the Snake Indian trouble, and troops had been ordered to the reservation on advices from the war department.

Smallpox In Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 24.—Smallpox has made its appearance in this city. Two cases were discovered last night. One is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital. He is a milk peddler named George Snyder. The other case is that of Katie McCarthy, a waitress, who is employed by the Onondaga County Milk association, where Snyder was also employed. Miss McCarthy waited on the milk peddlers employed by the association.

BLAZE IN MONTREAL.

Business District of That City In Ruins.

A PROPERTY LOSS OF MILLIONS.

Conflagration Broke Out Early Last Evening and For Many Hours Baffled All Efforts of the Fire Department.

MONTREAL, Jan. 24.—A fire of appalling proportions raged all last night in the business district of this city. The property loss will reach into the millions, but the exact amount cannot as yet be determined. For hours the entire fire fighting force of the city was unable to stay the progress of the flames, which leaped from building to building and across the street from where the outbreak occurred with startling rapidity.

The fire started at 8.09 in the premises of M. Saxe & Sons, wholesale clothiers, on the corner of Lemoine and St. Peter streets. The streets in the locality were deserted at the time, and the fire apparently had a good headway before the first alarm was sent in. The firemen, on arrival, found the building, a three story stone structure, a solid mass of flames, the fire having apparently started in the basement and rushed up the elevator shaft in the rear of the store.

Second and third alarms were sent in immediately on the arrival of the division chief, but before the nearest re-enforcements reached the scene the flames had leaped across St. Peter street, which is very narrow at this point, and attacked the big five story stone building occupied by H. A. Nelson & Sons company, fancy goods, etc. Here it spread rapidly as it had in the Saxe building. In almost an instant it seemed as if the entire building was a roaring furnace.

The warehouse of Beardmore & Co., tanners, adjoining Nelson's to the south, was next attacked, and from there the flames communicated to the establishment of Silverman, Boulter & Co., wholesale hatters and furriers.

Here another inflammable stock added zest to the flames.

In the meantime the flames had continued down St. Peter street on the side on which it started to the corner of St. Paul street, licking up the premises of J. Bourdeau & Co., hats, caps, etc. St. Peter street for an entire block was a mass of flames on either side.

In the meantime a great fight was being made to save the big Board of Trade building, erected eight years ago at a cost of $600,000 and adjoining the Nelson building on the north side.

For a long time the efforts of the brigade were successful, a plentiful supply of water keeping the exposed portions cool. But the flames had extended along the north side of St. Paul street, going west from Silverman, Boulter & Co., licking up half a dozen concerns in its way, until it reached the big wholesale fur establishment of James Coristine & Co. This building extended all the way from St. Paul street to the Board of Trade building, and the flames appeared to go through it like a tinder box.

When the rear wall of this building fell, it was seen that the Board of Trade would have to go too.

Solid sheets of flame sprang out and up and seized hold of the big building in a dozen different places, driving the firemen back.

The newer and more modern structure burned more slowly than those which already had fallen prey to the flames, but the firemen were apparently paralyzed and could not stay the march of the devouring element.

By this time every piece of fire fighting apparatus the city possesses was in use. Two water towers which had failed to keep the blaze out of the Board of Trade building were shifted around to St. Paul street, but here again they were too late.

The fire dashed across the narrow street and attacked the premises of Thomas Davidson & Co., manufacturing tinsmiths, then spreading both east and west.

The Board of Trade building was a fine six story building constructed of red sandstone in the form of a square. It was built in 1891 and was regarded as one of the finest buildings in the city. There were more than 200 tenants in it, and their individual losses will be more or less heavy. It is impossible yet to obtain any accurate estimate of the losses, but it is roughly estimated by the insurance men that the losses will total up to more than $4,000,000, partially covered by insurance.

Hamburg-American Line Entertains.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Mr. Emil L. Boas, the American general manager of the Hamburg-American line, entertained at luncheon yesterday on board the company's new twin screw cruising yacht Prinzessin Victoria Luise a number of his friends. Contracts for the new pier, which is to be 800 feet long and 90 feet in breadth, it was announced, were signed last Saturday. A two story shed, to be 725 feet in length, is to cover the pier. The work of construction will begin in about six weeks, and when completed it will be a model of its kind. After luncheon the guests of Mr. Boas made a thorough tour of inspection of the vessel. On Saturday next the Prinzessin Victoria Luise, the only vessel of its kind afloat, will leave this port for a cruise of the West Indies and the Spanish main.

Tillman Elected Twice.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 24.—In joint session yesterday the two houses of the legislature unanimously re-elected Benjamin Ryan Tillman to the United States senate for the term beginning March 4, 1901. The same thing was done last week, but it was found the action then was one week earlier than the law requires, and in order to avoid complications the formality was again gone through with.

Deporting Filipinos.

MANILA, Jan. 24.—General MacArthur has ordered a dozen more natives to be taken on board the Solace preparatory to their deportation. They are charged with being insurgent abettors and agitators who swore allegiance to the United States for the purpose of facilitating revolutionary operations.

No Election In Delaware.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 24.—The eighth day's joint session of the legislature failed to elect two United States senators for Delaware. The vote showed little change.

Boer Leaders In Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Two Boer leaders, Piet and Jan Steenkamp, have arrived in Berlin on a secret mission.

New Brunswick's Streets.

The man who believes that New Brunswick is a more desirable place to live in than Plainfield must certainly be suffering from some mental derangement. Among the many advantages which this city possesses over the county seat of Middlesex is the fine system of roads here. This fact is brought particularly to mind by the following article which recently appeared in the New Brunswick Times:

"Chief of Police Harding, in preparing some data for out-of-town parties, has secured some interesting information regarding the streets of the city. He has found that the total amount of streets laid out within the city limits is 50 miles. The length of the graded streets is 27.4 miles.

"Of streets paved with macadam there are 7 82 miles; with cobblestones, 1.97 miles; with block pavement, .93 miles; with bricks, nearly a mile of streets has been paved, such pavement having been laid with'n the past year on Somerset, Bayard, Schureman and Townsend streets. This makes a total of between 10 and 11 miles of paved streets in all about the city."

Plainfield possesses, in round numbers, 110 miles of streets within the city limits. Of that number, 45 miles are macadamized and 65 miles graded. Despite the fact that Plainfield has more than twice the length of streets of New Brunswick, New Brunswick's paved streets only amount to one fifth of the total amount while nearly fifty per cent. of the streets of this city are well paved. And what are the paved streets of New Brunswick after-all. Nearly a third of the paved streets there are laid with cobbles or blocks as anyone who has had occasion to drive or wheel through that city has soon discovered. In that direction, at least, New Brunswick is many years behind her progressive neighbor.

Now that the extra company in the Second Regiment of the National Guard has been assigned to Plainfield, it is to be hoped that no petty jealousies will appear to mar the organization of the company. Of course, it is nicer to be an officer than a private but everybody cannot be an officer and it will be necessary to have some privates. If the young men of the city enter into the company in the proper spirit, there is no reason why Plainfield cannot soon have the finest company in the State. While some of the Plainfielders have belonged to military organizations in other places, this is the first time since the Civil War that the chance has come to form a militia company right in this city. The opportunity should not be neglected.

The retirement from business of George L. VanEmburgh marks the close of the business career of one of Plainfield's oldest and best known merchants. Mr. VanEmburgh has always been closely identified with the best interest of the city and his every effort has been to promote the city's welfare. During his long career here Mr. VanEmburgh has made a host of friends. He has fairly earned the the reputation for honesty and integrity which has come to him.

The manager of a St. Louis manufacturing company, M. V. Kelley, quotes the Philadelphia Record, has given the results of his experience in these words: "In advertising, as in everything else, persistency will win. I've tried it. I know it. There is not an article of any merit whatever that cannot be sold through advertising and take the field over products that are not advertised."

Present indications are that the series of evangelistic meetings to be held here next month will be the largest and most carefully conducted meetings of that nature ever held in Plainfield. The pastors, regardless of denomination, are assisting in the movement.

Hardly a day passes but there is some individual who calls attention to the fact that the city is entirely without proper street signs making it impossible to find many streets in the city without the aid of a map.

The flags on the Plainfield public schools were placed at half mast yesterday in honor of the memory of Queen Victoria. Similar courtesies were observed by other cities throughout the country.

The veterans of the Jersey Naval Reserve, who fought on board the Badger, have perfected a permanent organization.

There should be a good attendance this evening at the meeting when the militia company for this city will be organized.

General Sewell did not have to worry very much over his re-election to the United States Senate.

The municipal ownership bee is buzzing loudly again.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

There will be no Martin Act tax sale for unpaid taxes in Paterson this year. The Aldermen have decided that times are too hard, and that rather than compel many poor taxpayers to lose their property, the city will wait and continue borrowing.—Paterson Press.

* * * * *

The local leaders of the Republican party should at once notify Congressman Howell of the fact that the New Brunswick postoffice is encroaching upon Somerset's rights. If we are to have the rural delivery at all it would be only right to include Middlebush, the Millstones, Rocky Hill and Weston in our district. The proper application to Mr. Howell will, no doubt, right matters.—Somerville Messenger.

* * * * *

The Democrats all voted for Alvah A. Clark as their party candidate for Senator, but that gentleman's ears would have tingled if he could have heard the comments of the Democratic members outside of Hudson, in the caucus yesterday morning, on his candidacy and qualifications. Every member, except the "Boss" Davis contingent from Hudson, made a speech denouncing him. No secret is made of the fact that Mr. Davis' act in digging up and forcing upon the party this tatooed political troglodyte seals his fate as a would be State leader of the New Jersey Democracy. No man, it is said, who has no better judgment or sounder principles in the selection of candidates than Davis has illustrated in the choice of Clark will ever be permitted to name the candidate for Governor or the next Democratic United States Senator.—New York Herald.

* * * * *

It is to be hoped that Major General Robert Davis will be more fortunate in his business of resurrecting moribund politician than was Hon. James Smith, Jr., United States Senator Toward the close of his term, Senator Smith, in casting about for a means to strengthen himself and his party in Somerset, appointed Alvah Clark as postmaster of Somerville. And, on meeting a political friend, asked what he thought would be the result. The answer came back, as quick as a flash, "Increase Reed's majority in Somerset;" and that was the result.

Today Mr. Davis, whose word controlled the Hudson members, and, through them, the Democratic caucus, is trying the same experiment, with the result to follow. We don't know what Mr. Davis expects Clark to do with Reed, but it is safe to say that he will be disappointed. As to the rest of the party, there is nothing but disgust at the operation.

In olden times, traitors were killed, and their heads left to rot on spikes on city gates; now their heads are left on, and their whole corpse is put into postoffices and honorary positions as a means of inciting loyalty and interest in the success of the party guilty of such tomfoolery.—Trenton True American.

—Mrs. Maxson, wife of Superintendent H. M. Maxson, will address the Junior Endeavor Society of the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

ALTERATION SALE.

Ours is a business of change. We are never satisfied with past attainments, but are always ready to take advantage of every opportunity to improve our facilities for handling our ever growing business, and making our store one of constantly increasing popularity. For a year our Dress Goods Department has been clamoring for more room to meet the accentuated demands made upon it. In order to meet this growing need we shall devote the space formerly occupied by the Millinery to Dress Goods and Silks. This necessitates the remodeling of the entire rear of the store. In order to facilitate these changes we inaugurate on Tuesday. Jan. 22, an IMPORTANT ALTERATION SALE in order to quickly shrink stock. Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits to be closed out. We shall not handle Ladies' Suits after this season and every suit we have will be sold without consulting the cost of same. It is not a question of how much we may lose but of how quickly we may dispose of these goods All our Jackets, Capes, Wraps, etc., to be as fearfully sacrificed. This means a great deal to the purchasing community when the fact is considered that they are all stylish, desirable Tailor-made garments. Those who call earliest will naturally get the best things. Winter Dress Goods, Golf Suitings, etc., will also be sold at reduced prices in order to make room for Spring Goods, which will arrive on Feb. 1st. 10 large coat racks (on castors) will be sold at a low figure. Desirable winter goods in fair variety still on sale at closing out prices. If interested in blankets, comfortables, underwear, gloves, mittens, toques, etc., you will be able to secure some exceptional values during our Alteration Sale.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, Jan. 24.—Levi Bird, of Plainfield, is buying large quantities of tree timbers from the farmers in this vicinity and storing them near the round house previous to shipping them to cities along the Atlantic coast. They are bought by fishermen who place them in the ocean bed for the purpose of holding nets. Some of the timbers are over sixty feet in length.

Dont forget the oyster supper to be given in the lecture room of the Methodist church this evening. Supper will be served from 6:30 o'clock. The proceeds of the affair will be donated to the interest fund of the church.

Miss Lillie Warden will leave tomorrow morning for New York where she will embark on the steamer "Colorado" for Georgia. It is her intention to remain for the rest of the winter.

Henry Wiedenhaupt has not as yet disposed of his meat market, the prospective purchaser, William Rall, of Newark, failing to bind the agreement satisfactorily.

The first meeting of the Crokinole Club this season will be held tomorrow evening at the residence of Mrs. B. F. Bogardus. The members will enjoy a social time.

The contract case of Brady against Stutz, which was to have been tried before Justice Warden tomorrow, has been settled out of court.

Howard VanNess returned yesterday from Neshanic where he has been spending a few days with his parents.

Miss Helen Terry, of Westfield, is spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Terry.

Mrs. Josephine Dunham has been confined to her home for the past few days with an attack of the grip.

Work has been commenced on the new house to be erected for Paxson VanAlsdale on Front street.

The regular weekly meeting of the dancing class will be held in Apgar's Hall this evening.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, Jan. 25—The funeral services of the late Mrs. W. H. Smalley were held from the Seventh-Day Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Relatives and friends from Plainfield, Dunellen and this place were in attendance. Rev. L. E. Livermore was the officiating clergyman and delivered an impressive discourse. Interment was made in the Seventh-Day cemetery at Plainfield.

Although the icemen at South Plainfield are harvesting the crop, J. Y. Wilson has not commenced to cut on the New Market pond. He is still waiting for a greater thickness.

Fred Haffner has returned to his home in Newark after a few days' visit with friends in town.

Mrs. Frank VanNuis is confined to her home by illness.

Stanley Day, Sr., is ill with the grip.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 24—The members of the Epworth Literary Society have changed their time of meeting from Wednesday afternoon to the evening, as it was found that many were unable to attend the afternoon readings of the society. The members have taken up the study of the Bible and are finding the different books very interesting.

Rev. Mr. Arnery, a returned missionary from Singapore, China, but now a student at Drew Seminary, Madison, will give a lecture in the Methodist church tomorrow evening upon the religion, habits and customs of the natives of that country.

Owing to a number of unfortunate accidents of late upon the trolley line, the company is obliged to put into service again a number of the old cars with no smoking compartments.

Mrs. Roll, of Park avenue, who has been suffering from blood poisoning caused by cutting a corn too close, has about recovered and will soon be able to be about again.

A number of the members of Fanwood Council, R. A., will pay a fraternal visit to Fireside Council, of Westfield, this evening.

Ernest Wilson, a former resident of the village, but now of Newark, has been the guest of Louis Morel for a short visit.

Frank R. Allen, who has been confined to the house for over a week with a severe cold, is able to be around again.

A special meeting of Borough Council was held in the borough rooms last evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 24—Thomas Brantingham was one of those who attended the recent meeting of speedway promoters in Reed & Coddington's law offices at Plainfield. If the projected speedway is built over the road, it will greatly enhance the property values of much land owned by residents in this vicinity.

Miss Gussie Clawson returned home last night from a visit of two days at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, of Dunellen.

Miss Hazel Lord, who has been ill with the grip for the past week, is again able to attend to her school duties.

Jesse Dayton, Jr., of this place, is attending the New Market dancing class of which Mr. Cathers is instructor.

A case of diphtheria is reported in the home of John Howell.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

One of the latest jokes heard since the trial and conviction of the Paterson young men responsible for the death of Jennie Bosschieter, is:

"Have you heard that McAllister is dead?"

"No! How did it Oc-Kerr?"

"Why, he fell over Campbell and met Death."

. . . . . .

The possibility of a local military company being established in this city will be gratifying news to many people who are interested in military affairs. It is believed that a company can be organized in this city that will not only be a credit to the citizens of Plainfield, but also to the State National Guard. There are plenty of young men—sons of the best families—who would be glad to join a military company if the proper men were placed at the head of it. In a few years the High School Cadets will be able to graduate from their ranks a number of young men who will be eligible for admission to the ranks of the new company. In after years there would be plenty of material to select from, as these young men grow to manhood.

PERSONAL.

Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, is ill at his home with quinsy sore throat.

John Powers, of Grove street, is out after a few day's illness with the grip.

Miss Minnie Wilson, of "Tunlaw," has gone to Philadelphia for a visit with friends.

Mrs. W. W. Cortell, of West Front street, is still ill with the grip, having suffered a relapse.

F. P. Haffner, of Somerset street, is detained at home suffering with a carbuncle on the back of his neck.

F. M. VanEmburgh, of 44 Westervelt avenue, North Plainfield, has been unable to go to business this week on account of a heavy cold resembling the grip.

Mrs. Thomas Scott, janitress at the North Avenue station, who has been ill for a number of weeks at her home on West Front street, has recovered sufficiently to attend to her duties.

Mrs. James Bell, nee Seltzer, formerly of this city, but now of New Haven, Conn., accompanied by her daughter, Gladys, returned home this morning after spending a few days with her friends, the Misses Searing, of Orchard place. Mrs. Bell has many friends in Plainfield who were glad to greet her again after a long absence.

Fire in Chimney.

A still alarm called No. 2 hose wagon and Chief Doane to the residence of James Tracey on Watchung avenue, at 8 o'clock this morning. The chimney had caught fire in some manner and was sending out volumes of smoke. Two extinguishers were required to put out the blaze. The damage was slight.

FURTHER TALK ABOUT MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

one and that in a few years it would prove self-supporting.

There was also some talk regarding the city owning the electric light plant. Mr. Lounsbury said that he understood that the citizens of Madison lighted their streets without one dollar of expense, the income from the private consumers paying all cost.

While nothing definite was done nor, in fact, any plans outlined to bring about the desired relief, the members of the Board of Trade were united in the opinion that something must be done in the near future.

It is possible that some action will be taken at the next meeting of the Board.

TO PROTECT BIRDS.

Appeal for Aid and Members for the State Audubon Society—New Kinds of Members.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—

The New Jersey Audubon Society, organized in 1897, and with a present membership of over two hundred, desires to announce to its members and to all in the State who are interested in bird protection, that a bill has been presented in the present Legislature for the better protection of our State birds.

Additional funds are indispensable to enable the society to carry on the work required for this, and other measures of importance for the protection of birds and we believe it is only necessary to call your attention to this fact, to secure your sympathy and membership.

We hope to obtain a sufficient number of associate members to guarantee us an assured income.

The new classes of membership as proposed are as follows:

Junior members, under sixteen years, paying ten cents.

Life members, paying twenty-five cents and not subject to further assessments.

Associate members: Paying one dollar annually.

Life associate members: Paying not less than twenty-five dollars at one time.

All donations and subscription fees should be sent to the secretary and treasurer.

Miss Anna Haviland,
53 Sandford avenue.

W. S. S. DANCE.

Second of Series Was Held in Camera Club Rooms Last Night.

The second of a series of dances given under the auspices of the W.S.S. was held in the Camera Club rooms last evening. There was a large number of young people in attendance, and under the direction of Charles Peterson, who acted as floor manager, dancing was kept up until a late hour this morning. An excellent supper was served at midnight.

The committee who had the affair in charge consisted of Nelson Peterson, chairman; Robert Goldsack and Harry Bogert.

Called on Former Clerk.

S. S. Vandruff, State dairy inspector, who has been in Plainfield to make an inspection of the milk sold by various dealers, is the mayor of Deckertown. Mr. Vandruff formerly kept a dry goods store in that city. Among his clerks was Edson C. Martin, the junior member of the firm of Woodhull & Martin of this city. Before Mr. Vandruff returned home he called upon Mr. Martin, whom he has known for many years.

NEW JERSEY BANK CHANGES.

Comptroller of the Currency Notes New Officers and Institutions

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24—The Comptroller of the Currency announces the following changes in officers of New Jersey National Banks during the past few days: J. A. Smith, vice president of the First National bank of Plainfield, in place of H. M. Estil; F. M. Hough, vice-president of the Merchants' National bank of Newton, in place of Henry W. Merriam, deceased.

In a list of national banks organized since October 31, 1899, and up to January 18, 1901, inclusive, the Comptroller gives the following for New Jersey: Banks having a capital of less than $50 000, First National of High Bridge, capital $30,000; First National of Belmar, capital $25 000; Penns Grove National of Penns Grove, capital $25,000; Ocean Grove National of Ocean Grove, capital $25 000; Carlstadt National of Carlstadt, capital $30,000, and First National of Blairstown, capital $25 000; total capital of the six banks $160,000. Banks having a capital of $50,000 or over are First National of Lakewood, capital $50 000; Rahway National of Rahway, capital $100 000, and Second National of Phillipsburg, capital $100 000; total capital of the three $250,000.

LETTER-CARRIERS TO MEET.

Convention at Paterson Feb. 12—To Talk Salary and Pension.

The third annual convention of the New Jersey State Association of Letter Carriers will be held in Apollo Hall, Paterson, February 12, Lincoln's Birthday. There will be a street parade preceding the convention, in which fully 500 uniformed carriers from all parts of the State are expected to take part. The convention will be called to order at 3 p. m. by James J. Shea, of Jersey City, president of the State Association.

After the convention completes its business a banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. It will be followed by a reception to the visiting carriers and guests by the Paterson carriers.

All the Congressmen and both United States Senators from the State, Postmaster General C. Emory Smith, First Assistant Postmaster General S. M. Johnson and the officers of the National Association of Letter Carriers have been invited to attend. Every free delivery office in the State will be represented at the convention, at which officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

FANWOOD'S ELECTION.

Already Some Gossip About Possible Candidates is Heard.

Although the Fanwood township spring election is yet about two months away, there is already some talk in regard to who will succeed Theo. Bruchmann as Town Committeeman and treasurer of Fanwood township. Several names have been mentioned for the honor and the possibility of the renomination of Mr. Bruchmann has been considered.

Mr. Bruchmann has been one of the most efficient Town Committeemen Scotch Plains has had in many years. He is thoroughly posted in the affairs of the township. While it is not known whether Mr Bruchmann can be prevailed upon to accept the honor, there are a number of the citizens who would like to have him consider the matter in a favorable light.

It is believed by many that Mr. Bruchmann is the most available candidate thus far presented for Town Committeeman of Fanwood township, and if Mr. Bruchmann has time to devote to the office he would, his friends believe, prove satisfactory to the citizens of Fanwood township.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Eine kürzlich erlassene Ministerial-Verordnung verpflichtet alle Aerzte, Hospitalleiter, Gasthofsbesitzer und Leichenbestatter zur Anzeige von Tuberkulosefällen und erläßt Vorschriften für die Desinfizirung der Räume und Personen, die mit Tuberkulosekranken in Verbindung standen. —Der bisherige Kaplan an der hiesigen katholischen Hofkirche, Gustav Vogt, ist zur evangelischen Kirche übergetreten und hat sich in Hannover einem bürgerlichen Berufe zugewandt.

Döbeln. Beim Grundgraben für einen Neubau fanden mehrere Arbeiter einen irdenen Topf mit alten Münzen, welche sich als ungarische Goldprägungen aus dem 15. Jahrhundert erwiesen und einen sehr hohen numismatischen Werth repräsentiren.

Grimma. Jüngsthin verschied hier der emeritirte Lehrer an der Fürstenschule, Professor Dr. Gotthold Bernhard Dinter, im 76. Lebensjahre. Der Verstorbene gehörte dem Lehrkörper der Fürstenschule von 1857 bis 1889 an.

Hertha. In der Dampfziegelei des Baumeisters Fichtner in Richzenhain verunglückte durch Zusammenstürzen einer Lehmwand der 30 Jahre alte Handarbeiter Wende von hier. Derselbe war auf der Stelle todt.

Lausigk. Nach einer Nachricht vom Regimentskommando des Infanterie-Regiments Nr. 107 hat auch ein Sohn unserer Stadt als Chinakämpfer den Tod gefunden; es ist der Unteroffizier Otto Türve vom 2. Ostasiatischen Infanterie-Regiment.

Oelsnitz. Bei Sohl erschlug ein Arbeiter Namens Roth einen Schulknaben und nahm ihm die Baarschaft ab. Der Unhold wurde verhaftet.

Oschatz. Der 48 Jahre alte Rechnungsführer Hauffe von Schrebitz, welcher unter Mitnahme von Geldsummen, die er in seiner Stellung einkassirt hatte, verschwunden war, ist vor Kurzem von Moos sammelnden Kindern in der Laubeschlucht bei Tetschen erhängt aufgefunden worden. Von den unterschlagenen Geldern fanden sich bei der Leiche nur noch wenige Groschen.

Thüringische Staaten.

Frankenhausen. Der Fabrikant Andreas Klaus Nolte jun., Mitinhaber der Firma Karl Nolte Söhne, war nach der der Firma gehörigen Sandgrube gegangen und wurde dort von unverhofft niedergehenden Sandmassen verschüttet. Obwohl man die Rettungsarbeiten sofort mit aller Energie in Angriff nahm, konnte der Verunglückte nur als Leiche hervorgezogen werden.

Jena. Die vor Kurzem verstorbene Wittwe des Privatgelehrten Dr. Thomas hat dem hiesigen pädagogischen Universitätsseminar zur Förderung des Studiums Herbart'scher Pädagogik ein Legat von 12,000 Mark hinterlassen.

Koburg. Das Stadtverordneten-Kollegium überließ unentgeltlich 6000 Quadratmeter städtisches Gebäude dem preußischen Eisenbahnfiskus für den neu zu erbauenden Güterbahnhof und bewilligte 83,650 Mark zum Neubau der Bahnhofs- und Ketschenbrücke.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Hamburgs Schifffahrts-Statistik für das letzte Jahr läßt zwar in der Zahl der angekommenen und abgefahrenen Schiffe eine Abnahme ersehen, weist aber im Gehalt eine Erhöhung um 25,000 Tonnen auf.—Die Antwerpen-Buenos Ayres-Dampferlinie ist an die Hamburg-Amerika-Linie verkauft worden.—Einen entsetzlichen Tod hat der dritte Offizier Lenz an Bord des neulich von der Westküste Südamerikas im Hamburger Hafen eingetroffenen Hamburger Dampfers „Denderah" gefunden. Beim Abfeuern der auf dem Vordertheile des Schiffes festgelegten Signalkanone platzte diese mit gewaltiger Detonation, wobei das Geschütz in unzählige Stücke zersprang. Der bei dem Geschütz stehende genannte Offizier, ein Hamburger, wurde von den umher geschleuderten Geschütztheilen buchstäblich zerrissen.—Wilhelm Ree jun., Senior-Chef der gleichnamigen bedeutenden Wechsel- und Fondsmaklerfirma, ist, 59 Jahre alt, gestorben.

Bremen. Der bremische Staat hat dem ausgeschiedenen Präsidenten der Bürgerschaft, H. Claussen, eine goldene Medaille verliehen.—Das hiesige Schiff „Louise" rettete die Mannschaft des auf See verbrannten Schiffes „Allegiance," das mit 1500 Tonnen Ladung nach Australien unterwegs war, und landete die schiffbrüchigen 20 Personen in Kapstadt.

Lübeck. Die Gesammtkosten für den an den Rehberghwiesen zu erbauenden neuen Bahnhof betragen 9,600,000 Mark. Hiervon übernehmen die Lübeck-Büchener Eisenbahn-Gesellschaft 5,200,000 Mark und der Lübecker Staat 3,400,000 Mark, während die Großherzogliche Mecklenburgische Eisenbahn-Verwaltung 1,000,000 Mark beiträgt. Etwaige Mehrkosten über den Betrag von 9,600,000 Mark fallen der Lübeck-Büchener Bahn zur Last.

210 PARK AVE.

It was the noon hour, and the Neverdid restaurant was crowded. When I say crowded, I mean not only that every place was occupied, but also that behind every chair there lurked a watcher who kept a pair of ferretlike eyes on every movement of the occupant. If one of the unfortunates hard at work eating wiped her lips after drinking her coffee, there was a general scramble in her direction, and if, in a spasm of nervousness, she choked over her food a deep frown on the foreheads of the waiting line showed their disapproval of the valuable time she was wasting.

The journalist watched her chance narrowly and managed to drop into a vacant seat. To her surprise, her left hand neighbor proved to be her friend the private secretary. "A piece of mince pie and a glass of milk!" she gasped all in one breath to the waitress. Then she turned to her friend with the remark, "Well, how is it?"

The private secretary ignored the question. "I suppose you intend to write your article for The Sunday Screamer this afternoon?" she inquired, with a sarcastic raise of her eyebrows.

"Well, and what if I do?" retorted the journalist defiantly.

"Oh, nothing; only it'll be a fine specimen when it's written on top of a piece of mince pie and a glass of milk. That's nice food for a woman who works with her brain! Just fancy that milk curdling into one solid chunk on top of that pie"—

"Stop!" cried the journalist indignantly as the plate and glass were set down before her. "After all, I'm not eating any worse stuff than half the women around me."

"No, and that's just the trouble. Women don't take decent care of their health. They spend all their money in fripperies and then lunch on a charlotte russe 'to save.' A man never does that. He fills his stomach with strengthening food, and for that reason he can do twice the work. Half the women who earn their living are anæmic. It isn't the strain of earning their salaries; it's the food they live on. Look at those two gayly dressed girls over there, for instance!"

"I know them. They're on the staff of The Daily Diameter."

"What did they order?"

"Well, one has a plate of wheat cakes and maple sirup, with a side order of two sausages"—

"Twenty cents. She might have had a small steak for that amount. Sausages, indeed! Lumps of grease! And, as for the wheat cakes, she might as well eat cardboard."

"The other has a chopped ham sandwich, two chocolate eclairs and a cup of coffee."

"She might have had a hot soup."

"That isn't as bad as something I saw once. A girl ordered an oyster sandwich and one boiled onion."

"Humph! I saw a woman order buckwheat cakes and then pour olive oil on them"—

"She must have been indulging in the olive oil treatment."

"What's that?"

"Oh, it's a way to make skinny girls grow plump. They treat them to a continual dose of olive oil both inward and outward."

"Horrors!"

"Will you please pass me a napkin?" a plaintive voice was heard to remark at the journalist's elbow. She hastily complied.

"I sometimes think," resumed the secretary dreamily, "that what a woman orders in a restaurant is a sign of her character. I find it works frequently. For instance, a woman with a peppery disposition will eat curries and other hot things of a like nature. Then, haven't you noticed that the people who eat 'educated' foods, such as shredded wheat biscuits and 'entire wheat' concoctions, nearly always wear glasses and look as if they had come from Boston or some other center of culture?

"To tell you the truth, I once heard a woman order for lunch two lady fingers and a cup of coffee, with whipped cream. When I turned around to look at her I found she had a bilious complexion, a retreating chin and pale peroxide hair.

"I sometimes think that what a woman orders is a sign of indigestion. One hot August day I saw a friend of mine eating curry of lobster, followed by peach shortcake with whipped cream"—
